THE DELTASIG OF DELTA SIGMA PI

The Editor's Foreword

THIS ISSUE is indeed a Grand Chapter Congress issue, for much of its editorial contents have direct connection with this all important national meeting of ours which was held in Chicago this past September. But this is as it should be. With our budget limiting the size of the magazine to 32 pages for a while, instead of the customary 64, we have a difficult time determining just which material is to be published in each issue, and which kept out. For the time being, therefore, it will not be possible to publish as many professional articles as we have during recent years, and most of our pages will be devoted to interesting articles about our fraternity, and our members.

HOW do you like our new format? Bouquets, also brickbats, welcomed. The text is Bodoni Book, while the headings are Stymie. The new type faces present opportunities for many interesting typographical experiments.

SEVERAL hundred members of Delta Sigma Pi visited Chicago, and the Century of Progress this summer, and over two hundred took the time to visit The Central Office. We enjoyed these visits immensely, although they took a lot of time away from daily activities, necessitated long hours, both day and night! However, a great many active workers, both alumni and actives, were contacted as a result, and much progress was made in clarifying pending matters in many different chapters and alumni clubs.

THE dead-line for receipt of material for the January issue of the DELTASIG is December 15! Interesting articles and other vital data regarding our alumni and actives are solicited!

A MESSAGE FROM THE GRAND PRESIDENT

By E. L. SCHUJAHN, Wisconsin
Grand President of Delta Sigma Pi

THE Eleventh Grand Chapter Congress of Delta Sigma Pi held in Chicago in September marked another long stride forward in the history of our fraternity. It was an event that warmed the cockles of the heart of every one of the more than 300 brothers who attended and signed the register, for here was Delta Sigma Pi at work and at play.

Much work was done. The past three years, a period that tried the worth of the fraternity in a period of "hard times," were reviewed, and it gave me a great deal of pleasure to see, from the various reports which were rendered, and from the statements of the delegates of the various chapters, that we had weathered the storm in a creditable manner. A few minor changes were made in our laws. Officers were elected for the new year. A most interesting series of papers was presented by various members. And plans for the future were discussed.

But there was plenty of time for play—and the host chapters did themselves proud in arranging a series of festivities. There was the opening banquet, and the model initiation, and the stag party—the largest gathering of Deltasigs in history! and what a party—and the formal dinner-dance at the Edgewater Beach Hotel. And somewhere in between most of the delegates and visitors found time to give the Century of Progress a more or less hurried once-over. Oh, lest we forget, there was the Yellow Dog party, with Bob Alexander, Chief Bull Pup, as the master of ceremonies!

Less tangible, though equally important, was the exemplification of fraternalism evident throughout the convention. Here were a couple hundred Deltasigs, from over fifty chapters, from Dalhousie to the east and California to the west, from Minnesota to the north, and Florida to the south, meeting, getting acquainted with each other, exchanging news and views of their parts of the world. Dalhousie told us about their country; Oklahoma about ranching; Florida and California about climate; Atlanta about how to win efficiency contests (and about cawn), and so on. To me, a Grand Chapter Congress is a personification of the INTERNATIONAL of our fraternity, a broadening of our fraternal vision, evidence of the scope of Deltasig. I'm sure every one present felt it.

The Eleventh Grand Chapter Congress is history; what happened there is now part of our archives. Ahead of us lies the period to the next gathering of the chapters. We look forward to the future with every feeling of confidence; chapters are starting the school year with renewed enthusiasm and vision. Alumni groups are becoming more active. Your officers feel they have the backing and cooperation of the membership. And when the time for the twelfth Congress rolls around, we hope we can report further progress and we hope we'll see all of you there—and many more.

Record Attendance at Chicago Convention

SUCCESSFUL IS INDEED the word to describe the Eleventh Grand Chapter Congress of Delta Sigma Pi held in Chicago the second week in September. Successful in that the attendance at this Eleventh Grand Chapter Congress was by far the largest in the history of the fraternity, shattering all previous records. Successful in that the business sessions of the convention were unusually heavily attended and a most valuable and enjoyable series of papers covering many phases of chapter activity were presented by various fraternity workers. Successful in that a minimum of constitutional amendments were presented and adopted, although some of these were important. Successful in that the smallest attendance at any of the scheduled convention activity this year exceeded the largest attendance at any previous convention in the history of the fraternity. Successful in that the scores of undergraduates and alumni workers from all sections of the United States and Canada returned to their respective cities inspired by the recital of the accomplishment of the chapters, the ability of the national organization to weather the depression of the past three years with a surplus of almost $12,000, and the possibility for the future development of Delta Sigma Pi. The Eleventh Grand Chapter Congress proved a delight to all who were fortunate enough to attend, and more favorable comments were received on the success of this meeting than any previous one held.

The registration records indicate that during the week of the convention 310 members of the fraternity were in attendance. The largest registration at any previous convention was the Detroit meeting in 1930 with 205 registered. While of course every member did not attend every convention activity, there were 169 present at the opening banquet, 291 at the closing banquet and stag party, and 293 at the formal dinner-dance. The members from out of town gathered early indeed, many arrivals coming in five and six days in advance of the convention in order to have ample opportunity to get located, to visit the Century of Progress, and also to see the city of Chicago. The business sessions of the convention were held in the Hotel Knickerbocker in Chicago, where excellent accommodations were available, not only for the business sessions, but also for staging the model initiation, for the various entertainment features, and for the housing of out of town members. The weather during the convention provided the first rain Chicago had had in months, and had the weather been more pleasant, even a larger turnout of local members might have resulted.

Large Attendance at Opening Banquet

MOST OF THE out-of-town delegates and visitors planned their arrival in Chicago several days in advance of the convention in order to have ample time for attendance at the Century of Progress. A registration office was therefore established at the Hotel Knickerbocker three days in advance of the convention. The Grand Council was on hand by Wednesday morning, September 13, and held an all-day session that day, disposing of the pending business of the past administration and completing the various reports necessary for the Congress. By the time the opening banquet was called to order at 7 P.M. that evening, all of the out-of-town delegates had arrived. Enthusiasm was at a high pitch, and everyone seemed anxious to get acquainted with the other members, the convention badges serving as an official introduction in this respect. The opening banquet was particularly enjoyable. Leslie M. Gooder, an alumnus of our Northwestern chapter, served as toastmaster. The members were welcomed on behalf of the fraternity by Grand President E. L. Schujahn, L. H. Kerber, Jr., president of the Chicago Alumni Club, and H. G. Wright, Grand Secretary-Treasurer of the fraternity. President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern University, an alumnus of Delta Sigma Pi, was the chief speaker of the evening, and his message was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. Immediately following the adjournment of the opening banquet, the Grand Council again went into session, which lasted until the wee hours of the morning.

The convention officially opened on Thursday morning, September 14, at 10:30 o'clock, with Grand President Schujahn presiding and Grand Secretary-Treasurer Wright as secretary, with J. Hugh Taylor of Chi Chapter as assistant secretary. The credentials of the delegates were presented and approved, and then followed the various reports of the Grand Officers and national committees, which occupied the attention of the convention until after the lunch hour. The afternoon session was devoted to a consideration of the proposed constitution and by-law amendments, and official action on same. All of the proposed amendments, with the exception of two, were unanimously adopted. However, the only major changes in our national laws provided for a change in the designation of the board of directors to Grand Council, a reduction in its size from ten to nine members, the adoption of an improved design for our standard plain badge, and a complete and thorough revision of all the disciplinary sections of our national laws.

Ritual Beautifully Exemplified

ON THURSDAY EVENING the Delta Sigma Pi ritual was exemplified by an especially selected team comprising several of the officers of our Northwestern chapter and alumni of several other chapters now residing in Chicago. Over 150 members were present at this initiation, and the ritual was beautifully presented by this team, which had been carefully rehearsed for this occasion. The ritual team was comprised of the following:

Head Master—Stephen G. Janick, Jr., Northwestern
 Senior Warden—Elmer Terwell, Northwestern
 Junior Warden—Charlton G. Shaw, Detroit
 Treasurer—Clifford H. Rasmussen, Northwestern
 Scribe—Lawrence O. Holmberg, Drake
 Historian—Robert W. Frieden, Northwestern
 Senior Guide—Tilman O. Moe, Minnesota
 Junior Guide—Curtis Dyreson, Wisconsin

This model initiation was preceded by an initiation banquet in the Oriental ballroom of the Hotel Knickerbocker, and following the conclusion of the initiation the Yellow

Various resolutions were also presented to and adopted by the Congress, and then came the report of the Committee on Nominations. When the chairman of this committee, Thomas Z. Hayward, announced that the committee had unanimously recommended the re-election of Grand President Schujahn for a second term by virtue of his record as Grand President of the fraternity during the last three years under unusually trying conditions, Brother Schujahn was greeted with an ovation which lasted for several moments, and indicated clearly the popularity of his selection by the committee, and also the degree of approval that his administration of fraternity affairs had met with throughout the fraternity. For the three members of the Grand Council to be elected, the committee presented the names of Eugene D. Milener of New York, Kenneth B. White of Dallas, Texas, and John L. McKewen of Baltimore, Md., and there being no further nominations from the floor of the Congress, all of their recommendations were unanimously concurred in by the delegates. Various other routine business was disposed of, invitations were received for future meetings of the Grand Chapter Congress, resolutions were passed expressing appreciation of the visitors of the very fine work done by the various committees in charge of the convention, and finally after the newly elected Grand Officers and members of the Grand Council had been officially installed, the Eleventh Grand Chapter Congress adjourned at 6 o'clock Friday afternoon, September 15.

Big Crowd at Closing Banquet

WITH THE BUSINESS sessions of the convention concluded, the balance of the week end was devoted to the entertainment features provided for the visitors and attendance at the Century of Progress. The closing banquet and convention stag party was held Friday night in the Oriental ballroom of the Hotel Knickerbocker, there being 291 present on this particular occasion. Steve Janick, chairman of the committee in charge of this event, and the members of his committee, are to be particularly congratulated for the success of this activity. Not only being the largest banquet and stag party ever held in the history of the fraternity, it was also one of the best ever, with lots of smoke, entertainment, food, three point two, and a whale of a happy crowd. Steve had arranged for a very entertaining floor show which was presented at 9:30 and again at 10:30 with completely new numbers, and of course was climaxed by the traditional convention diamond badge drawing, which has become one of the big features of our national meetings. The names of all members of the fraternity registered at the convention were placed on individual cards, thoroughly shuffled, and dealt out one at a time. Every tenth name drawn participated in the final drawing. Those who participated in the final drawing were asked to come to the stage of the ballroom, where the remaining cards were then reshuffled and dealt out one at a time, and the unlucky brothers as their names were called returned to their seats amid the cheers of the crowd. When the excitement finally subsided, the winner was none other than Edwin W. C. Mayer, an alumnus of Beta Chapter at Northwestern University, who was presented with the $130 Delta Sigma Pi diamond badge, a gift of our official jewelers, Burr, Patterson & Auld Company at Detroit, Michigan. Ed was somewhat flabbergasted at being the lucky individual and was kept busy during the balance of the evening receiving congratulations of the crowd.

The new Grand Council spent most of Saturday in business session and several committees held meetings during the day, and various conferences with chapter delegates also ensued. By the close of the afternoon all of the work of the Congress had been concluded and everyone began preparing for the concluding social event of the convention, the formal dinner-dance which was held in the Marine Dining Room of the Edgewater Beach Hotel, 5349 Sheridan Road, Chicago. The entire south balcony of this famous dining room had been reserved exclusively for the Delta Sigma Pi party. The early arrivals began coming in at 8 o'clock, and by 9 a record attendance of 293 had been recorded. A very tempting menu was served, the fraternity had its own private dancing space, but the members utilized the famous Beach Walk of the Edgewater Beach Hotel, where they were entertained by Mark Fisher and his Edgewater Beach Hotel orchestra.

Early Sunday morning the delegates again began heading homeward. Good-byes were reluctantly said, there was a grand exodus from the hotel all day Sunday, and by nightfall there were fewer than a score of visitors remaining in the hotel. The Eleventh Grand Chapter was history!

Alpha Chapter of New York University won the attendance cup for having the largest number of members present, computed on a mileage basis, the host chapters not included, of course. Alpha had a delegation of 13, while Kappa Chapter at Georgia Tech was a mighty close second with a delegation of 12.

Three past Grand Presidents were present: H. G. Wright, who served from 1920 to 1924; H. O. Walther who served from 1926 to 1928; and R. C. Schmidt who served from 1928 to 1930.

The attendance at the major functions of the convention was as follows:

Wednesday, September 13, Opening Banquet	168
Thursday, September 14, Model Initiation	142
Friday, September 15, Banquet and Stag	291
Saturday, September 16, Formal dinner-dance	293

Convention Comments

AS THE OFFICIAL DELEGATE from Beta Mu Chapter, Dalhousie University, Halifax, Nova Scotia, Canada, I would like to relate to you my impressions of the Grand Chapter Congress just concluded.

From the time I arrived at Beta chapter house on Cedar Street until I left after the memorable formal dinner-dance at the Edgewater Beach Hotel, I was impressed by the ever noticeable fraternal spirit which prevailed at all times. Everybody was made to feel right at home with every last Deltasig in attendance. I noticed this especially, I think, because of being so far away from my own chapter.

When each delegate returned to his respective chapter, everyone I think realized that he had obtained a broadened outlook toward Delta Sigma Pi as an international fraternity. I am saying this because of my own experience. I found that mingling with brothers of Delta Sigma Pi who came from coast to coast, and exchanging fraternal ideas has given me a greater feeling to carry on than if I had not attended the Congress. The strength of Delta Sigma Pi in numbers and its accomplishments was not as evident to me as it is now. It is true that a delegate to such a convention can bring back to his own chapter new ideas in administration, but from my own experience, I think there is something greater. That is, an inspired feeling to carry on with greater zeal and to endeavor to instill in the minds of the other brothers in the chapter this feeling of enthusiasm.

Much credit should be given to the host chapters and the brothers in charge of the Congress. Nothing was spared to give the out of town men the best possible time during their stay in Chicago.

When I look back on the week of the convention I think of all the friendships which were made in and around the Knickerbocker Hotel. My only wish is that Beta Mu Chapter be geographically closer to other chapters so that we could be in personal contact with other brothers of Delta Sigma Pi. Those of you who are in a position to visit nearby chapters don't realize the value of such an asset as we do here in Halifax. I miss this personal contact more now that I have mingled with brothers from other chapters, than if I had never attended the Congress.

In closing, I must say that the memories of the banquets, stag party, business sessions, Yellow Dog initiation, and the dinner-dance will linger in my mind for a long time to come. It is my earnest desire that I shall be able to attend the next Grand Chapter Congress.—DONALD STEWART, Dalhousie.

FROM Alpha Chi

I send comments,
That are high
And not laments.
So, listen while I reminisce
OH! I can't wait
So I'll commence.
Did I have a BIG time?
I can't begin.
Such a surge
Of social activities
I was swept in.
The social business,
It was GREAT.
But as a stag
I was a "crate,"
So, a yellow "doggie"
Was my fate.
It was at the stag party
I made my debut,
I drank and I drank
Until I hiccuped.
But, did I shine
When we sang our songs.
Our voices rhymed and pined
For a brother was gone.
A gala event he did miss,
But we forgot about him
When we saw the BIG MISS.
She added much flavor
To the social events,
But we had to forget her
When the business commenced.
So to the dinner party
I crowned my events,
And no finer time
Could I have spent.
I only wish
That more had gone,
To join the CONGRESSIONAL throng.
F. K. HEMKER, Washington

TO DELTA SIGMA PI, the convention held in Chicago September 13-16 was the Eleventh Grand Chapter Congress. To the delegates and members of fifty odd chapters and alumni clubs it was the last word in efficient business sessions and enjoyable entertainment.

To me, the business sessions held many surprises and inspirations. Each session revealed just how much the various brothers treasure their fraternity and just how careful the fraternity has been in selecting its members. I was able during these sessions to learn many valuable steps in obtaining and maintaining an efficient and treasured chapter. Each paper read was proof that any phase of fraternity activity can be covered by any chapter of Delta Sigma Pi that has the desire to put it over. After attending these sessions I am able to see the defects of various methods of handling fraternity work. The convention meetings after pointing out these defects, followed this up and furnished the solution.

Each delegate had a chance to compare his chapter with the others, and at the same time gave him assurance that the chapter is a part of a great national fraternity, far greater than any one chapter.

The social sessions had an altogether different result. Here there was no comparing of chapters or gauging of efficiency—all this was lost in the excitement of meeting friends, true friends, both old and new; all were Deltasigs, in Chicago to forget school, work, depressions, or any other worries, and just have a whale of a good time. The old members joined the youngest and saw Chicago. Each was determined to see everything the others saw, and from all indications this was done before the week was over.

The wind-up at the Edgewater Beach Hotel Saturday night made every Deltasig determined to be at the next convention and believe me, I'll be on the front row when the curtain rises.

Last but far from least, all out of town members owe the Chicago boys a big hand for the splendid way in which they put over the convention and the entertainment.—M. A. JEFFREY, Oklahoma.

THE GRAND CHAPTER CONGRESS held at Chicago, this past September, was without doubt one of the best conventions I have ever attended. We, as individuals and as chapters, owe a vote of thanks to the Chicago chapters, to Brother Wright, the Central Office and to the national officers who planned and made this convention a success.

Speaking for the Alpha men who attended I can honestly say that we enjoyed every minute of the time spent in Chicago. We all attended the Century of Progress during our stay and found many things of interest there. The convention itself was well planned and I am sure that the various delegates learned many valuable ways and means of operating their chapters. The business sessions were run off very smoothly and I certainly enjoyed the papers presented by the various delegates.

No need to mention the social activities. They certainly spoke for themselves. The several dinners were excellent both as to food and entertainment. Friday night, the night of the now famous Stag Party, saw the largest gathering of Deltasigs in the history of the fraternity and it certainly made one feel proud to be a Deltasig. I will not discuss the entertainment at that party but suffice to say that it was really up to the well known Broadway standard. If you missed this stag I'd suggest that you run and find someone that saw it, so that you may get the real lowdown on it.

The following night, Saturday, produced one of the finest dances yet and was held at the Edgewater Beach Hotel. Several of us from Alpha of course lost ourselves on the way out but managed to arrive in time for the dinner. A very lucky thing (for us). The dance music was excellent and the committee could not have selected a more ideal spot for the last official event of the convention.

I have heard tales in our chapter of other conventions but it certainly seems to me that the 1933 convention will go down in history as one of the best ever conducted by Delta Sigma Pi.—GEORGE W. HUSSENETTER, New York.

BROTHERS, I wish to state that the week of September 11 to 16 was one week of my life that I shall never forget. I will never miss another convention of the Grand Chapter. I only regret that all members of Delta Sigma Pi were not able to attend, especially those from Beta Theta Chapter.

I don't believe I have ever been any place where I felt as welcome as I did from the time I came to Chicago until I left. It makes one realize what it really means to be a brother in Delta Sigma Pi.

The opening banquet was a big success, and was the beginning of friendships which I will always cherish. The Yellow Dog initiation was more than a success. Frank saw to it that no one escaped. The model initiation was very impressive and I am sure if we all try to copy after Cliff's model ritual team, the fraternity will profit by it. Of course, I must not forget the entertainment which Steve supplied for us on Friday evening after the stag banquet. I doubt if they can beat that down there at Atlanta, Georgia.

Although I believe we were entertained royally, I maintain the highlights of the whole convention were the meetings. After attending those four sessions one could hardly come away without more spirit and more determination to make his chapter the best. I think Kappa Chapter is to be congratulated on winning the efficiency contest, however I wish to state here that next year Beta Theta Chapter will be in the fighting.

And last but not least, Brothers, although I had met Brother Wright before, during that convention he showed us why we have so strong an organization. Gig is not afraid of work and furthermore, he has the ability. If we want to show him our appreciation I think the best way is to get in there and fight. Make Delta Sigma Pi what he wants it to be—the very best fraternity in existence.—ARTHUR MERICAN, Creighton.

THE FRATERNITY was unusually fortunate in holding its Eleventh Grand Chapter Congress at a time when it appears that the nation is beginning to recover from a period of depression. At no other time could we so advantageously assemble together and discuss common problems and their solutions. With returning prosperity to the nation, we can look forward to years of even greater progress in Delta Sigma Pi. The Congress also came at a time when it appears that the expansion of Delta Sigma Pi has almost been completed. We have passed through the adolescent stage; we have reached maturity. We have the field pretty well covered now; we must now seek to improve those which we have. We must realize more than ever before the international aspect and possibilities of the fraternity. And in no way could our outlook be better broadened than by the contacts we made at the Congress.

The papers which were presented were interesting and informative, and I believe that the ideas contained in them will contribute much to the improvement of many chapters this year.

The social events of the convention will long be remembered by those in attendance. If nothing else had been attended, the social events would have made the trip from Atlanta to Chicago worthwhile.

The convention made me realize, more than ever before, that Deltasigs are the same the world over. We have the same problems confronting us. We have the same ambitions. We have the same ideals and purposes.

Although it was the first Congress I had attended, I returned with a firm resolution that it would not be the last.—HOWARD B. JOHNSON, Georgia Tech.

UPON MY RETURN from Chicago and the Eleventh Grand Chapter Congress I find that the germ of enthusiasm planted there is beginning to have a real effect on me. The convention was an orientation process to me and I hope that I may be able to transfer some of the pep and ideas to Alpha Beta Chapter that I received at the Convention.

Everything that happened from the time I arrived until the Stag Party found me present. Anybody who missed those banquets or the stag party robbed himself of certain benefits and entertainment of the Convention.

Delta Sigma Pi has always meant a great deal to me but I was more inspired than ever after the formal initiation put on Thursday evening. It was certainly an impressive ceremony. Also I might add that I am proud of that Yellow Dog card which I am now entitled to carry.

The part of the convention which I enjoyed most of all was the report of chapters on Friday. The reports so enriched the trip for me that I felt doubly repaid for the time spent at the entire convention. If the other delegates appreciated the papers delivered as much as myself then the brothers who delivered them can feel that they rendered a real service to Delta Sigma Pi. These papers will be the compass by which I shall direct my efforts in Alpha Beta Chapter in the future.

An honest confession is good for the soul! I have been an alumnus since 1930 and the Chapter Efficiency Contest was only dimly reflected on my mind. NEVER had I realized what a wonderful opportunity it offers for initiative and management. Now the "Missouri has been shown" you'll probably hear more than a rumor from here in a short time.—WALDON C. WINSTON, Missouri.

AS I HAVE TOLD the members of Mu Chapter, I cannot start to describe the pleasure I had at the convention. My only regret is that every man from our chapter was not present. I have returned to Washington with the earnest vow to myself to put into practice as many of the plans presented at the Grand Chapter Congress as are applicable to Mu Chapter.

I have presented an oral report to the chapter and have discussed particular phases with the officers most interested and responsible for carrying out certain duties. A written report of the business meetings, as taken from my notes, is to be incorporated in the minutes of the meetings for future reference and to enable the next delegate to understand what transpired at this convention and the standing of Mu Chapter as to amendments passed and business completed. Incidentally, Brother Cooney called upon me to describe my experiences at the convention to a group of prospects at our first smoker.

I was impressed with the business-like manner that all events were handled; everything showed the result of planning and efficient management. I want to take this opportunity to thank you and your assistants for the many courtesies shown to me while in Chicago.—RONALD H. PEARCE, Georgetown.

I WANT TO EXPRESS MY FEELINGS, Gig, concerning the Eleventh Grand Chapter Congress of Delta Sigma Pi.

First, the business sessions were very, very interesting. I was able to learn a great deal concerning our wonderful fraternal organization in these sessions. The reports given on various chapter activities were unusual in quality. These reports greatly aided me in collecting interesting ideas and data to take back to Beta Delta.

Second, I can't remember of ever having such a splendid time as I had at the convention. In my estimation every social function was unusually successful, and tended to accentuate a wonderful fraternal atmosphere. There was a spirit continuously displayed, amid brotherly handshakes and friendly greetings, that won't soon be forgotten. I shall be looking forward to the next Grand Chapter Congress with great anticipation.

All in all, I think the Eleventh Grand Chapter Congress was a tremendous success. I would not have missed it for anything. I sincerely feel that you and all your colleagues, who were responsible for the success of such a wonderful gathering, should be highly complimented. Congratulations! —R. S. POOLE, North Carolina State.

THE GRAND CHAPTER CONGRESS was to me a revelation. I realize now that when I went out to Chicago I did not fully appreciate the fraternity. Of course, I understood that I was a Deltasig and I was proud of it. But Delta Sigma Pi to me was just an organization—a cold, lifeless thing. I understand now that it is more than that. The convention has made me conscious that it is made up of friendships that are not just local, but national. The associations entered into at the business and social sessions made me realize that my fraternity was not merely my chapter, but that it was a warm, living national brotherhood.

The convention also showed me that our fraternity in standing for the highest ideals in business conduct and practice, is really run in a business-like manner. All sessions were conducted in an exceedingly efficient fashion and the many items of business to be introduced and acted upon were handled with speed and thoroughness. I was quite impressed, too, with the set-up of our Central Office.

My attendance at the Grand Chapter Congress has given me a clearer vision of what our fraternity really is—it has made me truly proud that I am a Deltasig.—HOWARD E. WINSTANLEY, Johns Hopkins.

THE ELEVENTH GRAND CHAPTER CONGRESS of Delta Sigma Pi was in my opinion a huge success. I wish to congratulate the several committees, Brother Wright, and the four host chapters on their carrying out such a successful and inspiring meeting. I greatly appreciate the splendid hospitality and the grand time shown me while I was in Chicago. Meeting boys from New York to California, mingling and associating with them, was a pleasure I will never forget. The plan of having delegates submit reports on various chapter activities was an excellent one, and the many fine talks gave me numerous ideas and plans with which to work on for the betterment of our chapter. I was very much impressed with the business sessions, and I believe the new amendments to the Constitution and By-Laws were justified and rightly adopted.

As for the social side of the convention, I hardly think a more enjoyable program could have been performed—especially the Stag Party. I am very happy to have attended the convention; and as a result of my being present, I am proud of our fraternity and its officers, I am a better Deltasig and a "yellow dog."—JOHN L. WOMBLE, JR., North Carolina.

I DID NOT FULLY REALIZE the size and importance of Delta Sigma Pi until I attended the Eleventh Grand Chapter Congress. Up until I attended the convention, I know now that my pride in belonging to the fraternity was not fully developed, for after seeing and associating with some of the older members of Delta Sigma Pi, who every few years find their way back to a national convention, I have a new feeling about the organization. To see that these men, now many of them well-to-do and prominent business men, still have an enthusiastic pride in and love for the fraternity, was a great source of enjoyment to me. It gave me that feeling that Delta Sigma Pi was the best and that nothing was more important than its business.

I consider the dinners and the social functions the highlights of the convention. There is where I really got acquainted with my brothers from the many corners of the good old U.S.A. And I still think we had the best fan dance in Chicago.

The business sessions were like all business sessions, necessary but not especially entertaining, but we couldn't have done any better here at Beta Eta.—GLENN B. CALMES, Florida.

NOW THAT THE BUSINESS and festivities of the Eleventh Grand Chapter Congress have been concluded and we look back in retrospect we cannot help but wish that the convention could be held each year instead of every two or three years. To meet and exchange ideas with the representatives of all the other chapters of Delta Sigma Pi is inspirational. It imbues each with the spirit that is so necessary in fraternal organizations. It broadens the scope of each and recreates and builds up any flagging interest in the national organization.

The individual treatises on the various phases of fraternal organization were ably and aptly presented and Beta Chapter for one is impatiently awaiting the briefs to be distributed so that it can benefit by the wide and varied experiences contained therein.

The entire program of the Eleventh Grand Chapter Congress was conceived and conducted in a manner not to be exceeded by any organization in the business and commercial world. We are justly proud of our fraternity and its Grand Chapter officers.—RUSSELL G. NELSON, Northwestern.

IN REGARD TO THE CONVENTION I want to say that I enjoyed every minute of my stay in Chicago. I doubt if a convention could have been better planned or better conducted than was the Grand Chapter Congress of Delta Sigma Pi held this year. To Brother Wright go my heartiest congratulations for conducting the convention in the efficient manner it was conducted and for the enjoyable time shown everyone.

The business meetings were most instructive, due in a large measure to the efficient guidance by Grand President Schujahn. The expressions given by the various delegates were very helpful and interesting to me, as were the papers read on various chapter problems. The paper read by Brother Kerns of Omega on Finances was very interesting and instructive, and the subject is one to which too much thought cannot be given.

Again I want to say that I had a very enjoyable time and I only hope that sometime in the future I shall be able to attend another Delta Sigma Pi convention.—HAROLD L. WINQUEST, Nebraska.

THE GRAND CHAPTER CONGRESS and its associated activities are all over, but the memories and inspiration shall ever go on. It surpassed anything in that line that I have ever known. My only regret is that only two of us from Xi Chapter were able to attend. It is impossible to convey back to my chapter the great national spirit represented by the gathering of Delta Sigma Pi brothers from all parts of the United States and Canada, but rest assured I shall do my best. That task is not merely a report of what happened at the Grand Chapter Congress but putting the many ideas received at the convention into action in Xi Chapter. The fraternal inspiration stirred every delegate to greater determination and I know that each chapter will show the result of this added determination for bigger and better chapters. A great deal of appreciation is due to those who made the Grand Chapter Congress the success that it was.—ROBERT E. ADAMS, Michigan.

THE GRAND CHAPTER CONGRESS was a great success, both business and social. I was very happy to lead Beta Nu's delegation to their first Grand Chapter Congress.

The business sessions covered topics which were interesting and pertinent. The discussion on various problems of fraternal organizations will be of great value in solving our problems. Some of the suggestions I received will be used in our chapter this year. Beta Nu came in contact with the national organization for the first time. With this contact we have become really conscious of the magnitude of the fraternity.

Needless to say, the social functions climaxed an interesting week. The staff of the Central Office, chapters in the Chicago district, and the Chicago alumni are to be congratulated in making the Eleventh Grand Chapter Congress a success.—WILLIAM J. HANNA, Pennsylvania.

A MOST INSPIRING AND EDUCATIONAL gathering of men from every section of the United States, I am happy to have had the association of that fine group of men for a period of four days; some of those friendships I hope will never die, but be ever kept alive by the bonds of Brotherhood in Delta Sigma Pi.

The business meetings were carried on in the most orderly manner and the issues were dispatched with speed and ease. The social events were skillfully handled by our hosts, and the splendid round of events are long to be remembered.

The out of town delegates are especially grateful for ample time to see the Century of Progress. In general the Grand Chapter Congress went off without a "hitch."—U. WRIGHT KERNS, Temple.

IT WOULD BE VERY DIFFICULT for me to express how much I really enjoyed the Grand Chapter Congress and the Century of Progress. I shall never forget either.

The convention revealed to me the true greatness of our fraternity. Meeting and making friends with boys from all parts of the United States was a great experience. The true fraternity spirit was displayed when boys who had never seen each other before were as friendly as if they had known each other all their lives.

I wish to express my appreciation to you, Brother Wright, for the very efficient way in which the convention was carried on. I received many ideas and inspirations at the convention, and I sincerely hope that I shall be able to carry out some of these ideas at Beta Lambda this year.—CHARLES C. WORKMAN, Alabama Poly.

I WISH TO THANK the Chicago chapters and the alumni club in behalf of Nu for their hospitality during our stay in Chicago. My only regret is that all the boys from Nu could not have been present. Before the convention I was of the opinion that I had some conception of Delta Sigma Pi nationally, but as the business sessions progressed I came to realize more and more the importance and power of our national organization. If every active member of our numerous chapters could have attended the meetings, Delta Sigma Pi's membership problem would be solved. I only hope that the members of our other chapters received as much benefit from the Grand Chapter Congress as I did.—EDWARD C. DANFORD, Ohio State.

I AM PROUD to have had a part in a Delta Sigma Pi convention. It was a success in every respect. The ideas received there will be of value to me in business as well as in fraternity life.

I was particularly impressed with the fine character and business ability of the delegates and officers from other chapters and I am proud to call them brothers. I will always remember the Eleventh Grand Chapter Congress as one of the high spots of my college career.—L. C. GRANT, South Carolina.

FROM BOTH BUSINESS and social standpoints I found the Grand Chapter Congress to be of exceptional value. I acquired suggestions and ideas on chapter operation which I am sure will be of tremendous value to Alpha Epsilon. I can also say that the friendships derived through the meetings of Deltasigs from other chapters throughout the country was of great interest and benefit to me. I heartily endorse meetings of the type held, and hope to be in a position to attend the next Grand Chapter Congress, regardless of where it may be held.—JOHN R. TANNER, Minnesota.

THE ELEVENTH GRAND CHAPTER CONGRESS held in Chicago last September was, in every respect, a huge success. The committees and the officers did a great piece of work in arranging the different attractions of the convention. Beta Iota, being one of the youngest chapters, has never taken part in one of the conventions. I am sure it has been an inspiration to them and will help in carrying out the work for the coming year.—ROGER BAGWELL, Baylor.

THE ELEVENTH GRAND CHAPTER CONGRESS caused me to realize more and more the importance of Delta Sigma Pi to each of its members and my obligations to the fraternity. I can safely say that I have never attended a convention of any type that was so carefully planned as was this one. A great deal was accomplished by everyone and I am sure we will feel the good effects of it throughout the coming years.—PAUL E. HAYCOOD, Alabama.

WITHOUT A DOUBT the Grand Chapter Congress was a huge success in every way possible. Nothing was lacking, thanks to the untiring work of all those in charge. A good time was had by all and every Delta man enjoyed it to the utmost. We all hope to be present at the next one.—ROBERT F. RETZER, Marquette.

I CAME BACK with a greater realization of the real worth and importance of Delta Sigma Pi in the scholastic commerce field. The sight of others enthusiastically working for the advancement of the fraternity inspires one to take the lead in arousing dormant spirit at home.—PAUL LACHMUND, Wisconsin.

TO WORK AND PLAY with Brother Deltasigs was an experience never to be forgotten. The convention business sessions were enlightening and educational in fraternity matters and the social sessions were most enjoyable.—GLENN P. JOHNSON, North Dakota.

ALTHOUGH it was my first opportunity to attend such an event, I was so impressed by the Congress that I'm sure I'll never miss any of those to come. I liked especially the swift order of the business meetings and the well-selected social events.—BERNARD J. WEMHOFF, Detroit.

The New Grand Council

THE PERSONNEL OF the new Grand Council of Delta Sigma Pi comprises many of the most active and experienced alumni workers in the fraternity. Eight chapters are represented among its nine members. Seven have served on the Grand Council before, and two are past Grand Presidents of the fraternity. Two of the members are serving on the Grand Council for the first time. A brief biographical sketch of each member follows:

EDWIN L. SCHUJAHN, Wisconsin, better known as Ed throughout Delta Sigma Pi circles, is the second member of the fraternity to be re-elected to this all-important and highest office in the fraternity. Ed graduated from Fond du Lac, Wisconsin, high school in 1915, saw active service overseas with the Field Hospital Company No. 126 of the 32nd Division. He then started out to be a pharmacist, changed his mind, entered the School of Commerce of Wisconsin in 1920, graduating in 1924, with membership in Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholarship society, Beta Gamma Sigma, honorary scholarship society in commerce, and Phi Kappa Phi, honor society. He was a charter member of our Psi Chapter at Wisconsin. Since graduation he has been one of the most active alumni in the fraternity. First as deputy director and then director of the Missouri Valley Province of the fraternity while situated in Minneapolis, he has gradually worked through most of our offices until he was elected a member of the Grand Council in 1926, re-elected in 1928, and elected as Grand President in 1930. He served as chairman of the all-important Committee on Extension from 1926 to 1930, and at the present time is a member of our Committee on Finance. He has been associated with the Washburn-Crosby Company since graduation from college, and is now Eastern sales manager of their package products division at Buffalo, N.Y.

H. G. WRIGHT, Northwestern, best known as Gig, graduated from the Kewanee, Illinois, high school in 1911, then entered the School of Commerce of Northwestern University, where he was a charter member of Beta Chapter of Delta Sigma Pi. He served his chapter both as Treasurer and Head Master and has attended every meeting of the Grand Chapter since 1917, a total of eight meetings. He was elected Grand President in 1920, and re-elected in 1922, and was elected Grand Secretary-Treasurer in

Kappa Wins Chapter Efficiency Contest

CLIMAXING THE MOST successful year in the history of the chapter, Kappa Chapter at Georgia Tech maintained the fast pace it set throughout the year and won the 1933 Chapter Efficiency Contest with a final total of 95,280 points out of a possible 100,000, almost a perfect score. The contest was exceedingly close throughout the year, and until the very last month several chapters were in the running for first place, particularly Kappa of Georgia Tech, Alpha Theta of Cincinnati, Beta of Northwestern, and Omega of Temple. However, Kappa and Alpha Theta finally pulled away in the home stretch and when the final score was announced, Kappa was first with 95,280 points, Alpha Theta of Cincinnati was second with 94,180 points, Beta of Northwestern was third with 87,570 points, Omega of Temple was fourth with 86,730 points, and Beta Eta of Florida was fifth with 81,270 points.

Kappa Chapter had a well-rounded program of activities indeed. In the five divisions of the contest they scored the maximum number of points permitted, 20,000, in three divisions, Professional Activities, Membership, and Finances, and they scored 19,250 points in Chapter Initiative and Administration, and 16,570 points in Scholarship. Alpha Theta Chapter at Cincinnati, while only scoring the maximum number of points, 20,000, in one division were exceedingly high in all of the other four divisions. Beta Chapter of Northwestern, which placed third, scored the maximum number of points in three divisions but were only able to score 12,500 points under membership, failing to initiate their quota of members, having one of the highest quotas of any chapter in the fraternity. Remarkable also was Alpha Theta Chapter's improvement over the previous year, for in 1932 they placed 36th, while in the 1933 contest they advanced themselves to second place, which goes to show what real determination, organization, and leadership will do for a chapter that has really made up its mind to go places and do things. Congratulations are also in order to several chapters for maintaining a very high standing both years: Kappa of Georgia Tech was first this year and fourth last year; Beta of Northwestern was third both years; Omega of Temple placed fourth this year and fifth last year; Beta Eta of Florida won the contest last year and placed fifth this year, while Delta of Marquette was sixth this year and in eighth place last year.

The final standings of the chapters are shown in the adjoining column, and a complete analysis of the points earned by each chapter was published in the Delta Sigma Pi Official Bulletin, Issue No. 18, of September 13. Interesting facts in connection with this year's Chapter Efficiency Contest are: the Central Province again maintained the highest point average of any of the eight provinces in the fraternity, with an average of 68,075 points against an all-chapter average of the entire fraternity of 54,660 points. For a second time, six of the seven chapters comprising the Central Province were in the first eighteen chapters, a rather remarkable record (last year these same six chapters were in the first fourteen chapters in the final standing), and the same chapter, Chicago, was again the chapter not able to make a correspondingly high average as did the other chapters in this province. The Eastern Province with ten chapters placed second this year, with a very substantial improvement over their chapter average for the previous contest. The all-chapter average of the fraternity for this year was 54,660 points against an average in 1932 of 44,000.

In accordance with the terms of the Chapter Efficiency Contest, life memberships in Delta Sigma Pi have been presented to the three principal officers of the winning chapters, Frank C. Brandes, Head Master, Norman E. Boswell, Treasurer, and Howard B. Johnson, Scribe, of our Kappa Chapter at Georgia Tech; to Head Master Orville H. Anderson and John A. Pund of Alpha Theta Chapter at Cincinnati, and to Head Master Cliff H. Rasmussen of Beta Chapter at Northwestern University. These officers are to be congratulated for the very fine administrative ability and leadership they displayed throughout the year.

Several changes have been made in the rules and regulations governing this contest this fall, all of which have been outlined in detail in the new edition of the Delta Sigma Pi Manual for Chapter Officers sent to all chapters. These changes are the result of experiences the past year, and deal primarily with changes in the number of points to be awarded for certain items. Also, during the coming year life memberships will be given to the officers of the chapters placing first, second, third, fourth, and fifth, instead of only the chapters placing first, second, and third.

With the increasing familiarity of the chapters and the chapter officers with the rules and regulations governing this annual contest, and also a greater interest on the part of the chapters in this contest, it should prove even more effective and interesting with each succeeding year.

1924, which office he has held ever since. He organized the H. G. Wright Coal Company, wholesale coal brokers, in 1920 and served as the head of that organization until 1926, when he sold this business to devote his entire time as Grand Secretary-Treasurer of Delta Sigma Pi.

R. C. SCHMIDT, Detroit, has been an active worker in the fraternity since 1921. He was one of the organizers and a charter member of our Theta Chapter, served as its first Head Master. He organized the Detroit Alumni Club of Delta Sigma Pi and served as its first president. He was elected to the Grand Council of the fraternity in 1922, and re-elected in 1924 and 1926, when he was elected Grand President, and in 1930 again elected to another term on the Grand Council. He is assistant secretary of the Burton Abstract and Title Company, Detroit, Mich.

A. KEATE COOK, Utah, was one of the charter members of our Sigma Chapter, and served as an officer of the chapter for two years. He organized and served as the first president of our Salt Lake City Alumni Club. He was elected to the Grand Council in 1924, and has been re-elected regularly since that time. He is a partner in the firm, the Cook Tea and Coffee Company, Salt Lake City, Utah.

HERBERT W. WEHE, Pittsburgh, was a charter member of our Lambda Chapter at the University of Pittsburgh, which he served as Scribe, Junior Warden, and Head Master. In addition to being active in the Pittsburgh Alumni Club, he has served as deputy director of the Eastern Province, and has attended every convention since 1922. He resides in Pittsburgh and is assistant treasurer of the Wood Preserving Corporation.

C. B. WINGERT, Temple, is an alumnus of our Omega Chapter, in which he served as Scribe. He has also served as vice-president and president of the Philadelphia Alumni Club and has been a member of the Grand Council since 1928. He is in business for himself in Philadelphia as a broker for advertising specialties and emblematic jewelry.

EUGENE D. MILENER, Johns Hopkins, has been a member of the Grand Council since 1930. He was a charter member of his chapter, and served in various capacities in his chapter and the Baltimore Alumni Club. He has served as director of the Eastern Province and has been a member of the Committee on Finance for five years. He has participated in many Grand Chapter Congresses and has visited many chapters of the fraternity during his comprehensive travels as special industrial research representative of the American Gas Association, New York City.

KENNETH B. WHITE, Boston, is one of the new members added to the Grand Council this fall. He received his B.B.A. degree cum laude from Boston University in 1926, and is a member of Beta Gamma Sigma. Moved to Texas in 1929 and has been director of the Southwestern Province of Delta Sigma Pi for several years. He resides in Dallas and is associated with Haskins and Sells, public accountants.

JOHN L. MCKEWEN, Johns Hopkins, the other new member added to the Grand Council, was initiated into Delta Sigma Pi in 1923, when our Chi Chapter was at the University of Maryland, from which university he graduated in 1926. He served as Head Master of Chi Chapter in 1924 and 1925, and as president of the Baltimore Alumni Club from 1926 to 1932. He has been director of the Eastern Province of the fraternity for the past two years, resides in Baltimore, and is a member of the public accounting firm of Irving and McKewen.

Father and Son Members

NO ONE KNEW about it until all the hell was raised during the most recent hell week at Alpha Chapter, and after said turbulence was over, we found that history had been made in Alpha Chapter with the initiation of the first son of an alumnus of our chapter. Twenty-three years ago, just three years after the fraternity was founded, John P. Morris was initiated into Alpha Chapter. The ceremony just completed invested his son, John B. Morris, with the rights and privileges of membership in Delta Sigma Pi. They are father and son. John P. Morris is Alpha No. 17, while John B. Morris is Alpha No. 545.

This fact was not discovered until young Jack was wearing the badge of the fraternity, and it was during the course of conversation at the banquet given in honor of the new members last spring when the second generation of the Morris family calmly informed the chapter that his father was Alpha No. 17.

The elder Morris was initiated into Alpha Chapter of Delta Sigma Pi in January 1910. He remembers every detail of that ceremony. It is one of the greatest memories in his life. He did not want his son to miss any of its thrill in following his footsteps through New York University, and likewise he did not want any special favoritism granted his son because of the fact that his father was a member of Delta Sigma Pi. That is why he decided to keep secret the fact that his son was in the process of being rushed, pledged, and initiated by Alpha Chapter. Young Jack's first move after the ritual was completed and he had an opportunity was to greet his father with "Hello, Brother." The proud parent entered New York University in 1908, was initiated into Delta Sigma Pi in 1910, and was graduated in 1911. It is through the influence of some of the early members of Alpha Chapter, including George V. McDaughlin, Philip J. Warner, John B. Guernsey, Philip A. Benson, Frank McGoldrick, Harry Cox, and others, that the senior Morris became interested in Alpha Chapter. He remarks even now at the wonderful spirit that was manifest in the brotherhood at that time. He recollects with pleasure the night that this group hustled him to the corner of Broadway and 14th Street, there to stand him on a soapbox and force him to deliver a speech on the subject of "Indoor Matadors and the Art of Throwing the Bull." Odd to relate, Jack figuratively tossed them out in the aisles with his oration. A delighted crowd gathered at that corner, which is now famed for its fiery communistic demonstrations. In fact, the gathering became so large that a policeman had to disperse the audience in order to keep the traffic arteries open.

Young Jack Morris graduated from St. Michael's high school in Brooklyn in the class of 1931. There he made a name for himself in every department. As an athlete he starred on the boards and the cinder path, and he also played on the baseball and the basketball teams. His talents in other activities won him the presidency of the Student Council and the editorship of the school paper, and now as an undergraduate student at New York University and an active member of Alpha Chapter, young Jack is becoming very active in the student affairs on our campus and has already taken over the duties of editor of the Alpha News, the chapter publication.

All Deltasigs will join Alpha in greeting young Jack Morris. We look forward to him as Alpha No. 545 to uphold our ideals and share that fine loyalty and friendship that are his father's in our brotherhood.—FRANK T. FARRELL.

Palmer F. Daugs Makes Record as Assemblyman

PALMER F. DAUGS, an alumnus of our Delta Chapter at Marquette University, has made quite a name for himself and has established a most creditable record as assemblyman in the Wisconsin legislature from Fort Atkinson, Wisconsin, from which district he was elected by a vote of 10,479 to 5,634.

Upon graduation from Marquette University, Brother Daugs returned to Fort Atkinson and became active in the "Boys of '22," and was elected president. This organization comprises the boys who graduated from the Fort Atkinson High School in the class of 1922, are 33 in number, and now own their own club house on Lake Koshkonong. In 1928 Palmer was elected treasurer of the Fort Atkinson High School Alumni Association, and in 1929 its president. In 1930 he was requested to become roll call chairman for the Fort Atkinson Red Cross roll call, and he succeeded in raising the annual collections from $400 to $1385. In 1931 he was again requested to conduct the Red Cross roll call for the southern part of Jefferson County, including the city of Fort Atkinson, and $4,000 was raised. He is now vice-president of the Fort Atkinson Red Cross chapter. He is also first vice-president of the Fort Atkinson Lions Club.

When the Young Democratic Club of Wisconsin was organized in the summer of 1932, Palmer was selected as state secretary and had charge of contacting the Young Democrats in the second congressional district of Wisconsin, besides conducting his campaign for election to the assembly from Jefferson County. He made attendance at the business sessions of the assembly a campaign issue because of the frequent absences of his opponent, and pledged himself to attend every session. He was elected by a substantial vote and had the distinction of being one of only two members of the assembly who answered roll call at every session of the 1933 legislature. He continues to serve as state secretary of the Young Democratic Clubs of Wisconsin. He is chairman of the Assembly Committee on Commerce and Manufacturing, and also ranking member of the Assembly Committee on Taxation.

During his first year in the state assembly he introduced several important measures: a bill to provide for the earlier reports of expenditures of candidates for public office; a bill to abolish primaries in all cities except Milwaukee, unless ninety days prior to the usual primary date the city council by three-fourths vote, or fifteen per cent of the voters in the previous election, request a primary; a bill repealing the Sunday "Blue Laws" prohibiting Sunday work or play, and which had been in the Wisconsin statutes for 84 years and had withstood many attempts for repeal; and a bill providing for the semi-annual payment of taxes.

Brother Daus resides in Fort Atkinson, Wisconsin, is single, and represents Remington-Rand Inc. in that territory.

Thinks Contract Is Greatest Game

JAMES MAGNER, JR., member of our Boston chapter, and 25-year-old protege of Ely Culbertson, has made quite a reputation for himself as one of the most expert contract bridge players in Boston. He played his first game of contract about two years ago and temporarily out of an idea for something to do, happened to wander into a bridge tournament just to watch, became interested, bought a book, and began to play contract. "And, in my first games," he says, "I was encouraged. The run of cards was with me, and I remembered what I had learned. Naturally under these conditions, the best cards won. I became more interested in cards than anything else, for in cards I had succeeded and I kept improving steadily."

Brother Magner has cleaned up in every important tournament he has entered in the past eighteen months. He attributes much of his success to the fact that he had nothing to unlearn.

Enters Priesthood

(REVEREND) EDWARD DANIEL O'CONNELL, New York, is assistant pastor of the Church of St. John the Baptist, Rome, N.Y., and writes the following interesting letter: ". . . It is so long since I left the business world, and incidentally paid alumni dues to Deltasig, that my conscience is beginning to bother me, so I enclose check covering my current alumni dues. I left the field of business in 1923 to study for the priesthood, spent two years in Maryland and four years in Italy in study, and have been four years here in Rome, N.Y., working among the Italian people. My business training at New York University, and in practice, I consider a most valuable asset in the priesthood, and I can never forget the good times and associations I enjoyed while active in the fraternity."

Obituary

WILLIAM CALHOUN RION, Beta Gamma 25. Born June 15, 1885; initiated April 13, 1929; died October 11, 1933. Brother Rion was one of the most active alumni supporters of our South Carolina chapter, and the chapter was deeply saddened by his death. Brother Rion was president of the Certified Audits Company of Columbia, S.C., and was one of the best known accountants in the state.

EVERETT BLANDIN GALUSHA, Omega 243. Born August 9, 1913; initiated May 7, 1932; died October 28, 1933. Brother Galusha, a junior in the School of Commerce of Temple University and an active member of our Omega Chapter, was killed while enroute to the Temple-Bucknell football game at Lewisburg, Pa., when the car he was driving turned over on the road near Dillsburg, Pa. Alexander Galbraith and James W. Davidson, members of Omega Chapter, were with Brother Galusha but were unharmed. Members of Omega Chapter motored to Indian Lake, N.Y. to act as pallbearers and to attend Brother Galusha's funeral.

MERLE LAWRENCE NEWBERG, Alpha Epsilon 185. Born November 10, 1910; initiated January 17, 1931; died October 12, 1933. Brother Newberg was a member of the University of Minnesota football squads in 1930 and 1931. During the latter year he received a knee injury which later developed into tuberculosis of the bone, from which he never recovered. He died at the Glen Lake Sanatorium, Glen Lake, Minn. The funeral services were held Sunday, October 17, in Minneapolis, with the entire chapter and many of the alumni present.

JOSEPH RICHARD PROUT, Chi 129. Born May 15, 1906; initiated February 15, 1930; died June 16, 1933. Members of our Chi Chapter were saddened by the sudden death of Joseph R. Prout, a recent graduate, and who had just passed the state examinations for his C.P.A. and was about to enter that field of business activity. Assisting his father in the duties of his office as sheriff, he drove witnesses to Towson, Md. and back, catching a cold because of his driving the car with an open windshield. A sudden turn to pneumonia defied the efforts of the best medical specialists in Baltimore to check it, and after a week's illness he passed away. Funeral services were held on June 22, with members of Chi Chapter serving as pallbearers.

NORMAN RENDA HOSBACH, Beta Nu 32. Born December 12, 1905; initiated January 23, 1932; died July 20, 1933. Brother Hosbach had been in apparent good health for some time, had an unexpected heart attack from which he never recovered. He was cashier of the National Accident and Health Insurance Company of Philadelphia. One of Brother Hosbach's last requests was that his chapter should be given his library of books.

WALLACE ALTON EKEGREN, Alpha Epsilon 78. Born March 31, 1904; initiated June 6, 1926; died April 20, 1933.

Alabama Poly Presents Excellent Professional Program

BETA LAMBDA CHAPTER, Alabama Polytechnic Institute, has organized and started its work for the year with a great deal of interest. A very thorough and interesting program is being arranged for the semester both socially and professionally. To become better acquainted with prospective members of our fraternity, we entertained fifteen high-ranking students of the department of Business with a wiener roast, October 10. Election of new members will take place at the end of October.

The subjects to be discussed at the five professional meetings to be held during the first semester are: Philosophy Behind the N.R.A.; the National Recovery Administration; Farm Program; Tennessee Valley Program, and the National Financial Program. The first of these was held October 17, and much interest was manifested.

Our seniors have been very outstanding this year having received some of the highest honors on the campus. Fred Chapman is president of O.D.K. and is a member of Spades, and Scabbard and Blade. He is also cadet captain in R.O.T.C. and assistant instructor in Accounting. Charles Workman is a member of O.D.K., Blue Key, Alpha Phi Epsilon, and Phi Delta Gamma fraternities, being president of the latter two. Last semester he won the loving cup for the best inter-collegiate varsity debater.

We are working hard in the Chapter Efficiency Contest and the other chapters may expect a good race for first place in this contest this year.—W. HOWARD MCGIBONEY.

Buffalo Has Seventeen Actives

WELL HERE WE are back for another big year in fraternity affairs. We have seventeen actives back and from the looks of things they are going to be actives. Our first professional meeting was held on Wednesday evening, October 18, and we had the opportunity of hearing Dr. Brumbaugh lecture on the N.R.A. Professor Baker attended, along with fifteen active members and seven guests. Head Master Norwood Hammersmith assures us that Dr. Brumbaugh would be glad to speak before us again in the future.

We have with us already a number of neophytes who have the appearance of being earnest and capable members. We are looking forward to the time when they will be accepted into our happy brotherhood.

New officers for the coming year were elected unanimously as follows: Head Master, Norwood Hammersmith; Marshall Stoll, Senior Warden; Robert Dobbins, Junior Warden; Cyril Conners, Treasurer; Carl Petro, Scribe; Ward Flack, Senior Guide, and Sherwin Thorne, Junior Guide.

The officers are already planning for a grand showing in celebration of Founders' Day. Ed Wesley is in charge.

Brother Chappell has promised us a treat in the form of moving pictures of the aerial section of our army and navy. The pictures are entitled "Wings of the Army" and are scheduled for our next open house on Wednesday evening, November 15.

We had the pleasure of seeing the C.P.R. views of Western Canada and the Canadian Rockies through the courtesy of Buffalo Museum of Natural Sciences, and with the interpretation of Professor Baker. We all expect our next vacation to be spent at Banff and Lake Louise. Maybe.

Our first gala affair of the year was held last Saturday evening in the ballroom of the Park Lane apartments. Since Deltasig affairs of this type are always a success, no more need be said. Ninety-five couples attended and enjoyed a good time. Brothers McCracken, Stoll, and Healy were in charge.—JOSEPH D. THOMPSON.

Cincinnati Moves into New House

ALPHA THETA CHAPTER, University of Cincinnati, is still walking about town with their chests sticking out. The reason for this strut is that never-to-be-forgotten day, Saturday, May 27, when the chapter moved into their new home. The house is a three story brick, has ten rooms, and is of old English architecture. It is located at 265 Senator Place. At the present time, five men are living at the house, who are well taken care of by Mrs. Early, who is the housemother. Incidentally, Alpha Theta is one of the few fraternities on the U.C. campus who boast of a housemother.

After the house was temporarily straightened up on the 27th, the chapter went to work on the initiation of four pledges, and when I say "work," I mean work, because yours truly was one of the four. May we congratulate Brothers Bolan, Burton, and Kuwatch upon their fortitude during the ordeal.

The Kroger Grocery and Baking Company played a game of give and take with Alpha Theta. They took Anthony J. Werner, our old house manager, and sent him to Indianapolis. Then Kroger gave us Joseph R. Sherry, past Head Master of Alpha Psi Chapter at Chicago. Au revoir, Ceasar—Welcome, Joe. Alpha Theta wishes both of these boys the best of luck in their new positions.

From the reports received from Brothers Davies, Early, Weil, Gholson, Grace, and Anderson, everybody had a wonderful time at the Eleventh Grand Chapter Congress in Chicago. Brother Early was quite enthused over his trip.

We were honored by a visit of Brothers Brandes, Osteen, M. Mason, T. Mason, and J. E. Spence from Kappa. They stopped over for the night, Sunday, September 17, on their way home from the Grand Chapter Congress. Alpha Theta is proud to run second in the Chapter Efficiency Contest to such a splendid group of fellows. After meeting these brothers from below the Mason-Dixon Line, we know why Kappa stands out so vividly on the Delta Sigma Pi map.

Fifteen rushees attended the first smoker, October 11, at which Brother Harry Miller gave a very interesting talk on Marketing Policies as connected with business. After Harry's talk, the fellows gathered out in Mother Early's kitchen and dunked doughnuts to their hearts' content. It was the wee small hours before the last man said good night.

It is a pleasure to announce the winners of Delta Sigma Pi scholarship keys: Philip W. Scott of the day division and Walter J. Riesenberger of the evening division. Congratulations to these men and may they keep up the good work.

We have been having house parties after the night football games and they have been successful due to Joseph A. Dulley, who heads the entertainment committee. Our house manager, Elmer Early, bids all brothers upon coming to Cincy. "To come sometime and we'll do right by you." Remember the address is 265 Senator Place and our phone is Avon 3965.—PAUL E. GILB.

Colorado Makes Promising Start

ALTHOUGH THE SCHOOL YEAR is just getting under way, Alpha Rho has started as the dominating force of the University of Colorado School of Business. We are unfortunate in having only nine active men return to school, the smallest chapter in our history; however our small group is exceedingly active. On October 19 an N.R.A. Blue Eagle parade was held in Boulder, and Delta Sigma Pi was present in body. Alpha Rho lead the Business School group in a spirited manner, and has been commended for its part in making the parade a great success.

Many of the leaders on the Colorado campus are also in our chapter. Raymond O. Stenzel is the mainstay of the Silver and Gold football team, and is rated as being one of the outstanding place kickers of the Rocky Mountain Conference. Frederic M. Pannebaker, Head Master of Alpha Rho, is the leader of our School of Business. Brother Pannebaker fills the position of president of the School of Business in an excellent manner. Last spring he was able to organize and place the finishing touches on the first annual School of Business dance. Deltasig also was behind this scheme, and this wonderful combination made this dance a bright spot on the social calendar of the campus. William D. Hicks has shown himself to be an energetic organizer and promoter. Brother Hicks reorganized the pep group of the school, changed its name to Phi Epsilon Phi, and placed it in the limelight of a national fraternity. Brother Hicks is also Junior Warden of Alpha Rho. Albert L. Nelson is on the Colorado University basketball squad. Brother Nelson is also a member of Sumalia, which is a junior honorary society on the Boulder campus. Elwood Kullgren holds the position of musician in our chapter. Brother Kullgren is a member of a very popular band in our collegiate town, and is scribe of Alpha Rho. John E. Aitken is also a leader on the Colorado campus, holding the high office of vice-president of the School of Business, while Richard Jones is treasurer, and a member of Sumalia, the junior honorary society. Harold B. Keith is treasurer of Alpha Rho. Roger D. Knight, Jr., has the position of one of the two drum majors of the University of Colorado band.

Alpha Rho is now starting in on its active rushing program for this year. We have prospects for an excellent class that will hold up their share of the work in the time to come. As a chapter we have many plans for the coming year; however these plans are not thoroughly ripe at this time. Alpha Rho is in the lead. We will make it stay there.—ROGER D. KNIGHT, JR.

Creighton Is Confident

BACK TO COLLEGE DAYS come the members of Beta Theta, twelve actives strong. Cupid and Old Man Depression played some havoc with our active roster during the summer. The annual fall drive for pledges has begun in earnest and it is hoped that the largest pledge class ever will be received into the chapter. All prospective pledges were entertained at a professional meeting held at the Beta Theta meeting room in the Paxton Hotel. A very interesting discourse on "Bank Deposit Insurance" was given by Dr. J. P. Begley, an alumni member who received his doctor's degree this summer from the University of Iowa. This subject was also the subject of his thesis.

Beta Theta played an exceedingly active part in the annual homecoming celebration October 21. The chapter presented one of the most attractive fraternity booths at Creighton to the alumni returning for a glimpse of the halls they knew so well. Not only by their booth, but by their float in the pep parade, did Beta Theta stand out.

With such an excellent start in all their connections, the brothers of Beta Theta are planning to make this the biggest year yet. All are co-operating to the fullest extent and without doubt will surpass any past records for efficient handling of their business.

Robert Leary is leading the pledge recruiters, he being elected to Parachini's former post of Senior Warden. Carroll Leary succeeds Bob as Junior Warden. Under the leadership of Head Master Art Merrigan we are rarin' to go. The period of national recovery is under way and Beta Theta is going to see that she does not lag in the march.—CARROLL LEARY.

Dalhousie Anticipates Good Year

BBETA MU CHAPTER, Dalhousie University, is once again under way on its annual round of professional and social activities. This year promises to be even more successful than any yet experienced by the chapter. Enthusiasm runs high in the minds of all brothers and, while we are faced with the ever present problem of finances, as well as that of pledging prospective members, there is evident at all times a feeling of confidence which must inevitably lead to success.

The chapter house has again opened its doors and, while a few of the older boys are again ramping the halls, a number of the old familiar faces are among the missing. Perhaps one of our greatest losses has been suffered in the absence of Ralph W. Ells, former professor of Accounting and Statistics. Brother Ells is once again a student at Harvard, and with his departure from our ranks we have been deprived of the association of a true brother and sincere friend, as well as having lost a teacher whose ability and patience are seldom to be found in one man.

Rushing plans are being carried on under the direction of Senior Warden Borden A. Stoddard, who is being aided by Donald B. Stewart, whose store of new ideas obtained during his attendance at the Eleventh Grand Chapter Congress in Chicago in September are being put to practical use. Prospects for this year appear to be quite good and we anticipate having two initiations.

The first social event of this semester took place in the Nova Scotian Hotel on October 4, where the brothers entertained the rushees at an informal dance. As usual the party was a success. Our professional program begins during the next week, when we have as our guest speaker Dr. R. A. MacKay, eminent authority on International Relations.

Beta Mu extends to all Deltasigs its best wishes for a successful year.—DONALD M. SINCLAIR.

De Paul Starts Pledging

AT THE FINAL MEETING of Alpha Omega Chapter closing the fiscal year of 1932-33 at De Paul University, nine of our active members were graduated: Brothers Carmody, Creighton, Gaul, Frankel, Glenke, Guerolt, McKillop, McTigue, and Villers left the university to battle in the elements of the commercial world. At this last meeting, however, we initiated six new members: Brothers Puppo, Hoyer, Faul, Hart, Poracky, and Coffman, all of whom we welcome into the ranks of Delta Sigma Pi.

With the start of the scholastic year 1933-34 Alpha Omega is again starting a successful year in fraternal activities. The chapter was well represented during all the days of the Eleventh Grand Chapter Congress, held in Chicago, Illinois, in September. Many of those who attended were very much impressed with the business-like manner in which the meetings were conducted. The pleasing entertainment that was offered as a diversion will long be remembered, by those attending, as the best ever presented. Those of our chapters who had not the time to participate in all convention functions intend to make it up at the next Grand Chapter Congress. This was the first Grand Chapter Congress that some of us had ever participated in, and we were all impressed with the fraternal atmosphere that prevailed, both in a business sense and in the sense of enjoyment. It was the one thing that impressed me above all other things, of the value and the greatness of Delta Sigma Pi. I am sure it has impressed many others, who never had the occasion to be present at such a function, in much the same manner it has me.

With the coming of a new year, Alpha Omega Chapter is truly instilled with the spirit of progress—the spirit of making Delta Sigma Pi the best and most active fraternity at De Paul. The first smoker, held on October 27, was attended by thirty eligible freshmen of the College of Commerce. Prominent speakers were present for the occasion, all of whom were from the College of Commerce. Motion pictures were shown portraying the various views that two professors of the College of Commerce, Mr. Hutter and Mr. Haines, took on their trip to the West Coast the past summer. Many of the views were of special interest, notably most important that of "Death Valley Scotty's" ranch in the desert.

Prospects of pledges are promising and the chapter has in view at least ten new members this semester. The fraternity enjoys an enviable reputation at De Paul and many students are most desirous of becoming members of such an organization. As this is being published, plans are under way for several more smokers to be held in the next few weeks, and interesting speakers are promised us by Head Master John Daly.

Plans are also in formation for the annual Delta Sigma Pi Round-up, held each year. This is an open dance for all students of De Paul as guests of Alpha Omega and has always been a success in the annals of school and fraternal affairs. The athletic possibilities of Alpha Omega this year are quite bright. Many of the members of the team have been stars in their fields during the greater portion of their school athletics, and we should have a championship team.

Alpha Omega truly shall make history again this year, both for themselves and the fraternity.—EUGENE STEINMETZ.

Detroit Looks for Big Year

PROSPECTS FOR THE biggest year in the history of Theta Chapter are already under way. Thus far several large rushing parties have been held at the chapter house. Pledging of the first semester class will be made about November 16. The first dance was held October 27 in the form of a football rally. Phi Gamma Nu, national commerce sorority, assisted the Deltasigs. Professional activities for the year were begun with a smoker with a speaker on November 9.

The active chapter has taken over the chapter quarters at 16925 Monica Avenue. Formerly the house was conducted by the alumni of Theta Chapter. Harry Beyma has been appointed house manager, assisted by a committee of actives. Allan Downey is in charge of the commissary.

At the first meeting of the year held October 5, changes in the national constitution and by-laws, made at the Grand Chapter Congress in September, were read and discussed. Several new ideas regarding social activities, finances, the Chapter Efficiency Contest, etc., were also considered. Committees which will take charge of the various activities have been appointed. They are: Finance, Ted Best and Harry Beyma; Professional Activities, Harold Reinecke, Francis Deering, and Fred Pape; Social Activities, Bob Bebb and John Sweeney; Chapter Efficiency, Bruce Washburn, Allan Downing, Ted Best, Robert Wagener, and Robert Bahn. Because of the withdrawal from school of John Caplis, a new Master of Festivities was elected at the first meeting. He is Harold Reinecke.

Officers for 1933-1934 are: Head Master, Bernard J. Wemhoff; Senior Warden, Fred Pape; Junior Warden, Francis Deering; Treasurer, Ted Best; Scribe, Bruce Washburn; Corresponding Secretary, Harry Beyma; Deltasig Correspondent, Robert Bebb.—ROBERT BEBB.

Florida Has Twenty Actives Back

BETA ETA CHAPTER extends cordial greetings to her sister chapters and to all alumni, wishing them one and all a most happy and successful year. With more than twenty active members on the campus, Beta Eta is going forward to achieve even greater honors than she has in the past. The first business meeting was held September 29, and tentative plans for the year were outlined. An extensive rushing program was agreed upon, and it was decided that initiation be held earlier than it was last year.

On Friday, October 6, an invitational smoker for eligible men was held in the University Y.M.C.A. The program consisted of talks by Dean Walter J. Matherly, faculty Deltasig members, and several special musical numbers.

Deltasig graduates have been quite successful in getting jobs since leaving school. Ben N. Criswell, past Head Master, is now staff writer for the Miami Daily News, Miami, Florida. Lyle S. Hiatt, former past Head Master, is teaching commercial subjects in the West Palm Beach Senior High School, West Palm Beach, Florida. Alton Hilliard is connected with a local business establishment. Zina R. Carter is now operating his own hotel in St. Petersburg, Florida. Several other graduates are unreported.

Terry Patterson and Fred Flipse were initiated into Blue Key, honorary fraternity of outstanding campus leaders, just before the end of last semester, an honor attained by less than two per cent of the student body. Sidney Lenfestey is manager of the varsity football team. James Ganyard is a member of the varsity football "B" team. Alfred Grunwell has been appointed chairman of the Chapter Efficiency Contest for the present year. Robert Porton, campus orchestra leader, is attending the University of Tampa, Tampa, Florida, this year.

This past summer Deltasigs participated in various occupations, from working on ocean liners, in stores and offices, to managing businesses of their own. Tom Lee Barrow completed the fourth year of instruction at the Citizens Military Training Camp at Fort Bragg, N.C., winning the Corps Area Aides Leadership Medal, the highest honor awarded at that camp.—TOM LEE BARROW.

Georgetown Pledges Ten

MU HAS ALWAYS prided itself in its selection of leaders and this year is no exception. Mu Chapter has again succeeded in placing capable men in office. We gave ourselves a flying start by electing: Head Master, Joseph E. Cooney; Chancellor, W. G. Donnelly; Senior Warden, Raymond A. Lyons; Junior Warden, Charles F. Monninger; Treasurer, Ronald H. Pearce; Scribe, John L. Murphy. With such an array of officers, a successful year is a predetermined thing.

The chapter added more impetus when it selected Brother Pearce as convention delegate to the Eleventh Grand Chapter Congress. Since his return from the Congress, Brother Pearce has told and retold wierd tales of the Windy City. However, in his sober moments our delegate assures us, and we agree with him, that he carried out the interests of Mu Chapter and Delta Sigma Pi.

On September 27 Mu held its first smoker of the fall term. It turned out to be the most successful rushing smoker Mu has had in many a year. That Wednesday evening we elbowed our way through the Mayflower Hotel lobby. We pushed aside diplomats, statesmen, society matrons, and other such dignitaries who infest the place, and finally reached the North Room where the good old Deltasig spirit assured us we could breathe freely once more. Brother Donnelly conducted the meeting, and kept things going nicely. He introduced Head Master Cooney, who welcomed the guests and briefly outlined the history of the fraternity. Brother Pearce narrated his experiences at and his impressions of the convention in an impromptu talk. Earl Nash, Deputy Director, outlined the advantages of a fraternity and concluded by introducing Benjamin Cohen, Charge d'Affaires of the Chilean Embassy and Delegate Plenipotentiary for his country to the forthcoming Pan-American Conference to be held in Montevideo. Brother Cohen related his experiences as a pledge and impressed all present with the international standing of Delta Sigma Pi by telling of encounters with brothers while stationed in other countries. Among the guests were Mr. John D. Hickerson, assistant chief of the Western European division of the State Department and instructor in Consular Practice at the School of Foreign Service, and Mr. R. Tattersall, father of Brother John Tattersall and instructor at the War Department Finance School.

On October 13 Mu once more trod on forbidden social grounds, but this time the denizens allowed us to pass. This time we rated the Pan-American room, and the setting was appropriate for the Georgetown School of Foreign Service chapter. Deputy Director Earl A. Nash had secured as the speaker of the evening Mr. William V. Lawson, assistant director of public relations of the N.R.A. Mr. Lawson gave us an interesting insight into the workings of the N.R.A., telling us of much which passes unnoticed by the average citizen. Mr. Lawson's speech was enlightening and timely. Mu's only regret was that other chapters of Delta Sigma Pi were not present. Our Head Master delivered a brilliant talk on the organization of Delta Sigma Pi as an international fraternity. He compared the fraternity to a corporation with the Central Office at its head, and traced the other branches down to the individual chapter.

Mu has already pledged ten men who have fond hopes of becoming Deltasigs. Mu congratulates Brothers Donnelly and O'Brien, who were elected presidents of the fifth and second year classes respectively, and Brothers Cooney, Lyons, and Monninger, who also carried off class offices. With such a start, Mu feels certain of a good year, fraternally, scholastically, and socially. With Deputy Director Earl Nash and Head Master Joseph Cooney guiding us, we can't fail.—PAT G. RINALDI.

Georgia Tech Out to Win Efficiency Contest Again

KAPPA CHAPTER, in leaving behind the summer and taking up school again, reflects upon a period of varied interest and considerable accomplishment.

At the beginning of the summer the chapter bought a country lodge about fifteen miles from Atlanta. The place had not been occupied for some time and a vast amount of work in the way of clearing away weeds, renovating the house, and cleaning out the lake furnished pastime and recreation for brothers on the summer Saturday afternoons. A board of directors was elected to administer the affairs of the lodge and they have done extremely well under the chairmanship of Province Director Jimmy Smith. A steak fry on August 27 was the official opening of the lodge for general social events.

Then came the convention. Twelve Kappa men drove through to Chicago to attend. They were: Former Head Master Frank Brandes, Province Director Jimmy Smith, Tom Dicks, Clyde Kitchens, C. A. Perry, Francis Duggan, Marion Mason, Tom Mason, Ed Spence, Bob Thrasher, and last—probably not least—our official delegate and alternate Howard (Swede) Johnson and Francis (Snake) Osteen.

Perhaps the fact that Kappa was announced as the winner of last year's efficiency contest is partly responsible for our feeling that the convention was the best ever held. The splendid work done in the business sessions, the pleasure of associating with brothers from all over the country, and the pleasing hospitality of the Chicago chapters are things we will remember a long time. It should also be mentioned that the World's Fair and the City of Chicago created a vast appreciation among some of our delegation for the gentle art of fan dancing.

Kappa men have re-entered school this year with an enthusiasm for scholarship and chapter activities that is clearly apparent. A smoker and wiener roast was held on Saturday, October 7, at our lodge to entertain prospective members. Fifteen guests and about thirty brothers spent the afternoon pleasantly with such pastimes as baseball, horse-shoe pitching, swimming, eating, and bull slinging.

With many new and good ideas gained from the Eleventh Grand Chapter Congress Kappa has every expectation of making this the best year yet.—FRANCIS F. DUGGAN.

Iowa Has Successful Homecoming

EPSILON, UNIVERSITY OF IOWA, proudly boasts that it is not afraid of the big bad . . . depression. When active rushing was over it found itself the proud possessor of eight splendid pledges.

Furthermore, shortly after school got under way it found that it had a chapter full of athletes. The captain of the baseball team at Iowa is Herman J. Schulteheinrich. Its star pitcher who did not lose a game last year is Charles Blackman. Lumir J. Kouba is varsity guard in football while Edward D. Hass is leading in the freshman cross country. Ross P. Fraser brings credit to the fraternity as a member of the varsity gym and track teams.

Epsilon's fame is not restricted to athletics, however, for here is a list of the campus officers who are Deltasigs. Head Master John O. Turkington is secretary of the Men's Panhellenic Council and a member of the Student Council. Ray Nelson is on the Union Board and Elmer G. Davis is business manager of the Journal of Business. He is assisted in this capacity by Rees E. Damon, A. Wallace Glover, and Robert W. Stitzel. Brothers Stitzel, Turkington, and Nelson are members of Scabbard and Blade.

Homecoming filled the chapter house with forty brothers from as far distant as New York and Colorado. They witnessed the game in which our team romped over Wisconsin's eleven for a twenty-six to seven victory.

Saturday night, November 5, there is to be a radio party at the house in celebration of the Dad's Day game with Ames. This will be the first time in thirteen years that our teams have met on the gridiron. We are anticipating this game. Your brothers of Epsilon Chapter wish to take this opportunity to extend their hospitality to those of you who may pass through Iowa City. We hope that you will not neglect to accept it.—WILLARD G. THOMAS.

Enthusiasm High at Johns Hopkins

CHI CHAPTER has written into its history another successful year. Although beset with the most adverse conditions in its history, under the able guidance of our former Head Master, J. Hugh Taylor, and a capable staff of supporting officers, we have completed a program of activities that places the season of 1932-1933 behind us as one of worthy accomplishment.

We are now looking forward to the coming season with high spirits, and much enthusiasm. With the assurance that much will be accomplished Chi Chapter begins the season of 1933-1934 under the capable direction of the following newly elected officers: Head Master, Howard E. Winstanley; Senior Warden, Wilson Archer; Junior Warden, Joseph E. McCann; Treasurer, John L. Lagna; Scribe, John E. Motz; Chapter Adviser, Prof. Leslie W. Baker.

Head Master Winstanley has made the following appointments for the year of 1933-1934. George Missel, Jr., will serve as Master of Festivities and Ceremonies, and as Senior Guide. Floyd H. Russell will serve as Junior Guide. John E. Motz, who is also our Scribe, will serve as editor of the Chi Crier, our chapter publication.

Although Chi Chapter is returning to school this fall with one of the smallest chapters in recent years, the executive committee has planned a very ambitious program. Enthusiasm is running high, and everyone is working hard. We are fortunate in having a very interested alumni club, and one of the first events will be the celebration of the national Founders' Day, sponsored by the actives and alumni club, at the Stafford Hotel. A number of professional and rush smokers have been planned. The first of these was held at Levering Hall October 18. A very fine interesting address was given by Mr. Theodore R. McKeldin. A good crowd attended, both alumni and actives. There were also many new faces that may prove possible pledging material later on. Later on there will be a rush smoker, and following in a few days a dance.

Chi Chapter was well represented at the Eleventh Grand Chapter Congress, with John L. McKewen, director of the Eastern Province; Howard E. Winstanley, Head Master of Chi Chapter and official delegate, and J. Hugh Taylor, delegate from the Baltimore Alumni Club. Other Chi men registered at the convention included Eugene Milener of the Grand Council, now of New York; Bill Canton, the founder of the Chi Crier, and Leslie Warton, both of whom are now employed in Chicago.

Howard Winstanley and J. Hugh Taylor gave talks on Chapter Administration and Management, and Professional Activities, respectively. Eugene D. Milener was re-elected a member of the board of directors, now to be called the Grand Council. Our own John L. McKewen, who was Head Master of Chi, president of the Baltimore Alumni Club for years, and director of the Eastern Province for the past few years, was elected a member of the Grand Council. Chi is proud of this honor. Brother Taylor served Grand Secretary-Treasurer Wright as assistant secretary of the convention.

Now for a bit of reminiscing. In celebration of the tenth anniversary of Chi Chapter and the 25th anniversary of the fraternity, Chi last year initiated a program of radio broadcasts. These went over the air from Radio Station WCAO of Baltimore, and consisted of a series of addresses by men prominent in Johns Hopkins University, and in the local field of commerce. These proved of much educational value to those who listened in, and also served in an appropriate way in bringing the fraternity to the attention of the public.

Our spring initiation was held Saturday afternoon, May 20, 1933. Frank Barber was initiated, the ceremony taking place at Levering Hall on Johns Hopkins University campus. This was followed that evening by a dinner-dance at Five Farms, our new brother being the guest of honor. The dinner-dance, the last of the season's social activities, was a huge success. There was a large attendance both of actives and alumni. The dinner was followed by addresses by Dr. William O. Weyforth and Prof. Leslie W. Baker. Charles Steinbock acted as toastmaster. Following this a dance was held, and was thoroughly enjoyed by all in attendance. Thus ended the season of 1932-1933, one that we may look back upon with many pleasant recollections.—FLOYD H. RUSSELL.

Kansas Starts Rushing

IOTA CHAPTER members have started the new school year full of enthusiasm, under the leadership of I. Norman Magley, Head Master. Our first smoker was attended by seventeen guests, also all of our own members and pledges, two members of the faculty, and a speaker. Our speaker, Mr. Robert C. Rankin, president of the western division of the Ice Industry Association, discussed "The Ice Industry Code Under N.R.A." The meeting was a real success and the prospect of securing several good pledges is very promising. A dinner is planned for either October 24, or October 31.

Our scholastic standing is being firmly lead by Oliver W. Holmes. We feel sure that Brother Holmes will be awarded the Delta Sigma Pi key next spring.

The employment record of our members who graduated last year is very good. Claud O. Harrison is working for Phillips Oil Co., Joseph E. Garrison with Continental Oil Co., Sidney Gay with Standard Oil Co., and Francis D. Gallagher and Harvey Wilson with S. H. Kress and Co.

We are out to get results for Delta Sigma Pi this year and expect to have much progress to report for the next issue of the DELTASIG.—RAYMOND L. BARKLEY.

Twenty-two Actives Return at Marquette

DELTA CHAPTER began the school year twenty-two strong. Perhaps that statement should be qualified by saying that some of the twenty-two were strong, nine brothers being rather weak from the effects of the convention in Chicago in September. They soon recovered, however, and Delta is already adding new laurels to its extensive list. Among them we find Frank Sheridan, sophomore president; Eldred Koepke, junior president; Henry Gehl, senior president, and John Hesser, Union Board representative. Not bad for less than a month of school.

We welcome back David Booth and John McCarrier. Brother Booth, Metcalfe's only rival on the Marquette campus, spent last semester at De Paul University and came back if for no other reason than to snap his fingers in the faces of the accounting professors. Brother McCarrier attended Loyola University, Los Angeles, last year but decided that hobnobbing with Mae West was bad for his blood pressure and so the prodigal son came home.

In the matter of pledges Delta is not lagging. Four men have already been pledged with about six good prospects hanging fire. If you have any odd jobs the little angels would be more than glad to do them for you.

You might gather from this article that the social side of the university is being neglected. Such, however, is not the case. The Deltasig Homecoming dance was held Saturday October 21, at the Plankinton Hotel. Fred Wienke, the All-American Prom King, was in charge and certainly made it a success. One week late the Business Administration dance was held in the Elizabethan Room of the Milwaukee Athletic Club and was practically put over by Deltasigs.

In closing, it would be well to say that the delegates sent to the convention by Delta came back with many constructive ideas, several of which are already being used. And so this struggling writer ends with thoughts of bigger (they can't be better) conventions in the future.—IRVIN R. SAAGER.

Michigan to Initiate Ten Pledges

XI ROARS ON to victory! Edging its way from the brink of disaster, the chapter has pulled itself together and gathered unto itself a goodly number of pledges, ten to be exact. Welcome to Deltasig, boys! No little credit is due to the splendid efforts of a whiz-bang Alumni Board of Control headed by Ken Haven and Carl Beier. These boys came long distances to help the actives entertain the rushees, and, although the chapter looks better than it has for some time, we are by no means through. Fifteen pledges is the mark we have set.

And now for the lighter moments: The alumni have been planning one corking good football dance after the Ohio State game. We want to see you fellows from Nu at the party. Hope we don't beat you too badly.

And before we forget it, thanks awfully, Beta, for offering the use of your house to the boys attending the World's Fair. Well, adios.—RANDALL WOODRUFF.

Minnesota Prominent in Activities

FALL OPENING of activities at the Alpha Epsilon Chapter finds the gang all rested up and feeling in the "pink" for a lively rushing season and their share of work in the Business School functions.

Head Master Tanner opened up the first meeting with a blast of "hot lead" for fall rushing, stressing the fact that the depression was over (all over) and the rushees haven't as yet signed an N.R.A. code so we can rush twenty-four hours a day in the week days, and forty-eight on Sunday if we wish. There is nothing like that good old Minnesota climate and spirit to put ginger and wallop in a "Joe," consequently the boys are going to it with hammer and tongs, and pledging should be every bit as good as last year.

The program for fall social functions has included a smoker, carried out very successfully; Dad and Prof. day this coming Saturday, October 21; Homecoming luncheon, and two or three informal parties toward the middle and later part of the quarter. We're being a bit conservative this year in that the active chapter has dropped to fifteen men, but with the loyal cooperation of our alumni we should be able to swing every thing in great form.

The handwriting on the "old board fence" still reads in the same old way; in other words, Alpha Epsilon Chapter has the Business School well under control, having placed men on the All "U" Council, Board of Publications, Board of Associated Students, and also carved a seat or two in Silver Spur and Grey Friar, leading campus honorary societies, in the spring elections. Everything is all set for the fall elections and we expect to do "well by our Nell" at the time.

Our new officers look good; they stepped into the vacant shoes left by those of last year with an air of confidence and finesse which marks men of Deltasig as having just that extra ounce it takes to win. And after all, in this little game of life we lead that's what it takes to come out on top, the reason why Deltasig is growing.—FREDERICK J. TRAMZ.

Missouri Alumni Helping Chapter

BROTHER WINSTON, our delegate to the Eleventh Grand Chapter Congress held in Chicago, seems to have succeeded in firing our whole group with added enthusiasm since his return, and hopes for a good year are running high. Our membership is the smallest it has ever been, but the actives and local alumni are industriously working to increase the size of our chapter, and an early initiation is scheduled for November 18.—NELSON HENSON.

New York's Banner Flying High

DROP IN TO SEE US as soon as you possibly can, because we have very interesting things to show our visitors these afternoons. Deltasig house has become the Mecca of all the sorority lassies on the campus. No, please do not hop to any conclusions. We are not turning braggadocio, or anything of the sort. Of course, there are a number of handsome youths spending all their leisure at 26 West Eleventh St., but that is not the reason for the fair co-eds. You see, Alpha has a mascot now, a snooty little wire-haired terrier—and he just slays them all with his indifference. This is rather strange conduct for a wire-haired. We all thought so, when we had our first glimpse of him, because wire-haired terriers usually need a few acres on which to romp about. But you must realize that ours is entirely novel. We couldn't figure out why, for the longest time. Then Vic Kieffer, newly appointed master of hounds, gave us the low-down on his canine. It has heart-trouble, and does not choose to run. We are quite happy that our mascot has such appeal. It makes Alpha a very jolly place—for everyone but Vic. For, according to the medico's orders, the mascot is supposed to eat only twice daily. But the influx of food from all quarters during the first few days of the dog's stay, spoiled him. And now if he doesn't get a tid-bit here and there, you are likely to find him chewing carpets or one of Jack Byrne's famous cigars.

Jim Ruddy has had to shift his duties as Scribe to Johnny Bohne for the present, because our giant keeper of the minutes is confined to training table and its environs up at the football headquarters on University Heights. Bohne is about the worst penman in the diggings, but they tell us he has a nice secretary who does a grand job with a typewriter.

From the hieroglyphics presented to me by this scribbling pinch-hitter, it is difficult to deduce what has been going on during the past month at Alpha Chapter. However, we assure you that there has been plenty of hubbub in this area.

We held our first regular meeting on October 2, and went through our program in detail. Some of the lads had not yet trickled in from the convention in Chicago, thought we. But they were found in an old haunt in the house, playing auction, or perhaps it was contract. All safe and sound, twenty-one strong, we knuckled down to work. The pledging rules and regulations were the first big issue to settle.

Head Master George Hussennetter gained very favorable decisions for Alpha at a meeting of the Violet Skull interfraternity council. He confirmed the legality of pledging upper classmen, and then put the pin on two of them. Huss is out for big things this year, and he is urging the rest of the boys in no uncertain terms. He called a special meeting on October 17, to stress his points.

Alpha house was host to Alpha Omicron Pi sorority on the night of October 26, when this popular sorority held a rush dance in our stamping grounds. And the following night featured the first house dance of the season. William Hooper, of the Patron's Guild Hoopers, is doing himself proud in his new assignment as master of festivities.

We had a rush smoker on October 16, to which there was a fine turnout to hear Brothers Zimmer and Hopper in the best of oratory. Alpha can always depend upon Larry Zimmer and Doc Hopper to impress the newcomers properly. Another rush smoker is listed for the evening of November 2, which is the last chance to contact prospective pledges prior to the open pledging date a week later, according to school regulations.

A few coats of paint, applied by some of our more industrious brothers, has changed the complexion of the house considerably. We are looking forward to a lot of fun at our next affair in this domain, the Fordham dance, following the Fordham grid contest on November 11.

Stanley Lundell's being shifted from New York, and, we hear, pending entrance into the matrimonial state, necessitated Stan's resigning as Chancellor. His place will be taken by George Flick, who was elected to the office at our most recent meeting, on October 30.

Al Bartley is handling the checking of our Chapter Efficiency Contest points this year. We feel confident that, with this serious matter in Brother Bartley's hands, Alpha will finish on top of the list this campaign. Ray McCue is one of the most popular men on the campus, holding several important positions in class and general organization politics, as well as being on ace in the Newman Club.

George Taylor will have to do some tall figuring, if he wants to beat Brother Vaupel's record as treasurer last semester. But George is pretty good with a set of books, and he's making the boys feel his presence. Len Boyle is a sports writer on the School of Commerce Bulletin. He's turning out to be a veritable demon as a press agent for Deltasig in the school publications.

Herbert Kunmann and Jack Morris are editing the Alpha News. So much has been happening that they have not enough space to dish out all the info in their paper. And what with that beautiful trophy Alpha Chapter just won for the best attendance at the congress in Chicago, there's no holding us now. We thank Central Office for the handsome cup that was forwarded to us, and we wish every chapter a successful rushing campaign and an enjoyable year in all respects.—FRANK T. FARRELL.

North Carolina Has Track Stars

ALPHA LAMBDA CHAPTER has started the school year of 1933-34 off with a bang. There are an even dozen members back this year, all of them with a hard, fighting, brotherly spirit to put our chapter out in front. We are determined not to let this spirit die down during the year.

Alpha Lambda is proud to have among its members this year two of Carolina's outstanding track men. Henry and Louis Sullivan are co-captains of our cross-country team and have a record behind them that is worthy of praise. Not only have they excelled in sports but they are prominent men among the student body in their scholastic work. Very soon Alpha Lambda can boast, and very proudly too, for its ranks of honor students will be increased by two. The above brothers will in the near future receive their Beta Gamma Sigma key, a national commerce honor fraternity.

Our chapter not only has track celebrities among its members, but also an outstanding football player. Brother Tatum is one of the main guards on the team. His playing has ranked with some of the best that there has been seen in the South thus far this season, and he promises to be one of the leading prospects for all-southern guard when the time comes to pick the mythical honor team.

On October 31 Alpha Lambda was host to all the commerce freshmen and professors at a smoker. Dr. Wolf, professor of economics, was the main speaker of the evening. His topic was very timely and appropriate, being upon the N.R.A. The affair was a big success and was enjoyed by all. This smoker was the first on the program in our big campaign drive, which will terminate in the pledging of new members some time the latter part of this quarter.

We are extremely spirited over the fact that Brother Curl has been appointed by Dean Carroll as Accounting lab instructor. This is an honor that is held by only those who are exceptional in this field, and Alpha Lambda is fortunate in having such a member.—FRANK R. IRVIN.

North Carolina State Has Versatile Organization

THE IDEAL CHAPTER of any fraternity is a composite chapter. It contains men of every type, the grind, the wit, the tea-hound, the athlete, and the scholar. No chapter should have its members of any one type. Containing all of the elements of the above named types a chapter is enabled to keep live, peppy, and awake mentally, morally and physically. Beta Delta is no exception and can boast of having the live-wires on the State College campus. At her recent election the following men were elected to office: Head Master, R. S. Poole; Treasurer, W. C. Furr; Scribe, G. V. Foster; Historian, F. W. Davis; Junior Warden, H. S. Koch; Senior Guide, J. G. Riddick; Senior Warden, M. I. Annetta; Correspondent, C. H. Palm; Master of Festivities, L. S. Summey, and Faculty Adviser, R. O. Moen.

Brother Poole, a second "Napoleon," has taken the boys in camp and with the aid of Brothers Annetta and Furr, and Brother Moen, our faculty adviser, Beta Delta's big guns are booming once again. Committees have been appointed to see that our chapter is most efficient in taking care of all chapter dealings, national and local. A careful program has been mapped out for future meetings for this year. Beta Delta alumni, your attention is called to the following tentative schedule of meetings:

October 17	Reorganization
25	Open Meeting
26	Smoker, Y.M.C.A., 7 P.M.
31	General Business and New Men
November 3	Dance
14	Pledge Ceremony
15	Hell Week
24	Horseplay
26	Initiation and Banquet
	Founders' Day Celebration
28	Welcome New Men

In closing, I wish to say that our group is of the true Deltasig type and being so shall work out for ourselves and for the fraternity a destiny that we feel sure shall not be confined, in its influence, to the scholarly walls of our own institution. In the name of brotherly affection Beta Delta Chapter greets you, the brothers in other chapters, and sends best wishes for a successful year.—C. H. PALM.

North Dakota Organizes Professional Program

DESPITE the fact that only twelve active members have returned to school this fall, Alpha Mu Chapter is looking forward to a big year. What we lack in quantity, we make up in quality. The chapter roll of Alpha Mu lists some of the outstanding men on the campus and it is through their efforts that we hope to be in the running for the Chapter Efficiency Contest award this year.

Head Master Johnson, at our first meeting of the year, gave us a very interesting account of the convention recently held in Chicago. We feel that Head Master Johnson's presence at the convention and the information he brought home will be invaluable to the success of the chapter this year.

Our professional meeting schedule for the year has been drawn up and from all indications we are to be favored with some very excellent speakers and entertainers. Several inspection tours of local industries have also been included on our first semester calendar.

All officers elected last semester returned to school. They are: Head Master, Glenn P. Johnson; Senior Warden, Joseph Steiner; Junior Warden, Kenneth Kjos; Treasurer, Ordean Dahl; Scribe, Marlen R. Loehrke; Senior Guide, Owen Ray Rom.

As the grades for the second semester of last year have not been released, we cannot report the standing of the chapter scholastically. But from what "the little birdies say" Alpha Mu Chapter need have no fear. Due also to this delay, we have been unable to consider men for pledging. We are hoping, however, to begin formal pledging soon.—MARLEN R. LOEHRKE.

Large Chapter Back at Northwestern

BETA CHAPTER is back this fall with thirty active members and again looks forward to another successful year in its many activities on the Northwestern campus. And too, we intend to stop that rumor about our having a permanent option on third place in the Chapter Efficiency Contest. This, of course, means that we expect to be in first place when the fur stops flying.

After the election and the appointments had been made, Beta's officers are as follows: Head Master, Russell G. Nelson; Senior Warden, Robert Carlson; Junior Warden, Robert James; Treasurer, Kenneth I. Gray; Scribe, Anthony T. Marshall; Chancellor, Robert Wynant; Master of Festivities, Richard Johnson; Master of Ceremonies, Robert Bauer; Scholarship Chairman, Ralph Robinson; Athletic Chairman, Samuel T. Parisi; Historian, Gillis Muller; Chairman of Professional Meetings, Burt Oliver; Senior Guide, William Dillon; Junior Guide, George Manke, and Chapter Correspondent, Donald Graham.

By ranking first in scholarship among the commerce fraternities, and bettering the all-fraternity and all-men averages by a good margin for last semester, the chapter is off to a good start in the Chapter Efficiency Contest. Proving that we do other things besides study, our athletes copped the Commerce sweepstakes trophy for the second consecutive year, thus adding another handsome cup to our growing collection. And with the athletic year barely begun, the chapter has already garnered points by taking firsts in the Commerce School in the fall golf meet, and the punting and drop-kicking contest. Individual honors so far go to Steve Janick who won first place in the All-McKinlock meet in drop-kicking, and to Chat Shaw, who took first place in Commerce in punting.

The chapter turned out en masse at the Commerce School convocation held in Thorne Hall, September 18, when Brother Willard E. Hotchkiss, president of Armour Institute of Technology and first dean of Northwestern's School of Commerce, gave an address. It was also with great pride that we heard the award of the Delta Sigma Pi Scholarship Key to our own Mike Mitchell.

So far this year, we have not gone outside the ranks of Delta Sigma Pi for speakers at the three highly successful smokers held at the chapter house. The first of the speakers was Brother E. C. Davies, dean of our School of Commerce, who spoke on, among other things, the value of the campus organizations to the school.

The next smoker, when 38 guests attended, was one of strictly home talent, where some of the aims, ideals, and accomplishments of the fraternity were made known. Here were introduced some of the brothers who hold key positions in McKinlock Campus activities, viz., Steve Janick, president of the McKinlock Campus Association; Cliff Rasmussen, president of the Commerce Club; Burt Oliver, president of the "Y" Council, and Bob James, senior Commerce athletic manager of McKinlock Campus.

For the third smoker, Brother H. P. O'Connell, vice-president of the Continental Illinois Bank in charge of the Commercial Loans department, and a charter member of Beta Chapter, spoke interestingly on the timely subject of commercial bank loans. Besides the actives there was a large turnout of likely guests, making our membership prospects bright indeed.

The first of a series of house parties was held on October 7, and was the successful affair that parties held at "42" always are, furnishing a wonderful evening for the brothers and their guests. On October 21 the high spot on the campus was the Commerce Club informal held at the Congress Hotel under the chairmanship of Brother Ralph Robinson.

It is with keen interest and growing enthusiasm that we men of Beta Chapter enter into the activities of the coming year, especially in the Chapter Efficiency Contest. Now we vie with the many brothers whom it was our good fortune to have met and known personally at the convention, and not just in a big contest between the many chapters of the fraternity. And let us take this opportunity to again invite Deltasigs visiting Chicago to pay us a visit at 42 Cedar Street, where we may meet you and swell the list of those Deltasigs*whom we have had the pleasure to know personally.—DONALD H. GRAHAM.

Northwestern Moves into New House

BIG THINGS have been happening at Zeta Chapter, the Evanston division of Northwestern University, since the May issue of THE DELTASIG. At the farewell meeting of last semester Joseph Horvath was elected Head Master; Herman Peterson, Senior Warden; Carl Fischer, Junior Warden, and Melvin Wolfe, Scribe and Correspondent. Our Master of Festivities for the ensuing months will be genial Henry Kyas who was voted in at our first chapter meeting of the present semester.

A preponderance of seniors last semester left Zeta with only eight active members to start off the new school year. But our plans are ambitious. Two rushing smokers held at our new chapter house have netted us nine pledges. Our rushing and pledging campaign reached its climax Wednesday evening, October 17, when actives, pledges, and several brothers of the faculty at Northwestern got together for dinner and a social evening. Zeta's chapter adviser, James D. Hawkinson, delivered words of encouragement to everybody.

Despite the smallness of our active list Zeta Chapter has planned an extensive program for the future. The program includes participation in intramural athletics, several professional banquets, and at least one house party for the semester.

The talented and courageous showing of our baseball team, which captured the title for the division in which the boys played has encouraged our taking part in intramural athletics. Right now the touch football team is having a time getting started, the boys having lost the first two games by very close scores.

We hope to see many Zeta alumni at the professional banquet the chapter will hold on one of the five Wednesday evenings in November at one of Evanston's three famous hotels. The banquet will be the opening fireworks of our professional program.

Zeta's Homecoming dance will be held on Friday evening, November 10, at our new chapter house. We intend to make the affair a real Deltasig party. Right now Hank Kyas is busy digging up a good orchestra and making plans for the evening. Homecoming this year will be a sort of house warming for most of our brother alumni. Few of them have seen Zeta's new house.

Delta Sigma Pi is particularly active in commerce affairs on the campus this semester. Three out of nine directors on the Commerce Club board are Deltasigs; three out of nine are Delta Sigma Pi pledges. The president of the Commerce Club is none other than Brother Fischer. It was the enthusiastic cooperation of the Delta Sigma Pi actives and pledges on the board that made the first Commerce Club smoker and entertainment, held October 18, a success.

No definite date has been set for initiation, but the ceremony will probably take place some time in the middle of November. At that time at least three and possibly four neophytes will be granted admission to the secret mysteries of Delta Sigma Pi.

Perhaps the frequent use of the adjective "new" to describe Zeta's house needs further explanation. We now occupy the three-story red brick building at 1914 Sherman Avenue, Evanston, Illinois. To our brother alumni of Zeta Chapter and every brother of Delta Sigma Pi, "Come up and see us some time."—MELVIN E. WOLFE.

Ohio State Has Large Pledge Class

NU CHAPTER is enthusiastically looking forward to a very successful year under the able leadership of Head Master Edward C. Danford. Eleven actives and eleven pledges showed up at our new house to carry on at the beginning of the year. The house and commissary department were opened a week before the beginning of school, and a goodly number of the boys were on hand to "get things started." The house was thoroughly cleaned, some repairs made, and a moderate amount of paint judiciously applied.

Although the coming week-end of October 14 is only the second since school started, it will mark the second radio dance this year. Our first effort of last week was a huge success, and it was decided forthwith that plans for another dance should be made. These are progressing nicely, and our only fear is that the crowd will be too large for the house, but then that is only a minor point.

Homecoming on the Ohio State campus will be celebrated the week-end of October 28, and Nu Chapter is already looking forward to the dance along with the many acquaintances and friendships to be renewed at this time.

While keeping up with our social activities, as competition makes necessary here at Nu, our brothers have not been neglecting the scholastic side of their college life. All honors go to Edward Anderson Pagels, who again achieved his straight A record. Ed won the Alpha Kappa Psi award, which is given to the junior who has the highest point hour ratio in the College of Commerce. Our faculty adviser, Perk Donaldson, who received his Ph.D. last spring, is now assistant professor of Business Organization. Perk, by the way, is one of the originators of the Fraternity Buyers' Association, which just saved us 75 cents a ton on our winter's coal.

Nu Chapter was the recipient last spring quarter of a handsome scholarship cup given by Alumni Brothers Sommer, Haas, Schnell, and Lucas. The Deltasig sophomore, pledge or active, having the highest point hour ratio for two years, will have his name engraved on the cup. John F. Harrison was the first to be so honored.

Head Master Danford has inaugurated a system whereby a professional meeting will be held every second week for the benefit of actives, pledges, and rushees. Professors who are prominent in their respective fields are being invited as guest speakers. Prof. Eugene Van Cleef, head of the Foreign Commerce Department, will be the first speaker.

From all indications Nu's initiation, which will be held the week-end of November 11, will be an affair that some will not forget! The following day, November 12, a banquet is planned in celebration of Founders' Day.—JOHN F. HARRISON.

Ohio University Pledges Seven

ALTHOUGH SMALL IN NUMBER, the actives of Alpha Omicron have started off the year in great form and are looking forward to one of the most successful years in the local Deltasig history. Only nine actives and three pledges returned this year, but since the initiation October 8, we have increased the active ranks to twelve, and now boast a pledge chapter of seven men.

Initiation was held for Paul Fackler and Edward Jones of Willard, and Clinton Herby, Dayton. Congratulations and good luck, Men! Brother Hanson, deputy director, and Paul Kimes aided in the initiation. Joe Milner even forsook the salt works to be on hand for the event.

The annual Homecoming dance will be held at the chapter house Saturday, October 21. As that date will be too late for this write-up, we will have to report on it in the next issue. Suffice to say that it will be a WOW! One of the best bands in the state has been engaged for the night, and from the alumni reports that have come in to date, it looks like a big time in the old town.

Reports of the fraternity averages for the second semester show Delta Sigma Pi as one of the campus leaders. The active chapter placed second in scholarship, Omega Tau Delta beating us by twenty-thousandths of a point. The pledge chapter backed us up by placing third, and giving the fraternity second rating for active and pledge chapters combined.

Intramural baseball is progressing with the customary slowness. By the time we get warmed up, the season is over—but we are making progress. In two games our batting average increased 100 per cent. We got two runs in the second game! Anyway, the old Deltasig spirit is there, and we will turn out a winning combination yet.

Ohio University, thanks to Ted Wronkoski, is blossoming forth with a new campus magazine, the Ohioan. Brother Wronkoski is business manager of the new publication, Burton Kinney is circulation manager, Paul Fackler his assistant, and Howard Fleming conducts a column on Men's Fashions.

Other men in campus activities include Head Master Harmon, who, we forgot to say, is chief accountant for the Ohioan, and student assistant to Brother Hanson in Finance; Clinton Herby, assistant to Brother Copeland, dean of the School of Commerce; Burton Kinney, vice-president of the Commerce Club. Ted Hunter, who has become quite a big shot with the Athens Messenger to judge from all the work he brings home, is recuperating from his strenuous duties as circulation manager of the Green and White, campus newspaper. Eric McInnes is getting practical accounting experience keeping Brother Stannear's garage business out of the "red," while Bob McAdoo, understudy to Hunter, blisters his feet twice a week on the circulation end of the college newspaper. Harold Drummond is sophomore football manager; Howard Fleming is a member of Playshop; Pledge Barbas is one of the freshman football managers, and Pledge Schmid is a member of the band, choir, Athena staff, and we have lost track of what else.

At this time, Alpha Omicron wishes to extend to the other chapters its best wishes for a happy and successful year. Happy landings!—HOWARD M. FLEMING.

Pennsylvania Delegation Enjoys Convention

ON SEPTEMBER 10, 1933, an enthusiastic delegation of eight left the Beta Nu chapter house of the University of Pennsylvania to attend the Grand Chapter Congress in Chicago. Before arrival in the destined city, the group enjoyed a surprisingly delightful tour through New York State, Niagara Falls, Canada, and thence via Hamilton, Ontario, to Chicago. It is perhaps needless to say that the trip home was quite as enjoyable except for the regret that the stay at the Grand Chapter Congress could not have been longer.

Beta Nu and Omega combined to make a gala opening of the new term by a week-end at Stone Harbor. This event was sponsored by the Philadelphia Alumni Club and proved quite successful. Approximately forty men attended.

The news of the death of Norman Hosbach, alumnus, was received with deep sympathy for his family and friends by Beta Nu Chapter.

Deltasig instituted open house to the Evening School, held during the week of October 9. Many prominent speakers were heard, including Harvey Harman, head coach of the Pennsylvania football team, Harry A. Mackey, former mayor of Philadelphia, and Dr. Theodore J. Grayson, dean of the Evening School. Much favorable publicity was gained from these programs.

Beta Nu plans definitely to make this year one of intense activity and successful achievement.—SILAS B. WHITE.

Pittsburgh Sponsors Radio Program

LAMBDA CHAPTER is started again with high hopes and ambitious brothers. Determination to surpass by far the rating of the chapter in the Chapter Efficiency Contest of last year is the most prominent thought of everyone. Head Master Mervyn Glass, Senior Warden Harold Packard, and Junior Warden Harry Loesch, Jr., with Murray V. Johnston and Albert Dougald have returned from the Grand Chapter Congress with many inspirations, ideas, and what not. They all speak enthusiastically of the trip and their stay in Chicago.

On October 4 a business meeting was held in the Fort Pitt Hotel, and Richard Bishop was elected Scribe. Wallace Textor was appointed chairman of the Social Activities Committee, and Ernest Kennard as chairman of Publicity. Arrangements are being made to sponsor over radio station WWSW a series of talks by professors from the Downtown University of Pittsburgh. W. C. Arther, faculty member of the chapter, will open the series around the first of November, and L. I. MacQueen is next on the schedule. Others to be heard on the program are A. M. Replogle and Carl Distlehorst. Another business meeting will be held on October 20 at Brother Loesch's home in Aspinwall. Brother Textor is planning the program for November 7 when Lambda Chapter will celebrate its birthday with a luncheon and a theater party.—ERNEST S. KENNARD.

South Carolina Returns with Determination

BETA GAMMA CHAPTER extends to every brother in Delta Sigma Pi sincere greetings and best wishes for a most happy and successful year. Brought together in the recent convention, we now feel nearer than ever before to every man who is a Deltasig and take a particular interest in the activities of every chapter and alumni club.

With ranks somewhat thinned by the graduation of a number of our most active members we are nevertheless confident of a year of unprecedented success, first, because we are literally living Delta Sigma Pi down here at South Carolina, and second, because we have some exceptionally promising men lined up to be pledged as soon as rushing season ends.

We are working hard to get the alumni members of the city organized as soon as possible and expect to have an alumni club formed within the next few months. With an alumni club in the city we are sure that Beta Gamma will be greatly strengthened. Plans are being made for an elaborate banquet to be given on Founders' Day to which all the alumni will be sent a special invitation. Beta Gamma is also planning to sponsor a program to be given at the morning chapel hour before the whole student body. On this program will be included as speakers several noted Deltasigs.

With new ideas, strong determination, much cooperation, and a good spirit, Beta Gamma is bound to succeed.—LONNIE C. GRANT, JR.

South Dakota Moves into New House

ALPHA ETA CHAPTER opened the present school year in our new location at 18 Forest Ave., Vermilion, S.D. There is always room for one or two more, which means we will welcome visits from any brother who may be in Vermilion at any time. We emerged from the scramble of rush week with four pledges.

Don Laurie and Vernon Silkenson have been made captains in the local unit of the R.O.T.C. Brother Laurie was recently pledged to Scabbard and Blade.

We are looking forward to Dakota Day, which brings many of our members back to talk over old times and renew old friendships. The Homecoming game will be played with our old rivals from South Dakota State College. Our pledges are spending their spare time getting our float ready for the parade. They promise that it is going to be the most original floats seen in years.

Damian Hogan did not return to school this fall. "Dame" is secretary-treasurer of the Iowa National Farm Loan Association, with headquarters at Corning, Iowa. We are sorry to lose Brother Hogan from our midst, but he is helping prove that true Deltasigs have the "stuff" and can put it out in a satisfactory manner.

Alpha Eta Chapter is proud of the beautiful trophy awarded us for having the highest scholastic average among all fraternities on the campus. In fact, our average for the school year 1932-33 was the highest ever attained by a fraternity at the University of South Dakota.

Plans for our next smoker to be held November 9, 1933, are under way. Dean E. S. Sparks will be the speaker for the occasion. We are looking forward to a very enjoyable and profitable evening.

Intramural sports will soon be under way, and we will be able to put up a strong basketball team, which will be built around Eddie Miller, former Corning, Iowa high school star.—J. C. POOLE.

Thirty-one Actives Back at Temple

OMEGA OPENED the first semester of school at Temple September 27, with thirty-one actives back. The first week-end was set off with a bang, due to the Philadelphia Alumni Club of Delta Sigma Pi, who were our hosts at a week-end party at Stone Harbor, N.J., September 30 and October 1. The alumni club received the hearty congratulations of the active chapter for their repeated success in this annual affair.

Two rush smokers have been held, October 10 and October 17, with an average attendance of sixty new men. Both smokers were under the supervision of Everett Galusha, who was responsible for their success. The first house dance of the semester was held Saturday, October 14, and included an attendance of more than thirty couples, composed of actives and alumni.

Under the leadership of Head Master Kerns, six industrial tours have been planned for the year, the first of which will be held this month. These tours will include a trip through the Philadelphia Harbors, the main industrial plants of the city, and an inspection of one of the larger newspaper buildings. A member of the faculty will act as guide on each of the excursions.

Wayne Lyon has been appointed house man for the ensuing school term. Arriving at the house a week early with a body of volunteers, he has succeeded in accomplishing the complete renovation of the living rooms and halls.

A chapter football team will be one of the athletic projects of the chapter this fall. Ray Jensen has been elected captain and coach of this group and games have been scheduled with fraternities of the university.—EDWARD FERRY.

Virginia Pushing Forward

ALPHA XI CHAPTER held its first meeting of the new school year shortly after the opening of the University of Virginia on the 19th of September. Our Head Master, William M. Smith, had just returned from the Delta Sigma Pi convention held this year in Chicago, and he brought back with him stories of great times had at the Fair. The convention banquet was superb and the various trips around Chicago and the Fair added greatly to his stay. The amendments to the constitution and by-laws were read over and discussed and met with the approval of all the brothers.

Our chapter has, at present, seven active men. Eight men were lost by graduation or for other reasons, two entering other colleges where they are about to become affiliated with other chapters. This was quite a blow as we expected at least four to return, among them George Brady and Maxfield Bence, both of whom were officers in the chapter. Brother Brady is at present at Northwestern University where the Zeta Chapter of Delta Sigma Pi is located. Maurice Dean is attending the University of Richmond, where he is studying law.

Plans were put forward at this first meeting to rush and pledge certain men at once in order to bring our quota up to standard and aid the chapter in its work this year. We plan to initiate ten men who have been rigidly inspected for the past year and have met with the approval of all the brothers by their fine scholarship and by their interest in commerce. Our initiation has been set for November, but a definite date has not yet been decided on.

At graduation exercises Cleveland V. Blackburn was the recipient of two very high honors. In May Beta Gamma Sigma, scholarship fraternity, initiated him as a member of the fraternity. At the final exercises Brother Blackburn received the Alpha Kappa Psi scholarship plaque given each year by the Alpha Kappa Psi commerce fraternity for the man making the highest average in scholarship among the members of the McIntire School of Commerce at the University of Virginia. It is unusual for a man to receive two such honors in the same year, but following the announcements of the receivers of Intermediate honors among the student body, of which Brother Blackburn was one, the winning of other like honors seemed a final step to a brilliant college career.

Our congratulations go out to Kappa Chapter of Georgia Tech for the wonderful showing that chapter made in the Delta Sigma Pi Chapter Efficiency Contest. The chapter came so close to a perfect score that there was hardly any field that was left untouched, which shows a great concentration of strength.

We extend greetings to all brother chapters and Alpha Xi hopes that each chapter will enjoy a highly successful year during 1933-34.—EVERETT LEE.

Eighteen in Wisconsin Pledge Class

FOLLOWING PREDICTIONS made at the Grand Chapter Congress, Psi is plowing ahead under full steam this term. An excellent pledge class numbering eighteen is one of our best reasons for optimism. And, by the way, we wish to announce to Kappa Chapter that we have George Wing on our pledge list. It must be two other fellows.

Our active class, numbering fifteen, will soon be swelled by the addition of several ex-neophytes. We'll need them—the doctrine of "might makes right" has shaken our belief in the inherent superiority of the active.

The chapter is happy to welcome back Newt Place, Lew Dorrington, and Frank Hoyt, who were missing last semester. Our only regret is that the fruit of Frank's hunting trips is now diverted from the chapter house to the home of his employer.

We have an imposing group of activities men this year. Among them are Freeland Wurtz, Union Board man; Lee Lamboley, president of Athena Literary Society and general man-about-campus; Bob Waite (our own Head Master), a Union committee-man; Bob Lewis, business manager of the Haresfoot Club; Clarence Bloedorn and Rudy Jegert, footballers; John Kappel, drum major of the band, and Lew Dorrington, who has freshly blossomed out as a radio announcer on WHA. Sorry, Marquette, no class presidents!

In the athletic field, Psi has entered touch football, and has a record of three victories and one defeat so far. The defeat so disheartened the varsity team that it lost to Illinois the next day. Would you term that a sympathetic defeat?

Our slightly delayed professional night program opens on October 26, with Phil Fox, beloved Statistics professor, doing the entertaining (and we mean entertaining). These events will be held every second Thursday until the faculty is exhausted. Your correspondent hesitates to speak for the chapter.

Our first initiation will be held on October 29, the week-end of Homecoming. A goodly representation of alumni is expected. Wheels have started turning in preparation for the event. Our chapter has been a leader in the "humanization" of Hell Week on this campus. Two years ago, the customary few days of tomfoolery were replaced by a period during which pledges were assigned constructive tasks such as washing windows, setting screens or storm windows, and cleaning up things in general. This plan has the advantage of stripping the neophytes of any possible delusion that they live in a hotel and are entitled to our customary service. The cooperative idea is instilled in them—they realize that there are responsibilities to be assumed in becoming a member of Delta Sigma Pi.—ARTHUR W. SHUMAN.

INITIATIVE

THE WORLD BESTOWS its big prizes both in money and honors for but one thing. And that is initiative. What is initiative? I'll tell you: It is doing the right thing without being told. But next to doing the thing without being told is to do it when you are told once. That is to say, carry the Message to Garcia: those who can carry a message get high honors, but their pay is not always in proportion. Next, there are those who never do a thing until they are told twice: such get no honors and small pay. Next, there are those who do the right thing only when necessity kicks them from behind, and these get indifference instead of honors, and a pittance for pay. This kind spends most of its time polishing a bench with a hard-luck story. Then, still lower down in the scale than this, we have the fellow who will not do the right thing even when some one goes along to show him how and stays to see that he does it: he is always out of a job, and receives the contempt he deserves, unless he happens to have a rich Pa, in which case Destiny patiently awaits around the corner with a stuffed club. To which class do you belong?
