THE INTERNATIONAL FRATERNITY OF DELTA SIGMA PI

Professional Commerce and Business Administration Fraternity

Delta Sigma Pi was founded at New York University, School of Commerce, Accounts and Finance, on November 7, 1907, by Alexander F. Makay, Alfred Moysello, Harold V. Jacobs and H. Albert Tienken. The fraternity was organized to foster the study of business in universities; to encourage scholarship and the association of students for their mutual advancement by research and practice; to promote closer affiliation between the commercial world and students of commerce; and to further a high standard of commercial ethics and culture, and the civic and commercial welfare of the community.

THE SIXTEENTH GRAND CHAPTER CONGRESS is history. It was well planned and the plans well executed and it will provide those of us who were fortunate enough to attend with many happy memories for some time to come. Perhaps I am more immediately conscious of this because of the honor bestowed upon me. I am deeply appreciative of the privilege of being your Grand President, and I accept it as a responsibility to over 18,000 men and a challenge to me. It is an assignment that will require much time and effort which I gladly will give, and the task is not made easier by having to follow, and be compared with, the "Dallas Dynamo" but, with the aid of the splendid team you have selected to work with me, and in view of the prospects as they now appear, the next two years should be outstanding in our history.

The horizon is bright. Before this is in your hands two new chapters will have joined the fold, Western Reserve at Cleveland being scheduled for October 18 and Texas Tech at Lubbock for October 25. Southern Methodist has also been granted a chapter and the installation is scheduled for next Spring. There are many more schools where we should be represented and a number of them have evinced definite interest. These matters will be pursued and I trust will be productive of results. Student registrations at most institutions will be at a new high this year, and this is particularly true of schools of commerce and business administration. Our raw material sources are almost unlimited and it is up to us to see that proper quantities of the cream of the crop are put into work in process and developed into the finished goods which are so necessary to our continued progress.

This is a year of especial significance for Delta Sigma Pi. We are celebrating our fortieth anniversary and this is an important milestone. Perhaps Founders' Day will have come and gone before this reaches you but I would like to see especial emphasis on the observance this year and hope that wherever possible, celebrations will be sponsored jointly by several chapters or alumni clubs.

Perhaps in the course of this review we should pause for a moment and take an inventory. Where are we headed, how are we going to get there and who is going to do it?

I sincerely believe that we are making, and will continue to make, substantial contributions to the progress and welfare of the community. There is an ever increasing appreciation of the importance of adequate training and our schools of commerce and business administration are the fundamental tools that are required. However, something more than the bare tools is needed. That something is the association and brotherly friendship provided by an organization such as ours. To my mind the associations enjoyed during college days comprise fifty per cent of the value of our education and if we don't get that value we have suffered a substantial loss. I think as the transposition from active to alumnus takes place we become increasingly aware of the truth of this observation. We are alumni for a long time and, as a lot of us have discovered, many of the most enjoyable aspects of our fraternity association come during our alumni life. Time passes all too quickly, and the active of today is the alumnus of tomorrow. Things that seem of grave importance today are almost forgotten and obscured by new matters tomorrow. But there is one thing that never changes, we are always Deltasigs and certain doors are always open to us for that reason. That this social aspect is founded on mutual interests in the field of business is the reason for the unusual strength and virility of our organization.

Finally, in this first message to our membership, I want to emphasize that this is your fraternity. Your officers cannot maintain its high position without the support of the brothers, both active and alumni. As a result of united effort over the years it is a wonderful group, there is none better, but as far as the benefits to you as an individual are concerned, they are what you choose to make them. Constructive ideas not only are welcome but sought after. So, too, are willing workers. Remember that he profits most who serves best and united we are a thousand fold strong. So let's all get in there and pitch!

Exceptionally Fine Program Makes Sixteenth Grand Chapter Congress Outstanding

THE SIXTEENTH GRAND CHAPTER CONGRESS of Delta Sigma Pi held in Minneapolis, Minnesota, on August 27, 28 and 29 at the Radisson Hotel is now another memorable event in the forty years of continued progress of our fraternity. To the brothers in attendance at this Grand Chapter Congress, however, it will be more than just another memory—it will remain one of the high lights of their lives and one which they will talk about whenever the opportunity presents itself. The Sixteenth Grand Chapter Congress did not establish any new attendance records, but its smoothness of execution, constructive business meetings, seriousness of purpose, and its true fraternalism has set a precedent that will ever be a challenge to the Grand Chapter Congresses of the future.

Everything was in readiness at the Radisson Hotel early Tuesday morning, August 26, for those who were expected to arrive prior to the opening of the official program on Wednesday. However, practically all delegations arrived early and the amount of activity that prevailed justifies our stating that the Grand Chapter Congress really began on Tuesday. These unexpected early arrivals presented a problem to the management of the Radisson Hotel for the requests for rooms were far in excess of those accommodations which had been originally set aside for our use, and it was well after midnight when all delegations were finally assigned to their rooms.

The final tally of registration figures showed a total of 274 brothers in actual attendance at the Sixteenth Grand Chapter Congress, which is the third largest we have ever had and especially fine when you consider the location of Minneapolis in respect to that of our chapters. The delegation from Kappa Chapter, Georgia (Atlanta), consisted of 24, while Beta Chapter, Northwestern (Chicago), had 17 members present and Beta Sigma Chapter, St. Louis, sent 16 to the convention. Kappa Chapter was undisputed winner of the Attendance Trophy which is awarded on the basis of the number of members in attendance and the total number of miles traveled.

Highlighting the Grand Chapter Congress was the initiation of James Ford Bell, Chairman of the Board of General Mills, Inc., as the third Honorary Member-at-large of Delta Sigma Pi. This initiation was conducted on Wednesday afternoon and the ritualistic ceremonies were performed by the Grand Council of Delta Sigma Pi. Following the initiation, Mr. Bell delivered the principal address at the Opening Banquet which was broadcast over radio station WLOL and the Mutual Broadcasting System. Mr. Bell's excellent talk and Richard L. Kozelka's introduction of Mr. Bell are published elsewhere in this issue of THE DELTASIG.

The election of Allen L. Fowler, Beta Nu Chapter, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, as Grand President of Delta Sigma Pi was another important event of the Sixteenth Grand Chapter Congress. In addition to the election of Brother Fowler, Robert G. Busse, Beta Omicron Chapter, Stamford, Connecticut, and John F. Mee, Nu Chapter, Bloomington, Indiana, were voted membership on the Grand Council, while Rudolph Janzen, Alpha Epsilon Chapter, Minneapolis, Minnesota, and Howard B. Johnson, Kappa Chapter, Atlanta, Georgia, were re-elected to fill vacancies on the Grand Council. Carry over members include: J. Elwood Armstrong, Chi Chapter, Detroit, Michigan, and Daniel C. Kilian, Alpha Chapter, New York City, while the immediate past Grand President, Kenneth B. White, Gamma Chapter, Dallas, Texas, serves ex-officio as a member of the Grand Council. Elsewhere in this issue of THE DELTASIG, the new Grand President and Grand Council are featured.

Business Meetings

The early arrival of the many delegations was indicative of the spirit of the brothers and their desire to be on hand for every event of the Grand Chapter Congress. An exceptionally large body of brothers was present at 9:30 A.M. on Wednesday to start the official program of the Sixteenth Grand Chapter Congress which Grand President Kenneth B. White officially declared to be in session that morning. Before the actual business of the convention was started H. G. Wright, Grand Secretary-Treasurer of the fraternity, introduced the official delegates of forty active chapters and seven alumni clubs to whom he presented portfolios containing various reports and other material pertaining to the business of the Congress.

Past President John L. McKewen, whose term of office ran through the war years and during which period no Grand Chapter Congresses were held, presented a report to the assembly which covered his term of office from 1939 to 1945. This report related the war experiences of Delta Sigma Pi and the efficient manner in which the many war problems were solved. Grand President Kenneth B. White's report which followed not only reviewed the rapid reactivation and development of the fraternity during the past two years, but also outlined the possibilities of the future and the steps that were being taken to make the most of these opportunities.

Although Brothers McKewen and White touched upon the activities of the Central Office during their administration a detailed report of the Central Office's part in the fraternity's expansion since the war was left to Grand Secretary-Treasurer H. G. Wright. The sound financial condition of Delta Sigma Pi was called to the attention of the delegates when they were asked to study the "Income and Expense Statements" and the "Balance Sheets" of the fraternity which had been given them. A report of the substantial growth of the National Endowment Fund, as a result of the sale of Life Memberships in the fraternity, was evidence of the power of our growing number of alumni and their interest in the future of our fraternity. The assembly was reminded of the recent expansion of the facilities and staff of the Central Office and the earnest desire on the part of the staff to continue to efficiently serve our maturing fraternity. Attention was called to the various publications that had been resumed since the war, namely: THE DELTASIG, the Alumni News, the Official Bulletin, the Alumni Placing Service Manual, and the publication of a new Pledge Manual. Among the other activities resumed were the annual Chapter Efficiency Contest, chapter visitation, regional meetings, and the Grand Chapter Congress. Plans for further augmenting the services of the Central Office were disclosed and the cooperation of all Deltasigs was requested to speed the fraternity on its road of progress.

The final standings of the 1947 Chapter Efficiency Contest were announced at the first business session and Life Memberships were presented to the Head Master of each of the ten chapters that had tied for first place with a maximum of 100,000 points. The ten chapters were: Alpha at New York, Beta at Northwestern (Chicago), Kappa at Georgia (Atlanta), Xi at Michigan, Pi at Georgia (Athens), Alpha Beta at Missouri, Alpha Delta at Nebraska, Alpha Epsilon at Minnesota, Beta Kappa at Texas, and Beta Omicron at Rutgers. Complete details and the other standings of the 1947 Chapter Efficiency Contest are presented in the "Chapter Section" of this issue of THE DELTASIG.

A panel of alumni activity was conducted by Donald L. Ketcham, Zeta, Chicago, Chairman of the National Committee on Alumni Activities, with papers by Glen F. Galles, Alpha Epsilon, Merle Loder, Alpha Delta, Edmond W. Satterwhite, Beta, James J. Moore, Chi, and Clyde Kitchens, Kappa, for Thober Elrod, Kappa, who was unable to attend at the last minute. All of the papers dealt with the operation of alumni clubs and contained many excellent suggestions for their improvement. Our Life Membership program was reviewed by J. Harry Feltham, Chi, Chairman of the National Committee on Life Memberships, and both he and James J. Moore, Chi, presented plans for the use of a new promotional folder which they had developed.

John F. Mee, Nu, Bloomington, Indiana, Vice-Chairman of the National Committee on Alumni Placing Service, read the report of the Chairman, Lawrence W. Zimmer, Alpha, who was unable to attend; then he presented his own paper on this important alumni activity. The discussion that ensued after each paper was given in the alumni activities program was most constructive and served to acquaint the delegations with the very broad alumni program that is conducted by the fraternity.

A full day was devoted to the panel on "Undergraduate Chapter Activities," during which time papers were presented by various chapter delegates on some phase of chapter operation. The papers were so complete and so well prepared that they would have consumed more time than was allotted had all of them been given. All topics of chapter operation were covered, but many excellent papers were not presented due to the lack of time. All papers that were prepared, however, are being included in the Minutes of the Grand Chapter Congress which will be distributed to all chapters and alumni clubs.

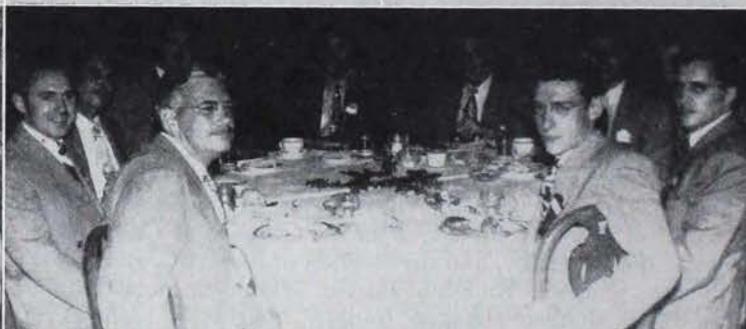

The final business meeting on Friday afternoon brought the acceptance of a new revised Constitution and By-laws for the fraternity. There were no drastic changes in the laws of the fraternity, but merely a modernization of the existing ones. The most important change was the increase in the cost of a Life Membership in Delta Sigma Pi from $35.00 to $50.00 effective January 1, 1948. Other items of business were the election of Allen L. Fowler, Beta Nu Chapter, as Grand President of the fraternity, and the election of Robert G. Busse, Beta Omicron Chapter, Rudolph Janzen, Alpha Epsilon Chapter, Howard B. Johnson, Kappa Chapter, and John F. Mee, Nu Chapter, to the Grand Council as heretofore mentioned.

The conclusion of the business sessions of the Sixteenth Grand Chapter consisted of the introduction of the new Grand Council members and a few words from each of them. The new Grand President, Allen L. Fowler, presided over this portion of the meeting, but returned the gavel to Kenneth B. White for his official closing. Thus the Sixteenth Grand Chapter Congress came to an end on Friday afternoon, August 29, 1947, but for the Dinner Dance that evening.

Opening Banquet

On Wednesday afternoon after the completion of the Alumni Panel, there was a brief recess, following which the initiation of the third Honorary Member-at-large of Delta Sigma Pi was held. All of the delegations and many local alumni were present in the Junior Ballroom of the Radisson Hotel to witness this memorable event in the annals of Delta Sigma Pi. The ritual team consisted of the members of the Grand Council, who were dressed in white dinner jackets which added appropriate dignity to this event. Immediately following the ceremony, the entire delegation of 216 brothers adjourned to the Grand Ballroom which was already prepared for the Opening Banquet.

A most delicious steak dinner was served and as the last plates were removed, the program for the evening commenced. Dean Richard L. Kozelka, of the School of Business Administration of the University of Minnesota, and a member of Alpha Epsilon Chapter of Delta Sigma Pi, was Toastmaster for the evening. As a radio broadcast was scheduled for 7:30 and since it was very close to this time when the serving was completed, Brother Kozelka merely prepared the audience for the radio broadcast and then made his introduction of James Ford Bell, Honorary Member-at-large, over the air. James Ford Bell then presented his talk, "The Shadow of Dead Men's Reasoning," to the large assembly of brothers and to the radio world over Station WLOL of the Mutual Broadcasting System. Mr. Bell's talk and the introductory remarks of Brother Kozelka are also published in this issue of THE DELTASIG. The unusual subject of James Ford Bell's talk, the underlying ideas, and his fine manner of delivery, held the brothers spellbound for over a half an hour. The tremendous applause which greeted Mr. Bell at the conclusion of his talk was evidence of their admiration for him. At this time Brother Kozelka presented to James Ford Bell, a beautiful engraved Certificate of Membership in Delta Sigma Pi. This was graciously received by Brother Bell and his acknowledgment again brought hearty applause.

With the radio obligation completed, the program for the evening reverted to its original schedule and Rudolph Janzen, Alpha Epsilon Chapter, a member of the Grand Council, and Chairman of the Grand Chapter Congress, welcomed the delegation on behalf of Alpha Epsilon Chapter and the Twin Cities Alumni Club, who were the hosts. Grand President Kenneth B. White was then introduced by Toastmaster Kozelka, and he welcomed everyone present on behalf of the Grand Council of Delta Sigma Pi. All the brothers who had attended more than one Grand Chapter Congress were asked to stand, and it was surprising how many there were that had attended as many as five or six Grand Chapter Congresses. H. G. Wright of Beta had been in attendance at eleven, while Herbert W. Wehe of Lambda had a record of eight, and Eugene D. Milener of Chi and Edwin L. Schujahn of Psi had attended seven each.

Following this Grand Secretary-Treasurer H. G. Wright introduced the various officers and committee chairmen that were seated at the speakers' table, beginning with Donald L. Ketcham, Zeta, Chairman of the National Committee on Alumni Activities, on the left; following him were J. Harry Feltham, Chi, Chairman of the National Committee on Life Membership; Royal D. M. Bauer, Alpha Beta, member of the Grand Council; Allen L. Fowler, Beta Nu, member of the Grand Council; Waldo E. Hardell, Alpha Epsilon, Vice-Chairman of the Committee on the Grand Chapter Congress; Howard B. Johnson, Kappa, member of the Grand Council; Edwin L. Schujahn, Psi, past Grand President of Delta Sigma Pi and Chairman of the Committee on Nominations; Kenneth B. White, Gamma, Grand President of Delta Sigma Pi; James Ford Bell, Honorary Member-at-large; Richard L. Kozelka, Alpha Epsilon, Dean of the School of Business Administration, University of Minnesota; Rudolph Janzen, Alpha Epsilon, member of the Grand Council and Chairman of the Committee on the Grand Chapter Congress; H. G. Wright, Beta, past Grand President of Delta Sigma Pi and present Grand Secretary-Treasurer; John L. McKewen, Chi, past Grand President of Delta Sigma Pi and member of the Grand Council; Eugene D. Milener, Chi, past Grand President of Delta Sigma Pi; James D. Thomson, Beta, Assistant Grand Secretary-Treasurer; J. Elwood Armstrong, Chi, member of the Grand Council; and Louis C. Dorweiler, Alpha Upsilon, Vice-Chairman of the Committee on the Grand Chapter Congress.

When introducing those at the speakers' table, Brother Wright purposely did not introduce past Grand President John L. McKewen. He then went back to this introduction and elaborated on the term of office of Brother McKewen, at the conclusion of which he presented a diamond badge of Delta Sigma Pi to Brother McKewen in appreciation of his outstanding service to the fraternity as Grand President from 1939 to 1945. This came as a complete surprise to Brother McKewen and it was a few minutes before he could express his thanks for this gift.

Concluding the formal program of the evening, all delegations arose and fraternally sang, "The Rose of Deltasig." The rostrum was then turned over to Glen Galles, Alpha Epsilon, who was Chairman of this banquet, and he proceeded, in a most efficient manner, to arrange the brothers for the official photograph of the Grand Chapter Congress. Due to the perfect planning of Brother Galles, the actual assembly of the many brothers in a group for this picture took only a few minutes, and everyone was most impressed and elated because the confusion which usually accompanies the photographing of such a large group had been completely eliminated. The taking of the official photograph of the Sixteenth Grand Chapter Congress brought to a close the activities of the evening.

The Luncheon

At noon on Thursday, buses were waiting in front of the Radisson Hotel to take the delegations on a tour of the University of Minnesota campus. Each bus had one of the Alpha Epsilon alumni as a guide to point out the various points of interest along the way. The Coffman Memorial Union of the University of Minnesota was the final destination of this tour. Before proceeding to the Junior Ballroom where a luncheon was to be held, Brother Anderson, an official of the University of Minnesota, conducted a tour of this magnificent building, which included a visit to many lounges, study rooms, and recreational facilities. A delicious luncheon was served to 174 brothers, and the Twin Cities Alumni Club claimed this was the largest Thursday noon luncheon they had ever held. Following the luncheon, Mr. Nunn, Business Manager of the University of Minnesota, welcomed Delta Sigma Pi to the campus and urged everyone to visit the many buildings and points of interest on the campus before they returned to their respective homes. He especially asked everyone to visit the Museum of Natural History which was made possible by the generous contribution of James Ford Bell, our Honorary Member-at-large, and which is second only to the Field Museum in Chicago.

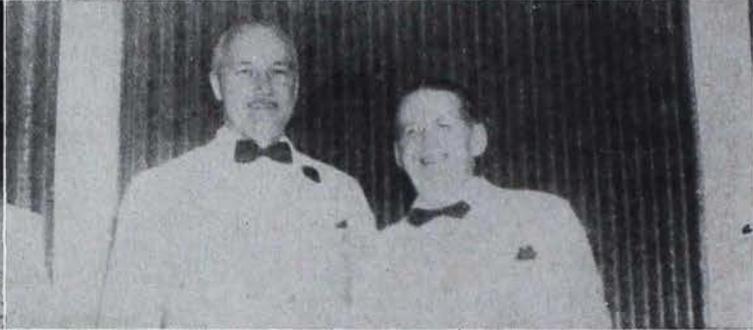

With the luncheon completed, everyone pulled their chairs toward the center of the room so that they would be in a better position to view the motion pictures which were being shown of the previous Grand Chapter Congresses, the Deltasig Lodge in Atlanta, and the Central Office in Chicago. The old films on our Eighth Grand Chapter Congress in Madison, Wisconsin, in 1926, the Ninth in Champaign, Illinois, in 1928, and the Tenth in Detroit, Michigan, in 1930, brought forth a great deal of laughter, both from the alumni who were present at these meetings and the new members, who enjoyed the antics of the past. The modern colored pictures of the Central Office in Chicago and the Deltasig Lodge in Atlanta were appreciated by all, and the success of these films has created a desire to have a collection of fraternity movies.

The planned program for Thursday afternoon included the Panel of Undergraduate Activities. This Panel was conducted in the same room in which the luncheon had been held and many fine papers on undergraduate chapter activities were presented by the Official Delegates of the active chapters. All of the papers were very well prepared and of considerable length. Therefore, it was late in the afternoon when this meeting adjourned and the brothers returned to the Radisson Hotel to prepare for the Stag Party, which was scheduled for early that evening.

Stag Party

A jovial group of brothers met the buses which arrived at the Radisson Hotel to take them to Schmidt's Rathskellar in St. Paul. Fraternity songs, army songs, and the many old favorites were the order of business on the way there. The singing was so good, loud, and lasted so long, that many of the brothers were hoarse before they reached their destination. In one bus a collection was taken for the purchase of a house for our competitive fraternity. Everyone contributed generously to this cause, and even the bus driver made a donation. Before they reached St. Paul, however, it was decided that our worthy competitors didn't need a house after all, so the proceeds were given to the bus driver.

In the ancient, rustic atmosphere of Schmidt's Rathskellar, it wasn't long before all of the 178 brothers in attendance were right at home. Coats were left at the door and sleeves were rolled up, as informality was the keynote of the evening. A most appetizing array of food was served buffet style. With roast beef, ham, cold cuts, cheese, potato salad and relishes, the boys soon satisfied the pangs of hunger which were the result of an early lunch and an active afternoon. Singing groups organized promptly and kept the spirits high with fraternity songs. Just about the time when everyone was becoming a bit tired, the entertainers arrived and revived the community singing. The Swiss Fraunfelder Family put on a wonderful show with their yodeling, Swiss bell ringing, and traditional folk songs. The din of the Rathskellar was quieted for the first time in the evening when one of Mr. Fraunfelder's daughters sang a few selected light operatic numbers. The entire family then played popular songs, which were requested and sung by the brothers, and this would have gone on all evening, had the Fraunfelders been willing to stay that long.

With the entertainment and all of the food gone, the "Yellow Dogs" decided it was time to convene and hold an initiation for the many candidates who were present. Over one hundred members were duly initiated and admitted to this ancient and honorable order. By the time the last initiate received his card, four of the buses were already on their way back to Minneapolis, and it wasn't long before Schmidt's Rathskellar was empty of Deltasigs. It was a tired, but happy group of brothers that rode back to Minneapolis, and although there was a great deal of conversation about the fun had during the evening, no one had enough energy to conduct or carry on the singing that had accompanied the trip to St. Paul.

Dinner Dance

A fitting finale to the Sixteenth Grand Chapter Congress was the formal Dinner Dance held in the Grand Ballroom of the Radisson Hotel on Friday evening, August 29. Early Friday afternoon, all of the business of this Congress was completed and everyone was free to enjoy this grand Dinner Dance. A total of 284 were in attendance. During the dinner period, Ferd Oldre and members of his orchestra strolled among the tables encouraging groups to sing popular songs of their choice.

The dancing started at 9:00 o'clock and continued intermittently throughout the evening. During one of the intermissions, Jack E. Morris, Official Delegate from Kappa Chapter, was summoned to the dance floor and presented the Attendance Trophy which they had won. Kappa Chapter had a delegation of 24 members in attendance at the Grand Chapter Congress.

Just before 11:00, the diamond badge drawing box was brought to the ballroom for this traditional event. For many Congresses the fraternity has presented an all diamond Delta Sigma Pi badge to some lucky member who was officially registered for the convention. Grand Secretary-Treasurer Wright opened the box after announcing that the drawing would take place, and he invited several young ladies to come up and shuffle the many stubs in the box. Five stubs were then drawn from the box by one of the ladies, all of which Brother Wright claimed bore the name of Kenneth B. White. This, of course, was not true, but it provided an entree for presenting Grand President Kenneth B. White with a diamond badge on behalf of the fraternity for his service during his term of office. Brother White appeared to be very much surprised at the presentation and gratefully acknowledged receipt of this gift. The five stubs that were withdrawn were then returned to the box and all were again shuffled and reshuffled. Grand Secretary-Treasurer Wright then asked Mrs. Marion Sprague, the wife of the Head Master of the Cornucopia Society of Texas Technological College, one of our petitioning groups, to draw sixteen stubs in honor of the Sixteenth Grand Chapter Congress.

It was decided that the name on the sixteenth stub would be the winner and all others would merely be mentioned. The stubs drawn, in consecutive order, were: Bruce E. Kleinkauf, Alpha Delta; Eugene D. Milener, Chi; Harold H. Krinke, Alpha Epsilon; Kenneth A. Wachowiak, Psi; Norman H. Erskine, Alpha Epsilon; Robert L. Hughes, Alpha Epsilon; Fred W. Hay, Alpha Epsilon; Charles P. Perron, Alpha Epsilon; Michael J. Judge, Beta Nu; Elmer W. Blankmann, Beta Sigma; George L. Holk, Alpha Sigma; Richard W. Abraham, Theta; William C. Gimmetad, Alpha Epsilon; John W. Kennedy, Alpha Epsilon; Daniel C. Kilian, Alpha; and Walter M. Baggs, Chi Chapter, Johns Hopkins University, was unable to attend the Grand Chapter Congress, so the badge was given to the large delegation from Baltimore to deliver to him.

Dancing was then resumed and continued until 1:00 o'clock, the conclusion of which marked the end of the Sixteenth Grand Chapter Congress of Delta Sigma Pi. Although all of the festivities were over in Minneapolis and most of the delegations left for home on Saturday, it later developed that a good many of the brothers that had driven to Minneapolis, stopped at the Psi Chapter house in Madison and continued their celebration. In addition to this, Beta Chapter at Northwestern in Chicago, held an Open House on Wednesday, September 3, for those brothers who were driving through Chicago. A large delegation from Kappa, Georgia (Atlanta), and Beta Iota, Baylor, plus many other members from other parts of the country were present to make this post-convention party a huge success.

Ladies Program

A cordial welcome was awaiting the brothers' wives who attended the Sixteenth Grand Chapter Congress. A very capable local committee, headed by Mrs. Kenneth T. Setre, greeted the visitors and entertained them on the first day of the convention at a very hospitable Cocktail Party in a suite of rooms at the Radisson Hotel. This party served as a means of acquainting the guests with their hostesses and the program that had been arranged for the balance of the convention.

Following this party, practically the entire group of ladies went to one of Minneapolis' finer restaurants and had dinner. The management of the restaurant, sensing the spirit of the group, provided some special entertainment in their honor. On Thursday afternoon, buses were provided and all of the guests were taken on a tour of Minneapolis and St. Paul. Their final destination was the Interlachen Country Club of Minneapolis, where tea was already awaiting their arrival. This tour and tea provided a very busy afternoon and it was quite late when the bus returned to the hotel.

A special luncheon was arranged for Friday in the Tea Room of the Dayton Department Store. This tea room is very modern, having just been completed a week or so prior to the Grand Chapter Congress, and it is located in one of the largest and most modern department stores in the country. In addition to a delicious luncheon, a style show was enjoyed by all those in attendance. Naturally, the climax was the Dinner Dance on Friday evening, and from all reports the wives were as thoroughly entertained in Minneapolis as were the brothers.

GRAND TOTAL274

The Shadow of Dead Men's Reasoning

By James F. Bell, Chairman of the Board, General Mills, Inc., and Honorary Member-at-large of Delta Sigma Pi

Introduction of James F. Bell over WLOL

by Richard L. Kozelka, Dean of the School of Business Administration, University of Minnesota; and a Member of Delta Sigma Pi.

MANY OF THE DELEGATES to the Grand Chapter Congress of Delta Sigma Pi have come from far corners of this country and have probably brought with them some erroneous notions about Minnesota and Minneapolis which I should like to correct. Minnesota is no longer the breadbasket of the nation. We now specialize in the succulent beef and pork which is inserted in the sandwiches made from wheat raised by our good neighbor states to the west and southwest. Minneapolis is no longer the leading flour milling city of the country, but it does have leadership in the production of heat regulators and excellent football teams. Minneapolis is still the flour milling capital of the world because many of the major flour milling companies have their headquarters here, although their mills are scattered all over the world. The largest of these is General Mills, Inc., whose chairman of the board is our guest speaker this evening.

General Mills, Inc., would make an interesting case study for students of Business Administration in problems of selection, training, and inspiring of a team of executives in a complex corporation. I regret that I cannot point with pride to Mr. Bell as a graduate of the School of Business Administration. Mr. Bell graduated from the University of Minnesota a few years before the School of Business Administration was established on our campus. I think that it is particularly fitting that Mr. Bell is our guest speaker because he personifies the objectives of leading schools of Commerce and Business Administration over the country, and the qualities which were demanded of us in the impressive initiation ritual this evening. First, through specialized training and experience Mr. Bell established his competence in his own industry. Second, his initiative and vision led him to create a diversified and much more stable corporation in the combination of properties and products which became known as General Mills in 1928. Third, he has demonstrated his leadership of an able group of imaginative officers. Fourth, he has insisted on high standards of corporate social responsibility, including high quality of product, sound employment practices, and continuous technical progress. This is over and above his own very substantial contributions of personal civic service to the city, the state, and the nation. Finally, he is the truly educated man in addition to being a financially successful businessman. He speaks with authority in the fields of natural history, of art, and of education. We value highly his services to the University as a member of its Board of Regents. I am privileged to present to you our third honorary member-at-large, Mr. James F. Bell.

An Address Delivered before the Grand Chapter Congress of Delta Sigma Pi, Radisson Hotel, Minneapolis, August 27, 1947; and Broadcast over Radio Station WLOL of the Mutual Broadcasting System.

DEAN KOZELKA, ASSOCIATES IN DELTA SIGMA PI, ladies and gentlemen: perhaps I should make some reference to the rather unusual title under which I have elected to speak. I have taken "The Shadow of Dead Men's Reasoning" because it is my belief that we live in the shadow of past reasonings to far greater extent than we realize, and to a much greater extent than we should.

Few Men Have Made Fundamental Contributions

The pages of history reveal how very few men indeed have made fundamental contributions to the progress of mankind. As compared to the vast multitudes who have benefited by their contributions, the proportion is infinitesimal. Indeed, in pure fundamentals, we could almost number these discoverers on the fingers of our two hands!

True, there are legions who have seized upon these fundamental discoveries and enhanced them with great benefit, but their improvements have been based on the principles of the original discoverer. And, even these legions of followers loom infinitesimally small in the total of mankind!

Man Resistant to Change

Man is inherently lazy, both physically and mentally. Some more, some less, to be sure, but man exerts himself, for the most part, only under the urge of necessity. Sometimes in these efforts he is stimulated by his own prowess, and the egotism to display it leads him on to new achievements. But on the whole, man is for the most part resistant to change. When his efforts have satisfied the immediate needs of his environment, he desires to be left alone in the peace and comfort it has brought him.

Change means that he must be awakened from that complacency and troubled to adjust himself to something new.

Old Methods Preferred

Man possesses a curious mixture of superstition combined with a curious reverence for the past. He is prone to do things in the same old way that they have always been done. The old way seems to have accomplished what he desired; his father did it that way, and his father before him. It has always been done that way! So that is the way to do it! The ready acceptance of this philosophy too often blocks the way to the success of demonstrated improvements. The time lag between discovery and acceptance is long, and the way of the discoverer has always been hard and rocky.

Just for example, Galileo almost suffered martyrdom. Newton's brilliant deductions engaged bitter controversy with the leading scientists of his day. With William Harvey and his discovery of the circulation of blood, it took two hundred years for the substantiation of the truth of his conclusions! More recently, the Einstein theory found acceptance only in the chain reaction of uranium. Pasteur's theories were repudiated and reviled. There are countless examples. The more I travel about and the more I contact people and affairs, the more I am impressed with this phenomenon of clinging to the methods of the past. I see a thing being done in a certain way and I ask why? And they answer, "It has always been done that way!" And they say it with a finality that is really naïve.

Now, I put it to you, is that any kind of answer for the world of today?

Nevertheless, we find it all about us in the world of today! For example, consider the hundreds of things you do during the course of a day or a year, think of the many customs you observe and the things you do that "have always been done that way." Yet, in many cases there are most probably new and better ways to do them! We consider them of such ordinary character that we have not bestirred our lazy minds to appraise them in new perspective. They seem so easy, that the old way seems good enough. Why bother? Our tendencies are to resist these new discoveries. We are skeptical of new-fangled methods. The adoption of new labor-saving devices is resisted. In many instances, labor has been erroneously taught to believe that these will destroy jobs and lessen employment. Riots and disturbances have greeted many of these developments, wholly unjustified in the light of benefits which have subsequently been conferred.

How slow we are to conceive something new in the old! To the eyes of many, the steam in the kettle was simply the same old vapor, but the eyes of James Watt saw in it the beginning of a new era. But how long it took to realization! Look at the automobile and the airplane—considered in their early stages as purely rich men's playthings, never to take a place in our economic and social life. I do not want to carry the impression that many new things, and important things, have not been accepted and adopted, but there is still so much that remains of the methods of past reasoning! Methods that have persisted today merely because they "have always been done that way."

Science Accepts Innovations More Readily

We are beginning to see more rapid advances in the technological fields than in any others. The men of science, by training, are willing to accept innovations more readily; and, unlike other fields, modern research advances by trial and error, seldom making the same mistakes twice. Slowly the chains which have bound us to the past are being broken. But here again most technical developments are confined to the few. Knowledge and understanding of these matters are apparently beyond the intellect or power of the average man to absorb. The small number of men and women who compose this group live in a world quite apart, continuing uninterruptedly their contributions to human welfare—contributions which over the course of time will come to be accepted with the benefits they confer.

Yes, in the field of the sciences we are really making progress. But, with the multitudes, the progress is one of a quicker acceptance born of the convenience or pleasure of new things, rather than one of real understanding, appreciation, or consequence. For example, we have increased the span of life in the last half century or more by quite a considerable number of years. We have accepted this progress with but hardly a passing thought of the new problems which it brings. Of the vast number of older people for whom provision must be made. We have never had to meet such problems before. Somehow we have always gotten along, and so we still live in the shadow of past reasoning. Time does not permit me to touch upon many phases of our lives in which this shadow of dead men's reasoning and methods rests with increasing depth.

Shadow of Past Rests on Corporate Life

Therefore, let us turn briefly to the shadow of the past which rests upon our corporate life, for these are the affairs in which you are more intimately associated and interested. Whether we like it or not, we live in an age of industrial economy, where the corporation is becoming the heart and hub of our social and economic life. What affects the affairs of the corporation touches upon the intimate lives of all of us, regardless of the capacity in which we serve. The preservation of our corporations, therefore, is an essential to our personal welfare. This being the case, the composition of these corporations and their philosophy of organization take on a great importance to us.

We have seen great changes in the corporate life of this nation over the past fifty years. For the most part, in the growth and development of large institutions, we have seen an evolution from private ownership to public ownership. Today, with few exceptions, the ownership of our industrial enterprises rests in widely diversified holdings. The American Telephone and Telegraph, for example, has over 695,000 stockholders, nearly half of whom are women. The changes in corporate organization, however, at least in many instances, have not followed the changes which this evolution, in my opinion, prescribes. We must appreciate the fact that the corporation no longer represents the aggregate property rights of the owners, but is an essential part of our national economy and responsible to it and to the public it serves.

In Old Days Owner-Manager Was All-in-All

In the old days of private ownership, the owner was for the most part equally the management and responsible only to himself. Under the requirements of incorporation, it was necessary to have a Board of Directors and to elect officers. These were chosen at the owner's discretion. The functioning of a Board of Directors, under these circumstances, could hardly be adequate since membership was largely a reward of merit to members of the company, and these in turn were hardly in position to support views or policies that were at variance with those of the owner who controlled the tenure of their positions.

Today the Board of Directors Has New Responsibility

In modern corporate life, in theory at least if not in practice, the Board of Directors are the chosen representatives of the owners. The character and composition and control of these boards takes on entirely new significance, both to the owners and to the public at large. My personal observations and experiences lead me to believe that adaptation to the new order in this respect is not as complete or far-reaching as is desirable in the public interest. Much of corporate procedure still rests under the shadow of past methods and philosophy.

There is reluctance on the part of management to give up the domination it possessed under private ownership, and in some instances this control is maintained through Boards consisting entirely or in majority of management personnel. It could be argued that such boards are desirable since its members are intimately associated with the business and familiar with all its affairs and able, with proper freedom, to move in an intelligent way for the welfare of the owners. However, it would appear difficult for the members of such boards to override the opinion of the chief executive so long as he maintained the control of their positions.

There are many instances, in large corporations, of Boards composed wholly or in part of non-management members. I do not doubt for a moment that there are many fine, conscientious directors who devote considerable time and thought to the affairs of the companies in which they serve as directors, nor do I doubt their sense of responsibility. However, in many instances, desirable members of Boards are busy men of affairs and they have not time at their disposal to sufficiently acquaint themselves with the intimate affairs of the company. The positions are honorary in character and because of lack of intimate knowledge, they take the word of management because they must lean upon the word of management and support what it advances for their consideration.

Remuneration of Board Members

I cannot escape the thought that we must magnify the position of director beyond the present honorary state and the small attendance fee which they receive, to a point where an adequate compensation would awaken a sense of deeper obligation and the devotion of time and thought consistent with the pay they receive. I realize that in the past this has not been a customary practice in the United States and therefore we live in the shadow of past practices and customs without any real efforts to learn the virtues of new ways and means.

In the modern conception of a Board of Directors as that body through which the owners secure their representation, the function of the Board in this capacity must be given consideration. Among its many responsibilities are the all-important choice of management and the formation of policies. But the performance of these in themselves is not sufficient. The Board should provide ways and means of satisfying itself that the management which they have chosen is efficient and that the policies which they have enunciated are really carried out in practice. It must possess proper yardsticks to determine and measure these factors.

Function of the Chairman of the Board

In many cases it is the custom for the Board to elect a chairman. At present the position of the chairman is an anomalous one. It may be purely honorary—the reward to some superannuated, old fluff-doodle dodo who has been kicked up the backstairs to get him out of the way! Again, he may be the chief executive and administrative officer, functioning entirely independently and with the president of the company as a mere figurehead. Or, he may be the chief executive and administrative officer functioning through the office of president. Indeed, there seems to be no accepted or specific practice for the functioning of that office.

In my opinion, under the new order, the functioning of the Chairman of the Board is one that can and should be of real importance. As head of the Board through which the owners receive their representation, he can be the medium through whom the Board maintains daily contact with management. While he is not a part of management, it would be his duty to see that the procedures and methods of management live up to the expectations and policies of the Board and their interpretation of the best interest of the owners. To my mind, this practice places in the hands of the Board a means of discharging its true responsibilities.

Responsibility of the Comptroller

But here again it is possible to further strengthen and augment the functioning of the Board through the office of Comptroller, who should be appointed by the Board, responsible to it, and hold office at its disposition. This provides the Board with "eyes and ears" through which to evaluate the functioning of the various departments as reflected through the accounting of the company.

Under such a structure the office of Comptroller would be highly magnified. The responsibility thus imposed carries with it not merely the demand that the accounting of the company be conducted in accordance with sound practice, so as to reflect the actual conditions existing within the company, but above this and of even greater importance, it should be the responsibility of the Comptroller to interpret the functions of the business as reflected through its books, so that the Chairman and through the Chairman, the Board, shall know that these are in conformity with its desires and policies. The Comptroller's department touches upon all other departments of the business. It is necessary that he should not only know the actions of the Board, but, in order to interpret these properly, he should also know the thinking of the Board, and this cannot obtain unless the Comptroller is permitted to attend all meetings of the Board, to hear all the arguments which have gone into the formation of the policies. Similar opportunity should be afforded to the Comptroller to attend all meetings of the Executive Committee and the various staff and department meetings, so that he may be equally acquainted with the thinking of the management.

Specialization Causes Dearth of Well-rounded Men

In the growth of our industries into large size, there is a tendency to become more and more departmentalized. With departmentalization comes the need for specialists. With specialization comes a dearth of well-rounded men qualified for succession in the over-all picture of the chief executive and administrative officer. In a large measure, I think this situation can be met by the attitude in which the chief executive and these departmental specialists address their specific responsibilities.

If they do so wholly in the sense of discharging in a purely technical sense the responsibilities entrusted to them, then we will continue as in the past to find a growing lack of co-ordination and material for over-all management.

On the other hand, if these departmental heads, beyond the fulfillment of their technical tasks, are encouraged—or of their own volition—attempt to interpret what they are doing not alone in terms of their specific responsibilities but as these touch upon the general welfare of the business, then we shall have a new order of a most promising character.

Let me illustrate my thought in this matter by taking as an example the Engineering Department of a large company. If this department is merely to furnish plans and specifications, etc., for new facilities and equipment as conceived necessary by the management, that is one thing. But if the head of that department, having received a request for a set of specifications for a new facility, attempts to interpret these not only in the knowledge of engineering but in terms of the general welfare of the company, we have quite a different picture. It may be that the management wants a plant of such and such capacity, with such and such equipment, at such and such a geographical point. In my opinion, the departmental engineer should sit down and interpret this problem, not in terms of engineering alone but in the knowledge he has of the over-all picture. He should be able to say whether, in his opinion, these added facilities would be to the advantage or disadvantage of the company. It may be that there are new technological developments the outcome of which should be observed before going ahead with such expenditures. He might be able to point out the needs of other divisions of the business which, in his opinion, should take precedence. Or, it may be that it would be more advantageous to locate the plant at some other point. In this respect he breaks down the walls of departmentalization that freeze him away from the general picture. He feels himself an integral part of the whole.

I appreciate that this depends very largely upon the attitude of the over-all management, but I am satisfied that this attitude, if the Board possesses proper character and ability, will be receptive to the evidences of knowledge and intellect within its organization and the strength that comes from it. It does seem to me that, rather than accepting old methods, the training of people for these various jobs should carry with it a sense of responsibility both to themselves and to the enterprise of which they are to become a part. It matters not in what capacity a man may serve. I think his whole attitude should be against departmentalization and toward the integration of his particular job in the whole and its total welfare.

Opportunities in Industry

It is my confident belief that opportunities in greater numbers exist in industry today for young men who can think in terms of the future and contribute new methods and new ideas than ever before. Industry will not only welcome them, it will seek them out!

New ideas are not limited to the fields of invention and production. The young man with ideas that will help industry bring forth better things for better living, and help it produce more things economically will be successful. In my judgment, our economy is still expanding. We have by no means reached the full flower of production under our system of free competitive enterprise. The world is holding up a challenge to us and the young men and women now in training for business careers must be counted on to play an important role in keeping our economy vigorous and creative. Not the laissez faire of doing things as we have in the past. The field, therefore, is wide open. The answer to "what opportunity exists for the man or woman in industry" rests within one's self. All I ask is that we do not attempt to face tomorrow with the thought of using the methods of yesterday. There is such a thing as taking the best from the past without being a slave to it!

The idea of creating something new that will benefit others and advance the march of mankind is thrilling, stimulating. To keep alive the imagination in terms of the new order is good. It is well to bear in mind that all the advancements and innovations which the public ultimately recognizes and claims are those which resulted from creative ability. We no longer use grandpa's old kerosene lamp. It was a good lamp, even if it did smell. But we prefer the brilliant electric light of today. It is better, easier, and cheaper.

The public rarely discovers its own needs. It waits for men with creative imagination to discover them. People did not demand railroads, or electric lights, or automobiles, or phonographs, or telephones, or radios, or electric refrigerators, or television, until science and industry joined hands to create the desire for them. They did not realize the economic good in the ownership of their industrial enterprises until the opportunity was offered to them. They are inarticulate to provide ways and means of safe-guarding and enhancing the values which they possess.

We realize that the past is still casting a deep shadow over many of the relations of business, relationships which must be scrutinized for new approaches to the customer, to the stockholder, to the worker, and to the supplier. The fields of communication, transportation, accounting, industrial and public relations, and many others are all ripe for the touch of ingenuity and innovation. Remember that progress is based upon the inescapable fact that each succeeding generation must be better than the one which preceded it.

Ten Million Centers of Initiative!

Professor Sumner Slichter of Harvard has pointed out that "The American business economy has nearly ten million business enterprises where innovations may be initiated, where experiments may be tried. Our economy operates under some ten million separate private business budgets. No regimented economy can hope to compete in dynamic drive with an economy which possesses nearly ten million independent centers of initiative!" Many of the things which we enjoy today would have been said to be impossible just a few years ago. And we will find the same attitude in the minds of today, ready to say "It can't be done!" "Impossible!" Charley Kettering answered: "The impossible merely takes a little longer!"

Of course, we must realize that in this day and age we must have specialists, but as I have already indicated, the chief danger of specialization is the loss of perspective. We tend to circumscribe our field of thought and take only the narrow, purely technical view of our responsibilities. Accordingly, unless we guard against it, we can easily repeat the error of that much-used and familiar old legend about the three blind men and the elephant! One of them grasped his trunk and reported that the elephant was like a snake. The second blind man felt his side, and said it resembled a wall. And the third blind man touched his leg and said it was like the trunk of a tree

Similarly, our aspects of the broad company job could become as distorted as the blind men's ideas of the elephant. It is not enough to know every aspect of our own particular job. We must know something of all phases of the enterprise as well, and the relationship of our own job to them. Only then will we be able to give a true interpretation to the responsibility of our function in relation to the welfare of the entire structure.

I think it is the responsibility of our various institutions throughout the country—those with which many of you are associated—to see that this philosophy is advanced in the minds of those who are being trained. Specialist jobs, which are increasing with the size and needs of our various industrial institutions, should be appraised in broader aspect. Positions are largely what men make them, and their attitude and approach to their jobs are largely the determining factor in what is to prevail.

And, to repeat, we must encourage in every way an initiative for improvement, and not a laissez faire attitude of merely doing a job, even though it may be well done through the methods of the past. The shadow of dead men's reasoning and methods will rest upon us and retard our progress unless we bestir ourselves from the lethargy of tradition and move forward with the thought: a thing well done is not good enough, for there are surely better methods.

Otherwise there is no progress.

Our Third Honorary Member-at-large

JAMES FORD BELL, Chairman of the Board of Directors of General Mills, Inc., was born in Philadelphia on August 16, 1879 of a family of millers reaching back to colonial days and, before that, to England. His great-grandfather built, in 1820, one of the first flour mills in Philadelphia—his father, James S. Bell, has been called by historians the "greatest merchant miller of all time." James S. Bell went west to Minneapolis to become President of Washburn Crosby Company from the time of its incorporation in 1889 until his death in 1915. He, more than any other man, was responsible for the success of the company.

After graduating from the University of Minnesota with the degree of Bachelor of Science in 1901, Mr. Bell became associated with Washburn Crosby Company. Since then, his name has been continuously linked with that company and General Mills, Inc., except for a period in 1917-19 when, as a dollar-a-year man, he served as Chairman of the Milling Division of the United States Food Administration and later as Treasurer of of the United States Sugar Board. The Milling Division met and overcame difficulties unparalleled in the previous history of the industry. As the drastic need for flour both at home and abroad among the allies became greater, a grim battle with the forces of hunger developed. Cutting himself off from business, home, and family, Mr. Bell threw all his energies into the task of marshalling the flour production of mills throughout the entire nation. In recognition of his services, he received the cross of the French Legion of Honor and was made a member of the Belgian Order of the Crown.

Mr. Bell was elected Vice-President of Washburn Crosby Company in 1917, and President in 1925. On the formation of General Mills, Inc., in 1928 Mr. Bell was elected President, becoming Chairman of the Board of Directors in 1934. He has become well-known for his interest and energy in furthering

The Grand Council of Delta Sigma Pi

Allen L. Fowler, Grand President

The new Grand President of Delta Sigma Pi is Allen L. Fowler of Philadelphia, who was elected in Minneapolis at the Sixteenth Grand Chapter Congress of the fraternity. Allen graduated from the Evening School of Accounts and Finance of the University of Pennsylvania in 1921. While there he became a member of Tau Delta Kappa, a local commerce fraternity which became the Beta Nu Chapter of Delta Sigma Pi in 1932. Brother Fowler is No. 8 in Beta Nu Chapter and a Life Member of Delta Sigma Pi.

Allen has been associated with the nationally known engineering firm of Day & Zimmermann, Inc., since 1919, except for a period of about five years which he spent in public accounting and tax work with the firm of John K. Hulse & Company, Certified Public Accountants of Philadelphia. Allen is now manager of the Investigations and Reports Department, and a director of Day & Zimmermann, Inc. He is also a Certified Public Accountant having received his degree from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Currently, Brother Fowler is the president of the Philadelphia Control of the Controllars Institute of America.

For many years Allen has been active in fraternity work, having served on the Grand Council and on the Executive Committee. At the Thirteenth Grand Chapter Congress, held in Philadelphia in 1939, Allen presented one of the main addresses of the convention. This was entitled Some Problems in the Public Utility Industry, and it was later published in THE DELTASIG so that the entire fraternity could benefit from its many constructive ideas.

H. G. Wright, Grand Secretary-Treasurer

There is hardly a single Deltasig anywhere that is not familiar with Gig and the outstanding contribution he has made over these many years to the progress and development of the fraternity. Gig is a charter member of Beta Chapter, and first became a grand officer of the fraternity in 1920 when he was elected Grand President. After serving two terms as Grand President, Brother Wright became Grand Secretary-Treasurer of Delta Sigma Pi in 1924. Prior to this Gig was the organizer and president of the H. G. Wright Coal Company, a wholesale coal concern in Chicago. In 1926, when he established the Central Office, he gave up this business so that he could devote all of his time to the development of the fraternity.

Gig graduated from Northwestern University in 1919, after having served as treasurer and head master of Beta Chapter and president of the Commerce Club of Northwestern. He has served as chairman of the committee that negotiated the purchase of the fine chapter house that is occupied by Beta Chapter. Up until last year he served this same house corporation as the secretary-treasurer. He has also set a record by being in attendance at every Grand Chapter Congress since 1917 a total of 11.

When Beta Chapter held its Silver Anniversary Banquet in 1939, Gig was the toastmaster, and he surprised everyone by releasing a history of Beta Chapter which he had written. This bound volume contains a very interesting account of the first twenty-five years of Beta Chapter. During Gig's twenty-seven years of service to Delta Sigma Pi, he has seen the fraternity grow from three chapters to sixty-five chapters and over 18,000 members.

From the very beginning of the Professional Interfraternity Conference, Gig has been the representative of Delta Sigma Pi, a charter member. Then for many years he was the secretary-treasurer of this organization, only to be elected president which office he now holds.

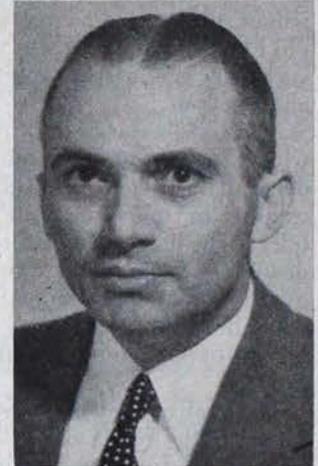

J. Elwood Armstrong

In 1923 Elwood became a member of Chi Chapter, which was then located at the University of Maryland, and there gained his early training in the realm of Delta Sigma Pi by holding various offices in the chapter. His next step up the ladder came when he was appointed Province Officer in 1927.

Between that time and 1945 when he was elected to the Grand Council Elwood served the Baltimore Alumni Club in several capacities. His relocating in Detroit in recent years has not hampered his service to the fraternity, but instead it has furnished him with new fields to conquer as evidenced by the part he played in the reactivation of our Xi Chapter after the war. Brother Armstrong is a very excellent ritualist, and as a result he has been called upon many times to serve on important ritual teams of the fraternity. On three occasions he was a member of the team that initiated an Honorary Member-at-large of Delta Sigma Pi.

The first degree conferred upon Elwood was one in engineering from the Baltimore Polytechnic Institute. Then came a B.C.S. degree from the University of Maryland in 1926 followed by his C.P.A. from the State of Maryland in 1929. After serving several Baltimore companies as an accountant and a cost estimator, Elwood went to work for Haskins & Sells, Certified Public Accountants, as an acting principal. He remained in their employ for eight years, then he accepted the position of Chief Systems Accountant of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, manufacturers of paint, brushes, glass, etc. Brother Armstrong is now comptroller of The Jam Handy Organization, Inc., Detroit, Michigan, producers of visual training aids and methods through the use of slide films and motion pictures.

Photography is almost Elwood's middle name, having won many prizes in national contests and having had a number of his photos published in commercial advertising. He was a member of the Baltimore Camera Club, The Pittsburgh Photographic Society, and recently served as president of the Photographic Guild of Detroit. For the last two years he has also taught at the Detroit School of Photography, and was elected an Associate of the Photographic Society of America, an honor that has only been bestowed upon 89 of its total membership in excess of 6,000.

Brother Armstrong now resides in Detroit, Michigan, with his wife and son.

Daniel C. Kilian

Brother Kilian became a member of our Alpha Chapter at New York University in February, 1928, and since that time he has been extremely active in fraternity work in one capacity or another. Dan's first office was that of chapter treasurer, followed in the spring of 1930, by his election to the post of head master. Upon graduation he was appointed Province Officer of our eastern province which was the first of several national posts in which he served.

DANIEL C. KILIAN
New York U.

Dan also served several years as chairman of our National Committee on Life Memberships, and also as the chairman of our National Committee on Alumni Activities. In 1940 Dan was the president of the New York Alumni Club of Delta Sigma Pi, and in 1943 his many years of faithful service to the fraternity were rewarded by his election to the Grand Council. While on the Grand Council, Dan was also a member of the Executive Committee of the fraternity, and in this capacity he has served for the last four years.

Brother Kilian is associated in an executive capacity with the Biddle Purchasing Company of New York City, and he resides with his wife and two children at 67 Eldridge Avenue, Hempstead, New York. In his own community he is also very active in civic affairs.

Howard B. Johnson

One of the mainstays in our Kappa Chapter is Howard B. Johnson who was initiated in 1931. Howard is well known by everyone in our southeastern chapters, and his reputation as a tireless worker in Delta Sigma Pi has spread to many other parts of the fraternity. After serving as head master of Kappa Chapter, Howard went on as Province Officer and general chairman of the Twelfth Grand Chapter Congress which was held in Atlanta in 1936. Then in 1939 he was elected to the Grand Council in which capacity he has served diligently.

Brother Johnson graduated from Georgia Tech with a B.S. in Commerce, cum laude, in 1929 and later at this same university he completed a postgraduate course which he took under a faculty scholarship. Since his graduation from Georgia Tech, Howard has attended a study forum of the National Association of Cost Accountants and the National Institute of Credit. While in college he was president of the Speakers' Club, president of Delta Mu Delta, honorary scholarship society, president of Theta Xi Zeta, honorary society, and winner of the Intramural Key. Later he was the first president of the Alumni Association of Georgia Evening College.

In the business world, Howard has also made his mark as vice president of the Atlantic Steel Company, an independent manufacturer of steel and steel products for over 25 years. His particular duties are those of supervising all finances and accounting of this company. Most of his previous business experience centers around the Atlantic Steel Company for whom he has worked the last 14 years.

In Atlanta, Howard's home town, he has many offices and duties such as: director of the Atlanta Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants, member of the Legislative Committee of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, member of the Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce, and an officer in the Springlake Park Civic Club. In recent years, Howard has also been president of the Henry W. Grady Toastmasters Club, and president of the Atlanta Alumni Club of Delta Sigma Pi.

John F. Mee

One of the new members of our Grand Council is John F. Mee of Bloomington, Indiana. John is a member of our Nu Chapter, Ohio State University, but is now associated with Indiana University as chairman of the Department of Management. He is also a director of the Bureau of Personnel Relations and Placement, and a consultant in Personnel and Industrial Management at Indiana University.

Brother Mee served in the Army Air Forces with the rank of Colonel in World War II. During his five years of service he was awarded the Legion of Merit, Bronze Star Medal, Asiatic-Pacific Campaign Ribbon with four battle stars, and the European-African-Middle East Campaign Ribbon. Prior to his military service John was director of Placement and Instructor in Business Organization at Ohio State University. He has also taught Psychology at the University of Maine, where he received his A.M. degree, and acted as the merchandising representative for radio station WLW.

JOHN F. MEE
Ohio State

John has been very active in our important Alumni Placing Service and has served as chairman of the National Committee on Alumni Placing Service. He will also resume this work along with that of his Grand Council position. Brother Mee was also a member of the committee that inspected the facilities of Cleveland College and the local petitioning group, Sigma Rho Delta, before it became Beta Tau Chapter of Delta Sigma Pi.

In addition to being a member of The Arbitration Panel of the Governor of Indiana, John is also an arbitrator for the National Mediation Board. Some of his many organization memberships are: Beta Gamma Sigma, honorary society; Academy of Management; American Trade Association Executives; American Marketing Association; American Economic Association; American Legion; Reserve Officers Association; and the Shrine and Scottish Rite of the Masonic Order.

In the course of his teaching career and business, John has written several manuals, books and handbooks, namely, Factory Budgets, Co-operation of Trade Associations and Schools of Business, Personnel Problems in War Economy, and a Personnel Recruiting Manual.

Kenneth B. White

Our immediate past Grand President, Kenneth B. White, has been a member of the Grand Council of Delta Sigma Pi since 1933, and has played a major part in the fraternity's development in the Southwest. Ken was initiated into our Gamma Chapter in Boston in 1926, from which university he graduated with a B.S. of Business Administration, cum laude. Later he took special courses at the City College of New York, and then at Southern Methodist University. In 1930 he received his C.P.A. degree from the State of Texas, in which state he has lived since 1927.

KENNETH B. WHITE
Boston

Brother White was associated with Haskins & Sells, Certified Public Accountants, in New York, New York, and Dallas, Texas, from 1930 to 1943. For the next two years he was a partner in the firm of Harrison & White of Dallas, Texas. He now conducts his own accounting practice which was opened in 1945. Ken is at present first vice president of the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants, and vice president of the Dallas Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants. In April of 1948 the NACA will hold a Southwestern Regional Meeting of which Ken is the general chairman.

It is interesting to note that brother White has been a member of the installation teams that installed both Beta Iota Chapter at Baylor University and Beta Kappa Chapter at the University of Texas. He was the organizer of the Dallas and Houston Alumni Clubs of Delta Sigma Pi and was the installing officer at the ceremonies recently conducted in Lubbock, Texas, which admitted our Beta Upsilon Chapter to the fraternity.

Another of his interests is the Dallas Unitarian Church of which he is president. Other positions which he holds are vice president and finance chairman of the Southwestern Unitarian Conference. He is also president of the Ardmore Institute.

Rudolph Janzen

Rudie doesn't need much introduction after the fine performance he just turned in as General Chairman of the Sixteenth Grand Chapter Congress. As a matter of record, however, Brother Janzen became a member of our Alpha Epsilon Chapter in 1924 while attending the University of Minnesota. The following year he was the treasurer of the chapter and also graduated from the University. After leaving college, Rudie helped organize the first housing corporation of Alpha Epsilon Chapter, serving many years as treasurer and then as president.

When Rudie took up his residence in Des Moines, Iowa, he became affiliated with the Delta Sigma Pi alumni club there, and soon was elected vice president. His next home was in Milwaukee, and there too he pursued his alumni club activities. In 1933 he served as the president of the Milwaukee Alumni Club, and later as the president of the Twin Cities Alumni Club in Minneapolis and St. Paul. Before becoming a member of the Grand Council in 1942, Rudie was a Province Officer of Delta Sigma Pi for several years.

Brother Janzen is at present the secretary of Gladness Bakeries, Inc., which operates a wholesale cake business in the northern Midwest. This corporation has two very large bakeries located in the cities of Minneapolis and Milwaukee which distribute their products to several states. Purchasing of much of the materials is one of Rudie's duties and in connection with this he is a member of the Twin Cities Purchasing Agents Association.

At present Brother Janzen lives in a suburb of Minneapolis and takes an active part in the Twin Cities Alumni Club and is on hand to advise the Alpha Epsilon Chapter when they need him. Rudie has also served as the president of the Alumni Association of the University of Minnesota School of Business Administration.

Robert G. Busse

When the delegation from Phi Sigma Beta, a local professional commerce fraternity, arrived at the Twelfth Grand Chapter Congress in Atlanta in 1936, Bob was their spokesman and the head master of this local petitioning group. This was his first experience with Delta Sigma Pi and the start of a full career in the active chapter at the University of Newark. Brother Busse served as chancellor of Beta Omicron Chapter after its installation into Delta Sigma Pi. Then, upon his graduation from Newark, he was appointed a Province Officer of the fraternity, which position he held until the war intervened. Bob has also taken an active part in the operation of the Newark Alumni Club, and has served three terms on their Board of Governors.

While in school, accounting was Brother Busse's major which led to his degree of B.S. in Business Administration. His graduation was preceded by his serving as president of the Junior and Senior Classes, vice-president of the Student Council, and as a member of the varsity basketball team.

Brother Busse is presently employed with the Burroughs Adding Machine Company as Senior Field Representative, and is associated with the Bridgeport, Connecticut, office of that firm. He has been employed in varying capacities by the Burroughs Adding Machine Company since 1939 after having six years experience as Assistant Business Manager of the Essex County Vocational School Board, cost accountant for the Hoffman Beverage Company of Newark and as a clerk at the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey.

Bob now resides in Stamford, Connecticut, where he is also a director of the Rotary Club. He has been very active in Community Chest and Red Cross campaigns both in Newark, New Jersey, and Stamford, Connecticut, and is at present general vice chairman of the 1948 Community Chest campaign for Stamford.

industrial research and for his far-reaching understanding of transportation problems. He is Director of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the Pullman Company, the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, the Northwest National Bank and Trust Company, and the Northwest Bancorporation. In February, 1939, he was elected by the State Legislature to serve as member of the Board of Regents of the University of Minnesota.

Mr. Bell's interests are not all centered on flour milling and business in general. He is vice-president and a trustee of the Minneapolis Society of Fine Arts; a trustee of the Carnegie Institution of Washington and of the William Hood Dunwoody Institute of Minneapolis; a regent of the University of Minnesota; and Chairman of the Minnesota Resources Commission which was dissolved when its completed report was made to the recent 54th Minnesota State Legislature and published in booklet form, Interpretation of an Economic Analysis of the State of Minnesota.

As chairman of the Minnesota Resources Commission Mr. Bell's leadership was of vital importance not only to us today but to future generations of Minnesotans. By surveying the assets and liabilities of our state, it aimed to ascertain and remedy wrong conditions, to point out how our state compared competitively with neighboring states, and to indicate new and dormant resources which could be utilized to draw new business organizations to Minnesota.

He has a keen interest not only in agriculture but in gardening. He has won innumerable blue ribbons and other awards as well as the sweepstakes for the past eleven years in the Minnesota Dahlia Society. He was awarded one of the highest ratings in the recent garden tours. And to show his versatility, he can tell you the name of every tree and flower at Ferndale, the neighborhood of his Lake Minnetonka home.

He is an ardent fisherman, particularly of Atlantic salmon. And, like most fishermen, he reads fishing catalogs during the winter months and selects his new stock of flies then for use next summer to catch those big ones that got away before. He not only likes to hunt but he is a conservationist as well. In cooperation with the American Wildlife Foundation for years he has made a thorough study on wild ducks at his Manitoba hunting lodge.

No account of his hunting episodes would be complete without mentioning the following story. It seems some years ago, he and a companion were crouched in a duck blind. A string of mallards flew overhead. They both fired and both missed. Without reloading, he hurried to shoot again. His companion watched. After a second cocking of the unloaded gun, he asked: "Why don't you try loading your gun, Jim?"

"What for?" asked Mr. Bell.

He has one of the world's finest private collections of first editions of early Americana, including Jesuit Relations. He also owns fine collections of old English and early American silver and other art treasures. Many have been loaned to the Minneapolis Institute of Arts for public display. Mr. and Mrs. Bell also have presented two "Charleston Rooms" to the art institute in memory of Mr. Bell's parents.

Mr. Bell is an accomplished cook. At his Canadian camp he amazes friends by turning out a batch of Italian spaghetti, tasty crepes suzettes, or even pancakes. New recipes intrigue him.

But of all his hobbies, his interest in natural history has probably given others the most enjoyment. Through his interest and generosity (plus additional WPA funds), the University of Minnesota is one of the few schools in our country which has a separate Museum of Natural History building. The three-story, air-conditioned, gray limestone structure has windowless walls and curved hallways. Two large exhibition halls on the first and second floors, offices, classrooms, preparation rooms and a library are included. This building is the fulfillment of James F. Bell's and the late director Dr. Thomas Roberts' long cherished dreams of adequate space for the university's growing collection of native animals, birds and fish. Exhibit cases are in a double row down the center to avoid unpleasant reflections.

Full-sized habitat groups of black bear, beaver, caribou, mountain sheep, timber wolves and birds are so naturally placed that they seem to be frozen in action. Their surroundings are duplicates of small sections of their native field and woodland. Backgrounds for these exhibits are by well-known natural history artists, including F. L. Jacques, R. Bruce Horsfall, Charles A. Corwin and H. W. Rubens. The museum is generally conceded to be a small counterpart of the Chicago Natural History Museum.

Insurance President Becomes Honorary Member

ON SATURDAY EVENING, May 17, Beta Omicron Chapter initiated Carrol M. Shanks, President of the Prudential Insurance Company and Trustee of Rutgers University, as an honorary member of Delta Sigma Pi.

Mr. Shanks, who has been listed by John Gunther as one of The Sixty-Four Most Important Americans, was born in Fairmont, Minnesota, on October 14, 1898. His parents were Mr. Edgar B. and Lilly (Meteer) Shanks, whose families were of pioneer stock of the Midwest. He entered the public schools of Fairmont, and after his first year in high school his family moved to Payette, Idaho, where he completed his high school studies, entering the University of Washington in January, 1917. He served in the first World War, being in officers training school at Camp MacArthur, Waco, Texas, when the Armistice was signed. He then returned to the University of Washington where he majored in Economics, receiving the degree of Bachelor of Business Administration (cum laude). He was a Phi Beta Kappa and a Beta Gamma Sigma.

After graduating in 1921, he came East and obtained a clerical position in the Cashier's Department of the Tidewater Oil Company. Later he entered Columbia University Law

CARROL M. SHANKS, Rutgers

School and there became legal assistant to Professor Moore who had a considerable influence on his career. Mr. Shanks was awarded the Kent Scholarship during two of the years he was there and was one of the editors of the Columbia Law Review. After receiving his degree of LL.B. in 1925, Mr. Shanks became associated with the law firm of Root, Clark, Buckner and Ballantine of New York City, where his work dealt largely with corporate financing. During the years 1926-1927 he also taught at Columbia Law School. In 1929 he left the law firm and for the next two years served as associate professor at Yale University Law School. He collaborated with Justice William O. Douglas in the preparation of four law case books covering the subject of business organizations. After his experience at Yale University Law School he returned to Root, Clark, Buckner and Ballantine.

Mr. Shanks joined the Prudential Insurance Company legal staff on July 11, 1932, as Assistant Solicitor, to work on Railroad Reorganization matters. On July 1, 1934, he was made Associate General Solicitor and on September 12, 1938, he became General Solicitor. He was elected Executive Vice President on August 29, 1944. His election as a member of the Board of Directors occurred June 12, 1945, and as President on January 1, 1946.

He has been President of the Council of Social Agencies and of The Neighborhood Center of Montclair, is a Trustee of the Montclair Public Library, of Rutgers University, of Wheaton College, and of the Welfare Federation of Newark. He is also a Vice President and Director of the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce and a member of the American Bar Association and Association of Life Insurance Counsel. He is also a Director of the United States Guarantee Company of New York, Public Service Corporation of New Jersey, and of the Bigelow-Sanford Carpet Company.

Dr. Hahne Becomes Miami U. President

DR. ERNEST H. HAHNE, Northwestern-Chicago, formally became Miami University's fifteenth president at inaugural ceremonies in Withrow Court. A colorful academic procession preceded the program and Dr. Hahne spoke briefly in making his formal acceptance. After the death of Dr. A. H. Upham in 1945 the presidential duties were taken over by Dr. Hahne, but the inauguration was temporarily postponed because at that time Withrow Court was being used as a temporary dormitory for 400 men who are now housed in other accommodations.

South Dakota Dean Recently Initiated

OUR ALPHA ETA CHAPTER, at the University of South Dakota, recently initiated Dean Robert F. Patterson of the School of Business Administration there. Dean Patterson joined the University of South Dakota faculty in 1942, and was appointed Dean of the School of Business Administration in July of 1946.

Brother Patterson earned his A.B. degree from Tarkio College in 1927, his M.A. degree from the University of Nebraska in 1932, and his Ph.D. degree from the University of Colorado in 1940. He is a member of the American Economic Association, the American Political Science Association, and Phi Beta Kappa, honorary society.

Appointed as First Ambassador to India

DR. HENRY F. GRADY, California, for many years a prominent statesman, educator and businessman, was recently appointed to the post of Ambassador to India by President Harry S. Truman. The appointment was made in April and by July Brother Grady was in New Delhi acting as this nation's first ambassador. This was not his first trip to India as he had been sent there in 1941 by President Roosevelt to make an economic survey. At that time he also conducted a survey of the Philippines from which he returned one week before Pearl Harbor. Then with the war in its peak he again returned to India, this time as the head of the American Technical Commission.

HENRY F. GRADY, California

The part he played during the war in American and British supply lines development, and then as national chairman of the Board of Directors of American Relief for India, has given him an excellent background for the job that is ahead of him.

During his many years of government work, Brother Grady once held the position of Assistant Secretary of State under the Roosevelt administration. After 18 months he left this service to become the president of the American Presidents Lines, Ltd., an exceptionally large west coast steamship company. In addition to this huge job, Henry F. Grady was also drafted as the chairman of the San Francisco Federal Reserve Bank and as head of the California Social Security Board.

Brother Grady served the City College of New York, Columbia University, Georgetown University, and the University of California as an educator. In 1928, he was named dean of the College of Commerce at the University of Columbia. He has also taught at the Institute of Pacific and Oriental Affairs in Honolulu, while on leave during the summer of 1932.

Dr. Grady was born in San Francisco in 1882, where he received his early schooling. In 1907, he earned a B.A. degree at St. Mary's University in Baltimore, and his Ph.D. at Columbia in 1927, after taking graduate work at Catholic University in Washington and the University of California. Brother Grady is married and has four grown children, one daughter and three sons.

NEW BUSINESS BOOKS

Compiled by KENNETH S. TISDELL, Alpha Chi

Reference Departments, St. Louis Public Library, St. Louis, Missouri

Human Relations in Industry

THE FOREMAN IN MANPOWER MANAGEMENT, by LILLIAN M. GILBRETH and ALICE R. COOK, published by McGraw-Hill Book Co., 211 pp., $2.50.

A good book on foreman training and employer relations with emphasis on the arts of communication as a means of achieving cooperation within individual departments and throughout the entire company. Discusses how foreman can utilize the best personnel procedures and potentialities of employees.

Insurance

HOW TO BUY INSURANCE, by PHILLIP GORDIS, published by Norton & Co., 370 pp., $4.

A complete and practical guide to buying insurance of all kinds, including health, life, personal property, accident, and service policies. The advantages and disadvantages of each type of insurance are contrasted. Tables and charts show how you can get the best insurance for your money and the names of companies that are particularly recommended are given.

THE METROPOLITAN LIFE, by MARQUIS JAMES, published by Viking Press, 488 pp., $5.

The history of the founding and growth of an insurance company that has become one of our largest business organizations. The financial and investment policies of the company are also discussed and examined.

Business Success

GUIDE TO CAREER SUCCESS, by ESTHER E. BROOKE, published by Harper & Bros., 245 pp., $3.

A practical guide for those trying to find the right vocation and the right position. Includes personality tests, job-finding suggestions, and advancement possibilities for the ambitious, experienced or inexperienced.

Factory Management

ACCIDENT PREVENTION ADMINISTRATION, by FREDERICK G. LIPPERT, published by McGraw-Hill Book Co., 169 pp., $2.25.

Well-outlined information on the methods of organizing and administering an accident prevention program in an industrial establishment. Includes collection and evaluation of data, management's function, and various operating techniques.

Advertising and Public Relations

ADVERTISING FOR PROFIT, by WILLIAM L. DOREMUS, published by Pitman Co., 143 pp., $2.

An advertising and publicity program for the small businessman, particularly the retailer, to meet competition, create good will, and sell his products and services. The book is thoroughly practical in helping to build up sales and increase profits. The author is assistant professor of marketing at New York University.

Surge of New Life Members Aid Future Development of Delta Sigma Pi

IN A LITTLE OVER A YEAR 347 brothers have become Life Members in Delta Sigma Pi, making a total of over 1,150 to date. As a result our National Endowment Fund, which derives its revenue from the sale of Life Memberships, has been increased to almost $50,000.00. Soon Alpha Epsilon Chapter, Minnesota, will be building their new house on the lot that they have purchased; Kappa Chapter, Georgia (Atlanta), will be proceeding with their expansion plans for the Deltasig Lodge; the new Zeta Chapter House Corporation, Northwestern, will be in the market for a chapter house; Xi Chapter, Michigan, Pi Chapter, Georgia (Athens), Alpha Lambda Chapter, North Carolina, and Delta Chapter, Marquette, have all instituted chapter house funds and will soon be considering the purchase of their own chapter house; and all of these chapters plus a few others will be looking to the National Endowment Fund for financial assistance. IT WILL BE THERE, as the thoughtfulness and loyalty of the following brothers and hundreds of others have made this Fund possible through their purchase of Life Memberships. The progress of Delta Sigma Pi will continue with greater speed because of them.

CHAPTERS

Ten Chapters Tie for First Place in 1947 Efficiency Contest

THE ALL-TIME RECORD of the Chapter Efficiency Contest was matched in 1947 when ten chapters turned in perfect scores and tied for first place. The chapters that finished with a final score of 100,000 points were Alpha, New York; Beta, Northwestern (Chicago); Kappa, Georgia (Atlanta); Xi, Michigan; Pi, Georgia (Athens); Alpha Beta, Missouri; Alpha Delta, Nebraska; Alpha Epsilon, Minnesota; Beta Kappa, Texas; and Beta Omicron, Rutgers. Several of these chapters have previously turned in perfect scores, but it was the first experience for Alpha at New York University and Xi at the University of Michigan. For Kappa Chapter at Georgia (Atlanta), this was the ninth Chapter Efficiency Contest in which they have collected 100,000 points. Alpha Beta at Missouri has had a winning record for the past seven contests while Beta Chapter at Northwestern in Chicago has come through with a perfect performance for the past six.

Congratulations to all of these chapters for the unusually fine performance in the first Chapter Efficiency Contest since the end of the war. Life Memberships have been purchased for the Head Masters of these ten chapters and presentations were made in Minneapolis at the Sixteenth Grand Chapter Congress.

All chapters have reason to be proud of their showing in the 1947 Chapter Efficiency Contest whether they were one of the ten winners or not. We do not mean that all of the scores were as high as they might have been, but they were good for this past year which was one of reactivation and reorganization for most chapters. In addition to the ten winners, special commendation should be given to Alpha Rho at Colorado, Alpha Iota at Drake, Alpha Eta at South Dakota, Alpha Gamma at Penn State, and Beta Epsilon at Oklahoma, all of whom were reactivated during the course of the school year well after the Chapter Efficiency Contest had started.

Life Memberships were issued to the Head Masters of the 10 chapters who tied for first place in the 1947 Chapter Efficiency Contest:

- GORDON F. WHITE, Alpha, New York
- DONALD J. BERGSTROM, Beta, Northwestern (Chicago)
- JAMES H. McNABB, Kappa, Georgia (Atlanta)
- FRED L. MEYER, Xi, Michigan
- ROBERT W. WILLIAMS, Pi, Georgia (Athens)
- JAMES T. CARTER, Alpha Beta, Missouri
- *HERMAN C. CHRISTENSEN, Jr., Alpha Delta, Nebraska
- *JOSEPH S. DELLERE, Alpha Delta, Nebraska
- *MYLES J. GENTZKOW, Alpha Epsilon, Minnesota
- *JOHN W. KENNEDY, Alpha Epsilon, Minnesota
- WILBUR W. DURFLINGER, Beta Kappa, Texas
- CHARLES E. McALOON, Beta Omicron, Newark

This is no idle gesture on the part of the fraternity. Funds are appropriated by the fraternity to purchase these Life Memberships from the National Endowment Fund. In cases where two Head Masters served the chapter during the year the Life Membership was divided between them, and each recipient remitted the balance due to the National Endowment Fund. These are marked with an asterisk (*).

For most chapter officers the Chapter Efficiency Contest was something new and lack of previous experience hindered their efficient planning in the first lap of the contest. Thus, many points were overlooked at the beginning of the school year, the majority of which they were never able to recover. Despite these factors, the chapter average was higher this year than it was in pre-war contests, and a solid foundation has been laid for the future.

The Chapter Efficiency Contest was established during the college year 1931-1932 and has definitely proven itself to be of real value in increasing chapter interest. It has also provided an adequate yardstick of measurement of chapter achievement. The Chapter Efficiency Contest is divided into five major divisions: Professional Activities, Scholarship, Membership, Finances, and Chapter Initiative and Administration. A maximum of 20,000 points is permitted in each division, thus a final standing of 100,000 points indicates a perfect record for the year's work. Points are awarded for many phases of chapter activity such as professional meetings, individual and chapter scholarship, pledge training course, chapter publicity, contributions to THE DELTASIC, the proper handling of finances, collection of dues, payment of bills, the initiation of an adequate number of members, attendance at business meetings, chapter publications, and the filing of important reports.

This next year is expected to produce many more winners and practically every chapter will at least make the Honor Roll. The discussion that took place at the Grand Chapter Congress in regard to the Chapter Efficiency Contest brought out many excellent ideas and "sure-fire" methods of scoring 100,000 points and the delegates returned to their chapters determined to make them winners.

Total Initiates for 1946-47 Sets All-time Fraternity Record

DURING THE COLLEGE YEAR 1946-1947, a total of 1,354 were initiated into Delta Sigma Pi, setting an all-time record. This figure is exceptionally impressive when it is compared with an average pre-war total of 700 initiates. The total membership of Delta Sigma Pi now exceeds 18,000 of which 1,150 are Life Members. It is difficult to forecast the number of initiates for this college year, but a fair estimate would be close to that of last year which would mean that it will not be very long before our fraternity exceeds the 20,000 mark. A list of last year's initiates by chapters follows:

Futures for Sale

■ If you are an undergraduate member of Delta Sigma Pi, you should be anticipating graduation from college and also your alumni status in your fraternity. Upon graduation you will become a member of one of our alumni clubs, provided you establish residence in a metropolitan area. Should your residence be removed from the locality of an alumni club, your alumni activity in Delta Sigma Pi may be seriously threatened. It is up to you to do something about this, or your active fraternity contact may be completely lost to you.

■ A simple solution to this impending problem is the purchase of a Life Membership, which will permanently provide for YOUR FUTURE with your fraternity. The DELTASIG, which is mailed to every Life Member, contains a continuous record of the progress of your chapter and your fraternity, and is a strong link between the alumni and the active chapters. The Alumni News also provides you with important data about fraternity activities which are being held continuously throughout the country. Life Members are also permanently entitled to all of the benefits of our Alumni Placing Service. A beautiful, engrossed Life Membership Certificate and an engraved membership card will be given to you and will substantiate the fact that you have provided for YOUR FUTURE in your fraternity, Delta Sigma Pi.

■ Your FRATERNITY'S FUTURE will also be assured by your purchase of a Life Membership, as all of the revenue from the sale of Life Memberships is placed in the National Endowment Fund. To date over 1,200 brothers have provided for THEIR FUTURE and the FRATERNITY'S FUTURE by their purchase of a Life Membership. Their thoughtfulness created our National Endowment Fund, which some day will be large enough to guarantee your FRATERNITY'S FUTURE against any and all contingencies.

■ Don't wait until you have graduated to become a Life Member. Start today so that you will have your Life Membership by that time. You may send $35.00, which is the total cost of a Life Membership, or $5.00 as the first payment, to be followed by individual monthly payments of $5.00 each, until the $35.00 has been paid. There is a two-fold reason why you should do this today, the second being that the cost of a Life Membership will be increased to $50.00 on January 1, 1948. Send your check to The Central Office of Delta Sigma Pi, 222 W. Adams Street, Chicago 6, Illinois.
