THE INTERNATIONAL FRATERNITY OF

DELTA SIGMA PI

Professional Commerce and Business Administration Fraternity

Delta Sigma Pi was founded at New York University, School of Commerce, Accounts and Finance, on November 7, 1907, by Alexander F. Makay, Alfred Moysello, Harold V. Jacobs and H. Albert Tienken. Delta Sigma Pi is a professional fraternity organized to foster the study of business in universities; to encourage scholarship, social activity and the association of students for their mutual advancement by research and practice; to promote closer affiliation between the commercial world and students of commerce; and to further a high standard of commercial ethics and culture, and the civic and commercial welfare of the community.

The second campus to be presented in full color on the cover of The DELTASIG is that of the University of California at Berkeley, California. The four-block area which was selected to constitute the campus of the "College of California" in 1855 has grown into the world's largest university. The 600-acre Berkeley campus which is pictured here is the oldest of the eight campuses which now ccmprise the University of California. The most prominent point on this campus is the 307 foot Campanile tower and on a clear day it can be seen in San Francisco across the bay. Some of the other outstanding structures on this campus are the Doe Memorial Library, with over a million and half volumes on its shelves; the Memorial Stadium, home of the California Golden Bears, which seats 80,000 persons: and the world's greatest cyclotron, where much of the research which led to the atom bomb was done.

In all, there are some forty permanent buildings on the Berkeley campus and the total registration of students exceeds 23,000. Other campuses which are a part of the University of California are the Medical Center, the California School of Fine Arts, and the Hastings College of Law, all in San Francisco; the University of California at Los Angeles; the Scripps Institution of Oceanography at LaJolla; the Lick Observatory at Mount Hamilton; the Citrus Experiment Station at Riverside; and the Santa Barbara College at Santa Barbara.

The School of Business Administration was established in 1898 and was the second such school to be founded in the country. In the 1949-50 academic year there were 1,566 students enrolled there. Rho Chapter of Delta Sigma Pi was installed there in 1922 and the members and alumni thereof have been very prominent in the business world and in the development of this school.

This Kodachrome print, which is the second of a series that will be published on the cover of The DELTASIG, was furnished by the Union Pacific Railroad to whom we are greatly indebted.

WALTER C. SEHM, Minnesota Grand President of Delta Sigma Pi

A FRATERNITY is not a literary society, nor a debating society, nor a luncheon club, nor a rooming house co-operative, nor a political organization, nor a lodge. It may have elements in common with all of those types of organization but if it is worth being called a fraternity it is much more than any of them. Men do not join it with the expectation of spending some of their time together in the furtherance of some particular objective; they join with the idea of living together, eating together, sleeping together, studying together, playing together, and spending much of their school years together.

Delta Sigma Pi is all of that, and yet more. It is a professional fraternity as well. One of its purposes is to instill in its members the credo of professional ethics. One of its primary aims is to teach its members to practice and believe in the Code of the Gentleman, because that is the foundation for any code of business ethics. All professions have codes of ethics, and business more and more is accepting and operating on such professional codes. If we are to be consistent we must apply the code of the Gentleman to all of our activities, including the activity of interesting and initiating new members.

Every organization, be it fraternal or commercial, is faced with the elemental problem of replacing those who leave, by new members; and the problem is particularly acute for a fraternity since the term of membership is at best short and the turn-over of members is rapid. It is interesting to observe the methods by which various fraternities on different campuses solve that problem. Many of them, I observe with extreme regret, are in open, bald-faced competition and use means of attracting notice more comparable to the advertising tactics of the commercial enterprise than to conduct conforming to any code of professional ethics with which I am familiar. A commercial enterprise shouts the virtues of its wares into the ears of prospective customers by any means that it can, many of them blatant and strident. It may be observed that the more shoddy the merchandise proffered the more brazen the shouting becomes. Purveyors of quality merchandise, catering to more discriminating customers, exhibit great restraint in their representations.

Whatever else it may be, a fraternity is not a business enterprise. It must, of course, pay attention to its economics. Common sense dictates that it must compute the number of new members which must be initiated in any school year, and the number of dollars of contribution each member must make in a given period of time, if it is to survive physically and financially. These figures are properly set up and sometimes referred to for convenience of nomenclature as quotas. In that sense they are far different things than the merchant has in mind when he talks about "sales quotas." The latter are calculated on the basis of anticipated profit; the former on the basis of survival need. Professional fraternities, like professions, do not have sales quotas. They have nothing to "sell." They are of value to their individual members, and render service to the schools in which they exist, and to the communities in which their alumni members live. These values and services vary directly with the abilities and public-spiritedness of those who belong. The rewards are incidental to the rendering of service.

How can able men who are willing to contribute of their energies and abilities be attracted to our chapters? To attempt to attract by any form of public or open invitation is fatal to the very purpose of the fraternity, and certainly a prostitution of the ideals which it exemplifies. To broadcast, for example, literature extolling the virtues of a chapter, and the advantages of belonging, is akin to one who professes to be a gentleman calling attention to his wealth, his physical superiorities, or his integrity. A gentleman is not a gentleman if he does those things. A fraternity which does certainly indicates that it has subordinated its ideals to its need for survival membership. The goal is not quantitative membership. That may ease the burdens of the Treasurer, and may have political value, but the real purpose is to integrate individuals whose contribution of fellowship and constructive leadership will benefit contemporary members and enhance the value of the group to the community in which it exists.

In seeking such men there is no substitute for the personal approach, individual to individual. Rushing parties serve their purpose in promoting acquaintanceship between the chapter members and those who might later be considered for membership, but there certainly should be no suggestion at such a party that any invitation to membership will be or may be extended to any of those present. Everyone knows what the party is for, but it is one of those things that remain unsaid. The invitation itself should never be extended at any other time and place than a conference between one or two of the members or officers of the chapter, and the prospective candidate alone. At that time and under those circumstances it is, of course, proper and necessary that all of the advantages and disadvantages of membership be discussed fully with the prospect.

Adherence to such a code admittedly makes the duties of the officers difficult and time-consuming. But if the burden be too heavy let us reexamine our claims to professional standing, and remember that professional recognition comes not to those who seek it, but only to those who merit it.

Delta Sigma Pi Chapter Roll Reaches Seventy-Five With New Installations

HE INSTALLATION of five fine new chapters since the opening of college this fall brings the active chapter roll of Delta Sigma Pi to a grand total of seventy-five. Gamma Omicron Chapter at the University of San Francisco, which was installed on September 16, was the first of these installations, Gamma Pi Chapter at Loyola University, in Chicago, followed on September 30, Gamma Rho Chapter at the University of Detroit was installed on October 7, Gamma Sigma Chapter at the University of Maryland on November 18, and Gamma Tau Chapter at Mississippi Southern College concluded the installations on December 9. It is significant to note the wide geographic distribution of these new chapters and the increasing strength of Delta Sigma Pi in the West.

The installation of Gamma Omicron Chapter at the University of San Francisco now gives us four active chapters in the state of California, the others being Rho Chapter at the University of California in Berkeley, Phi Chapter at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles, and Gamma Xi Chapter at the University of Santa Clara in Santa Clara.

The installation of Gamma Tau Chapter at Mississippi Southern College, on the other hand, gives Delta Sigma Pi three chapters in the state of Mississippi. The other two are Alpha Phi Chapter at the University of Mississippi in Oxford and Gamma Delta Chapter at Mississippi State College at State College.

The details of the installation of Gamma Omicron Chapter at the University of San Francisco were reported to you in the November issue of The DELTASIG, and the installation of Gamma Sigma at the University of Maryland and Gamma Tau Chapter at Mississippi Southern College will be featured in the March issue.

Installation of Gamma Pi Chapter at Loyola University in Chicago

OVER 150 MEMBERS AND ALUMNI of Delta Sigma Pi were in attendance at the installation of Gamma Pi Chapter at Loyola University on Saturday, September 30. Registration began promptly at noon on the mezzanine of the St. Clair Hotel in Chicago. The ritualistic initiation followed the registration of all guests and consumed the major portion of the afternoon. Grand President Walter C. Sehm of St. Paul, Minnesota, served as the installing officer, with Grand Secretary-Treasurer H. G. Wright, Assistant Grand Secretary-Treasurer J. D. Thomson, and Grand Council Member Robert G. Busse, of Kalamazoo, to assist him.

The ritual team was composed of: Grand President Sehm, Minnesota; Arthur C. Borman, Robert O. Lewis, Robert R. McWilliams, Clarence T. Nagel, Arthur D. Sangdahl, and Rudolph H. Weber, all of Northwestern; and Raymond C. Sodini of De Paul. Following the initiation was a Fellowship Hour in the Manor Room of the St. Clair Hotel, which permitted the many alumni to become better acquainted with the new members from Loyola. In the evening the installation banquet, which was also held at the St. Clair Hotel, was formally opened by an invocation given by the Reverend Paul A. Woelfl, spiritual advisor of Gamma Pi Chapter. Grand Secretary-Treasurer Wright served as toastmaster and Dean J. Raymond Sheriff, of the Loyola College of Commerce, brought forth many bursts of laughter from the audience with his poetry before giving a very serious talk on the history of his college. Robert Fichtner, the scribe of Gamma Pi Chapter, ably depicted the founding of his fraternity on the Loyola campus. As usual, the climax of the evening was attained when Grand President Sehm presented the charter to Gamma Pi Chapter and followed this presentation with a very inspiring address. In behalf of Gamma Pi Chapter, the charter was accepted by Edmund G. Lawler, the head master, with appropriate remarks.

Grand Secretary-Treasurer Wright concluded the program by calling upon the various delegates and distinguished guests in attendance for a few words. Among these were Dean Frederick W. Mueller of De Paul, Acting Dean E. Coulter Davies of Northwestern, and Director Myron Umbreit of Northwestern, all members of Delta Sigma Pi.

History of Loyola University

The ground was broken for the school in 1869, and on June 30, 1870, the state of Illinois granted a charter to St. Ignatius College. The doors opened on September 5 of the same year to some 30 students. During that same year the student body rose in number to LEWIS TOWERS, in which the College of Commerce of Loyola University, Chicago, is located. Gamma Pi Chapter was recently installed in the college.

Those first few years the attendance of the college increased steadily. In the meantime, Father Coosemans had succeeded the busy Father Damen as president. During his administration the Sodality of Our Lady, the oldest of college activities, was founded in the college. The college was conducted on the lines of any Jesuit college. The earliest faculty contained professors of English, Latin, Greek, German and arithmetic. It was almost ten years after the foundation of the college that the course was lengthened to seven years, and the degree of Bachelor of Science introduced. As the institution grew in number and prestige, the faculty was increased, and the activities widened their scope. And the numbers and prestige did increase; at one commencement in the '80's, an archbishop, two bishops, 37 members of the clergy and the mayor of the city were present on the stage. The members of the city council promised to attend another in a body. By 1887, the students numbered over 300, and the faculty 19. In the next year, the north side collegiate school, which was the first extension of the college, was opened.

Thus St. Ignatius College grew, with setbacks and difficulties, of course, but with constantly increasing importance in the Catholic life of the city. In the next decade or so the college reached the apex of its glory under Father Henry Dumbach. As for the general fame of the college and its activities, we read in the record: "The reputation of the college was now firmly established; when it presented its students to the public in any kind of entertainment, no hall was large enough to accommodate the throngs who came to hear them, and so intense was the activity of the students in a dozen directions, so constant and stimulating the encouragement given by the faculty, that scarcely a month passed without some event testifying eloquently to the fact that St. Ignatius College was in every way well abreast of the times."

But the event of Father Dumbach's term was the purchase of the 22 acre site on the north side in 1906. Building was postponed, but with the purchase began the reorientation of St. Ignatius College, and the founding of Loyola University. As the title of founder of the college belongs to Father Damen, so is there justice in assigning the title of founder of the university to Father Burrowes, who assumed office in February, 1908. In the first year of his presidency, the Lincoln School of Law became the Law School of St. Ignatius College. However, it was obvious that professional schools in connection with a college was anomaly; therefore, on November 21, 1909, Loyola University was chartered.

The newly chartered university grew rapidly. In addition to the affiliation of professional schools, Loyola University was building and founding its own schools. In 1909, the first edifice on the new lake shore campus was erected, Dumbach Hall, which now houses Loyola Academy. In 1912, the generosity of Michael Cudahy made possible the science hall which now bears his name. In 1914, the School of Sociology was founded, the first Catholic school of its kind in the nation; its foundation was the work of Father Siedenburg, whose name was so long associated with it. With the coming of the Reverend William H. Agnew, S.J., to the presidency, the university began to arrive at full stature. The completion of the administration building made it possible to transfer the arts college to the north side. In 1922, the School of Commerce was created. In 1923, the Chicago College of Dental Surgery, the oldest in the city, was affiliated, becoming today's Dental School of Loyola University. Two years later, the first of a number of nursing schools, St. Bernard's, was connected with the university. Meanwhile a Home Study Department had been established, the School of Law had added a day course of three years, and the other schools had continued in their progress. Four years later the School of Law, the School of Commerce, the downtown division of the College of Arts and Sciences, and the Graduate School were moved to 28 North Franklin Street.

In 1927, Reverend Robert M. Kelley succeeded Father Agnew. In his six year term much of interest and importance was affected. The use of the first nine floors of Lewis Towers by Loyola University is due to the 1945 Christmas gift of Mr. Frank J. Lewis. Mr. Lewis, trustee of the Catholic Charities of Chicago, is noted for his philanthropic work in the city. The Colleges of Commerce, Law, Arts and the Graduate School have since been well settled in their new quarters. Thus the years have seen the creation of Loyola University. Slowly the university and its components have built up habits of leadership in their various fields.

College of Commerce

The College of Commerce of Loyola University was founded in the fall of 1924 under the regency of the Reverend William H. Agnew, S.J., who was then president of the university. In the first class to enter the school, there were 85 students enrolled, of whom 15 were coeds; the active faculty numbered seven, courses were offered in accounting, business law, economics and English. In February with the matriculation of new students, other courses in accounting, economic history and European history were offered. Within the past few years education specifically for a business career has definitely proved its value. Formerly, it was believed that the best training for a business executive was the regular college course followed by a long period of apprenticeship in the given industry or company. Today, because of the size and complexity of business units, qualified individuals find it difficult to learn the principles of business from first-hand experience. To provide this preliminary help we have the Loyola University College of Commerce.

Proof that the school recognizes the need for practical training in the field of business can be found upon examination of the faculty. The principles of business are taught by full-time instructors while the more important or specialized courses are taught by men who are actively engaged in those particular fields of business endeavor. The accounting department has built for itself, by means of the work of its professors and students, an enviable record. For the past few years over threefourths of the successful candidates in the Illinois Certified Public Accountant examination have been Loyola-trained men. The especial success of this department is due in great measure to the past dean of the commerce school, Henry T. Chamberlain. It is he who had the vision of Loyola's accounting department as one of the best in the middle west; it is he who saw to it that the vision came true.

The school offers the academic degree of Bachelor of Science in Commerce in cooperation with the University College. This degree is conferred upon those who earned recognition not only as men trained in commerce but also as those with a broad cultural background, as truly educated men. The diploma in commerce is granted to those students who have graduated from high school and who, desiring to do university work in their chosen field of business, complete the requisite number of courses. Students who complete the courses required for a diploma, but have not the entrance requirements, may receive the certificate in commerce. In addition, provision is made for those students who desire special training, especially those who are intending to prepare for the Certified Public Accountant examination.

The College of Commerce is now located in Lewis Towers, a skyscraper building at 820 North Michigan Avenue. The Towers contain classrooms, laboratories, a chapel, a student lounge, the student health offices, and many other service offices for students. The library of the College of Commerce is on the seventh floor of the Towers. By arrangement, the library facilities of the Loyola University Law School at Lewis Towers, the economics collection of the Crerar Library, the research collections of the Newberry Library, and the large business library of the Chicago Public Library are readily accessible to students of the College of Commerce. Athletic facilities are available at the Chicago Armory, east of Lewis Towers.

Loyola Petitioning Group

It is small wonder that the students of Loyola University responded in an enthusiastic manner when they were told about the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi. Not only does Delta Sigma Pi extend the common bond of fellowship but gives its members an appreciation, knowledge and practical outlook on professional life. Howard Wilson, an alumnus of the fraternity's Beta Chapter at Northwestern University and professor of economics at Loyola University, gave the petitioning group its first insight into our fraternity. A group of 77 members was carefully selected, and two weeks later at a special meeting Assistant Grand Secretary-Treasurer James D. Thomson, of Delta Sigma Pi spoke to the group about the possibility of its petitioning Delta Sigma Pi for a chapter. Dean J. Raymond Sheriff of the College of Commerce, and Dr. Peter Swanish, chairman of the college's management department, also speaking at the meeting, heartily approved and upheld the establishment of a professional commerce fraternity at Loyola as a vital part of college life and training.

The history of Loyola's petitioning group is the story of an organization, but it is also the story of the individuals who make up that group. This group includes men like Howard

Wilson, the driving force behind the petitioners; Tony Raynor, Bob Byrd and Bill Mulhaney who have done much of the groundwork; Jim Curran, who handles the finances; and numerous others. The actual birthday of the group, oddly enough, is April 1, 1950, April Fool's Day, when the 77 chosen members met in the upper regions of Old Cathay Restaurant, ironed out the wrinkles, and gave a definite shape to their organization. The committees were formed and methods of operation decided upon.

Shortly after, the men who were to serve as the group's officers were elected. The executive board had to have a powerful guiding hand as theirs was a big job. Five men were elected to the executive posts: Edward Lawler as head master; Anthony Raynor as senior warden; William Mulhaney as junior warden; Robert Fichtner as secretary; and James Curran as treasurer. Four other men were appointed to complete the list of officers: John Collins, senior guide; Philip Burke, junior guide; Francis Viola, historian; and Richard Keefe, correspondent. This was the governing board which was to serve until the group obtained its chapter.

Meetings followed and plans were made. The committees worked out ideas for their various activities. The publicity committee handled the campaigns for nominees of the group running for class office, and four of nine offices were taken by their candidates. The executive committee met to decide policy. The A VIEW OF MANY OF THE MEMBERS of various Chicago chapters present for the Gamma Pi Chapter installation festivities which were held at the St. Clair Hotel. group acted as co-sponsors of an Economic's Society dance. The men in charge of writing the Petition worked feverishly to meet their deadlines. The arrangements committee found eating places for the committees to meet every Friday and also arranged the spiritual activities for the group.

The first professional activity undertaken by the group was a trip to the Motorola Radio Company on April 20. The really big event, however, was the weekend on which 20 members journeyed to Detroit and, from May 11 to May 14, toured the Ford Motor Company, Greenfield Village, and saw the sights of the "Motor City." Gamma Kappa Chapter of Delta Sigma Pi at Michigan State University, Theta Chapter at the University of Detroit, and Xi Chapter at the University of Michigan, entertained the travelers royally in their chapter houses. On May 18, the group was conducted on a tour through the General Outdoor Advertising Company plant in Chicago. This was one of the most interesting and, also, the last of the professional tours on the group's agenda for the season.

All along the line the men responded and watched the organization grow. Above all the spirit of good fellowship prevailed, helping to mold lasting friendships that would benefit not only the men themselves, but their school as well.

The faculty members are: Henry T. Chamberlain, William H. Conley, Kenneth B. Haas, William W. Meyer, Theodosi A. Mogilnitsky, Norbert J. Hruby, J. Raymond Sheriff, Peter T. Swanish, Paul A. Woelfl, S.J., John A. Zvetina.

Installation of Gamma Rho Chapter at the University of Detroit

GAMMA RHO CHAPTER of Delta Sigma Pi was installed at the Evening College of Commerce and Finance of the University of Detroit on Saturday, October 7. The ceremonies took place at the Hotel Sheraton in Detroit.

For 27 years our Theta Chapter at the University of Detroit drew its membership from both the day and evening divisions, but for the last two years the physical separation of the two campuses made it very impractical for Theta Chapter to continue this practice and, as a result, their chapter has been composed entirely of students in the day division. The desire on the part of the evening division students to have a professional fraternity did not wane with this action and it was not long before a group of students organized a local fraternity and began seeking national affiliation. At first, the Grand Council of Delta Sigma Pi was reluctant to grant a second chapter at the University of Detroit, but Delta Iota, the local fraternity, and Theta Chapter soon convinced them of its desirability.

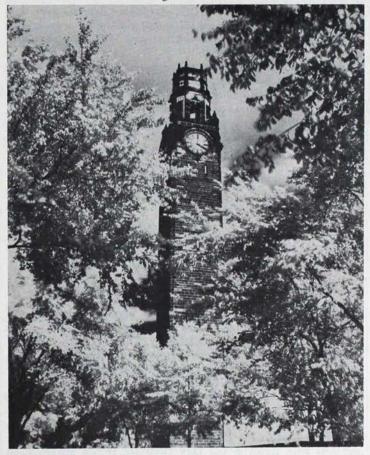

Grand President Sehm, of St. Paul, was the installing officer and he officially opened the ritualistic ceremonies, which began at one-thirty in the Victory Room of the Hotel Sheraton, followed by the installation banquet, which took place in the Wardell Room of this same hotel.

Brother William B. O'Regan, dean of the Evening College of Commerce and Finance, and a charter member of Theta Chapter, served as toastmaster, and a welcome was also extended by past Grand Council Member J. Elwood Armstrong, Johns Hopkins. "Evening College Education in the Business World" was the topic of Reverend Henry Wirtenberger, regent of the Evening College of Commerce and Finance at Detroit. Gilbert W. DePonio told of the founding of Delta Iota Fraternity, while Grand Secretary-Treasurer H. G. Wright forecasted the future of Delta Sigma Pi. Grand President Sehm then presented the charter to Gamma Rho Chapter with his usual inspiring talk. Head Master Patrick F. Burns accepted the charter on behalf of Gamma Rho Chapter.

The ritual team consisted of Grand President Sehm, Minnesota; Grand Secretary-Treasurer Wright, Northwestern; J. Elwood Armstrong, Johns Hopkins; Joseph J. Bauser, Jr., Detroit; Eugene R. Cadieux, Detroit; Robert Carty, Wayne; Thomas J. LeMont, Detroit; Paul J. Pickner, Detroit; and Harold F. Reinecke, Detroit.

History of the Detroit University

The University of Detroit began its educational work in 1877 and was incorporated April 27, 1881, according to the laws of the State of Michigan under the title of "Detroit College," with power to grant such literary honors and confer such degrees as are usually conferred by similar colleges and institutions of learning in the United States. A new organization was effected in 1911 and incorporated under the title of the "University of Detroit." Since that time the different departments of university education were added in rapid succession—the College of Engineering before the close of the same year; the School of Law the following year, 1912. The Evening College of Commerce and Finance was begun in 1916; the Day College of Commerce and Finance was opened in 1922. Graduate degrees were conferred for the first time in 1885, but the fuller organization of graduate studies was not effected until 1927. The School of Dentistry was established in 1932. The Evening Divisions of Arts and Sciences and Engineering were inaugurated in 1938. Departments of Education, Journalism, Social Science, Foreign Trade, etc., while never developed to the status of full-fledged units, were added at various periods to the existing faculties, and function at present under their administration. In January, 1945, an affiliation was effected with the Detroit Institute of Musical Art, looking toward the more efficient use of the facilities of the University and of the Institute to provide better cultural advantages for the Detroit area.

The new campus of the University embraces a tract of seventy acres on McNichols Road at Livernois in a selected residential section. Since 1927 the General Administration, the Graduate Division, the Colleges of Arts and Sciences, Day Commerce and Finance, Engineering, and the Summer Sessions, have been conducted on this campus.

The Evening College of Commerce and Finance

This division of the University was organized primarily to meet the demand for specialized training in the fields of accounting and business administration. The success of an individual in this field is proportionate to his ability to deal with the problems of business management on his own initiative. The specific study and training given in classes of college standard, taught by competent instructors, are well adapted to develop this ability. Since the College of Commerce and Finance constitutes an integrated unit of the University, courses and instruction in the Evening Division are for the most part identical with those in the Day Division. It has always been customary, however, in the Evening Division to have highly specialized courses taught by men who are actively engaged in particular fields of business. Thus there is a studied effort to strike a necessary balance between theory and practice, in order that the business education be broad and comprehensive.

Among the firms with which members of the faculty are actively connected are the Chrysler, Ford and General Motors Corporations, Heber-Fuger-Wendin, Inc., J. L. Hudson Company, McManus-O'Regan Advertising Agency, Rutten, Welling and Company and Walker Outdoor Advertising. Government agencies whose officers or employees are represented on the faculty include the City of Detroit and the Detroit Public Schools. For a number of years the Evening College of Commerce and Finance has offered courses in the field of industrial relations. This program has broadened; and now the courses are grouped under a Department of Industrial Relations in order to provide more adequate training for those interested in this field.

The Evening College provides four-year and six-year programs leading to a certificate and a bachelor's degree respectively. It also offers special courses for mature students seeking cultural or practical benefits from college training.

The Evening College of Commerce and Finance is located on the downtown campus of the University, in Dowling Hall at 651 E. Jefferson Avenue in the heart of Detroit, Michigan. Because the College of Commerce and Finance is a part of a Jesuit University, it recognizes the necessity of those cultural subjects which render articulate the higher powers of the mind and which spell the difference between an educated man and a mere technician. It endeavors, therefore, not only to train students adequately for the field of business, but also to equip them spiritually and intellectually.

Delta Sigma Pi Twelfth Biennial Survey of Universities Offering an Organized Curriculum In Commerce and Business Administration

By H. G. Wright, Grand Secretary-Treasurer

(See pages 52 and 53 for complete statistical chart)

HE Twelfth Biennial Survey of Universities Offering an Organized Curriculum in Commerce and Business Administration is presented herewith. This Survey was originally started in the early '20s and has been compiled biennially since then except during World War II.

The 1950 Survey is the most comprehensive we have ever published, containing a total of 166 reporting universities and colleges (159 undergraduate schools and 7 graduate schools in 44 states, Alaska, the District of Columbia, Hawaii and two Canadian provinces) as against 144 reporting universities and colleges two years ago. Only those universities and colleges accredited by their respective regional Association, such as North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, Middle States, etc., have been included in our Survey. Likewise, a special effort has been made to confine this Survey to actual schools, colleges, divisions or departments of commerce and business administration, and we have not knowingly included reports from departments of economics. Of the many universities and colleges invited to participate in this Survey, only about a half-dozen could not be included because of their inability to report the basic data required.

The 1950 figures reported indicate the substantial growth in commerce and business administration since World War II has reached its peak and is now leveling off on a plateau that represents a total registration more than twice the size it was ten years ago. In 1940 a total registration of 114,129 students in commerce and business administration was reported by 119 ing one year of undergraduate work for admission, as follows: universities. In 1950 the registration reported by 159 universities totaled 260,215, plus 7 graduate schools with 7,495 students, which brought the grand total to 267,710 undergradu-ate and graduate students. Undoubtedly the Current War situation and plans for mobilization will make drastic reductions in registration within the coming year.

Of the 159 undergraduate schools, 77 are state operated, 75 are privately operated and 7 are municipally operated. In addition to the 159 day divisions, there are also 53 evening divisions. Of the 159 universities and colleges reporting undergraduate figures, 123 have traditionally four-year schools, 32 universities have two-year schools, 4 have three-year schools, 4 have five-year schools and 3 have six-year schools. The universities having five or six-year schools offer either cooperative courses, or are evening divisions, where because of parttime registration it takes more than four years to receive the necessary credits for graduation.

The following universities and colleges have traditional four-year schools:

Adelphi Alabama Poly Alabama, Univ. of Alaska Alfred Arizona Arizona State Arkansas Arkansas A & M Baldwin-Wallace Baylor Boston College Boston Univ. Four universities and colleges operate five-year schools (Cincinnati, Fenn, Fordham and Northeastern) and these courses are primarily cooperative, or evening divisions. Three universities and colleges have a six-year curriculum (Detroit, Northeastern and Rutgers), all evening divisions.

The following universities and colleges report evening divisions with many reaching substantial proportions in registration:

Akron	Johns Hopkins	Rutgers
Boston Univ.	Lovola (Chicago)	St. Johns
Bradley	Lovola (Los Angeles)
Bridgeport	Marquette	St. Peters
Buffalo	McGill	San Francisco State

There are seven graduate schools of business administration now, an increase of two since 1948 (Columbia and Cornell) with six operating full-time day divisions, and the New York University Graduate School of Business Administration operating as an evening division.

In 1919-1920, the first year of our Survey, 36,127 students were registered in 51 reporting universities and colleges, including 13 evening divisions. These students were divided almost evenly, 52.8% in the evening divisions against 47.2% for the day divisions. In the succeeding years the registration in the day divisions has advanced at a more rapid rate than the evening divisions until in 1950 the undergraduate registration for 159 universities and colleges was 174,246 for the day divisions or 67.0%, and 85,969 in the evening divisions, or 33.0%, a ratio of approximately 2 to 1 in favor of the day divisions.

Five universities have two separate and distinct branches. The University of California has two different Schools of Business Administration, one at Berkeley and one at Los Angeles, over 400 miles away. The University of Georgia has two separate schools, one at Athens and one at Atlanta, Georgia, about 70 miles apart. Northwestern University has its downtown division in Chicago and its Evanston Division in Evanston, Illinois, 13 miles away. Rutgers University absorbed the University of Newark several years ago and has since maintained two separate and distinct schools; one, the School of Business Administration formerly operated by the University of Newark, the other being University College which has been operated by Rutgers for many years. New York University has its School of Commerce, Accounts and Finance, an undergraduate division, and also an entirely separate Graduate School of Business Administration.

Worthy of special comment is the definite trend toward more graduate work in recent years in the field of commerce and business administration. In the college year 1949-1950, 7,882 men and 595 women were working toward a graduate degree in business administration in the 159 universities and colleges, which, plus the 7,385 men and 110 women enrolled in the seven graduate schools of business administration, gives a total figure of 15,972 persons pursuing graduate work in this field, a significant increase over earlier years.

We wish to acknowledge with sincere appreciation the splendid cooperation received from the officers and member universities belonging to the American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business in the compilation of this Survey. Their members are indicated with asterisks (*) in our report. We also want to thank the many deans and other university administrative officials who aided in making this Survey possible and so complete.

Additional copies of both the Survey and the accompanying chart will be gladly provided upon request to The Central Office of Delta Sigma Pi, 222 West Adams Street, Chicago 6, Illinois.

going to evening school should have a good professional fraternity. Dean O'Regan was in agreement and suggested they investigate the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi to see if they could eventually qualify for a chapter. An informal meeting was soon arranged by Dean O'Regan; the five undergraduates met with H. G. Wright, Grand Secretary-Treasurer of Delta Sigma Pi; J. Elwood Armstrong; Past Grand President, Rudolph C. Schmidt; John F. Collins, alumni member of Delta Sigma Pi; Paul Pickner and Fred Thomas, members of Theta Chapter, University of Detroit. At this meeting the five undergraduates learned what they have to do to organize a local fraternity and what steps would be necessary to obtain a chapter of Delta Sigma Pi. These steps were: 1. obtain permission from school authorities to organize a fraternity, 2. set up an organization and hold business and professional meetings, 3. obtain permission from Theta Chapter, 4. petition Delta Sigma Pi for a chapter.

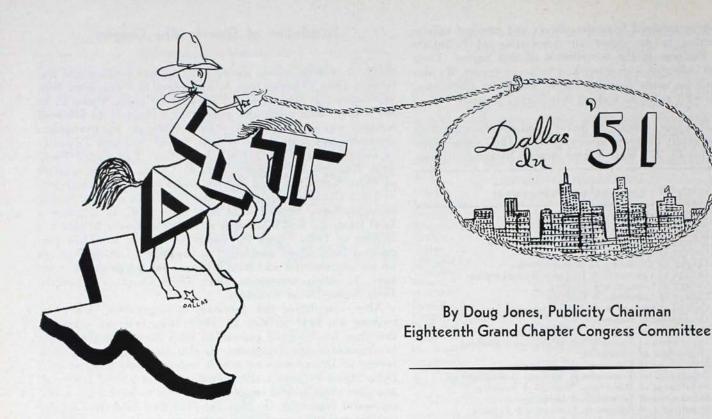

After completing the necessary arrangements, their first meeting was held on May 24, 1949. Dean O'Regan explained that they had received permission from the school authorities to organize a new fraternity. Brother George Rakovan, University of Detroit evening school instructor and a member of Delta Sigma Pi, gave a talk on the merits of a good fraternity and gave them several suggestions on how to have a good and successful fraternity. On May 31, 1949 they held their second meeting and the name Delta Iota was approved.

Organization continued through the summer, and several meetings were held and on August 28, 1949 the fraternity held a picnic at Island Lake. On September 14, 1949 they held their fourth meeting and Robert F. Brang, University of Detroit evening school instructor, gave a brief talk on parliamentary law. After Mr. Brang's talk the chairman of the Constitution and By-Laws Committee read the Constitution and it was accepted by a unanimous vote of all members. On November 18, 1949 they held their first Professional Meeting at the Hotel Fort Wayne in the Cass Room. Their first speaker was Dean O'Regan, dean of the College of Commerce and Finance, Evening Division, University of Detroit, who gave a very interesting talk on the Business of Advertising and the Business of Life.

On February 24, 1950 they held their second professional meeting at the Detroit Leland Hotel. Their speaker was E. C. Harris, now First Vice President of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago. Mr. Harris gave a very interesting talk about the central banking system and how it affects the individual. On February 9, 1950 official notice was received that Theta Chapter had given its permission for another chapter of Delta Sigma Pi at the University of Detroit. On March 27, 1950 they commenced step number four, the formal petition to Delta Sigma Pi for a chapter.

The first officers of Gamma Rho Chapter are: Head Master, Patrick F. Burns; Senior Warden, Darl F. Falk; Scribe, Robert F. Trapp; Treasurer, Donald A. Christiansen; Master of Ceremonies, Gilbert W. DePonio.

Those undergraduate members initiated on October 7, 1950, were: Richard Bannasch, Richard C. Betson, Patrick F. Burns, Donald A. Christiansen, Gilbert W. DePonio, Lawrence R. Duggan, Darl V. Falk, Daniel R. Foley, Jr., Ted J. Goleniak, Jerry P. Harrington, John L. Harrington, Jr., Charles S. Ilg, Herman E. Joepel, Fred C. Krey, Charles J. Kulifay, Erwin W. Link, Jay F. Marts, Kenneth D. TOMORROW IS SOONER THAN YOU THINK! NOW is the time to make your plans to come to Dallas, Texas next September for the Eighteenth Grand Chapter Congress of Delta Sigma Pi. THE DATES: September 9, 10, 11, and 12, 1951 (Sunday through Wednesday). THE PLACE: Air-conditioned Hotel Adolphus in DALLAS.

Let's Talk Texas

In order to keep up with current events over the nation a fellow soon comes to talk TAXES . . . but in order to keep up with coming events in 1951 let's talk TEXAS. TAXES, you can't do anything about . . . TEXAS, you can! You can be in TEXAS for the Eighteenth Grand Chapter Congress at Dallas in September 1951. From now on every time TAXES enters a Deltasig's mind, just forget TAXES and think of TEXAS instead . . . then Delta Sigma Pi will have the best attended Grand Chapter Congress in this history of the Fraternity!

A great deal was said in the November issue of The DELTASIG about Dallas in '51 and Texas but that was only the beginning there's plenty more to be said (and will be for sure). You readers now on foreign soil expect a Texan to do lots of talking, so here goes!

As a starter, the Texans in Dallas are talking loud and planning heavily for a Grand Chapter Congress for everyone—the brothers, young and old—and their ladies. And shooting straight from a Texan's shoulder, Eighteenth Grand Chapter Congress participants will be accorded a time in Texas tradition that will be long remembered. In addition to the men's side, complete coinciding activities are in the plans for the ladies. A Deltasig Ladies

KENNETH B. WHITE, Boston,

General Chairman

In addition to the professional meetings designed for undergraduate groups there will be special features of the professional program of particular interest to our alumni members. Yet with all the attention being devoted by the Committee to the professional side of the picture, we are not overlooking the important events that make our Grand Chapter Congresses so outstanding—good Texan food and Texan entertainment!

Let's Brag On Our Committee Chairmen

I would like to take this opportunity to introduce some of the personnel of the Grand Chapter Congress Committee and then, by means of mentioning some of the work of the sub-committees, acquaint you with the highlights of the over-all picture of the events in store for you. Since I am the Committee member doing the present bragging, let me introduce myself first: I am Doug Jones (Texas) (another Texan first) and am the boy who, along with Vice Chairman Tony Luttrell (Texas) and my wife Sally, is charged with the job of keeping you informed from now on and all during the Congress. Frankly the work is right down my alley—you see, I'm in the advertising business.

Most of the old-timers, and many of the new brothers, already know our General Chairman Ken White (Boston), a past Grand President of our Fraternity who hopes to climax his twenty-five years of service to Delta Sigma Pi with a successful Grand Chapter Congress—Texas style. For Ken we must make it the success he expects. Ken, with the able assistance of Bill Merrick (Baylor) and Pete Hayden (Missouri), was responsible for talking "Dallas in '51" and Texas all during the Grand Chapter Congress at Baltimore and for selling a bill of goods to the Grand Council (of which Bill is the Southwestern Regional Member) to hold the Congress in Dallas. It goes without saying that unless the Dallas Congress tops the success of all other Congresses, these boys will get all the blame. So . . . Bill Merrick was made Associate Chairman in charge of "General Administration" of the Congress and Pete Hayden was given the tough assignment of Registration Chairman.

Knowing full well the power of wives (and sweethearts) over their men in encouraging them to actively work toward the success of "Dallas in '51" we thought we were smart to clinch things by making Pete's wife Besse our Associate Chairman to direct the work of the sub-committees on "Ladies Activities." Besse, along with Ken White's wife Clarie, and Bill Merrick's wife Barbara, who have been assigned to special jobs on the Pink Poodle Initiation, registration, and coffee hour sub-committees, has attended previous Grand Chapter Congress meetings and thus has acquired the know-how.

WILLIAM R. MERRICK, Baylor, Associate Chairman

ministrative tasks was the preparation of a budget. Your General and Associate Chairmen got together with the Finance sub-committee, of which the Congress Treasurer Clyde Taylor (Texas) is Chairman and Jim Martin (Texas) is Vice Chairman. After multiplying and dividing and adding—and subtracting—we came out with a very realistic budget. Fortunately all the accountants working on this budget job donated their time (instead of charging regular fees) and as a result the expected cost per member and/or lady is quite low despite the mounting inflation upon us. You'll sure get your money's worth in Dallas from every angle.

For Pete Hayden, Vice Chairmen Arthur Littel (Texas) and Dave Rode (Texas) and Chairman Trixie Root (for the ladies) and their Registration sub-committees, the "ball" is beginning to roll in Dallas, Texas; and by September 1951 it will have snow-balled into the greatest number having the grandest time ever had at a Grand Chapter Congress. The tentative minimum attendance goal is a mere 400 (a very small number for Texans to shoot at) and from a Texan's viewpoint, it's a cinch. For example, a very realistic evidence of Texas' response to our call in the November DELTASIG was the receipt in October 1950 of the first out-of-town registration along with a reservation for an Hotel Adolphus suite-from a Texan of Beta Kappa Chapter way down in Alice, Texas, 400 odd miles away. Like one Dallas Deltasig said at the Founders' Day celebration: "400 attending the Congress in 1951, why that's nothing. Texas alone will have at least 200 registered, and if Texas can furnish 200 it seems that the rest of the United States and Canada could muster the other 200." He further stated that his figures of 50% for Texans and 50% for the rest of the world were based on World War II statistics which show Ole Fightin' Texas fur-nished at least half of the real "fightin'" men in the Armed Forces and the war was won (or was it! !). We will win a new high for Grand Chapter Congress attendance in 1951 too. But this is one time we Texans need help! We are counting on you in '51.

To chairman the professional program sub-committee we selected Trent Root (Texas Tech) (see November DELTA-SIG for picture and announcement of his election as Controller of S.M.U.), who along with Vice Chairmen Harmon Watkins (SMU Province Officer) and B. C. Butler (SMU) and other members of the sub-committee will handle all the arrangements for this phase of the Congress. Another first for Texas will be the Congress invocation by one of our members, Bob Raible (Kentucky), the Unitarian minister in Dallas. Another outstanding event of the professional program will be the initiation of the fifth Honorary Member-at-Large by members of the Grand Council. The selection of this Texan is in the hands of Chairman Harold Young (SMU), professor and vice president of a local manufacturing concern, and Vice Chairman Bill McCord (Michigan), life insurance company president, and their special sub-committee.

To complete the General Administration line-up we selected Chairman Tom Robertson (Texas) of Braniff Airways, and Vice Chairman George Works (Chicago) to head the Transportation sub-committee. Believe us, we are going all out to get you here whether by horse and buggy or by plane.

Entertainment, Texas style, is one of our big selling points. This huge task of staging the men's "Events" has been assigned to Clarence Dunning (Ohio State) partly because of his connection with Pabst Blue Ribbon, but mostly because he is president of the Dallas Alumni Club. He has taken hold in a big way and if engineering all the events doesn't keep him hopping, his wife Velma will—you see, she is Chairman of the Neiman Marcus Style Show luncheon—the event of events for the ladies.

Under his wing Associate Chairman Dunning will have a real array of talent in the excellent personnel of the Events sub-committees. These teams, working in perfect coordination with the Ladies' Activities sub-committees on events under the direction of Associate Chairman Besse Hayden, are expected to put on an entertainment program which will keep people bragging about Texans and Texas hospitality for years to come. We wish space would permit the inclusion of all the entertainment story in this issue but we'll do more bragging about that in the March issue of The DELTASIG. Just to give you a hint however, here is the remainder of the Committee line-up for both the men's and women's events:

Let's Talk Finances

How are the members of other Delta Sigma Pi chapters and alumni clubs coming along with their plans to finance big delegations to the Dallas-in-'51 Grand Chapter Congress? Now is the time to start to function in a well-organized manner.

The first step is for each member to send in his advance registration fee ($5.00 for a member and his wife or date; $4.00 for each single member) as his share of the administrative costs of the Congress. Your cooperation in so doing will give the Committee a better idea of the attendance to expect (see Texas' brag above) and enable the various sub-committees to provide you with the maximum service and enjoyment. This advance registration fee will be applied toward the total Congress fee upon your arrival in Dallas. The real big point I don't want you to miss is the fact that all members paying the advance registration fee will be included in the Diamond Badge drawing, whether in attendance or not, giving them the opportunity of winning a beautiful diamond fraternity badge valued at several hundred dollars.

Here are some financing ideas now in operation in Dallas and Houston-Texas:

Members of the Dallas Alumni Club and the SMU Chapter are depositing with the Congress Treasurer monthly instalments toward the congress fee for themselves and their ladies so that when September 1951 rolls around they won't have to dig down and produce the entire fee in one lump—so much easier on the pocketbook.

The Houston Alumni Club members have organized "The Dallas in '51 Club of the Houston Alumni Club of Delta Sigma Pi" with a special charter and everything. The Club is separate from the Alumni Club and is a charter member affair and was closed to membership on December 31, 1950. In general here's how it works: Each Houston member of the Dallas in '51 Club paid $10.00 for his charter membership for which he received a share in the Dallas in '51 Club. The principal purpose of this special Club is to collectively raise funds to more easily finance the trip to Dallas in September 1951. All members are expected to contribute ideas and energies to promote special fundraising projects during or aside from the normal activities of the Houston Alumni Club, all to the end of increasing the "kitty." The Club is quite formal in that all funds in its treasury are held in trust by The Prime Potentate and The Keeper of the Kitty. (Alas for the effect on the Yellow Dogs and Pink Poodles.) The rules provide the immediate return of the initial capital upon resignation from the Club, but without a share in the then or thereafter existing surplus or profits. In August 1951 the kitty raised above expenses will be divided equally among the members remaining in the Club. The Club's publicity states: "When you attend the 1951 Congress how swell it will be to arrive in Dallas with your entire Congress fee paid and a large portion of expense money in cash as a result of the year's efforts!" So the original $10.00 investment by the charter member is expected to pay a worthwhile cash dividend-plus an enjoyable Eighteenth Grand Chapter Congress in Dallas. The foregoing is not any exaggerated story by a Texan-it's all true and IS something for Texans to brag about.

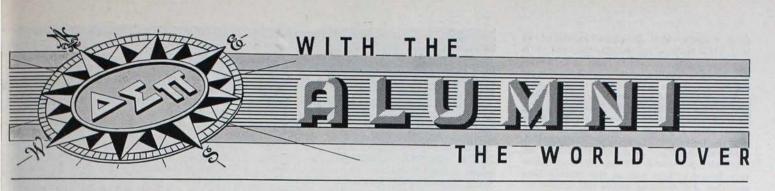

Let's Brag About Dallas Women

Speaking of the ladies-women (in the interest of you single brothers), there's always plenty to brag about in talking of Texas women . . . acclaimed by Texans and non-Texans to be the most beautiful concentrated into one section of the world. Lucky enough too, is the fact that of all cities in Texas, Dallas has the most beauty to talk about. Dallas is the home of beautiful women. Like one visitor said, "if I eye one over 30 seconds, I find that I've missed ten more walking past that were even better." It's a known fact (to Texans) that if Dallas and Texas recalled all its beautiful women back within the boundaries of Texas, Hollywood movies and New York stages would fold up for lack of beauty and talent. As a reader, you might say "what's this tall Texas talk got to do with the Eighteenth Grand Chapter Congress?" (Silly Boy . . . were you born yesterday?) Plenty! Simply put, it's to inform you that Texas has everything needed to give you the most entertaining and educational Grand Chapter Congress you ever attended or will attend (until it returns to Texas again in later years).

One Last Word

Send in your advance registration fee now to Kenneth B. White, General Chairman, Eighteenth Grand Chapter Congress, 704 Great National Life Building, Dallas, Texas.

Becomes Governor on Federal Reserve Board

OLIVER S. POWELL, Minnesota, was recently appointed as a member of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System by President Truman. Brother Powell was appointed to fill the unexpired term of the late Lawrence Clayton, and he is only the third man from the Ninth district to serve on the Federal Reserve Board in Washington, D.C. Prior to his appointment, Brother Powell had been serving as first vice president of the Federal Reserve Bank in Minneapolis.

A native of White Rock, South Dakota, Brother Powell, now 53, joined the Federal Reserve Bank in 1920 in the business research division. In 1927, he became head of the bank's research department and editor of its Monthly Business Review. In July, 1936, he was appointed a vice president and later that same year he became the first vice president.

Brother Powell graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1917 and was elected an honorary member of Alpha Epsilon Chapter at Minnesota in April, 1943. Since that time he has been very active in alumni affairs in the Twin Cities and annually participates in the traditional economic forecast forum conducted by the Twin Cities Alumni Club.

COLUMBIA

THE COLUMBIA ALUMNI CLUB was formed in February of this year, when 18 alumni brothers met for the purpose of forming Columbia's first alumni club. No time was lost in accomplishing this, and a petition for a charter was forwarded to the Grand Council. At their July meeting, members of the Grand Council approved the petition and so now Columbia joins the list of Deltasig alumni clubs.

Already the club membership has increased to 25, and members of the club are in the process of staging a membership drive among the more than 100 alumni brothers living in the Columbia area. Compilation of a directory of Deltasig alumni in Columbia revealed the names of many brothers who had lost contact with the fraternity. One of the chief aims of the club is to revive the fraternal spirit among Deltasigs in Columbia.

The club has already held an informal dance following one of the University of South Carolina's games and was also the sponsor of a "smoker" for prospective pledges of Beta Gamma Chapter at the University. Members of the club also assisted Beta Gamma Chapter in entertaining brothers of Alpha Lambda Chapter, University of North Carolina, who attended the North Carolina-South Carolina football game in Columbia.

A committee has been appointed to investigate the possibility of establishing a Deltasig Lodge in Columbia. Bill O'Cain, vice president of the club, is chairman of the committee to look into the details of such a lodge. Present plan under consideration is for the building of a lodge at Lake Murray, just a few miles from downtown Columbia, where fishing, boating, and swimming facilities are available. The lodge would serve as a meeting place for all local Deltasigs and as a place to entertain visiting brothers.

Since the formation of the club, three members have taken out Life Memberships and the importance of becoming a Life Member is being stressed to all club members. There are now five club members with Life Memberships and it is hoped that there will be many more before the present fiscal year ends.

Club meetings and dinners are held on the third Thursday of each month in the private dining room of the Green Derby Restaurant. We extend a most cordial invitation to all Deltasigs to attend these dinner-meetings when visiting in or near Columbia.—CECIL SEIGLER

THE FOLLOWING MEMBERS of Delta Sigma Pi have visited the Central Office since the last issue of THE DELTASIC. If there is no city shown after the name it indicates they reside in Chicago.

CHICAGO

ON SEPTEMBER 21 when the smoke cleared from the guns announcing the opening of the 1950-1951 season, we brushed the soot from our suits and settled down in earnest to the First Annual Chicago Alumni Club Gin Rummy Tournament, This innovation in our monthly meetings was fostered by Lee Maxon, a gin man from way back, and was very well received by all who had the foresight to attend. We were not too concerned about our elimination as kibitzing became the order of the day with no holds barred, and with deck in hand some of the resourceful brothers were reminded of other modes of entertainment. At the close of the festivities our first champion was crowned, Pete Conway, who with due ceremony received his trophy, a bottle of appropriate origin set upon a block of solid walnut with bronze plate attached to attest to the honor betowed upon him. The bottle was wired for 100 watts and is complete with shade—a product of the ingenuity of Bob Lewis.

Our second meeting on October 19 featured Brother Daniel A. Costigan, attorney and master in chancery of the Superior Court of Cook County. His discussion convinced us that; (1) lawyers are people, too, (2) it is to our advantage to consult them in our everyday business dealings, and (3) their charges are not out of line with the services performed.

We are proud of our Founders' Day celebration held on November 16. Chicago's Union League Club provided perfect facilities for the affair when a goodly crowd gathered to witness the formal initiation of Northwestern University's new dean of commerce. Joseph M. McDaniel, Jr., into Zeta Chapter. Good fellowship flowed at high tide in the ensuing hour and then 140 Deltasig alums and actives enjoyed a very excellent dinner. Ken Hobbie, our genial gentleman in the "48 Portly" is to be commended not only for arranging the program but also for doing a very excellent job as master of ceremonies.

At the speaker's table were Dean McDaniel, Assistant Dean E. Coulter Davies and Director of the Chicago Division of Commerce Myron Umbreit, all of Northwestern University, Dean Frederick Mueller, Jr., of De Paul University, J Dean Charles A. Rovetta of the University of Chicago, Professor Theodosi Mogilnitsky of Loyola University, our Grand Secretary-Treasurer "Gig" Wright, Brother Hobbie, President Rudy Weber and Vice President Paul Espenshade. Brother McDaniel favored us with his confidential report on how he became dean and then proceeded to tell us of his experiences as a member of the Economic Cooperation Administration delegation to Europe under Paul Hoffman. After a brief progress report of the fraternity by Brother Wright, the meeting was adjourned except for those who played cards.

At the formal reception for Dean McDaniel given by Chicago campus organizations of Northwestern on November 26, "Gig" Wright and Rudy Weber were gratified to note that the dean was able to "slip the grip" like a veteran.

We are looking forward to "Music and Comedy Nite," our first house party of the season to be held at the newly furnished Beta Chapter House at 42 East Cedar Street on December 9. Lake Dam Completed at Deltasig Lodge

FOR DELTASIG LODGE, country recreation place for Kappa and other Atlanta Deltasigs, the summer of 1950 marked a major milestone. The dam for Kappa Lake was built, a culmination of plans as old as the Lodge itself. For when the site of the main Lodge building was selected—even when the land was being viewed before purchase in 1935—it was done with the lake in mind. The Lodge itself sits atop a wooded hill and soon the lake will be on three sides of the hill.

The lake will cover some 25 acres, ample for fishing and boating, and will have facilities for swimming, diving, picnicking, etc. Roads now follow the lakeshore for a large part of its length, and can be extended to the dam without too much trouble. The dam itself is of earth construction, mainly of good red Georgia clay taken from inside the lake. The clay is piled to a maximum height of 39 feet, and the top of the dam measures 477 feet long by 12 feet wide, sufficient for a roadway. The soil was placed by earth-moving pans in layers not over six inches deep and was packed by the tractors, etc., as it was placed. Support is provided by a grading of 3:1 on the lake side of the dam and 2:1 on the downstream side of the dam. Topsoil was placed on the parts of the dam which will remain exposed after the lake is filled, and Bermuda grass is growing there, together with fescue grass which was broadcast over the whole area.

Drain for the lake is provided through a 12inch corrugated metal pipe at the base of the dam, this pipe being about 225 feet long. When the lake is filled, ordinary overflow will go off through another 12-inch pipe rising from a Tjoint in the drain to the surface of the lake. Cloudburst overflow, if any, will be carried off by 12-foot ditch built at the end of the dam six inches higher than the normal drain. The drain will be closed by a heavy-duty gate controlled by a stem rising above the surface of the lake. Access to the gate is had, when the lake is empty, through a 42-inch pipe extending upward from the drain to the surface of the lake.

The dam, which represents an expenditure of about $6950 in hard cash, was paid for by the Lodge members through purchase of ownership, a minimum of $30 of which is a prerequisite to membership. Many of course purchase more than that minimum, with the top figure at present for any one member being $200. Much of this ownership was purchased by members while away during World War II, and saved by the Lodge for just this purpose. A very gratifying drive during July and August made up most of the cost price which was still lacking, and a generous investment by Kappa Chapter from its contingency fund put the project across on a cash basis.

The lake when finished will represent also the expenditure of thousands of hours of labor spent by members on weekends in clearing timber and brush from the lakesite. This work has been going on ever since the main building was finished in 1936. Almost every weekend has seen some effort expended in the lakesite. From it we have taken all our firewood (for three giant fireplaces in the Lodge) and two years ago we had lumbermen cut out 90,000 feet of lumber.

More work remains to be done before the lake can be filled, but not so much as to be discouraging. We expect to close the gate by Christmas 1950 and within another year have the full facilities of the lake opened for the members.—HOMER T. PREWER

HOUSTON

THE HOUSTON ALUMNI CLUB rang down the curtain on its first year's operation since reactivation in the typical Texas fashion Saturday night August 26, 1950. The festivities were held in the beautiful air conditioned candle lit, newly redecorated Alabama Orchid Room. The occasion was the first annual semiformal inaugural dinner dance honoring the retiring officers for the fiscal year ending August 31, 1950. The evening started like a flash with a refreshment hour and hors d'oeurves beginning at 7:00 P.M. and dinner was served at 8:00 o'clock. When the members and guests entered the dining room the ladies found a beautiful gardenia at each plate. The head table was appropriately decorated with a giant size cake with the large raised greek letters, Delta Sigma Pi, and the name of the fra-ternity song "The Rose of Delta Sigma Pi."

After dinner Marion W. Sprague the retiring president, introduced the retiring and incoming officers and presented each with a lapel recognition pin. George Eagle, one of the members and an amateur comedian told two of his classical English accent jokes which was followed by Brother Sprague's traveling salesman joke all of which put everyone in the mood for an evening of dancing and merrymaking. Soft, soothing music for the evening was ably supplied by Paul Schmitt and his orchestra. A big surprise was the introduction of Lynn Cole, radio singing star, who furnished the lyrical entertainment for the occasion. Another highlight of the party was the South American dance routines exhibited by Mr. Pat Oliver and Miss Brewster.

It must have been a swell affair because the 200 members and guests have been raving ever since and those who didn't make it have been crying in their beards. Oscar Hunter richly deserved all the praise heaped upon him for the wonderful arrangements. Joining in the celebration was Brother William R. Merrick, Member of the Grand Council, along with Mrs. Merrick and some of their friends from Dallas. It was a surprise and indeed a pleasure to have Bill and party with us.

Other big news with the boys in the "Bag-dad of the Bayous" includes the change in regular dinner meeting place. Terrific arrangements have been worked out with the Alabama Banquet Rooms at 2020 Kipling both as to excellence of food and reasonableness of cost which the forty-to-fifty members regularly attending appreciate. Meeting night has been changed to the second Tuesday in each month -refreshments at 6:15, dinner at 7:15, and always a lively program following.

To bring the meetings up to date since the last DELTASIG article, the May meeting, arranged by Jarman Bass (Beta Iota), was stimulated by the presence of Morris Frank, noted sports authority, columnist and radio personality of Houston, who richly entertained with his wit. A Box Supper to bring the ladies out informally was arranged for the June meeting by Bob Richardson's committee, and the treasury was boosted by the receipts from the sale of the beautifully decorated boxes. Mrs. John McLaughlin (South Carolina) won the prize for the best decorated box. Dancing followed the dinner which was novel in itself in that the fellows ate with gals whose boxes they bought. Everyone really met everyone else.

The Grand Prize Brewery's entertainment room was the site of the July meeting with an excellent comic and an able pianist on the program arranged by Paul Cole (Baylor.) The August meeting was strictly business to hold the election of officers. The 1949-50 officers made the arrangements and handled the telephoning for a change as a last gesture and were proud to set the attendance record for the year.

Football season opening was the theme of the September meeting with Sam Moore's (Oklahoma A & M) arrangements committee procuring Humble Oil's movie, Football Highlights of 1949. With the excellent film, the Alabama's banquet room resounded intermittently with school cheers from the respective alumni when their ole alma mammy's team stole the show. The Dallas in '51 Club was active once again and added more cash to their till with a raffle. Incidentally, this gang hustling members should really attend the Dallas Congress in style if they continue their present rate of mutually raising expense money for the trip! Anyone desiring details of organizing this unique club within a club should not hesitate to write for the info.

And the welcome mat is always out. If in Houston and you don't have a DELTASIG copy with you and forget the time and place, just phone the Chamber of Commerce. With a terrific Stag in October and a New Year's Eve dance interspersing the regular second-Tuesday dinner meetings, it'll be a grand year ahead .- MARION W. SPRAGUE

TULSA

TELEPHONE CALLS and postals hail our members to monthly dinner meetings at the Town and Country Restaurant. The Tulsa Alumni Club has enjoyed a number of stimulating speakers already this fall. At the September meeting, J. R. G. Howell, manager of the Tulsa office for Dun and Bradstreet, used the subject "Organization and Services of Dun and Bradstreet, Inc."

State Senator Arthur L. Price and L. G. Burt were the October speakers. They discussed the world government proposal of the World Federation Organization. For our November meeting, we chose to celebrate Founders Day, attending a banquet with the undergraduate chapter at Smiths' Restaurant. E. L. Stucker, vice president of National Bank of Tulsa, spoke on, "The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation."

Attending the smoker held by Beta Chi Chapter for prospective pledges did much to promote a closer relationship between our Alumni Club and the actives. This was held in the "Club Room," a new private club in Tulsa. We are looking forward to our future meetings, and a cordial welcome is extended to all alums living in and near Tulsa.-LESTER H. DAVIS

Becomes President of Life Insurance Company

LAST SUMMER, Leland J. Kalmbach, Michigan, became the ninth president of the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company, with its home office in Springfield, Massachusetts Brother Kalmbach had joined the home office staff of this company in 1948 as a vice president and one month later was elected to the board of directors. He is recognized as one of the country's most outstanding actuaries. He is a Fellow of the Society of Actuaries and vice president of the former American Institute of Actuaries.

Brother Kalmbach was born in Chelsea.

Michigan, where he received his early education. He graduated from the University of Michigan in 1923 where he majored in business administration and actuarial mathematics. While there he became a member of Delta Sigma Pi and was also elected to Phi Beta Kappa. In 1924, he began his professional career in the actuarial department of the Lincoln National Life Insurance Company of Fort Wayne, Indiana, and was first vice president and director of that company in 1948 when he resigned to begin his association with the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company.

THIS IS A PARTIAL LIST of the members of Delta Sigma Pi who have recently become Life Members of the fraternity. The balance of the names of the new Life Members will appear in the next issue.

JOHNS HOPKINS

ALTHOUGH A CHECK with the calendar proves that school resumed less than two months ago, the fraternity affairs held so far by Chi Chapter give proud testimony of the careful and diligent blueprinting of our program by Head Master Hugh Monaghan and his officers and committee heads.

Our first two professional meetings of the year featured subjects of transportation and commerce in Baltimore. P. E. Priestman, sales manager of American Airlines, spoke on "Baltimore and the Air Age" at our October meeting. The November smoker had as its speaker, Joseph L. Stanton director of the export-import bureau of the Baltimore Association of Commerce, who spoke on the "Future of the Port of Baltimore." Both gentlemen gave each person present some aspects of Baltimore hitherto unknown. Brother Bob Johnson deserves our applause for the excellent professional meetings that he and his committee have arranged.

Bob Hannan convinced the chapter that it had elected a first rate master of festivities by the splendid Halloween Party the social committee arranged for October 28. The refreshments, the music, and the decorations, down to the last cornstalk and Jack-o-Lantern, provided each one present with such a wonderful time that we are still hearing comments about it.

The most noteworthy item on the agenda of Chi Chapter is the coming installation of Gamma Sigma Chapter of the University of Maryland into Delta Sigma Pi on November 18 at the Emerson Hotel here in Baltimore. Each Deltasig at Johns Hopkins feels especially privileged and honored to be host and to be able to participate in an event of such significance. To Gamma Sigma Chapter we extend our warmest congratulations and our hope that each new member enjoys a full, rich, fraternity relationship.

The future growth of our chapter has not been neglected and at this moment Senior Warden John DuBay is busily lining up pledges for an early initiation. Each of the various committees is functioning toward the objective of achieving our usual 100,000 point quota for the year in the Chapter Efficiency Contest. It is fully realized, however, that our achievements are not for the mere accession of points, but for the satisfaction of knowing that by this yardstick our fraternity activities have measured up to the standards set up before us. —KENNETH W. AMRHINE

SOUTH DAKOTA

ALPHA ETA CHAPTER is very proud of two of its most outstanding members. Head Master James Blaine and Treasurer Jack Lieffort. Brother Blaine was picked by the president of the University of South Dakota to be chairman of Dakota Day, the university's Homecoming. Brother Blaine receives our best wishes for a job well done. We are equally proud of Brother Lieffort who was chosen as the University of South Dakota's representative to a convention to be held at New York City, in December, by the National Association of Manufacturers.

For the third consecutive year the Roy C. Davis Scholarship Trophy was awarded to our chapter. This trophy is given each year to the fraternity on campus having attained the highest scholastic average. By now we hope we've acquired the habit and can succeed each year in conquering the trophy. Brother J. D. Thomson, Assistant Grand Secretary-Treasurer, visited our chapter recently and addressed the group at an informal afternoon meeting. Our chapter is justly proud of the 100,000 points it earned in last year's Chapter Efficiency Contest, and we are off to another perfect score this year.

Founders' Day was celebrated with an informal dance held in the Student Union. During October we pledged 18 new men and, later that same evening, the members journeyed downtown to the "Varsity" for a stag party. The pledges are now in the midst of their training and are bearing up well under the guidance of Senior Warden Ed Ledyard. The first professional meeting of the year was held in October. Wynn Crew, graduate of both the University of South Dakota's School of Business Administration and School of Law, spoke on "Establishing a New Business and the New Microfilm Industry," of which he was one of the very first in the country to open. The speech was educational and interesting.

Several of our alumni are again in the service and Alpha Eta Chapter wishes them the best of luck. For the coming period a field trip and formal pledging will be our next business on the agenda.—VERNETT LAMP

MICHIGAN STATE

GAMMA KAPPA CHAPTER at Michigan State College attained yearling status this fall, just one week previous to the fortythird birthday of Alpha Chapter and hence Delta Sigma Pi. We look back on our first year with pride, as we enjoyed a very successful professional and social year. Professionally, there was our total of 100,000 points in the Chapter Efficiency Contest. Our speakers were varied and our films and tours provided pleasure as well as business acumen for the members. Socially, perhaps the outstanding light is the trophy which we brought back from Chicago, a reward for outstanding attendance at the Regional Convention in May.

We've gotten off to a good start this year in all directions. The housing committee is working diligently at preparations which are necessary before a house is acquired. One of our main objectives is the signing of the fiveyear notes, a policy inaugurated early last fall. The professional committee has succeeded in lining up a tentative schedule of professional events, including among the speakers Mr. Orville Reed, considered America's outstanding authority on direct mail advertising.

M. Orvine Reed, considered America's outstanding authority on direct mail advertising. We celebrated Founders' Day and our chapter birthday concurrently, on November 11, following the Minnesota-Michigan State football game. As the game was a sellout, we were happy that we could provide tickets for our alumni and honored guests, Brother and Mrs. Robert G. Busse. The party after the game included a buffet dinner and dance, and judging by attendance, both actives and alumni, and the good times had, the party was extremely successful.

On the evening of November 15, the members of Gamma Kappa Chapter, and interested friends, made a tour of the Fisher Body plant in Lansing. The tour was well conducted by the public relations department of Fisher, which plant manufactures the bodies for all the Oldsmobiles, and the Chevrolet and Pontiac convertibles. Another tour listed for the future is a jaunt through the modern Frankenmuth Brewery in Frankenmuth, Michigan.

The situation in Korea has been felt by our chapter also. Two of our June, 1950, graduates, Licutenants Don Bohnett and Harold Kuutilla, are with the Armed Forces. The old year is past, the new one is here, and with it the continued growth and success of Delta Sigma P!—PAUL R. WHEATON

SOUTHERN METHODIST

BETA PHI CHAPTER is still feeling the effects of Southern Methodist University's being the no. 1 football team of the nation, however short-lived that fame was. Under a change of local chapter policy, fall initiation was to have been much earlier this year. And despite the "football" delay, by the time this issue of The DELTASIG goes to press, we hope to have initiated some 15 to 20 men of those already pledged. We feel exceedingly fortunate in having pledged Professor Frank A. Young as a new faculty member. He is the first full-time professor of insurance to be on the faculty of the School of Business Administration of Southern Methodist University. He is in the process of completing his Doctor's Degree from the University of Pennsylvania.

Much interest has been aroused in the new pledges by some of our activities since the start of school. On November 4, at 7:30 P.M., some of the S.M.U.-Texas "football-goers" joined with Beta Kappa Chapter of Texas University in having a dinner after the game at the Driskell Hotel, in Austin, Texas.

Recognition has come to one of our faculty members. Harmon L. Watkins is now chairman of the Department of Real Estate. The real estate training program has been approved by the Dallas Real Estate Board and, in addition to the two basic courses, Real Estate Fundamentals and Real Estate Practice, offers instruction in real estate management, real estate appraisal, real estate finance and real estate law.

law. Not the least important item on the agenda of Beta Phi Chapter is the joint privilege and honor we have with the Dallas Alumni Club of being hosts to Delta Sigma Pi's Eighteenth Grand Chapter Congress next September 9, 10, 11 and 12, in Dallas, Texas. Kenneth B. White, of the Dallas Alumni Club and chairman of the Eighteenth Grand Chapter Congress Committee, is going to be the guest speaker at Beta Phi's coming initiation banquet and will give us, no doubt, one of his typically inspirational messages on the duties, pleasures and responsibilities that have devolved on us with reference to the Grand Chapter Congress.— ROBERT B. CLAYTON

MIAMI U

ALPHA UPSILON CHAPTER began the fall semester with the election of new officers. Because of previous participation in Delta Sigma Pi activities, Head Master Louis Verbryke, Senior Warden Jerome Harland, Junior Warden Carl Folker, Scribe Harold Jasper, and Treasurer Robert Smith are excellently qualified to assume the responsibilities of leadership. The new brothers of the chapter are Thomas Alexander, Walter Beers, Donald Bogan, Cornelius Brussel, Ellsworth Calhoun, Richard Clemmenson, Charles Davis, David Davis, Robert Eckles, Basil Evans, George Evans, John Garrigan, Paul Gregg, Jr., David Holton, Lawrence Keller, Jack Kennedy, Albert Lorenz, Robert Martin, Richard Moellering, Ralph Moore, James Moorman, Robert Perren, Robert Pully, Robert Reason, James Rempe, Donald Stinchcomb, Thomas Van Camp, Robert Weber, and John Young.

A combination smoker and rush party for 40 prospective pledges was the first major social event of the new semester. Because of a break due to mid-semester examinations, the pledging will be spread out over a period of time. Our Founders' Day banquet was held Thursday, November 9, at the College Inn. Oxford, Ohio. At the banquet we discussed plans for trips to several of the neighboring industrial firms. The National Cash Register Company of Dayton, Ohio, the General Motors Corporation of Hamilton, Ohio, and the American Rolling Mill Company of Middletown, Ohio, were among those companies for which tentative plans of visiting were made. Professor Glen G. Yankee of the accounting department was the guest speaker. Plans for the final rush party were also made at the banquet.

Although we have not participated in the "Rose of Deltasig" Contest in previous years, the chapter is making plans for entering this year. As can readily be seen by the large number of initiates, interest in Delta Sigma Pi is manifesting itself in a greater desire for membership by the students in the School of Business Administration. With such interest and enthusiasm plus very capable officers, the Alpha Upsilon Chapter is off to a profitable and successful year of activities.—JERRY MILLER

U of MIAMI

BETA OMEGA CHAPTER at the University of Miami has resumed the performance of the lighting scheme at the half-time show during football games at the Orange Bowl. This was an honor granted our group early in 1948, shortly after the installation of our Beta Omega Chapter. Our participation included demonstration at the home games between the University of Miami football team and the following opponents: Citadel, Villanova, Boston, Georgetown, and Louisville. The games with Purdue and Pittsburgh were played away. It is interesting to note, incidentally, that the university team tied the Louisville game and won each of the others.

The lighting schemes were planned in accordance with the university bandmaster's schedule and all brothers participated, assisted by Brother Wright, director of the project. The half-time shows at the Orange Bowl are regarded as the features of the Friday evenings; they are very impressive and subjects of discussion of the nearly 40,000 people, residents and visitors from all states who attend. Some people attend expressly to see the gorgeous array of lights, and what they signify. Each show is produced with a central theme in mind, such as the Statue of Liberty, and the proper effects are portrayed through the colors and arrangement of the lights.

The Beta Omega Chapter takes much pride in this work and regards it a worthwhile contribution to the progress of the chapter. We are considering participation in other similar projects, also.

The pledge group of the Beta Omega Chapter has placed the final touches on The Delta Sigma Pi Wall, a project begun by the actives and subsequently assigned to the pledges as part of their initiation work. This wall is a landmark, erected on either side of a walk winding from the Student Club to the main Lecture Hall. It is identified by a plaque bearing the inscription, "Delta Sigma Pi," and is readily noticeable to the traffic of students traversing the campus on that walk, also built by the chapter.

The wall is constructed with multi-shaped coral rock and reinforced with cement, standing four feet high and ten feet long. This project was started as a token of contribution to the continuous expansion of our new University Campus. We are seeking continuously means through which we can exhibit the productiveness of our chapter and still preserve our professional and business character.—E. JOSEPH PORFIRI

FLORIDA

WITH SUMMER SCHOOL, summer jobs and ROTC summer camps behind us, members of Beta Eta Chapter returned to the University of Florida campus anxious to take part in another very full and interesting fall program. Uncle Sam is breathing down the necks of some of our active brothers, and alumni brothers De-Armond, Fortes and Reaves are already in uniform. Brother English, our Province Officer, has been called to active duty with the reserves. We wish them all the best of luck and a safe and speedy return.

Homecoming this year was bigger and better than ever. The weekend celebration was ushered in with a colorful and entertaining parade. Among the numerous floats entered in the parade was Beta Eta Chapter's creation -an adding machine. Thanks to Brother Du-Bose, chief engineer of the project, and the brothers that turned out while the dew was still on the grass to work on the float, Delta Sigma Pi was proudly represented in the rolling extravaganza. Everyone took heed to the Homecoming theme "take a break for old times sake" except the fighting "Gator" football team. Instead of taking a break, Coach Woodruffs squad poured on the coal to turn back the Auburn Tigers with a decisive 27-7 score.

Our first rush party, a smoker held in the Florida Union Building was followed a week later by a beer party and wiener roast at College Park. These two functions resulted in the pledging of eight men whom we think possess the necessary qualities to make good Deltasigs. Immediately following pledging, brothers and pledges gathered at the university's new and ultra-modern Student Center for an informal reception. The training of our neophytes rests in the capable hands of Brother Miller.

Beta Eta Chapter returned to the air October 30 over radio station WGGG. In cooperation with our chapter the Florida Debate Society presented a panel discussion on the subject "Should the Non-Communist Nations Form a New International Organization?" Program director, Brother Bob Oliver and announcer Brother Fred Simpson are doing a wonderful job of planning these radio programs that are to be presented once a month. "Should Basic Industries be Nationalized?" is the scheduled topic for the next radio panel discussion to be offered the latter part of November.

Founders' Day was observed with a banquet held at the Hotel Thomas at which over 33 brothers and pledges were present. Among our guests were faculty Brothers Oscar E. Heskin, head professor of economics; Professor William H. Pierson, associate professor of geography and chapter advisor; Dr. Murray W. Shields, professor of economics and marketing; and Dr. Clyde B. Vedder, assistant professor of social sciences. We were happy to see several alumni brothers who returned to the campus for the banquet. Dr. Vedder, speaker for the evening, delivered an extremely interesting and pertinent talk on crime in the business world. Brother Vedder brought to light the existence of four major categories of criminals: professional, amateur, white-collar and criminaloid. As future businessmen, Dr. Vedder told us, we must be ever aware of the fraud and graft that exists around us and do our part in attempting to eliminate crime in business. Brother McKeown, master of festivities, is to be congratulated for the success of this banquet that resulted from hours of hard work and planning.

Congratulations are in order for Pat Miller and Lewis Nobles who have been initiated into Beta Alpha Psi, honorary accounting fraternity, and for Gene Cochran who was recently appointed Cadet Colonel, commanding the ROTC ground forces. Looking ahead we see that Beta Eta Chapter has planned a field trip to Jacksonville that will include visits to the General Foods Corporation and the Federal Reserve Bank. Also coming up in the not-to-distant future is the chapter birthday dance at which time we shall select a chapter "Rose of Deltasig."—EUGENE C. COCHRAN

KENTUCKY

JUST AS OUR GREAT Kentucky football team is on the move, so is Eta Chapter at the University of Kentucky driving on to establishing an active and strong chapter. Since reactivation last April, noteworthy strides have been made. New officers for this college year were recently elected. They are: Carl Turner, head master; Jim Inman, senior warden; Bob Griffith, junior warden; Dick Pigman, chancellor; Jesse Bollinger, scribe; Jack Boyd, treasurer; Malcolm Saunier, senior guide; Lee Myles, junior guide; and Bob Allen, historian.

On the social program, Eta Chapter has scheduled a rush party for the immediate future. We have secured three outstanding speakers for the purpose of explaining the purposes and aims of Delta Sigma Pi to prospective members. They are: Dr. Cecil C. Carpenter, dean of the College of Commerce; Dr. Robert D. Haun, professor of business law; and Professor Rodson D. McIntyre, professor of advertising and advertising research. These three men are alumni of the fraternity. As a result of their efforts, an outstanding pledge class can be anticipated. In addition to our rushing activities, a Founders' Day Banquet is also being planned.

Eta Chapter is devoting much attention to its professional activities for the coming college year. An exceptional speaker is being scheduled for at least once a month and many benefits will be obtained no doubt by both the individual members and the chapter as a whole. So you see, with our well rounded schedule in hand, you can hear us saying, "Go Eta, go 'Big Blue!'"—JESSE C. BOL-LINER

ALABAMA

WITH THE FRATERNITY COLORS of purple and gold forming a backdrop, Alpha Sigma Chapter at the University of Alahama celebrated Founders' Day on November 7 with an informal dance. Pledges, actives, alumni, and faculty were distinguished by lapel cards. The refreshments were candies, cookies, cakes, and punch, all of which added much to the evening's entertainment. These were served on a table decorated with purple and gold gladiolus.

Formal pledging of new members for the semester was performed the week before the dance, and the new pledges were introduced at the dance. Included in the group were George Coggins, Bob Calhoun, T. C. Courington, John Sofie, John Fannaly, Bill Fail, Hugh Ballard, Pep Johnson, and Bart Shea. These men constitute one of the most outstanding and promising pledge classes that Alpha Sigma Chapter has considered.

A highlight of the dance was the tapping of men for membership into the Ancient, Effervescent, Order of the Yellow Dog. New initiates in this secret society include Harold Wall, Jim Youngblood, Ernest Deal, and Sam Beaty, a prominent alumnus. Dr. James Constantin, Chief Bull Pup, was in charge of the initiation. This ceremony was a pleasant experience for all who participated in it for the first time, and was impressive to those who had witnessed it before.

Presented also at the dance was Miss Carolyn Cobb, Alpha Sigma's entrant for national honors in last year's "Rose of Deltasig" Contest. The dance was enjoyed by all who attended and everyone is anxiously looking forward to the next Founders' Day Celebration.— JOHN W. COOK

SCENE OF BANQUET held upon the occasion of the reactivation of our Eta Chapter at the University of Kentucky.

RUTGERS—Beta Omicron

BETA OMICRON CHAPTER at Rutgers University's School of Business Administra-tion started the spring season with a crowded calendar of professional, athletic, and social Our professional committee, headed events. by Ed Vogel, has maintained its policy of inviting prominent men from the business world. From the financial firm of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Beane came two of their account executives, Randolph Bliss and Charles Robbins, Jr., to explain the fundamentals of sound investment. Devoe & Raynolds Paint Company sent its sales representative, Mr. Becker, to explain the techniques and personality that make a successful salesman in today's highly competitive business world. William Heppenheimer, vice president of the First New Jersey Corporation, came to outline the historical development of the prominent investment trusts and the opportunities they offer to the average investor.

Professional activities also consisted of tours to the Ford assembly plant at Edgewater, New Jersey, and the New York Stock Exchange. At the Ford plant we witnessed, from unpainted fender sections to glistening new cars, the planning and control by which trucks and convertibles could be produced on a single line, with every part routed to its proper location at the exact moment needed. The trip to the Stock Exchange gave the brothers an insight into the process by which the savings of investors from all over the world are funneled through this security "auction" to make possible the building of our giant industries.

The social calendar has been well filled, too. Headed by Wallace Stocker, the social committee outdid itself in decorating the aptly-named Green Room for the St. Patrick's Dav Dance and planning the gala spring formal at the Maplewood Country Club. In addition to the regular spring picnic and the summer beach party, a golf tournament sponsored by Bob Dunne seems to be headed for a regular place on the activities slate. Bowling and baseball teams were entered in the interfraternity competition. A glistening trophy on the mantel over the fireplace attests to our athletic ability.

Twenty-one neophytes proved their merit after undergoing a rigorous indoctrination. They were formally initiated in an impressive ceremony at the Barracuda Room of the Military Park Hotel. Taking the oath with the group was John Gilmour, of the accounting department, who spoke on the dangers of the "creeping socialism" that is slowly encroaching upon our democratic institutions.

The past summer marked the loss to the chapter of four brothers. Andy Bochnovic and John Healy are now on active duty with the armed forces, while two faculty members have moved to higher positions in the field of education. Dr. John Fetzer left to join the faculty of the economics department at the University of Miami. Communications to former Professor W. Layton Hall should now be addressed to Dean Hall, College of South Jersey, Rutgers University, Camden, New Jersey.

Among the recent graduates are three brothers who have honored Beta Omicron Chapter with their performances. Robert Zinkand was named the most outstanding student and awarded a gold key in recognition of his scholarship and extracurricular activities. The impressive records in student affairs that Patrick Marasco and Philip Shaak left behind have earned for both the activity key and a post on the faculty while completing their master's work in the new Graduate School of Business Administration.

With such varied activities and enthusiasm, Beta Omicron Chapter could hardly fail to reach the top again in the Chapter Efficiency Contest. Our thanks go to past Head Masters Clarence Berry and Dave Close for their able direction. We congratulate each for having received one-half credit toward a Life Memhership for this achievement.

Newly-elected Head Master Robert Kruse and his executive committee have taken over what promises to be another busy school year. A rush smoker for 24 new pledges started activities at the chapter house, with Professor E. A. Otto, faculty adviser, delivering the welcome address. A well-functioning indoctrination program is already under way. Preparations for the formal Founders' Day Dance, to be held at the North Jersey Country Club in Preakness have been completed. We look forward to an enjoyable evening of good comradeship at this first gathering of actives, faculty, alumni, and pledges in commemoration of the founding of our fraternity.—JOSEPH E. DEBIAK

MICHIGAN

XI CHAPTER at the University of Michigan started the new school year by playing host to many of the brothers from Michigan State. There was a buffet supper served with a dance following. Many of our alumni from the Detroit area showed up and renewed friendships.

The next day found the chapter having an open house, with about 50 students attending. Out of this group, Xi Chapter has selected 22 pledges, who were formally pledged October 11. Since that time they have been busy under our Junior Warden, Brother Dodge, learning the Pledge Manual, taking part in the work for our Homecoming display, and performing other work details that Brother Dodge has seen fit to assign to them. Their Hell Week begins December 6, with the pledge formal falling on December 9 at Pine Lodge, Brighton, Michigan. Informal initiation is December 13, and the formal initiation on the following Sunday, December 16.

For our professional program this year, Brother Swarthout arranged to have Mr. Morris, of the industrial relations department of General Motors, discuss the recent General Motors contract. This took place on October 24. On November 9, the chapter took a tour of the merchandising facilities of Hudson's Department Store in Detroit, The tour was opened to the students from the School of Business Administration, University of Michigan, and the tour was a success. Professor Hill, a member of the faculty of the School of Business Administration, is going to complete our professional program with a talk on "How to Sell Yourself to Prospective Employers."

In the field of diversion, Brother Lowe, who heads our chapter social committee, has done an excellent job this year. As has been mentioned earlier, we had a buffet supper after the State-Michigan game. The party after the dinner was attended by approximately 30 couples. At our Homecoming we served approximately 150 persons. Most of these people were alumni from the Detroit area. We were visited by Xi #1, Brother Bryan Warman, and his family who came all the way from Buffalo, New York. After the dinner we had a dance, with most of the guests staying over for several hours to help with the merriment. Founders' Day was celebrated with a French Cabaret style dance following the Illinois-Michigan game. We are going to finish up the football season with another buffet dinner and

BETA XI CHAPTER, after an active summer term, has begun its heavily laden winter schedule. The guest speaker at our first professional meeting was Thomas Brennan, Democratic candidate for sheriff of Mercer County, Trenton, New Jersey. His topic was "The Role of the Local Government in Business." Election of officers was held at the second business meeting of the fall term. Uberto J. Rago, Beta Xi Chapter delegate to the Esventeenth Grand Chapter Congress and the Eastern Regional Conference, was elected head master.

Our successful rush smoker was attended by 80 rushees and 40 brothers. We have pledged 24 students and three members of the faculty. We have again amassed the 100,000 points necessary to become a winner of the Chapter Efficiency Contest. This is the third consecutive year and the indications are that we are well on our way to winning again this year.

The annual Hobo Party was held at the house on October 14. The brothers and their dates were well costumed for the affair and the house, too, was decorated. Francis M. Dowd, Province Officer, and four brothers from Omega Chapter at Temple University were guests at the party. Our next affair is the Christmas party which will be held December 16.

The extracurricular activities of the college are again dominated by members of Delta Sigma Pi. Senior Warden Frank Rotondo was appointed chairman of the orientation committee. This committee was established to assist and help adjust the freshmen to their new surroundings. Brother Rotondo was also elected president of the Business Administration Club. Head Master Rago was elected president of the Debating Club and president of the Interfraternity Council, Brother Guy Chiarello was elected president of the Spanish Club. Six brothers have been nominated to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." The loving cup, awarded to the outstanding freshman of the year, was presented to Charles E. Craig.

At the time of this writing one brother, William Leach, has been lost to the Armed Forces. Brother Leach entered the U. S. Marines on October 13. Six brothers were graduated in November, 1950; Gordon Grant, Henry Roszkowski, Harold Ochs, James Cleary, Lawrence Faschan, and Ernest Bauer. In order that we may own our own house, instead of renting one as we are now, we have submitted plans for a House Corporation to The Central Office.—JOHN A. LOVATO

DETROIT—Gamma Rho

ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON, October 7, 1950, in the heart of dynamic Detroit, Michigan, the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi gave birth to its fourth set of unique twin chapters. The installation of the Gamma Rho Chapter at the University of Detroit Evening College of Commerce and Finance, was the culmination of this distinctive feature of collegiate coordination.

Theta Chapter, the first of this duo conceived in 1921, had to await the arrival of its brother chapter 29 years, but Gamma Rho Chapter has indicated promise to grow quickly in stature, development, and dignity to equal the pride of Theta Chapter.

The history behind the Gamma Rho Chapter reverts back to the origin of the Delta Iota Fraternity. Delta Iota was a business fraternity formed by five University of Detroit evening students who desired to establish a spirit of fraternalism within their own College of Commerce and Finance. With the sanction of school authorities, they became officially organized in September of 1949 with an organizational structure similar to that of Delta Sigma Pi. While in the process of expansion, they nurtured the thought of one day becoming affiliated with an international professional group of the size and scope of Delta Sigma Pi. Towards this end, the original founders of evening division, William B. O'Regan, who was materially responsible for the founding of Theta Chapter at the University of Detroit. The complexities and diversities of another chapter at the college were thoroughly weighed and given the closest consideration. With the approach of spring, 1950, and the support and inspiration of Brother O'Regan and the blessings of the regent, the Reverend Henry Wirtenberger, plans were formulated to petition the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi for installation of another chapter at the university in the Evening College of Commerce and Finance. The genuine interest and assistance of the Grand Secretary-Treasurer H. G. "Gig" Wright, and his very capable assistant, Jim Thomson, plus a host of local Delta Sigma Pi alumni, permitted the ambitions of Delta Iota members to reach fruition when they became the 83rd chapter to be installed in the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi and were to be recognized as the Gamma Rho Chapter.

In the symbolic Victory Room of the Hotel Sheraton, the ritualistic initiation was effected with impressive decorum. Heading the installation team were Grand President Walter C. Sehm, Alpha Epsilon Chapter, Minnesota, and Grand Secretary 'Treasurer H. G. Wright, Beta Chapter, Northwestern. Others rendering magnanimous service were J. Elwood Armstrong, Chi Chapter, Johns Hopkins; Joseph J. Bauser, Theta Chapter, Detroit; Eugene R. Cadieux, Theta Chapter, Detroit; Robert Carty, Gamma Theta Chapter, Detroit; Robert Carty, Gamma Theta Chapter, Detroit; Paul J. Pickner, Theta Chapter, Detroit; and Harold F. Reinecke, Theta Chapter, Detroit.

The personable Brother William B. O'Regan was master of ceremonies at the evening's festivities. The Reverend Henry Wirtenberger, regent, addressed the gathering on "Evening Education in the Business World." He expressed its challenge and its growth. "The business world today is one of human relations emphasis; technical skills are not enough," says Father Wirtenberger, "and evening school has the advantage of drawing upon actual experience to meet this challenge."

The presentation of the charter and charge to Gamma Rho Chapter was made by Grand President Sehm of Delta Sigma Pi and acceptance of this honor was performed by Head Master Patrick F. Burns, Mr. Sehm encouraged the Gamma Rho Chapter to accept the responsibility of leadership to combat the present danger to our freedom and thus Gamma Rho Chapter would be fulfilling the obligations of Delta Sigma Pi in a true spirit.

The genial Grand Secretary-Treasurer, "Gig" Wright, predicted a scintillating future for Delta Sigma Pi. Delta Sigma Pi is now the largest professional fraternity in commerce and business administration. Gamma Rho Chapter has given emphasis to Brother Wright's prognostications by becoming the fifth Deltasig Chapter within a radius of 100 miles of Detroit. Such expansion is significant of the influence of the fraternity upon college life today. Similarly, its long-range effect is immeasurable.

Gamma Rho Chapter has aligned itself already closely to the functional operations designated by The Central Office. A schedule of business and professional meetings has been initiated. Other projects, short and long-range, have been proposed. Among these, declares Head Master Patrick F. Burns, is the obtaining of a Deltasig "house" in Detroit for the benefit of all chapters.—TED GOLENIAK

ON THE TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY of Homecoming on the campus of the University of New Mexico, the actives and pledges of Gamma lota Chapter built this float to inspire a Lobo win over the Arizona Wildcats. Pictured putting the finishing touches to this project are (LEFT TO RIGHT): Bert Barns, Rodney Tynor, Burch Foraker, Robert Wasson, Kenneth Meyers, and Charles Watson.

NEW MEXICO

GAMMA IOTA CHAPTER at the University of New Mexico, was well prepared for the flood of campus, professional, and social activities which crowd each new school year. Under the leadership of Head Master Ed Domme, Gamma Iota Chapter continued to function and held regular meetings during the summer semester. The chapter reviewed past activities and formulated plans for smooth and coordinated events during the fall semester. This initial impetus aided us to begin in September with inspired enthusiasm, the results of which are already becoming evident.

On July 14, 1950, a delegation of five Deltasigs went to the state capital at Sante Fe and filed papers of incorporation for the chapter. Our incorporators were Brothers Domme, Driscoll, Gulowsen, Hannosh, and Pace. The number of men who attended our rush smokers reflected the careful planning and ef-fective direction of Senior Warden Bert Barnes and Junior Warden Bill Storey. One smoker was held on campus. Talks were given by Province Officer Ralph I. Edgel, Sigma, who spoke on what membership in Delta Sigma Pi means to him, and the dean of the College of Business Administration, Vernon G. Sorrell, spoke on the value of membership in a professional organization. Another smoker held in the Disabled American Veterans Hall was an informal session and proved of value in getting to know the prospective pledges. The following Sunday, 17 men were pledged after a dinner held in the banquet room of the Liberty Cafe.

The pledges showed their qualities of imagination and detail work by the construction of a Homecoming Float on the theme, "Beat the Wildcats" (Arizona). The float, though not winning an award, was rated by the two Albuquerque newspapers as one of the best floats in the parade. As a part of our professional activity, on

As a part of our professional activity, on November 8 Gamma Iota Chapter sponsored H. H. Lutbegg, of the Better Business Bureau of Albuquerque, as a guest speaker, and invited the other commerce organizations to participate. Mr. Lutbegg gave an interesting talk on the work of the B.B.B. and its cooperation with business today, and as a sidelight he told of the opportunity of a career with the B.B.B. Seizing the privilege of having Assistant Grand Secretary-Treasurer J. D. Thomson share in our activities, we are celebrating Founders' Day on November 16. Under the arrangement of Master of Festivities Jim Dean, we are having a banquet at Leonard's Restaurant. Invitations have been sent to all alumni, and we expect a large turnout of brothers to be present to welcome our national officer.

The progress that Gamma Iota Chapter has made during its two years on this campus is only the background to greater advances planned for the future. Under the inspired leadership of our officers, the guidance of our alumni and a class of hardworking pledges, our highest aims cannot fail to be accomplished.—WILFRED H. GULOWSEN

WAKE FOREST

COMPLYING WITH an invitation given by Alpha Lambda Chapter of the University of North Carolina, Gamma Nu Chapter of Wake Forest College celebrated Founders' Day at the Carolina Inn in Chapel Hill, North Carolina, with Alpha Lambda Chapter. The highlight of the evening was the address given by the capable Brother Thomas H. Carroll, the new dean of the School of Commerce and Business Administration at the University of North Carolina.

Our program for the year will consist of two meetings each month, one devoted to business and the other to a professional program featuring speakers from the various phases of business. For our first professional meeting this year, a very challenging talk was administered by an alumnus of Wake Forest College, H. P. Holding, who has risen to a position of importance in banking. Mr. Holding spoke on the subject "Overcoming the Obstacles of Life." Active members as well as prospective pledges were present for the meeting and much interest was displayed in the informal discussion which followed the formal talk. Supplementing the varied professional meetings is an industrial tour which will be conducted sometime this semester.

As a result of our first and recent smoker, 19 men have been pledged. Considering the fact that these men measured up to rigid requirements, they are deemed to be potential assets to Delta Sigma Pi. By the time the next issue of The DELTASIG is published, these pledges will have been initiated, as the ceremony will take place the first week of December.—JAMES H. JOHNSON

ST. LOUIS

AS PART of our long-range policy to increase the stature and prestige of the Beta Sigma Chapter here at St. Louis University, the first of two pledgeships will soon be completed. The purpose of two pledge groups is to increase our activity around school and to supplement our many graduating actives with members of the lower classes at the university. The pledge class for the first semester presently stands at 27, however, it is expected that the number taken into the Beta Sigma Chapter will be decreased. This is due to the strict and well-run pledge program instituted by Charles Schneider and Hap Burke, senior and junior wardens, respectively.

The Beta Sigma Chapter of St. Louis University and the Alpha Chi Chapter of Washington University jointly celebrated Founders' Day with a banquet at Medart's Restaurant. Head Master Larry Hild from Beta Sigma Chapter gave a short talk followed by Head Master John Lasley of Alpha Chi Chapter, who then introduced the two guest speakers of the evening. The banquet was a complete success for the 50 members who attended.

The professional program, headed by Co-Chairmen Brothers Unger and Wetzel, has been progressing. To date, four field trips have been taken to various business enterprises throughout the city. For some strange reason the perennial favorite among the students is the tour taken through Anheuser-Busch Brewery. It has been a policy of the Beta Sigma Chapter to try to increase the pledges' understanding of the business world, and this policy has been given ample support by Brother Unger and Brother Wetzel in the form of motion pictures. The picture, "Nuts and Bolts," was shown at the last pledge meeting. It is a history of the used car lot and its function in conjunction with new car selling.

Reminiscing for just a line or two, this writer recalls the good time that was had by all of the actives and their dates at a garden party given at Head Master Larry Hild's home during the summer vacation. Badminton, horseshoe pitching, and softball, plus dancing made the party a very successful one. Also a stag picnic for the alumni and actives was held on July 12 of this year. The highlight of the picnic was a softball game between the alumni and actives. The final score: actives, 10; alumni, 20!! Of course, they were just lucky!

Last week our own Doug O'Neill was awarded an automobile for selling the greatest number of magazine subscriptions in a contest sponsored by the Men's Sodality at the School of Commerce and Finance. The Beta Sigma Chapter of Delta Sigma Pi placed second in the contest between organizations. We are very proud to announce that Robert E. Ude has been named to "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges." Brother Ude, who is an honor student, is president of the Marketing Club and a very active member of the Beta Sigma Chapter.—JAMES W. NOBLE

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

PHI CHAPTER OPENED its second semester of activity since reactivation with a strictly informal rushing party, September 27. As a result of this affair and other rushing activities, we initiated ten new men into the brotherhood of Delta Sigma Pi on November 11. The new Deltasigs, all of them showing good promise, are Paul Earnest, Stan Edmark, Robert Gibson, Henry Heller, Larry Huerta, Henry Jaeger, Frank Kinda, Gene Peregoy, Edward Schaifer, and Joseph Zaterain. The initiation banquet at the Old Dixie Restaurant was well attended by alumni, and an address by Jim Thomson, Assistant Grand Secretary-Treasurer, rounded out a perfect evening.

This semester we are planning an extensive program to make the Deltasigs known on campus. Our own bulletin board has been erected in the newly acquired School of Commerce headquarters, Bridge Hall. The board contains items of interest not only to Deltasigs, but to all students enrolled in the School of Commerce. In line with the recognition program, Head Master Burell Johnson administered a strategic "coup de grace" by hanging the Phi Chapter charter in the office of the dean of the School of Commerce. The dean is a member of a competitive organization.

In order to expedite the acquisition of a fraternity house, we have organized a living group which will begin by obtaining rooms together at a local rooming house. When the group becomes large enough we will proceed to lease our own house. Anticipating a good showing in the "Rose of Deltasig" Contest, many of us have nominated our best girls to represent Phi Chapter in the national contest. After all, with an excessive supply of California-born-and-bred lovelies, how can we lose?

Our first professional tour of the semester took us to the General Motors Division at South Gate. The tour was nothing short of fascinating. For most of us, it was our first realization of the immense problem of planning in a huge industry of this type. Arrangements are being made for tours of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange and Eastside Brewery Cor-poration, both of which should equal the General Motors tour in popularity. At our last professional meeting, November 7, Walter Gerliech, an investment broker from the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, told us of ways and means to invest our hard-earned dollars to the best advantage. Mr. Gerliech, in describing the activities that take place on the Exchange, gave us a vivid preview of what to expect during our next professional tour .-- CHARLES K. ANDERLE

UTAH

SIGMA CHAPTER, at the University of Utah, has its eye on prospective members from among the College of Business students. Indications are that a large percentage of these prospects will be pledged and initiated in ceremonies planned for January 3. The recently reactivated chapter is small, but growing rapidly. Sigma Chapter was installed in 1922, but practically disintegrated when the School of Business at the University of Utah reached a record low during World War II. Dr. E. C. Lorentzen, head of the Department of Management, was largely responsible for reorganization of the group and has directed many of the activities during the past two years. Present trouble in the Far East is taking its Present trouble in the Far East is taking its toll of the membership again. Byron Armstrong was the first member to be recalled into active duty with the navy. One of our most active members, Byron gave up his school garb for navy blues in October.

Highlighting the fall quarter activities was the Founders' Day banquet held in the Royce Room of the Newhouse Hotel in Salt Lake City on November 11. High honors also came to the chapter for the float which they entered in the annual University of Utah Homecoming Parade late in October. In recent years only social fraternities and sororities have been allowed to compete for prizes and placement by exhibiting their floats in the parade, and their house decorations on the campus. the successful acclaim of our float in the parade we feel that now we have helped provide the opening wedge and hope to establish ourselves as a power once more on the campus. Before the war, Sigma Chapter was the top business fraternity on the campus and was also considered one of the top campus activity participating groups.

We are one of the homeless at present but have house building plans on the agenda for the future. However, our main concern this year is to build up our organization. Plans are also under way for the organization and revival of the alumni club of Utah. At present we have 63 alumni in Salt Lake City. Of this group we hope to have an active and strong alumni organization, and thus help to strengthen our chapter. The members that we have in Sigma Chapter at the present are the top of the list in every respect from in-telligence, to friendliness. We feel that we have the reputation for being one of the most friendly and industrious organizations on the University of Utah campus.-COURTNEY L. TRENCH

WISCONSIN

PSI CHAPTER is currently enjoying a full participation in scholastic, professional, athletic, and social programs. The beginning of the fall semester has brought the members of the active chapter closer together and greatly increased the degree of cooperation and harmony. On October 23, "Roundy" Coughlin, noted sports-caster and television star, spoke to Psi Chapter. The story of his life and work as a sports caster proved very interesting. The following week Professor Westing, marketing authority and former member of the Office of Price Administration, discussed inflation and its controls. The interest of the chapter was evidenced by the applause and questions that followed the lecture.

Alumni and current chapter members enthusiastically celebrated the impressive Homecoming victory over Purdue. The renewing of old friendships lent a happy tone to the coffee hour which was held after the game. The weekend was further highlighted by an alumni luncheon and a chapter party. Other social events of the season have included numerous costume parties, as well as an exchange dinner with the Alpha Chi Omega Sorority. The outstanding event of our social season will be a Christmas formal on December 9. Committees have already assured its success by completing elaborate plans.

In order to fill the ranks which will be depleted by a large group of graduating seniors, Psi Chapter, as in the past, held an extensive rushing program. Upon completion of various rushing functions Psi Chapter now boasts of 15 outstanding pledges. Our bowling team, sparked by Bob "Ned Day" Speiring, has won nine out of a possible nine games to take the lead in the intramural race. Many of our best athletes are ineligible to play in intramural contests because they play varsity sports. Nevertheless, our football and volleyball teams ranked high in the season standings. We are eagerly anticipating the winter sports when our strong teams will vie for honors in basketball and hockey.

Psi Chapter is extremely proud of the house's appearance since the addition of new fixtures this semester. Our kitchen has taken on a sparkling appearance because of the purchase of a new stove and refrigerator. The card room, with its new rug and draperies, adds a great deal of comfort to our hours of relaxation. The chapter extends a cordial invitation to all alumni and brothers to stop at the "white pillared palace," 132 Breese Terrace, and meet us. We would like to meet you.— FRITZ PERLWITZ

DENVER

A NEW YEAR HAS STARTED again for Alpha Nu Chapter here at the University of Denver, and we are in the midst of making this, our twenty-fifth anniversary year, the biggest and best period of our existence. Since the last report, a great deal of progress has been made in all phases of our program to make Delta Sigma Pi the most powerful and best rated fraternity on our campus. Election of officers at the end of the spring quarter brought forth a new and able regime under the direction of Brother Donald L. Elisha as our head master.

Many members of the active chapter will be leaving our ranks shortly to join the ranks of businessmen and alumni, and it was necessary to have a large pledge class to compensate for our losses at graduation. An excellent recruiting program resulted in a pledge class of 46 members; all of whom seem to be fine candidates for active membership. The pledge program started off with a picnic in one of the city parks in Denver. We had refreshments, softball and football tournaments and everyone attending had a wonderful time. The second rush function was an informal get-together at a local rendezvous and all actives pitched in to make the prospective members feel at home. The last rush function was a barn party where dancing and refreshments all added up to a good time. On October 18, at a dinner in the Denver Democratic Club, we formally initiated our new pledge class. Alpha Nu Chapter is happy to have them with us.

Homecoming festivities followed closely on our rush functions, and all of us spent a great many hours laboring under the direction of Lloyd Fluke who worked hard and long as chairman of Homecoming decorations. After some sleepless nights, we readied our float for the parade which wound its way through Denver streets on Friday night, November 20. Competition was very keen and the floats in the procession were numerous and very beautiful, and so all of us were proud and happy to find that Alpha Nu Chapter of Delta Sigma Pi had captured third place. As a climax to winning honors for our float, we were informed that our candidate for Homecoming Queen, Miss Jane Newton, was chosen from a field of over 30 contestants to reign over the Homecoming celebrations. Jane is a lovely, petite, blue eyed brunette who hails from Fort Collins, Colorado.

Our Founders' Day banquet was held November 1 and we had as our honored guest, Brother J. D. Thomson, Assistant Grand Secretary-Treasurer. His talk was very en-lightening and enjoyed by all who attended. The alumni turned out en masse for the dinner and many new acquaintances were made during the evening. Much progress has been made by both the alumni members and the active chapters towards a house for Alpha Nu. The trend has been toward a mountain lodge, rather than a house within the city limits, because of the excellent location that Denver has in relation to the Rocky Mountains. Several trips have been made by the members into the mountains in search of suitable locations and several sites are now being discussed for possible use. The search is still going on and we hope to report a decision in the near future.

Elections have just been completed at Denver University and three of Alpha Nu's candidates were swept into office. Those elected are Bob Siegrist, senior class president; Ken Cook, senior class treasurer; and John Arnold, freshman class president. As this report goes to the printer, plans are underway for our annual costume party to be held November 18. This dance, which in years past has been one of the high points in our social program, will be in honor of our new pledge class. Future plans also include a dinner with a speaker from one of the top industrial organizations in the city of Denver, With the start of the new quarter in January, we hope to include many more professional speakers on our schedule of events.—DONALD H. GARDENER

TULSA

IMMEDIATELY FOLLOWING the pledging of 17 new members, the annual Founders' Day Dinner of Delta Sigma Pi was observed by Beta Chi Chapter of the University of Tulsa. A total of 52 enjoyed the dinner which was held at Smith's Restaurant, 18th and Boston Streets in Downtown Tulsa. The guest speaker for the evening was E. L. Stucker, vice president of the National Bank of Tulsa. Mr. Stucker discussed the history of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

The Alumni Club of Tulsa was invited to the dinner and 15 of its members were also present. The officers guiding Beta Chi Chapter for this year include the following: Head Master, Earl Watkins; Chancellor, Bob Hale; Scribe, Floyd Teter; Treasurer, John Thiel; Senior Warden, Waldo Perrigo; and Junior Warden, Jim Gillenwater.—JAY GRIFFIN

MISSISSIPPI

ALPHA PHI CHAPTER at the University of Mississippi celebrated Founders' Day with a banquet at the Mansion, November 13. The newly formed Deltasig quartet provided the entertainment. Members of the quartet are Billy Stephens, Glen Tomlinson, Bob Morrison, and Jack Hatcher. Chapter members, pledges, and their dates attended. This was the chapter's first social of the year, and its success is due chiefly to the efforts of the social committee, headed by Brother Henry Fonville.

A joint professional meeting and banquet was held recently with Phi Gamma Nu, commerce sorority. Plans for the coming year were discussed and a talk was given by Professor G. C. Wiegand on his personal observation of the "European Economic Situation." Dr. Wiegand was born in Germany and has traveled extensively throughout Europe. This is his first year at Ole Miss.

Plans for the annual Commerce Day have begun according to T. J. Stevens, chairman of the commerce day committee. We are working toward a bigger and better Commerce Day this year than ever before. Brother Stevens plans to secure prominent businessmen from all over the country in each of the specialized fields of business to speak to the students in the School of Commerce and Business Administration here. The event is held in the spring each year.

Our best fraternal wishes go to former Dean McDonald K. Horne who left us last July to accept the position as chief economist for the National Cotton Council in Memphis. The duties of Dean at Mississippi were turned over to Dr. Clive F. Dunham who has been on the faculty here for the past 13 years. Brother Dunham was previously chairman of the Department of Accountancy. Louis Vice, past head master of Alpha Phi Chapter, was awarded a life membership in the fraternity in recognition of his work in leading the chapter to a tie for first place in the Chapter Efficiency Contest. Pledging activities this semester were drawn to a very successful close with the initiation of 20 new pledges and three faculty members into the chapter. —WILLIAM FARLEY

SAN FRANCISCO

GAMMA OMICRON CHAPTER at the University of San Francisco celebrated Founders' Day with a luncheon at the Domino Club, in the heart of San Francisco's financial district. Attended by 35 members and ten guests, the event was highlighted by a stimulating talk on sales promotion by Everett Zeigler, sales promotion manager for the J. C. Thompson Company. Credit is due to De La Torre, as head of the chapter social committee, for planning and executing the splendid affair.

On November 7, 1950, a raffle was initiated in order to raise funds for the coming chapter functions. These include: several field trips, a picnic, and a "Rose of Deltasig" dance, among others. We, of Gamma Omicron Chapter, were highly honored to have Dean Roy C. Hall, of the College of Business Administration, purchase the first ticket. The attractive prizes offered included a three-day ski trip to the luxurious Ahwanee Hotel in Yosemite National Park. This would include all expenses for two people at this famed resort. Rudy Kreuzer is the chairman of the efficient ticket sales committee.

J. D. Thomson, Assistant Grand Secretary-Treasurer, was our honored guest at a regular business meeting on November 7, 1950. His stirring talk on future plans for Delta Sigma Pi left our chapter with increased fervor to meet the problems of first-year operations. We wish to thank Brother Thompson for his interest in our chapter.

Our pledging plans call for an initiation of 25 men on April 5, 1950. "We do not wish, however, to sacrifice quality for numbers so we are undertaking a selective screening of applicants," said Brother De Leone, senior warden.—Roy J. DITTAMO

GEORGIA—Kappa

THIS SUMMER KAPPA CHAPTER'S dreams came true. The dam for the lake at Deltasig Lodge has been completed. Some clearing remains to be done around the water line before the lakesite can be allowed to fill with water. We are expecting to complete this project by Christmas, and at that time have a celebration of "the closing of the valve" which will allow the lakesite to fill. The lake will be stocked with fish, equipped with a boat dock, and provided with a sandy beach for bathers.

The fifteenth annual Deltasig Lodge barbecue was held September 16 with an attendance of 225 people. The activities consisted of a softball game between the actives and the alumni which ended in favor of the actives, eight to seven; and a hole-in-one golf tournament won by Brother J. M. Griffith, who drove to within 19 inches of the cup. The food was delicious, and refreshments were abundant. Needless to say, a good time was enjoyed by all.

Another lodge function, the annual Halloween costume party, was a haunting success being attended by more than 70 witches and ghosts. Ed Hale was in charge of this frightening affair. Refreshments were prepared in our newly revamped kitchen. After the opening of the fall quarter, the lodge held its second annual open house. This relatively new affair was enacted for the purpose of aiding new students to become better acquainted with the school program and with the fraternity. It gives us an opportunity to serve the school as well as meet prospective members. The event attracted over 60 persons including members, wives, guests, professors, and administration officials.

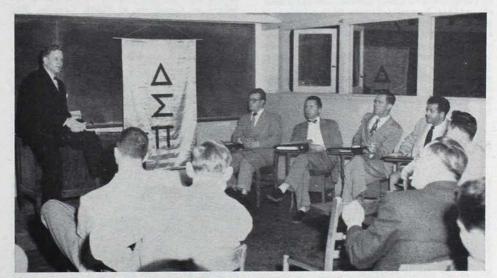

The chapter remained active during the summer with regular professional programs and two chapter business meetings per month. Our professional programs, under the direction of Frank Burgen, were: a movie, "In Balance," which dealt with the economics of a business; a talk on "Civilian Defense" by Atlanta's director of civilian defense, G. W. Phillips; and a talk on "Preaching as a Profession" by Rev. Bevil Jones. A smoker for members and guests was held October 29 at Wooding's Banquet Hall. Joe Mayton, Ph.D., Colonel in the U. S. Army Air Force Intelligence, and Professor of economics at the Atlanta Division, spoke on the world situation. Brother Mayton returned from Germany where he was Gen. Marshall's interpreter at the Yalta Conference,

Kappa Chapter held its Founders' Day banquet on Sunday, November 5, at Wooding's Banquet Hall. A large attendance of both actives and alumni were on hand to enjoy the food and fellowship, and to honor the founders of our great fraternity. Our principal speaker was E. L. Floyd. Other brothers who spoke were Tom Hill, Mort Brewer, Clyde Kitchens, and Head Master Julian Athon. Pete Lockwood was elected chancellor to fill the remaining term of Bill Rice, who was forced to resign for business reasons.—MORRIS CALDWELL

BUFFALO

THE ALPHA KAPPA CHAPTER, University of Buffalo, initiated 14 new brothers on Saturday, October 14, 1950. The Buffalo Canoe club was selected as the initiation site because of its luxurious facilities and added privacy. The new brothers initiated into Delta Sigma Pi were: William G. Arnold, Edward G. Attwood, Howard E. Bell, Robert Blais, John R. Boylan, James S. Cochran, Harold C. Christiansen, Herbert E. Doeing, Louis R. Larsen, Kenneth C. Leitner, Norman W. Manke, Kenneth R. Mitchell, Charles E. Wallace, Jr., and Charles J. Weimer.

A dinner followed the initiation after which Head Master Franklin Tober introduced Ralph Franclemont, Province Officer and Commodore of The Buffalo Yacht Club, as the speaker for the evening.—CHARLES A. BARWELL

TULANE

As GAMMA MU CHAPTER approaches its first birthday on December 4, 1950, its members may look back over a very eventful year of many accomplishments, but one not without misjudgments and errors on the part of some members. It was once said that he is greatest who will admit his mistakes. We, of Gamma Mu Chapter, claim a very successful first year and by profiting from last year's mistakes intend to put our chapter out in front by any standard of measurement.

Activities began this year with a vigorous rushing campaign culminating with an industrial movie and smoker for the interest of the rushees. At the smoker the rushees were introduced to the active members and the chapter officers indoctrinated them in the purpose, activities and requirements of Delta Sigma Pi. After skillful handling on the part of the officers, 17 excellent men were pledged and are at present hard at work learning more about the great fraternity they are about to join. Cheer goes to Brothers Al Anseman and Hal Cothern for nice pledge work.

Professional Program Chairman Art Burroughs and Brother Douglas, have been working diligently on a counselling service for the undergraduate members. They presented an excellent plan for carrying out their program of "A Job for All Graduates," with the aid of Professor Lelan Brown, at a business meeting on October 20. After experimenting with placement aids within the chapter this year it is our hope to extend the service to the entire college.

The Social Committee Chairman, Brother Chouest, has been actively planning a Homecoming-Founders' Day Party on Saturday, November 18, in conjunction with Tulane's Homecoming activities, This party will be held at Frank's Steak House with Courtney the Cat Girl for entertainment, These are only a few of the many planned activities for this year.

In the field of personal achievements, Head Master Henry Montgomery has been awarded an all-expense trip to New York as representative of Louisiana students at the National Association of Manufacturers' Meeting, December 6 to 8. This is quite an honor for one of our brothers to receive.

Of the recent class elections, chapter members have managed to claim six officers. Keith Hotard and Art Burrows took the presidencies of the senior and junior classes; George Palmer and Art Yazmajian were drafted into vice presidencies of the student body and the junior class; and Richard Mills and Reserve Pinner won as secretary-treasurer of the student body and of the senior class by large majorities. John Trauth and Dick Mills also fill offices in the Tulane chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management. Congratulations Mr. President and Mr. Secretary.—PAUL DAS-TUGUE

NORTH CAROLINA

ALPHA LAMBDA CHAPTER at the University of North Carolina started the fall with the initiation of nine men. This was the first time in the history of the chapter that a pledge class was held during the summer. We found it to be very successful and are proud of our new brothers. Immediately following the initiation we began rushing and have pledged 16 men, who are well under way in the pledge program.

Founders' Day was celebrated jointly by Gamma Nu Chapter of Wake Forest and Alpha Lambda Chapter with a banquet at the Carolina Inn. Brother Thomas H. Carroll, new dean of the School of Business Administration at the University of North Carolina, was the principal speaker. He spoke on "A Profes-sional Business Fraternity in a Time of Crisis." He expressed the hope that the efforts of the members and "other thoughtful men and women of good will, both here and abroad, will lead to an improved interpretation of social, economic, and business affairs so that anniversaries such as we are celebrating may be held in a more peaceful and hopeful world atmosphere." We were pleased to have 15 of our faculty brothers present, and we are looking forward to closer cooperation with them in the future. The occasion also marked the twenty-fifth anniversary of our chapter. In commemoration, a silver tray was presented by Scribe Joe Callahan to Head Master Bob Herring, who accepted it in behalf of the chapter.

Each fall, Alpha Lambda Chapter has open house for its alumni and guests during the weekends. Besides brothers of the Gamma Nu Chapter, many of our old brothers have visited us this fall. We feel that they will give their full support when we are ready to look for our own house; and if our building fund continues to grow as it has in the past two years, it shouldn't be long now.

Our professional program this fall is expected to be the best yet. Our first trip will be to Winston-Salem where we will tour the DuPlan plant and the P. H. Hanes Company. Last spring we visited the DuPont plant in Martinsville, Virginia, and saw the manu-facture of raw nylon. In the DuPlan plant, the nylon is finished and readied for the manufacture of nylon fabrics. It will be interesting to observe the organization of the plant and also to continue our study of the process of making nylon. In addition to this trip we will have two professional meetings. We feel fortunate in having Oswald Knauth of Macy's Department Store, New York City, to speak at our first meeting. Last year Alpha Lambda Chapter fell short of its quota in the Chapter Efficiency Contest, but this year we are determined to reach a final score of 100,000.—JAMES T. GOODING

KENT STATE

BETA PI CHAPTER initiated 19 men into its brotherhood on April 22. The formal initiation climaxed 12 weeks of a busy pledging period. The ritual team was composed of our brothers from Beta Tau Chapter and members of the Northeastern Alumni Club. After the day-long, impressive ceremony, the brotherhood sat down to a delicious banquet and revewed the day's activities in a lighter vain. Guest speaker for the evening was E. H. Hartley of the Halle Brothers Company in Cleveland, who presented one of the most interesting talks of the season. Just a few weeks after initiation, six members from Beta Pi Chapter headed for Chicago and one of the most memorable events of their lives. The Central Regional Convention was truly a momentous occasion, and the friendships made in Chicago will never be forgotten by the brothers who attended.

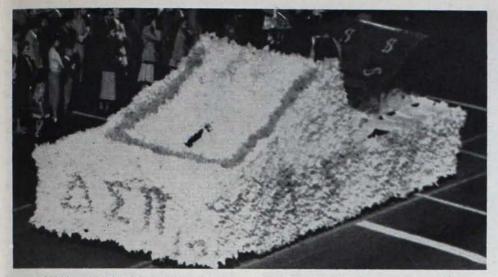

This year we entered a boat in the Rowboat Regatta, an annual affair at Kent State University, and placed third in a field of 15. This spring quarter it will be first place or bust. The final professional program of the year was a banquet held at the Semlar Hotel in Cuyahoga Falls. Guest speaker of the evening was Brother Arden L. Allyn, dean of the College of Business Administration at Kent State. His inspiring talk was entitled, "What Society Expects of You."

Our biggest social event of the year was held on May 12; the annual chapter birthday dinner dance. This year the affair was held at the Wade Park Manor Hotel in Cleveland. Dinner was served at 7:30 and was followed by dancing until 2:30. Miss Jody Griffiths was crowned "Rose of Deltasig" during intermission, and Theodore Krum, retiring Chapter advisor, was presented with a jeweled pin as a token of gratitude from the chapter. The election of officers for this year took place at the last business meeting of the spring quarter. Also elected was W. Harold Martin, professor of accounting, as chapter advisor.

After a summer-long search, and the elimination of competition of other "house hungry" fraternities, the housing committee came up with a house for Beta Pi Chapter. Our house is located in the best location on the campus, being within a ten minute walk to any classroom. The other brothers spent the summer in a variety of occupations; some worked, some continued their hot pursuit of education and others just relaxed. During the vacation period, three meetings were held as well as one social gathering. The main purpose of these meetings was to discuss the progress of the housing committee, and to set up a tentat ve program for this fall quarter.

The week before the opening of the fall quarter, the house cleaning detail moved in. After a week of flying scrub brushes, buckets and bottles, the house was in ton condition for the membership to invade. Most of the necessary furniture came with the house and the remaining odds and ends were picked up in the weeks that followed. At present, the brothers are engaged in painting the exterior of the house on a cooperative basis, and we hope to have it finished in time for the Homecoming festivities.

The appointment of John Broos as house manager, and the election of Vince Chiarucci as house treasurer were the first items to be cleared off the agenda at the first business meeting of the fall quarter. The pledging program was presented and plans for the first smokers were evolved at this meeting. Brother Sweeney announced that a field trin to the Federal Reserve Bank in Cleveland has been arranged for December 5, and the date for our

SIGMA CHAPTER'S attractive entry in the University of Utah Homecoming Parade.

Founders' Day celebration is November 9. Homecoming Day at Kent State on November 4 will find the door of the Delta Sigma Pi house wide open to alumni and guests. Details of the refreshments and the decorations are now being worked out, and the committee has promised their brothers a first place winner.

The brothers of Beta Pi were happy to learn that they had reached the top in the Chapter Efficiency Contest and had won for Ted Mija a Life Membership in Delta Sigma Pi. Spring and summer graduation took quite a toll at Beta Pi Chapter. Altogether 19 men were graduated. In closing, we of Beta Pi Chapter wish to extend to every chapter an open invitation to visit us at our new house. We shall be very happy to receive our brothers at any time.—VINCENT CHIARUCCI

DRAKE

AT THEIR OPENING MEETING this fall the members of Alpha Iota Chapter played host to our Assistant Grand Secretary-Treasurer, James D. Thomson. The visit was made especially interesting by his presentation of the new Delta Sigma Pi slide collection. Chapter members were very enthusiastic over the possibilities in using the slides to inform prospective pledges as to what the fraternity could hold in store for them. Returning Deltasigs found out also that besides losing several members through graduation, two more were recalled to the armed forces. They were former Head Master Bill Swartzendruber to the army, and Bob Heafner to the navy.

Founders' Day combined several activities into one fine evening. A dinner was held at the Wakonda Country Club here in Des Moines. The speaker for the evening was Dr. Henry G. Harmon, president of Drake University who had a spirited message for the student turning businessman. This was followed by the pledging ceremony. Sixteen new men were pledged.

Then, as a final event of the evening, Dean L. E. Hoffman of Drake's College of Business Administration was honored on his completion of 30 years' service to the school. Dean Hoffman is a charter member of Alpha Iota Chapter. He was presented a combination humidor and pipe rack which bore a gold plate appropriately inscribed.—ROCER MUELLER

TEMPLE

IN SPITE OF the loss of more than 20 active brothers through graduation last June and September, Omega Chapter at Temple University participated in full professional, athletic and social programs during the fall and expects to continue doing so through the coming months. The decline in membership due to graduation was made up for to a great extent by an extremely large group of pledges who have now entered our ranks. Naturally, much of the credit for their preparation must be given to our Goatmaster, Brother Jim Stahle, and his assistant, Brother Bob Butler.

One of the highlights of our fall schedule was the Homecoming program which brought many alumni Deltasigs back to the campus and to the chapter house. A great majority of them were able to be present at our Homecoming party planned by Jack Greenawalt, chairman of the social committee. It was estimated that approximately 90 alumni brothers and guests visited us during the course of the evening.

evening. The Founders' Day celebration, held jointly each year by Beta Nu and Omega Chapters, headed our list of activities in November. Sponsored by the Philadelphia Alumni Club of Delta Sigma Pi, the celebration featured three speakers of particular interest to Deltasigs. We heard from Grand President Walter C. Sehm, Alpha Epsilon, Minnesota; Grand Secretary-Treasurer H. G. Wright, Beta, Northwestern; and Dr. Stanley F. Chamberlin, Omega, Temple. Dr. Chamberlin, professor of finance at Temple University, is still active in chapter affairs and would probably win easily in a contest to determine one of our most popular alumni brothers.

As is probably the case in other chapters, the call to active military service has begun to decrease our membership. Tom Seabourne and Jim Love, both members of the Marine Corps Reserve, were assigned to units last summer, and others expect to leave at the close of the current school year.

Always at the helm in affairs of this kind, Pat Pegg served again this semester as cochairman of the Inter-Fraternity Ball, held November 18 at the Adelphi Hotel. He and his fellow committee members did a fine job in planning what has become one of Temple University's outstanding activities.—GEORGE A. HAVILAND

BAYLOR

BACK TO WACO and to school again! On September 18, 1950, Deltasigs assembled at Old Main to initiate the new school year. After a busy summer vacation all of the brothers were happy to be back within the fellowship of Delta Sigma Pi. Events of the spring quarter and activities for the coming year were discussed. The first professional meeting of the fraternity was held on September 25, 1950, in the Men's Lounge of the Union Building. Chuck Everett, alumni member, was the speaker and his message was enjoyed by all. This meeting was held in connection with a smoker and the prospective members were the honored guests for the occasion.

New members and nominees for the "Rose of Deltasig" for 1950-1951 were entertained in the North Lounge of the Union Building on Monday, September 25, 1950. At this meeting the new members and the 11 "Rose" nominees were greeted by the officers of the fraternity for the fall quarter. Miss Carolyn Reed, fiancee of the headmaster, and Miss Jean Roach, last year's "Rose" served the guests. From among the nominees, Miss Joy Leming was selected as the "Rose" for the school year 1950-1951. Miss Leming, a freshman from New Braunfels, Texas, is majoring in education. She will represent the fraternity on all occasions during the year. Miss Leming was informed of her selection in a very unique way. Members of the fraternity and the previous "Rose" went to her dorm and presented her with a bouquet of roses and then sang to her the fraternity song. Miss Leming is a very attractive girl and will represent Deltasigs well in all events this year.

September 30, 1950 found the members of Delta Sigma Pi at a party at the Fish Pond honoring the new "Rose." Members, guests and alumni enjoyed the evening very much. The party was held on the evening of the opening of the new Baylor football stadium. Two of our brothers are doing their full share to help bring football honors to the Baylor Bears. Frank Boydstun is the 1950 football captain and is a possible choice for all-southwest conference full-back. Hank Dickerson is seeking his fourth letter on the varsity squad as the extra point and field goal specialist. We are very proud of these two brothers and feel that they will always bring honor to our organization. Brother Boydstun also has the honor of being the president of the student body of the entire school. He was elected at the close of last school year.

the close of last school year. Plans for the fall quarter are going ahead as scheduled. Brother Martin and Brother Stephens have been appointed float chairmen for the Homecoming Parade on October 28. The Baylor Homecoming Parade is one of the finest in the southwest and the competition among the floats is very keen. Delta Sigma Pi has always rated high in the past, winning at one time first place for three years straight. It is hoped that we will be able to win again this year. Brother Templeton has been appointed Homecoming breakfast chairman. The Homecoming activities mean a lot both to active and to alumni members. Each year many old friendships are renewed and many new ones made.

Plans for the coming year in the intramural program have been turned over to our intramural director, Richard L. Griffith. Delta Sigma Pi won the all-school intramural trophy last year and it is hoped that we can do as well this year. It is quite an honor to win the trophy as points are given for all sports during the entire year. In our fraternity we like to have as many as possible of the members to compete. It gives each of the brothers an opportunity to do his share for the fraternity. Also, speaking of honors, we are happy to announce that several of our brothers have been selected as nominees for Baylor's Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. They include Frank Boydstun, David Wicker, Tommy Parker, Hank Dickerson and Henry SoRelle.

We are very proud of the record that the Beta Iota Chapter has made in the new Baylor Business School organization. Neophyte Jud Williams has been elected to the presidency of the Business School, and Brother Milton Jones, David Wicker, and Gordon Carrington have been elected to the executive council. The new organization is made up of juniors, seniors and graduates in the Business School. The purpose of this new organization is to bring about a closer fellowship between the faculty and students and also for the Business School to be recognized as one of the main schools of the university.—WILLIAM B. FOMBY

NORTHWESTERN—Zeta

NEW LIVING ROOM FURNISHINGS and a renovated recreation room greeted the brothers of Zeta Chapter when they returned this fall, thanks mainly to the hard work during the summer of Bill Farfan and Hank Sayers. Under the guidance of Senior Warden Don Biemdiek, the chapter has since pledged 18 men, providing us with a fine pledge class to start the year. Our first social event of the year was formal pledging, and the new pledges received a very rousing introduction to Delta Sigma Pi.

Since then our social program has provided us with a steak fry, and a wonderful fall formal. This last event was notable particularly for the unusually large number of beautiful girls who were present. We really shouldn't boast about this, of course, but the next party will be an informal dance near the end of the quarter, and we naturally expect to do just as well. Our plans for the future include the Rose Formal, to be held after initiation next January 27.

The brothers who drove up to the Wisconsin game received a fine welcome from the brothers of Psi Chapter, and we'll long have warm memories of the party they threw that night. Many thanks, Deltasigs. Zeta Chapter captured the championship in its intramural football league, due to a lot of fine spirit and some excellent coaching on the part of Brother Norm Schroeder. So far we are undefeated and untied, and we hope to stay that way throughout the league playoffs. Our basketball team looks promising this year, too, if the boys can get into condition. Our individual sports standout is Brother "Gorgeous" George Schuman, who has reached the semi-finals in his attempts to capture a wrestling crown for the house. "Gorgeous," who has never wrestled before in his life, looked very impressive in disposing of his first three opponents.

Several of the brothers appeared on television on a local Chicago station, because a newsreel photographer (steered toward the Deltasig house by Brother Vern Giese) wanted some shots of Northwestern students constructing their Homecoming decorations. Our decoration this year, a scene in which a model Ohio State ship was sunk in our Dyche Stadium by tremendous explosions, was easily the best seen around here in a long time, but a driving hail storm the night of the judging ruined our chances for a trophy. Brothers Earl Gomersall, the idea man, and Gail DuMontelle, the construction expert, were responsible for the decoration, and if they manage to better it next year, we'll win first prize easily.

John A. Milliken, of Industrial Surveys incorporated, appeared at our first professional meeting this fall, and described the techniques used by his firm in the field of consumer research. Using some of his company's charts and statistics as illustrations, Mr. Milliken explained just what information was obtained, how it was analyzed and what use it was to the company that happened to request it. Industrial Surveys has achieved marked success in forecasting and recording sales trends, and the lecture provided a clear conception of the methods they use in their work.

The most important single event at Zeta Chapter this fall will be the initiation of Joseph M. McDaniel, the new dean of Northwestern University's School of Commerce, as an honorary member of Delta Sigma Pi. The initiation took place November 16. After the ceremony, held in conjunction with the Chicago Alumni Club, there was an address by Dean McDaniel. Zeta Chapter is very proud to welcome its new brother into the fraternity, and we extend our best wishes and hopes for a close friendship in the future.—EARL BURGESS

CALIFORNIA

RHO CHAPTER at the University of California, still in the throes of reactivation, has managed so far this year to have an active program. Biggest events on Rho Chapter's calendar have been participating in the founding of the two other San Francisco Bay Area chapters. Gamma Xi Chapter at the University of Santa Clara was first, and a few months later came the founding of Gamma Omicron Chapter at the University of San Francisco.

Delegates from the University of California took active parts in both events as members of the installation team and as helpers with the high tribunal. The social events following both installations were certainly enjoyed by all, and the fine hospitality of the two chapters was appreciated. Of course the presence of Grand Secretary-Treasurer H. G. Wright of Chicago, added a good deal of sparkle to both events.

Rho Chapter's smaller group is trying to build up membership and recently engaged in a pledge training program with ten new pledges—all valuable assets to Delta Sigma Pi. The formal initiation of the neophytes was held on Sunday, November 19, and this initiation will be followed by the rushing of yet another group.

Besides the regular business and pledge training meetings, the chapter hopes to have several programs of movies from the University of California film library, and informal talks by local businessmen, or by members of the faculty of the School of Business Administration. The alumni club, which also is but recently formed, will doubtless be of great help to the chapter and will serve to further stimulate interest in Delta Sigma Pi.—JEROME A. SMITH

NORTHWESTERN—Beta

THREE EXCEPTIONALLY WELL PLANNED rushing smokers started our fall semester. Dick Rossberg did a commendable job by obtaining such outstanding speakers as the noted radio announcers, Jack Brickhouse and Harry Creighton, and the nationally famous bowler Paul Krumske. Head Master Don Warren added the extra ounce of success by providing us with exciting pro-football films. This combination of speaking talent and pictures helped greatly to obtain the 26 desirable pledges initiated on Sunday, October 15.

Six consecutive games were won by Beta Chapter's steam rolling football team to win the league championship, thus adding another trophy to decorate the house. These victories put feathers in the caps of Team Captain Dick Rossberg and Athletic Chairman Louis Glasscock, not to mention the swell job done by the team.

Two goals were more than accomplished by the Bouncing Ball, a dance given by Beta Chapter at Lewis Towers for the dual purpose of raising funds to buy a badly needed ventilating fan for the meeting room and to promote good will on campus. More than 425 people came to listen to the music of Jimmy Richards Combo. Through the cooperative efforts of Brothers Bob Lilly, Howie Nelson, Bob Rebeck and Bob Swanson this tremendous success was realized, inducing talk of the Bouncing Ball becoming an annual event.

One Sunday afternoon open house was given for a campus sorority this semester. Under the able guidance of Bob Lilly, the social chairman, decorations, refreshments, and music were the order of the day. Our first open house was well attended and, according to all comments, was a huge success.—JACK L. METCALF

PENNSYLVANIA

N ADDITION to the activities our chapter is currently engaged in, we wish to announce that ground breaking ceremonies for the new building which the University of Pennsylvania will erect for its Wharton School of Finance and Commerce were held on the campus at 11:00 o'clock on Saturday morning, October 28. The new structure will occupy a site given to the university by the late Joseph Wharton, who founded the Wharton School. Following selections by the University Band and an invocation, which was given by the Reverend Edward G. Harris, chaplain of the university, the introductory address was given by President Harold E. Stassen, former governor of the State of Minnesota, Addresses were also given by Dr. Alfred H. Williams, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia, who is a former dean of the Wharton School and general chairman of the Wharton School Building Committee, and by Dr. C. Canby Balderston, dean of the school.

Mrs. Harrison S. Morris, of Philadelphia, daughter of the late Joseph Wharton, unveiled a large perspective of the new building, and the ground was broken by Dr. S. S. Huebner, professor of insurance and commerce in the Wharton School, and Harold R. Stern, of Philadelphia, a Wharton senior. Dr. Huebner, a national figure in the field of insurance education, is now teaching in the Wharton School for the forty-seventh year, and Stern is president of the Wharton Student Advisory Council. Made necessary by the steady expansion of the Wharton School's instructional and research activities and the growth in its enrollment, the new building will cost in excess of $2,000,000, slightly more than half of which has been raised thus far in a national campaign.

The structure will be of red brick and limestone above a granite base, and will conform with other buildings recently erected on the university campus. Except for the central section, which will have four floors, the building will be three stories in height. The Wharton School, which was founded in 1881 as America's pioneer school for business education at the collegiate level, has been housed in Logan Hall on the university campus since 1904, when it had only 226 students. Today, there are enrolled as full-time candidates for degrees a total of approximately 3,000 undergraduate and graduate students, the latter studying in the Wharton Graduate Division of Business and Governmental Administration. Another 2,800 students are en-rolled on part-time in the Evening School of Accounts and Finance, in which instruction is given by members of the Wharton School's teaching staff, which now numbers nearly 250.

At the recent Founders' Day dinner, attended by the Beta Nu Chapter of the University of Pennsylvania and Omega Chapter of Temple University, which was held on Friday, November 17, at the Sylvania Hotel in Philadelphia, we were privileged to have as our guest speaker Grand President Walter C. Sehm, who spoke on the topic of "Education for What." Grand Secretary-Treasurer H. G. Wright, Dr. Stanley Chamberlain of Temple University, and H. Eugene Heine, Esq., who acted as toastmaster, were also present, for which the Beta Nu Chapter expresses its sincerest appreciation. They really did their part in making a pleasant evening a memorable occasion and one that is not likely to be forgotten for a long time to come.—GILBERT R. MCELROY

BROTHER LILLY enthusiastically selling tickets for the Bouncing Ball, an annual affair sponsored by Beta Chapter at Northwestern University.

OHIO STATE

NU CHAPTER continues to maintain its high scholastic standing at Ohio State University. For the 1949-1950 school year, the active members accumulated the second highest point hour of fraternities on the campus. The pledge classes outdid the active members by receiving a trophy from the Council of Pledge Trainers for maintaining the highest pledge point hour on campus.

Our first social activity of the year was a smoker held on October 27, to introduce to the active members, men who have expressed an interest in becoming members of Delta Sigma Pi. The smoker was a great success with all those attending having a very en-joyable time. It is hoped that this function will bring new members into our chapter. On November 4, 12 actives made the trek from Columbus to Chicago and Evanston, Illinois, to attend the football game between Ohio State and Northwestern. Besides enjoying an Ohio State victory we had the opportunity to greet our brothers of Zeta Chapter. We again wish to express our appreciation for the hospitality displayed by Zeta Chapter, especially since they were busily engaged in Homecoming activities. Our plans for functions in the near future include another smoker, initiation on November 19 at the Fort Hayes Hotel, which will bring ten new members into our brotherhood, and our Homecoming dance on November 25 following the football game between the Buckeyes and Michigan's Wolverines. On December 10 we will celebrate the twenty-ninth anniversary of our chapter's installation and also the fortythird anniversary of the founding of Delta Sigma Pi, with a banquet at the Columbus Athletic Club.

The speaker at the first professional meeting of the quarter was Orville Jones, Regional Educational Director of the C.I.O. Mr. Jones presented some of labor's views on the labormanagement problem. The second professional speaker was Mr. Mead, State of Ohio Director of Civil Service, who told of opportunities in state civil service work. Brother Ernest E. Mitchell who is in charge of the professional programs is planning equally interesting programs for future meetings.

The chapter was not too successful in intramural football this season. Opening the season with a 7-0 victory, hopes were high for adding another trophy to our collection, but a long pass by the opposition on the last play of the second game proved disastrous and when the season ended, two defeats overshadowed one lone victory. Despite our two losses, much football talent was displayed with special mention going to the hard charging line, the pitching arm of Brother Pobst, and the running of "swivel hips" Dougherty. Except for a leg injury to our player-coach Brother Linville, we escaped the serious injuries which have plagued us the past seasons.

Recent installation to chapter offices include Senior Warden James W. Thompson, and Junior Warden William L. Henderson. The chapter also is fortunate to welcome as Faculty Advisor, Leo Dale Stone. The end of the autumn quarter means the beginning of alumni standing for Head Master Clarence Dougherty, Robert R. Freda, Edmond A. Graves, and John R. Hadnett, whose brothers join in hope for their success in the commercial world.—ROBERT SWARTZ

GEORGIA-Pi

PI CHAPTER was hit hard by June graduation, and we find ourselves with 26 actives, the smallest number that we have had in some years. We have set our main goals this year to building our chapter back to normal size and strength, and to attaining 100,000 points in the Chapter Efficiency Contest. We began our rushing program with a wiener roast at the chapter house which was attended by the brothers and some 30 rushees. Our rushing was culminated by a smoker at the Georgian Hotel, with Professor John Burke of the School of Business Administration as the principal speaker. Our efforts netted us 23 good Deltasig pledges, which gives us a good start in our rebuilding effort.

As for the Chapter Efficiency Contest, Head Master Lou Thompson and all of the brothers of Pi Chapter are determined that we will come out on top again this year. We have attained the maximum 100,000 points for the last several years, and are already well on the way this year. For our fall professional program we have been providing every other speaker for the meetings of the Economics Society of the University of Georgia, Delta Sigma Pi is well represented in the Economics Society, and at present Brother Bill Hyde is its president. Founders' Day was celebrated October 29, with a banquet in the luxurious dining hall of the Holman Hotel. The banquet was well attended and a huge success thanks to the efforts of Social Chairman Young and principal speaker Brother Eugene Cook, attorney general of the state of Georgia.

Pi Chapter is again out in front in the sports world. At present we are leading the race for the President's Cup, which is presented to the over-all winner in all sports in our league. We placed second in touch foothall, and are now leading the league in volleyball and ping pong. We hope to have the President's Cup on our mantel at the end of the school year.—KENNETH V. DAWES

MARQUETTE

DELTA CHAPTER has a new house; not just a house, but the best at Marquette. You might think that this is a biased statement. It is, but nevertheless it is true. On November 11 we entertained our first guests. The occasion was Homecoming. By this time we had completed our decorating and were prepared to entertain and welcome all of the alumni who made the acquisition of this home possible. They were well satisfied with the state of affairs. Jim Harwood contributed to the success of the Homecoming festivities by entertaining us with the music of his band. The house was well decorated, and on the mantel we had a new attraction. John Wolf with the aid of actives and pledges con-structed the winning float in the Homecoming Parade, and so the main attraction was our new trophy.

We had one other social affair this semester. It was a Halloween party. Jerry Leonard, master of festivities, decorated the house with pumpkins, cornstalks, skeletons, witches and many other Halloween traditionals. All of the members wore costumes. We were honored with a visit by Brother Thomson from The Central Office in Chicago. He informed us of the recent progress of Delta Sigma Pi, and showed us slides of various Delta Sigma Pi activities. He also treated us to a preview of the new DELTASIG covers.

An alumnus, Dick Cimpl, addressed us at our first professional meeting this semester. He spoke about "Title Guarantee Insurance." We have more speakers on the agenda for our professional meetings, and are sure that they will enhance our education. At our smokers we had a record turnout of men interested in pledging. Since then we have pledged 33, and Gary Varrick, the senior warden, is preparing them for membership.— EDMUND L. WAGONER

FLORIDA STATE

BACK TO SCHOOL AGAIN! On September 27, 1950, 18 Deltasigs assembled at the Student Union to initiate the new school term. After a busy summer, all of our brothers were happy to be back within the bonds of fellowship of Delta Sigma Pi. Gamma Lambda Chapter is enjoying a full program of activity under the capable leadership of Head Master Watkins.

During the spring quarter, Gamma Lambda Chapter sponsored a Business Machines Show. This was the first time a show of this kind was presented at Florida State University and it was highly acclaimed by students, faculty and participating businessmen. Much of the success was due to the committee headed by Brother Cornbrooks. This committee put a lot of time and effort into the show and much of the prestige gained by Delta Sigma Pi is due this committee. Plans are already being made for a larger show to be held sometime in May. As a direct result of this show, we pledged five men before summer vacation.

Gamma Lambda Chapter, badly hit by graduation, is concentrating on sophomore and first semester junior pledges in the hope of strengthening and building up the chapter. In collaboration with another professional fra-ternity, a reception was held for the benefit of meeting students in the Department of Commerce. From the students that we met and talked to, 20 were chosen to be rushed. A fish fry was held at Lake Bradford. This party has gone down in history as one of the best ever given by the Deltasigs. The credit for the fine food and service goes to Bill Young, and his committee, Brothers Breland and Cowan. Too bad we only bring pledges in twice a year. From this group, nine men were pledged, all of whom are potential assets to Delta Sigma Pi. Our present pledges will be initiated on December 3, in conjunction with our first birthday celebration. Initiation will be followed by a banquet celebrating both these important events. Founders' Day was celebrated with a banquet at the White Kitchen Restaurant on the Quincy Highway. All memhers and pledges were present, as well as five alumni.

Gamma Lambda Chapter helped contribute to Florida State's Homecoming festivities by participating in the parade. Many actives and pledges contributed time and energy to the seemingly endless job of decorating the float. Brothers Norfleet, Young and Cowan, as well as Pledge Iacuzzi, are to be highly commended for their unceasing efforts on the float construction. Although it did not place in the extremely keen competition, the float nevertheless focused favorable attention on the name of Delta Sigma Pi.

Our first professional meeting of the year was held at the Student Union, October 18. Mr. Weale, associate professor in the Department of Commerce, spoke to us on "Effective Thinking and Rationalization." A question and answer period was followed by a short social. Our second professional meeting will be held shortly with Brother Breland, treasurer, giving a talk on chapter finances.

We are taking an active part in the interfraternity intramural sports and have high hopes of winning the interfraternity crown. One of the immediate aims of Gamma Lambda Chapter is the achievement of a perfect score in the Chapter Efficiency Contest. We should have no trouble in scoring 100,000 points this year. All actives have shown keen interest in bringing our total number of points beyond last year's total.—ERNEST K. DICKEY

WAYNE

GAMMA THETA CHAPTER at Wayne University held two meetings during the summer which were quite well attended. A picnic was also held at Cranberry Lake, outside of Pontiac, at which hot dogs, baseball, and swimming were in order. Members helped Brother Gainer celebrate his wedding on September 4. The fall semester began with 20 men attending the rush party on September 27, at which Head Master Carty, Brother Hovis, and Brother Komray spoke on the advantages of membership in Delta Sigma Pi. The first social event of the semester was held at Union Hall in Detroit; dancing was enjoyed by members, pledges, and their dates.

by members, pledges, and their dates. This promises to be a most active year, both in professional and social activities. Gamma Theta Chapter is participating in inter-fraternity football, basketball, baseball, and bowling leagues. The first professional meeting was held on October 11, at which time Frank Burgess, who is divisional collection manager for Finance Systems, Inc., spoke on the topic, "The Collection Routine."

Several members of Gamma Theta Chapter attended the installation of the recent Gamma Rho Chapter at the University of Detroit. An educational tour of the Pfeiffer Brewing Company was accomplished on October 19; we were shown the complete process of making beer from the unloading of the corn to bottling. At our pledge ritual on October 25. Brother Bouser, of Theta Chapter at the University of Detroit, addressed the assembled group of members and pledges on the value of belonging to a professional fraternity such as Delta Sigma Pi. He stressed the important fact that a person can get only as much out of the fraternity as he puts into it.

Founders' Day was celebrated with a semiformal dinner dance on November 11 at the Jefferson Room of the Hotel Whittier in Detroit. Dinner was served at 7:30 p.m., followed by dancing to the music of the band of one of our pledges. Two of our members, Brothers Karr and Lambe, are being accepted into Beta Gamma, business administration honor society, of which Brother Lenz, another of our members, is vice president. A campus-wide "Rose of Deltasig" Contest is under way which will make the name of Delta Sigma Pi known and respected over the whole campus at Wayne University.—ROBERT A. LENZ

NEBRASKA

ALPHA DELTA CHAPTER of Delta Sigma Pi celebrated Founders' Day at a pledging smoker held Wednesday, November 8, in the Student Union Building of the University of Nebraska. The movies and skits given as entertainment were thoroughly enjoyed by actives, pledges, and prospective pledges alike. And speaking of prospective pledges, we had a fine group show up at the smoker. We are looking forward to many of them joining our fraternity in the near future. Burdette Luckert, our ace photographer, has been busy promoting the interests of our fraternity. Students in the Social Science Building may view samples of his handy work as they walk past the Delta Sigma Pi bulletin board. Keep up the good work, Burdette.

Dick Michael, chairman of the professional committee, announces that he is planning an industrial tour of Omaha soon for the Alpha Delta Chapter. This tour promises to be as educational and interesting as the one we went on last spring so there should be a large attendance of both actives and pledges. Our Delta Sigma Pi bowling team seems to be doing all right this year. Last year we won the trophy in bowling, and now the latest reports this year say that we are at the top of our league with a 9-0 record. Just heard that Lloyd Fritzle from Alpha Eta Chapter of the University of South Dakota is now in Lincohn as the representative of General Motors' Finance Plan at DuTeau Motors. Congratulations, Lloyd, on your success.

A rather torrid discussion was held on the house problem. Last spring a committee was appointed to look into the possibility of renting a house. When the chapter met again this fall, however, it rejected all suggestions of renting a house at the present time. It was felt that due to the drafting of so many college students there would not be enough members to warrant renting a house. We hope it will not be too far in the future before we can have a house in which to conduct our chapter's activities.—Owen Hock

PENN STATE

ALPHA GAMMA CHAPTER opened one of the most glorious years of its history at Penn State. The Grand Council was represented by past Grand President Allen L. Fowler, who attended our meeting. After the meeting we journeyed across campus to the Temporary Student Union Building where refreshments were served and a social facultystudent mixer was held. During the mixer, we were honored with a short talk by Brother Fowler, followed by a few words by President Eisenhower.

While only 36 brothers returned to campus, and some of them are threatened to be called to serve their country in the near future, the brothers are strongly united under the leadership of our capable new Head Master, Brother Phillips. We opened the year with high hopes and plans and already we have rapidly completed some of the larger tasks. Our pledge class has been a very promising one, and we have planned to hold a formal initiation ceremony on Monday evening, November 13.

In order to bolster our financial standing we have planned to raffle a portable typewriter next month. A committee has been set up to put the plan in operation and tickets have been printed. Several social mixers have been held and a "Rose of Deltasig" dance has been suggested for one of the main activities of next month. Arrangements have been made for a program of guest speakers to be sponsored by Alpha Gamma Chapter. Another chapter newsletter has been suggested, and a committee has been set up to arrange for the publication to be released next spring. A noted growing interest in our activities has been displayed by the faculty members of Alpha Gamma Chapter, and their support has built our organization to a new and higher pinnacle on our campus. Hitting first place in the Chapter Efficiency Contest again last year has set a challenge which we plan to take in our stride. Hence, with many great achievements already completed, we expect this to be another very successful year in the history of Alpha Gamma Chapter .--- CHESTER A. REED

WESTERN RESERVE

UNDER THE DIRECTION of Brother Earl Watson, the professional activities of Beta Tau Chapter of Western Reserve University are progressing as well as planned.

On October 18, the chapter celebrated its birthday with a luncheon at Little Ted's Restaurant. William Gilman, professor of industry, was the guest speaker. In addition to being the chapter's birthday, it was also Brother Gilman's birthday and he was presented with a birthday cake. A smoker was held on October 26 at the University Club with David Davies of The Brewing Corporation of America as the principal speaker. His speech was on "Public Relations in Industry." The Deltasigs were invited to a plant tour at the Carling Brewery by Mr. Davies. The tour is planned for the latter part of December with full attendance expected. Others tours are also planned.

"Careers in Business," a series of panel discussions on various phases of business by prominent businessmen, had its first panel on industry on November 6. George Piccoli of Associated Industries and William Hermann of American Steel and Wire were the principal members of the panel. Later in November a panel is being planned on statistics, with panels in accounting, marketing, and banking and finance to follow. Brother C. Wilson Randle, dean of the School of Business Administration, gives invaluable aid to the professional committee on these panels. Much praise is deserved by Brother Watson and his committee consisting of Edward Lang, Frank Stagnito, and Leonard Horning. Ed Soltis is working on a similar program carried to the local high schools with members of Delta Sigma Pi acting as panel participants.

Cleveland College, the School of Business Administration of Western Reserve University, has a half-hour program on television every afternoon during the week. It is planned to have the Deltasigs on this program for a full week sometime in January. One of the topics to be discussed is "How the Fraternity Benefits the College Student." William Stofko is in charge of the committee to put the program on. We, of Beta Tau Chapter, feel that Brother Stofko and his committee, Edward Lang, Bill Jones, Norman Bodnar and Frank Stagnito, will do well in representing the School of Business Administration and Delta Sigma Pi.

Head Master Patterson, Senior Warden Boyer, and Junior Warden Bodnar have done a remarkable job this semester in planning and executing the pledge program. Plans were being formulated during the summer school term by these three. On Sunday, October 15, the formal rush was held at the Hotel Allerton. Then on October 21, the formal rush party was held at Brown's Cottage Restaurant. The entire chapter and 13 pledges were present with their wives and dates. Brother Jack O'Ryan did well in planning the affair and later provided entertainment with the aid of Brother John Adams. The pledges were later installed at the smoker held on October 26 at the University Club. Founders' Day was celebrated with a semi-formal dinner dance at the Hotel Allerton in the Mather Room. Over 30 brothers and alumni members were present with their wives and dates. Much praise was given to Brothers O'Ryan and Adams for an excellent job.

With one more game to go in touch-football, Steve Paranka and Dick Perzanowski are leading the Deltasigs to a perfect season. In basketball a perfect season is also expected as all regular players from last year are returning. Ed Lang, Steve Paranka, Norman Bodnar, and Dick Gerbek plan to carry Beta Tau Chapter through a perfect season in basketball. In bowling, the Deltasigs plan to have two teams consisting of the married men and single men. It is believed that the Deltasigs will be battling it out among themselves for top honors here.—JOSEPH A. CHMIELEWSKI

DETROIT—Theta

THETA CHAPTER at the University of Detroit held its annual dinner dance on June 15 at the beautiful Glen Oaks Country Club. Over 60 brothers, active and alumni, attended this dinner dance to assure its success. Much of the success of this affair was due to the work of Brother Porter who headed the committee that planned and coordinated the necessary work. The loyalty award which is presented each year at the dinner dance to the most active undergraduate was presented to Brother Rentz who is at present serving in the Armed Services. A bouquet of roses was presented to Miss Mary Jo Sullivan, selected by Theta Chapter as its representative for the "Rose of Deltasig," who attended the affair as a guest of honor.

October 22 was the date for the informal initiation of 16 men into Delta Sigma Pi. These men will undergo seven weeks of rigorous pledgeship and if found to be of satisfactory calibre will be formally accepted into full brotherhood of Delta Sigma Pi. As in the past our athletic program to date has been very successful and we will undoubtedly receive acclaim again as the outstanding fraternity on the campus. To date Theta Chapter has not lost a contest in intramural competition.

What is proving to be an annual event is the Halloween party sponsored by Theta Chapter of Delta Sigma Pi which is open to the various organizations on campus and students in general. This event proved to be a success under the expert planning of Brothers Meldrum and Labadie. The party was attended by many of the active members as well as members of Delta Sigma Pi from the Wayne University chapter, Gamma Theta and the newly formed evening school chapter at the University of Detroit, Gamma Rho.

A night not to be forgotten by the brothers of Theta Chapter is November 4, 1950, for on this night a party was held to commemorate Founders' Day. A gratifying number of brothers were present to hear Brother Cadieux, Province Officer, give a short talk on the history of our fraternity and Theta Chapter. Head Master LaMont also enhanced his position as a speaker by conveying to the brothers present an interesting nicture of the growth of our chapter. After the talks, a toast was offered by the brothers to Delta Sigma Pi and its founders. The brothers then joined their fellow students in the ballroom to take part in the Football Frolic. a fraternity sponsored dance which was held in conjunction with the Founders' Day party.—EDWIN L. SCULLY

MINNESOTA

ALPHA EPSILON CHAPTER at the University of Minnesota rolled up its sleeves after a fine summer and went right to work. One of the first chapter projects was a rushing smoker. It was held at the chapter house October 2 under the direction of our senior and junior wardens, Charles Jefferson and Russ Gribbon. Grand President Walter C. Sehm of St. Paul, spoke about the history of the fraternity. Rudie Janzen, Grand Council Member-at-Large, spoke on the advantages of belonging to Delta Sigma Pi. The results were quite gratifying under the present condition since we had a pledge class of 10 men. They are George Armstrong, Herbert Boback, Hugh Enzler, Fred Hayden, Eugene LaVague, Ed Luiten, Gerald Patterson, Paul Santrach, David Sullivan, and Allyn Rowley. One of the first duties of the pledge class was to build Homecoming decorations for the house. Although no prizes were won, all the alumni enjoyed coming back to the house and seeing the decorations.

This year we celebrated Founders' Day at a joint meeting with the Twin Cities Alumni Club at the Curtiss Hotel. The main speaker was Brother Phillip Neville, attorney and business law lecturer at the University of Minnesota. Seventeen recent graduates were initiated into the alumni club. They were Ronald B. Johnson, Robert A. Gustafson, Keith H. Anderson, Lyle P. Benken, Lumir C. Severson, Richard H. Schlader, John A. Taylor, Gordon E. Lindberg, Dale J. Schmitz, Elton M. Nelson, James O. Cox, Jack H. Klinkenborg, Jr., Frans R. Eliason, Donald A. Baird, Paul G. Hanson, Pat Lawler, Everett Stendahl.

In view of social activities, Bob Ford, master of festivities, has kept us quite socially inclined. One of the first of the big parties we had was a wiener roast in the country. Of course it was inevitably cold, so everyone had to have plenty of anti-freeze to keep from freezing. The only casualty we had was one black eye suffered climbing trees. The annual Homecoming party was held at the exclusive Minneapolis Golf Club as guests of Brother Rudie Janzen. This was a very successful party with a large number of alumni attending. The fall formal was held December 2 at the Commodore Hotel. Needless to say, everyone had a wonderful time.

Professional Chairman Robert Barquist again scored a few hits with a well rounded professional program. Major Donahue, public relation director of the Minnesota National Guard, spoke upon the effect of the draft upon men in school and business. Our Province Officer, Eldon Eichhorn, showed slides and spoke on modern business methods with IBM equipment, Tours are again planned like last year when we went through the Ford Assembly plant in St. Paul and through a broker's office and stock exchange pit.

ALPHA EPSILON CHAPTER at the University of Minnesota, selects Miss Mickey Sovil as its 1951 "Rose of Deltasig." She is presented with a dozen roses by Head Master Amundson while Dwight Lindholm, contest chairman, looks on approvingly.

The football squad was as successful as most of the preceding ones, that is, coming to the championship game of the professional league and then falling by the wayside. Yet this year, Coach Bob "Bernie Bierman" Reedy was successful in kindling up a fire in his boys to beat a highly-spirited A.K. Psi team, 6-0. We celebrated that victory at Stub and Herbs, the University of Minnesota's "Mory's."

"Mickey" Sovil, a cute 19-year-old merchandising junior from Hibbing, Minnesota, was selected from a field of 20 sorority representatives to be our 1951 "Rose of Deltasig." We have used this contest as a means to become better acquainted with the sorority set on campus. We have found that better relations are formed when activities such as these are promoted. Contest Chairman Dwight Lindholm was master of ceremonies later at the affair at which punch and cookies were served. This lovely Phi Delta Business Sorority candidate will represent our chapter in the national "Rose of Deltasig" contest and also in the annual Business Day queen contest. We have certainly enjoyed meeting and

We have certainly enjoyed meeting and sharing our house with Deltasigs from the entire country; to mention just a few, Ralph Shad, from the University of Wisconsin, and Pat Doyle, from Georgetown University. The house is always open to any Deltasig.—MILAN M. DOSTAL

DE PAUL

ALPHA OMEGA CHAPTER at De Paul University has spent the past months proving that it is the top organization in the school. Our activities have gained recognition in professional, social and academic fields. Overall success is proven by the 100,000 points we collected in the Chapter Efficiency Contest. Much of the credit goes to Head Master Zarcone and Brother Schubert for pushing us over the top and keeping Delta Sigma Pi in the news at all times.

The Field House Drive at De Paul was a clean sweep for the Deltasigs. Alpha Omega Chapter won the race for organization prize by a wide margin. Brother Sowinski was the leader in this work, also winning the individual prize for himself. As an anti-climax, and to complete the sweep, he sold the winning ticket, picking up a new Ford for his efforts.

On April 21, the De Paul campus was rocked by the first "Turn-About Day" in the history of the school. Alpha Omega Chapter, to prove its spirit of good fellowship, changed places with its pledges for the day. Brother Gill, sponsor of the idea, and Brothers Mollahan, Zwartz, Zarcone, "Schneider, Giannoni and Zukowski took most of the "works," as the picture in the Daily News that day proves. Everyone had a fine time and we plan to make "Turn-About" part of every pledge period.

The Central Regional Meeting at the Hotel Maryland will be remembered for the fine professional and social activities that were the result of hard work and excellent cooperation of the host chapters. Special thanks go to Brother Schneider on the dance program. Our formal dinner dance was well populated by Alpha Omega Chapter alumni and their dates. All had a fine time.

With a new slate of officers, led by Head Master Ray Sodini, our fall activities are off to a fast start. We wish to welcome Father James Erwin, our new moderator, and the 17 new pledges who attended our smoker at the Palmer House. Congratulations to Brother Gerlesits for rating a place in the students' "Who's Who." The Second Annual Deltasig Forum is now history and full credit goes to Brother Hughes and his aides for the great iob they did. The "Forum on Communism." featuring four prominent speakers on this subject, drew standing-room-only crowds to the Hotel Sherman, that is over 400 persons each night.

This, we feel, is just the start of a really big year for Alpha Omega Chapter. With plans in the making for the "Jarabe," developing a roster of professional speakers, pledge training, and plans for Founders' Day, everyone is on the move, and then some. You will hear of us from all sides. 100,000 points? It's easy, once you learn how.—JOHN R. FRENCH

SOUTH CAROLINA

BETA GAMMA CHAPTER at the University of South Carolina held its first professional meeting of the year and its speaker was Columbia City Manager Thomas E. Maxwell, who gave a very interesting address on "Problems of City Management." Governor Elect James F. Byrnes is scheduled to give an address sometime in January. We hope to have many other distinguished people address the fraternity before the end of the semester. Nine men have been pledged for the fall semester. They are: Jim Higgs, Columbia; Bob Thomas, Columbia; Alan Campbell, Darlington; Bill Barrett, Orangeburg; George Traylor, Orangeburg; Reuben Wells, Winnsboro; Marvin Gilgam, Charleston; Leroy Pendleton, Clover, and H. G. Wells, of Columbia. Formal initiation is to take place on November 30. These men are of high scholastic standing and will be a great asset to Delta Sigma Pi. A party was given by the Columbia Alumni Club of Delta Sigma Pi for the actives and neophytes at the Pinewood Night Club. A football game is scheduled to be played between the neophytes and the actives, with the losing team giving a party to the winning team. Founders' Day was celebrated with a party at the Pinewood Night Club. To say that everyone present had a wonderful time would be underestimating the gala affair. Beta Gamma Chapter presented a skit at half-time at the South Carolina-Marquette football game. A jubilant crowd of 20,000 enjoyed the skit and the fraternity got some good publicity. George McGregor was elected to replace Dominick Trifiletti as treasurer since Brother Trifiletti has been called into active duty with the army. Beta Gamma Chapter hopes to get the maximum of 100,000 points in the Chapter Efficiency Contest. We are well on the way to obtain this goal.—MARTIN E. WETHERELL

CREIGHTON

BETA THETA CHAPTER climaxed the spring semester's activities with a formal dinner dance at the Blackstone Hotel, on May 7. The Delta Sigma Pi Scholarship Key was presented to Brother Ray Bachman by Brother Floyd E. Walsh, the dean of the College of Commerce. James Merriman, who is now a freshman in the Creighton University's School of Law, received the chapter leadership ring. The highlight of the evening came when Miss Virginia Shields was introduced as our "Rose of Deltasig." Attending the formal were brothers from the Alpha Delta Chapter at the University of Nebraska, Gamma Eta Chapter at the University of Omaha, and the Omaha Alumni Club of Delta Sigma Pi.

Our first professional meeting for the year was held at the Creighton Beanery on October 4. At this dinner meeting Beta Theta Chapter played host to Gamma Eta Chapter, at the University of Omaha, and the Omaha Alumni Club of Delta Sigma Pi. Our honored guests for the evening were Grand Council Member Henry C. Lucas and J. D. Thomson, Assistant Grand Secretary-Treasurer of Delta Sigma Pi, who also acted as speaker for the evening. Brother Thomson presented the overall program of the fraternity for the present and near future, and culminated the evening with the showing of interesting color slides pertaining to our fraternity. Our second pro-fessional meeting was held at the 11 Worth Grill on November 1. At this dinner meeting our guest and speaker, Mr. Shepherd, the assistant personnel manager at Mutual Benefit Health & Accident Association, gave a very interesting talk on "What Will be Expected of You on Entering the Business Field.

This semester's plans for pledging were initiated with a smoker on October 22 at the home of Pat Miller. On October 27, the informal pledging took place at the College of Commerce. From November 6 through November 10, Hell Week was experienced by the pledges on the Hilltop, which was climaxed with the informal initiation at the commerce building on November 11. The following day, November 12, the formal initiation was held at the Fontenelle Hotel with 27 pledges being admitted to the fraternity. The traditional dinner followed the initiation ceremony.

At the present, plans are being formulated for our traditional Christmas dinner dance which will take place December 16 in the Legion Ballroom. The members of Alpha Delta Chapter at the University of Nebraska, Gamma Eta Chapter at the University of Omaha, and the Omaha Alumni Club of Delta Sigma Pi, will be our guests at this dinner dance, and we hope for a grand turnout.—PAUL W. REINSCH

OMAHA

GAMMA ETA CHAPTER is looking ahead to a big year at the University of Omaha. Many fine professional programs are in the making. The first meeting of this kind was held on October 18, and T. J. Maxwell of the Federal Land Bank was guest speaker. His address was on the "Functions of the Federal Reserve System." As a result of a smoker held the early part of October, 18 new pledges have started their pledging program which will continue for 12 weeks.

New officers were elected to Gamma Eta before school closed last June. Harlan B. Shires was elected to the post of head master. Brother Shires has been very active in his fraternity since it came to the campus of the University of Omaha on April 23, 1949. He was formerly junior warden. Besides being a leader of Gamma Eta Chapter, Brother Shires is a member of the school band and has lettered as an intramural manager. Other officers elected were: Senior Warden A. Dale Peterson, Junior Warden William A. Cronstrom, Treasurer James R. Bradley, Scribe Charles D. Huffman, Historian Richard L. Buttery, Chancellor Norman E. Paasch and Deltasig Correspondent Avery I. Hiddleston. Hugh C. Duerson was appointed head of the Chapter Efficiency Committee.

Gamma Eta Chapter is larger by seven new members. The new brothers were activated on October 22 at one of the local hotels. This installation was preceded by a 12 week pledge program, and a one week courtesy period ending in an informal initiation the evening of October 21. The new brothers of Gamma Eta Chapter of Delta Sigma Pi are: Lorelle E. Alford, Louie Anderson, William R. Crites, Avery I. Hiddleston, Robert J. Lindberg, Gerald L. Leffler and Alfred E. Smith.

Deltasigs were among those in the spotlight at last June's graduation exercises. John F. Herke and Reinhart Paulsen were graduated with degrees with distinction. Harold D. Elsasser won the Delta Sigma Pi Scholarship Key at the University of Omaha for the school year of 1949-1950. Gamma Eta Chapter presented Herbert A. Skelnar with a plaque. This award will be presented annually to the sophomore boy with the highest accumulated grade average and registered in the Division of Business Administration at the university. Brother Milo Treska was chosen the outstanding Deltasig and was presented a tie clasp and cuff links bearing the Greek letters Delta Sigma Pi.—AVERY I. HIDDLESTON

BOSTON

BROTHER GEORGE LUKER belongs to a vahishing race. He is a "sixty-minute man," even in this age of the Two-Platoon System. Brother Luker is the left halfback on the Boston University "Terriers" Football Team. He is not very big, 5' 10" and 180 pounds, but he throws that weight around both on the offense and defense. Coach Buff Donelli lost both his passers early in the season and consequently has had to depend mostly on his halfbacks. Gamma Chapter is proud of the way Brother Luker and the other halfbacks have come through. We are also proud of Herb Burnham, who has been invited to membership in the honorary scholarship society of Beta Gamma Sigma.

A gala reunion for all alumni of Gamma Chapter was held on November 30, in commemoration of Founders' Day. The professional committee under the able chairmanship of Brother Wroblewski has already presented three interesting meetings. E. C. Hodgdon, sales service manager of Gillette Corporation. spoke on "Personnel Work in a Modern Large Corporation" at the last meeting. There was nothing vague about Mr. Hodgdon's talk. He really told us what the requirements are in his particular field.

We have already pledged ten men whom we consider to be real Deltasig material. We also plan to pledge a few more men before initiation in order to bring our chapter to its desired strength. We have not been too eager to pledge men as we think that quality is preferable to quantity. Our plans, at the present time call for an initiation sometime in February. By having this long period between formal pledging and the actual initiation, we have a thorough opportunity to see just what kind of men we have picked. We want to be absolutely certain that our new brothers will be assets to the fraternity.

Our inter-fraternity football team was not quite as successful as last year. However, we did manage to hold our own. We won two and lost two. We had two other games scheduled, but the other team didn't show up, so we actually could claim those two games by default. Our bowling team should be hotter than ever this year, as most of the old team is still here and they have been practicing all summer. To round out the sports we plan to enter the basketball league.—WILLIAM S. WARKEN

ILLINOIS

HOME SWEET HOME." That's what the Deltasigs at Illinois are singing this fall. The Upsilon Chapter is happy to announce that it has acquired a chapter house. Sixteen actives and three pledges are at home to alums and visiting brothers at 305 East John Street, in Champaign, Illinois. By the spring semester the number of active residents in the house should increase to 30 members.

Pledge classes and duties have begun for 15 men. Plans are being completed to initiate one faculty member from each department of the College of Commerce. Last spring the Upsilon Chapter initiated Jack Howard, a faculty member who is outstanding in marketing and market research. Our pledge banquet for this semester was combined with a professional meeting held on October 22 in the Illini Union Building.

Our schedule of events for this year includes at least one professional meeting a month along with several field trips to be arranged during the year. Arrangements are being made to again present a group of lectures to the entire student body of the College of Commerce. Last spring Delta Sigma Pi sponsored a series of talks and movies on the uses of International Business Machines in accounting, management and market research. They were well received by commerce students and faculty members. The chapter here is taking an active part in the intramural sports competition on the campus. We have entries in four sports this semester. Our football team and tennis players have good records so far. Teams in volleyball and basketball will enter competition in a few weeks.

Homecoming weekend, October 20 to 22, was great. The chapter house was decorated for the house decorations competition. The gala weekend started off with a house dance on Friday night. On Saturday, a big party was given for alums and other visitors. A giant birthday party is being planned for December 10. Though the Upsilon Chapter is still experiencing growing pains since its reactivation, it will begin its second year of operations on that date.—JACK TEBBENHOFF

THE "ROSE" of Gamma Zeta Chapter at Memphis State College, Miss Betty Jane Smith, is presented with a lovely bouquet of red roses by Head Master Reece.

INDIANA

UNDER THE ABLE LEADERSHIP of Head Master Joe Thomas, Alpha Pi Chapter is again heading toward a very successful year of activity. On October 12 the active members of the chapter gathered together at the Fish and Game Club of Bloomington to renew old acquaintances and also to enjoy movies and refreshments. Although we lost a considerable number of men through graduation last June, their places have been taken by 35 qualified business students who were formally pledged to the fraternity on November 2. Prior to the formal pledging ceremony, a rush smoker was held when we were privileged to hear a talk by Brother Tom Isaack of the Department of Management.

At the present time, final plans are being formulated for the First Semi-Annual Stock Market Contest to be held from November 9 to December 14 among the chapter members. Each member will be credited with an imaginary sum of money, and through the process of buying and selling stock, he will try to increase this sum. There will be an "Exchange" where the participants may place their orders with the brokers to buy or sell stock. The New York Stock Exchange closing quotations will form the basis for the price of the stock which is bought or sold. The winner of the contest and several of the runners-up will be presented with prizes in the form of gift certificates from leading Bloomington merchants. At our November 2 meeting, Professor Nathan Silverstein of the Department of Finance gave a very interesting and informative talk on the stock market and its operations. Professor Silverstein's comments should be of much aid to us in our endeavor to become "millionaires" via the stock market. Much credit should be given to Ollie Young who has a splendid job of organizing the contest.

Future chapter events include a formal dance to be held on December 7. This will be our main social event of the semester. Committees for the dance will be appointed at the next meeting. We also have a football game scheduled with Alpha Kappa Psi whom we defeated last year, 13 to 7. A victory this year would enable us to retain possession of the cup awarded annually to the winner of the game. January 11 will be the day of reckoning for the pledges. They will be initiated into the chapter as active members on that date. Following the ceremony there will be an initiation banquet honoring the new actives. Alpha Pi Chapter has made a fine start in the annual Chapter Efficiency Contest. With the continued cooperation of all the members, we should again be able to reach the top as has been done in the past two years.—REED CHAMBERS

MEMPHIS STATE

GAMMA ZETA CHAPTER celebrated on November 10, 1950 with its first Rose Ball in the Forrest Room at Hotel Gayso. Miss Betty Jane Smith was crowned "Rose" of Gamma Zeta Chapter at the ball with her two alternates Miss Donna Wilkins and Miss Mathilde Jackson. Head Master Ed Reece pinned a sweetheart pin on the "Rose" and gave her and the two alternates a bouquet of red roses after the leadout, with the members and their dates singing "The Rose of Deltasig."

sig." The evening started with a banquet for the members and their guests, and a Founders' Day speech by Doctor Ed Crawford and past Head Master Roy Tipton. Later Pat Cooney's orchestra came on to entertain for the rest of the evening. Dick Scavo, master of festivities, and his committee had the ballroom decorated with the fraternity's colors and certainly deserve a lot of credit for a big success on our first Rose Ball. Billy Burrough has made plans for a field

Billy Burrough has made plans for a field trip through the First National Bank on November 21, From past experience I am sure it will be most interesting and helpful to the members and will show them how to put their knowledge into actual practice. In June we purchased a 16 mm movie projector for the purpose of showing business films at stag banquets and business meetings. We have had several interesting and educational films and are looking forward to more and even better ones in the future. This is a great asset to our chapter and others should look into the prospects of getting a projector also.

Homecoming was celebrated at Memphis State with exhibits on the campus, a parade up town, and a bang-up football game at Crump Stadium. Wilson Roop and James Alexander got together and set up one of the best exhibits on the campus and then paraded down Main street with our "Rose." At the ball game the members had seats in the same section thus making a perfect day. There is talk at the present time of making Memphis State a branch of the University of Tennessee thus gaining university status, and as the school grows so shall Gamma Zeta Chapter.—ROBERT H. JONES, JR.

LOUISIANA TECH

BETA PSI CHAPTER at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute has been an active force on the campus since the fall semester started. On October 26 and 27, when Louisiana Tech was host to the Third Annual Louisiana Accounting Conference, Beta Psi Chapter's efficiency in working out the administrative details contributed greatly to the smooth running of the conference. Beta Psi Chapter's participation in the conference was one of the topics discussed on a 15 minute resume of the conference over radio station KRUS on October 22. Participating in the discussion were Brother Leo Herbert and H. J. Smolinski, Accounting Division faculty, and Head Master Kincaid. A banquet, in conjunction with the Accounting, Conference, was held October 26 at 7:00 P.M. at the Tech Cafeteria. The guest speaker was Brother H. A. Finney of Baumann, Finney & Company of Chicago, Illinois, whose subject was "The Future of Accountancy."

The Lion Oil Company of El Dorado, Arkansas, played host to Beta Psi Chapter and the Louisiana Tech Accounting Division on Wednesday, October 18. At noon the group went to the plant, which is several miles from town, to have an informal luncheon. After the luncheon one of the company's engineers gave a short lecture on the process used to produce their new product, ammonium nitrate, used as a commercial fertilizer. Following the lecture the partv was divided into small groups and conducted through the plant. Of special interest to the students were the numerous business machines and their functions.

The official rushing season of Beta Psi Chapter began with a rush party held in the Student Center on October 24. The program was designed to give the prospective members the best possible idea of the objectives of our fraternity and the manner in which we endeavor to carry them out. After the serving of refreshments, Brother Wadsworth, chairman of the professional committee, told the rushees about the program of Delta Sigma Pi for this year. Leo Herbert then related to the group the history of the fraternity. Glenn L. Hodge gave the faculty's viewpoint of the fraternity. The dean's viewpoint was given by Brother Burton R. Risinger, dean of the School of Business Administration and Economics, question and answer period was conducted by Brother Simmons followed by a final statement by Head Master Kincaid.

The Founders' Day Banquet was held November 7 at the Little Dining Hall. The speaker for the occasion was L. J. Ward, personnel director, Pan-Am Southern Corporation, who spoke on "What the Oil Industry Expects of the College Graduate." Tom Wadsworth, chairman of our professional programs committee, has plans that will fill the rest of the semester. On November 21 a speaker from the Central Trades and Labor Unions, Shreveport, Louisiana, will speak on "The Future of Organized Labor in the South." On December 7, Dr. Pate, of Centenary College, Shreveport, Louisiana, will speak on "Current Economic Problems." On January 7, "New Tax Problems in Accounting" will be discussed.—ROBERT L. SOUTHERN

TEXAS TECH

AFTER BEING SEMI-ACTIVE during the summer Beta Upsilon Chapter held its first regular meeting of the fall semester on September 19. During the summer we held our annual reunion at the Herring Hotel in Amarillo, Texas. Although not all the brothers were able to attend as had been anticipated, we had an enjoyable time. Marvin B. Bones, Burton R. Myers and James E. Hall certainly did a wonderful job in arranging this affair. Howard E. Golden, faculty adviser, gave a watermelon party at his home for all members who could attend. Dr. George Heather, dean of the Division of Business Administration, gave us his fullest cooperation this fall when Beta Upsilon Chapter sponsored an information booth for all entering freshmen in the business division this fall. The booth was a big success and we hope to make it a permanent thing here at Texas Tech.

Kennett Hobbs, junior warden, certainly should receive acknowledgment for the endless work he has done in screening all business administration students who might be eligible for membership to Delta Sigma Pi. We held a wiener roast honoring our prospective pledges at McKenzie State Park on Tuesday, October 4. On the following Thursday night a smoker was held in the Hilton Hotel where 14 men were invited to become elected neophytes. On October 10, 14 neophytes were initiated into pledgeship before members and alumni. Our "Rose of Deltasig" Contest was narrowed down to three beautiful young ladies on October 10 and the one to be our "Rose" will be announced at a later date.

A dinner dance was held on October 24 at Mexican Inn celebrating our chapter the birthday. This year since our Homecoming and Founders' Day fall within three days of each other we planned all events on November 11 which enabled many alumni to attend. A dinner was held in the Yaqui Room of the Hilton Hotel on November 17 when Assistant Grand Secretary-Treasurer J. D. Thomson honored us with a visit. Other plans for the year include various tours, lectures and the neophytes' formal initiation on January 6. "Rose" Presentation Dance will be held Our in the Hilton Hotel Ballroom on January 13 .--R. L. VAN NORMAN, JR.

IOWA

EPSILON CHAPTER at the State University of Iowa is working hard to meet the maximum 100,000 points for the third consecutive year in the Chapter Efficiency Contest. We are all very happy with the results of the entire contest last year, but our vest buttons really pop off when we point to the winning of the Delta Sigma Pi Scholarship Key by Brother Ralph Blunck.

Founders' Day was celebrated November 7 with a dinner at the Colony Inn, Amana, Iowa. Brother Elmer W. Hills, executive secretary of the College of Commerce, spoke to the 43 actives and pledges attending on "The History of Epsilon Chapter." The Colony Inn has become a favorite meeting place for Epsilon Chapter's professional activities, due undoubtedly to the great quantities of food which are cooked and served home style.

As a result of rushing for this semester, we have pledged 21 potential members of Delta Sigma Pi. Their training is now progressing rapidly under the direction of Junior Warden Charles Drees. Under the guiding eyes of our chief engineers, Brothers Schueth and Roberts, the pledges and actives put many long hours on the job of decorating our float for the Iowa Homecoming Parade. The enterprise was a fine success as Epsilon Chapter won third place in the non-subsidized class.

In intramural football our fighting squad finished third in the league. On this record we entered the all-league playoffs only to lose out because "Ramrod" Davis, our triple threat star, came up with a bad case of senile arthritis. Firmly convinced that Epsilon Chapter is loaded with athletic talent, we are going to enter two teams in basketball league play this winter.

Epsilon Chapter also wants to announce at this time our forthcoming contribution to Hollywood. Bob Rinnan is making his debut here on campus as the Delta Sigma Pi candidate for the title of Most Eligible Bachelor on Campus. The ladies will make the choice themselves, but our handsome lad has the inside track for the title in competition with some 30 other fraternity and organization representatives.

Eighteen active members are living in a new residence this fall at 115 East Fairchild Street. Epsilon Chapter has rented most of this house in a continuing attempt to maintain permanent chapter quarters. We used our new home to great satisfaction at Homecoming with a tea for returning alumni and actives after the Iowa-Purdue football game. Epsilon Chapter wishes to invite all members of Delta Sigma Pi to visit us in our new home whenever they are in Iowa City.—DONALD J. KOLAR

CINCINNATI

ALPHA THETA CHAPTER, for its first professional meeting of this year, featured a very interesting talk by Glen Beyring, aided and abetted by John Mosbacher, both members of the alumni group. They discussed the activities of Alpha Theta Chapter when they were active members, and gave a wealth of advice by telling of the problems Alpha Theta Chapter encountered at that time, and giving suggestions to prevent their reoccurrence. All but a few of the active chapter of 22 Deltasigs attended, and four of the alumni. You know, the rest of you alumni members might find these meetings interesting. You are always welcome.

Our second professional meeting for this year, held at Quebec Gardens, one of the old landmarks in the way of dining establishments in Cincinnati, was presented in the form of a smoker and featured a very fine motion picture, in sound and color, on the manufacture of aluminum. This film was secured for us by our speaker of the evening, Ted Krug of the sales department of the Reynolds Metal Company, and the alumni group, whose introductory and closing remarks made the picture much more interesting. Brother Krug, before the picture was shown, told us about the factory setup of the Reynolds Metal Company, and then an outline of what we were about to see.

After Brother Krug made his closing remarks, a question and answer period followed, and from the number of questions asked, no one was asleep during the motion picture. The entire active chapter, with the exception of about four, attended this professional meeting plus 30 prospective pledges and eight alumni. A lunch was served about midnight and the few hours before were spent in enlightening the prospective pledges with regard to Delta Sigma Pi, also playing cards, and when the time came to say goodby, we are sure that everyone in attendance, said to his brother, prospective brother, or himself, "I certainly had an enjoyable evening." The committees responsible are to be complimented.

Founders' Day, which was to be celebrated Saturday, November 11, with a dance at Castle Farm, was unavoidably postponed to Saturday evening, November 18. Pledges, actives and alumni attended with their dates. More on this affair perhaps, in the next issue of The DELTASIG.—CHARLES A. PATER
