The International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi

Professional Commerce and Business Administration Fraternity

Delta Sigma Pi was founded at New York University, School of Commerce, Accounts and Finance, on November 7, 1907, by Alexander F. Makay, Alfred Moysello, Harold V. Jacobs and H. Albert Tienken. Delta Sigma Pi is a professional fraternity organized to foster the study of business in universities; to encourage scholarship, social activity and the association of students for their mutual advancement by research and practice; to promote closer affiliation between the commercial world and students of commerce, and to further a high standard of commercial ethics and culture, and the civic and commercial welfare of the community.

I left Bedford Springs elated over the growth and success of our fraternity during the past two years, and happy over the completion of our successful 24th Grand Chapter Congress. It was very constructive, informative, provided good fellowship, and gave all of us the desire to progress to the best of our ability.

This past year has been a great one, with 43 chapters scoring 100,000 points in the 1963 Chapter Efficiency Contest. The installation of four new chapters and a nice increase in the average number of new members per chapter. Our national income reached an all time high, thus enabling us to budget more this year for greater services to our chapters and alumni clubs.

We are now well into the college year and I hope each chapter and alumni club has planned its programs well. If we are to reach our goals and assure the progress and future of Delta Sigma Pi each chapter and alumni club must discharge its day to day operations hand in hand with the national principles and ideals of our fraternity.

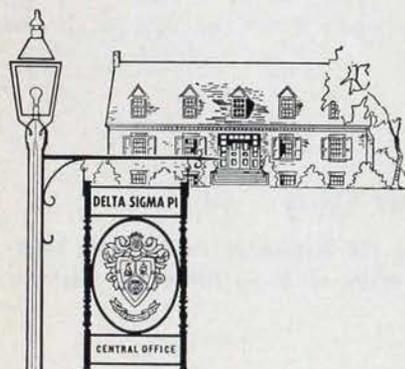

This will be our greatest year if you are your chapter's best president, or best secretary, or best pledge trainer. Our fraternity will progress to greater heights if your professional programs and social affairs are the best your chapter has ever had. We will be successful if your chapter scores 100,000 points in the Chapter Efficiency Contest, if your chapter members are the finest men in business and commerce and you continue to pledge men of their caliber.

We will be successful if your alumni club doubles its membership, if you are in touch with each new graduate that moves into your city, if you actively promote the high ideals of our fraternity among the business world. If your club lends a helping hand to a nearby chapter to see that it obtains and maintains the house or meeting room it needs, if you help to make its ritual performances more impressive.

We will be successful if you give the Central Office and its efficient staff the opportunity to help you and they in turn give the best service you have ever had. If you reserve your regalia trunk early and receive and forward it on time—if you get your reports and remittances to the Central Office on time.

This shall be a great year in the history of Delta Sigma Pi if each of us puts forth that extra effort to do our job. I pledge my efforts, abilities, time and knowledge to you for the progress of our fraternity—will you brothers of Delta Sigma Pi join me with yours? . . .

A Word From The Central Office

ANOTHER MILESTONE in Delta Sigma Pi was passed with the completion of the 24th Grand Chapter Congress in Bedford, Pennsylvania this past August. Many hours of Central Office Staff time went into the preparations for this Congress, but we feel that every hour was well spent and that the delegates derived much from the Congress that will materially improve the Fraternity in future years.

We now turn to the college year ahead and find ourselves better equipped to cope with the business at hand. During the summer months several new machines were purchased which provide The Central Office with the tools necessary to complete membership certificates, laminate membership cards, and prepare publications for reproduction using the printing equipment that was purchased two years ago. The new equipment not only increases the capacity of the Central Office, but it also reduces the cost of producing some standard fraternity items and gives us control over their manufacture and delivery. Each year and each new piece of equipment brings The Central Office closer to the point when it will become a self sufficient service unit.—JIM THOMSON

24th Grand Chapter Congress

Merits Praise from Participants

THE 24TH GRAND CHAPTER CONGRESS of Delta Sigma Pi was held at the Bedford Springs Hotel in Bedford, Pennsylvania, August 19-22, 1963 with an attendance of 302. Among those in attendance were 59 wives and 11 children, all of whom enjoyed the extensive program of activities and the numerous recreational facilities of the Bedford Springs Hotel.

The Official Program of the 24th Grand Chapter Congress began on Monday afternoon with the first business session being called to order by Grand President Franklin A. Tober. This meeting was held in the Convention Hall of the Hotel, which had been decorated available each evening of the Congress, received its share of interest, as did a number of private parties, that were anything but private, held in the rooms of the various delegations.

An early breakfast in the Main Dining Room on Tuesday morning set the pace for a full day of activities. The undergraduate delegates assembled in the Convention Hall for the first of two Chapter Officers' Training Sessions, and the alumni met in the Garfield Room for Panels on Alumni Club Activities. Meanwhile the Pink Poodles met in secret session and planned their Doe Party and Initiation that was to be held that evening.

All three meetings were over in time for lunch which found the delegates en-with the pennants of those universities at which Delta Sigma Pi has active chapters. An invocation was given by Director of Business Education Walter A. Brower and the biennial reports of Grand President Tober, Executive Director Thomson and Executive Secretary Farrar followed. Also heard at this session were reports from the Chairman of the Committee on Alumni Activities, H. Melvin Brown, and the President of the Delta Sigma Pi Educational Foundation, Homer T. Brewer.

On Monday evening, the Grand Council and their wives assembled in the East Lobby where they had an opportunity to personally meet the delegates and participate in dessert and coffee. The delegates then separated to pursue entertainment of their choice. Available to them were dancing in the Crystal Room, swimming in the indoor pool, movies in the Convention Hall and fellowship in the Game Room. Each attraction, which was joying the tasty buffet in the Club House or the extensive menu offered in the Main Dining Room. A few drops of rain greeted the afternoon program that was planned to include golf, swimming and other forms of outdoor recreation, but it did not last long enough to hamper the fun. Deltasigs could be found everywhere that afternoon, even in the lounge chairs on the verandas of the Bedford Springs Hotel. The only serious group to be seen was the members of the Delta Sigma Pi Educational Foundation which met that afternoon to elect officers for the biennium and to transact other business.

Following dinner the delegates jammed the Convention Hall, which had been converted to a race track, for the Deltasig Derby. Stage money was used and films of actual races were seen. Thousands of dollars were wagered with each race busting some and making millionaires of others. At the end of six races the richest cashed their winnings in for prizes, all of which bore Fraternity insignia. To conclude the evening for the men, a special meeting of the Ancient Independent Effervescent Order of the Yellow Dogs was called and record number of candidates accepted to membership.

Tuesday was also a busy evening for the ladies who held their Doe Party with pink table cloths and all the trimmings in the Anderson Dining Room. This was promptly followed by their Pink Poodle Initiation in the Garden Room and a trip to the Bedford Summer Playhouse where they saw the play "Come Blow Your Horn." To witness a summer stock play given in a tent on the Bedford Springs Hotel grounds was a new experience for most of the ladies.

Both the undergraduates and the alumni delegates resumed their panels on Wednesday morning at which papers were presented by members of the Grand Council on the various topics pertaining to chapter and alumni club operation. That afternoon the Regional Members of the Grand Council held round table discussions with the delegates from their Regions.

A Bridge Party, which was a highlight of the Ladies' Program, was held that morning in the Crystal Room with prizes being given to the high pointers.

The peak of the 24th Grand Chapter Congress was reached with the Grand Chapter Congress Banquet held that night. The Main Dining room was filled to capacity and decorated with red roses and

The Banquet Program began with an invocation by Director H. Melvin Brown and was concluded by a presentation to Dr. and Mrs. Brooks by Executive Director James D. Thomson.

The final business session of the 24th Grand Chapter Congress was conducted on Thursday morning in the Convention Hall with both the chapter and alumni club delegates participating. The first item of business was a "Question and Answer Panel" with Past Grand President Brewer, Executive Director Thomson and Executive Secretary Farrar serving as panel leaders. This Panel was followed by the election of officers. Joe M. Hefner, Beta Upsilon Chapter—Texas Tech, was the unanimous choice of the delegates to serve as Grand President of Delta Sigma

About our Principal Speaker

We were indeed fortunate to have Seth R. Brooks to address the 24th Grand Chapter Congress Banquet not only because he is such an eloquent speaker, but also because he is so deeply engrossed in the fraternity world. From his undergraduate days at St. Lawrence College, when he served as steward of a chapter of Beta Theta Pi, until today, when he serves as President of this same fraternity, he has been constantly working with college fraternities and college men. This period covers some 43 years and a like number of honors and positions in the fraternity world.

Should you look at Seth's fraternity record alone you might believe that this is his life's work, but this is not true as he has been a minister of a Universalist church since 1924. Today he is serving his 24th year as pastor of the Universalist National Memorial Church of Washington, D.C. Among his many church activities are his serving on the General Commission on Army and Navy Chaplains, former president of the Washington Ministerial Union, director of the Washington Federation of Churches, and former chairman of the International Church Extension Board.

Seth is a Mason, member of the Inter Church Club of Washington, and the Cosmos Club. Leading him on to greater heights and encouraging him in his fraternal work is his charming wife, Corinne, who we were delighted to have with us in Bedford also.

LaSalle College Receives Epsilon Sigma Chapter

ON SATURDAY, April 20, 1963, the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi installed its Epsilon Sigma Chapter at LaSalle College in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. This is the third chapter in Philadelphia and the fifth in Pennsylvania. Beta Nu Chapter at the University of Pennsylvania was the last Fraternity chapter to be installed in 1932. Other chapters are Lambda Chapter at the University of Pittsburgh, Omega Chapter, Temple University; and Alpha Gamma Chapter at Pennsylvania State University. Delegations from Mu Chapter at Georgetown University; Omega Chapter at Temple University; Beta Nu Chapter at the University of Pennsylvania; Beta Omicron Chapter at Rutgers University; Epsilon Pi Chapter at Monmouth College and the Philadelphia (Beta Nu) Alumni Club were on hand to assist the national officers with the installation. National officers included Grand President Franklin A. Tober, Buffalo; Eastern Regional Director M. John Marko, Rutgers; Executive Secretary Charles L. Farrar, Louisiana Tech; Director at Large H. Melvin Brown, Johns Hopkins and District Director William W. Myers, Rutgers.

The official program began with registration of the guests and a tour of the LaSalle College campus, followed by an informal luncheon in the College Union. The afternoon was devoted to the informal and formal initiation.

Eastern Regional Director M. John

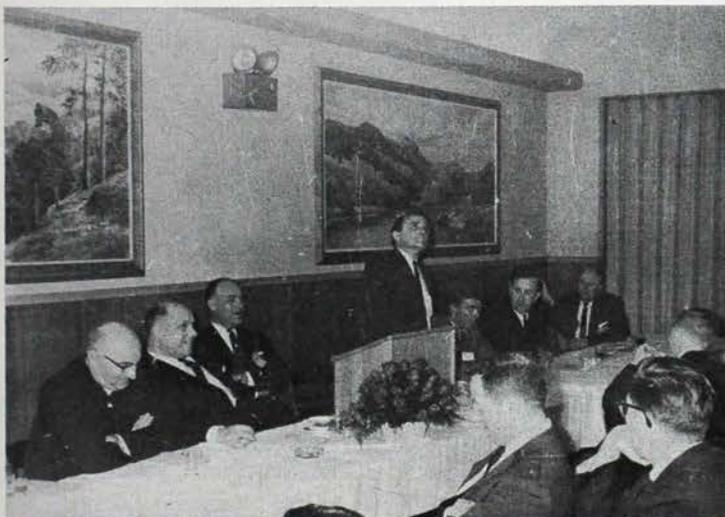

Marko served as toastmaster for the installation banquet held that evening at the Schwarzwald Inn in Philadelphia. The new members and guests were welcomed by Brother Gavin Paul, F. S. C., vice president of LaSalle College. Acting Dean Francis J. Nathans gave a brief history of the School of Business Administration. Joseph A. Micomonaco, senior vice president of Delta Sigma Fraternity then described the events that brought about the new chapter. The long awaited moment arrived when Grand President Franklin A. Tober presented the charge and charter to President Thomas J. Gallagher of Epsilon Sigma Chapter.

History of LaSalle College

In 1863, eighteen years after the Brothers of Christian Schools first came to this country, the development of Catholic education in the Archdiocese of Philadelphia reached such a level that the need for an institution of higher learning within the city limits became very pressing. A group of eminent priests and laymen under the leadership of the Most Reverend James Frederick Wood, later to become the Archbishop of Philadelphia, secured from the Legislature of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, a charter for the incorporation of LaSalle College. Under the authority of this charter the Academy, which had been conducted by the Christian Brothers as an adjunct to St. Michael's Parochial School, became the nucleus of the new college.

Beginning with its inception in 1863 in Saint Michael's Parish, the College outgrew three locations—the Academy site in the parish, the site at Broad and Juniper Streets, until a few years ago the location of the Evening Bulletin building, and the old Bouvier Mansion at Broad and Stiles Streets. In 1929, the College was transferred from Broad and Stiles to the new location in Wister Woods, Twentieth Street and Olney Avenue, on the edge of Germantown in Philadelphia. The new buildings were occupied in 1930, and housed the College, the Secondary Department and Benilde Academy.

Since 1945, LaSalle has experienced the most dramatic period of expansion in its history. Present enrollment in both day and evening divisions is approximately 4,000 students, as compared to the 1940 enrollment of about 400. There are approximately 1,000 men in the day division of the School of Business Administration and approximately 2,100 in the evening division. In the last fifteen years, ten new buildings have been added to the campus.

The evening division was inaugurated in 1946 in response to the needs of industry through the Delaware valley; within ten years evening classes were utilizing every available inch of classroom space. In 1951, the College added the Dixon estate and established Anselm Hall as a house of studies for student Brothers. In 1952, a new library was erected, and the following year the first of four new dormitories was opened to residence students. By 1955, the rapid growth of the College made it necessary to reorganize the Administration pattern which led to the separation of the School of Arts and Science and the School of Business Administration, day and evening divisions.

The latest steps in the physical development of LaSalle are the College Union, opened in 1959, and the Science Center, which opened in September 1960. Two more residence halls are being built, and work on a new chapel and another classroom building will soon begin.

LaSalle College is fully accredited with the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, the American Medical Association, and the Pennsylvania State Board of Law Examiners. The College is a member of the American Council on Education, the Association of American Colleges, the National Catholic Educational Association and the Educational Conference of the Brothers of the Christian Schools.

History of the School of Business Administration

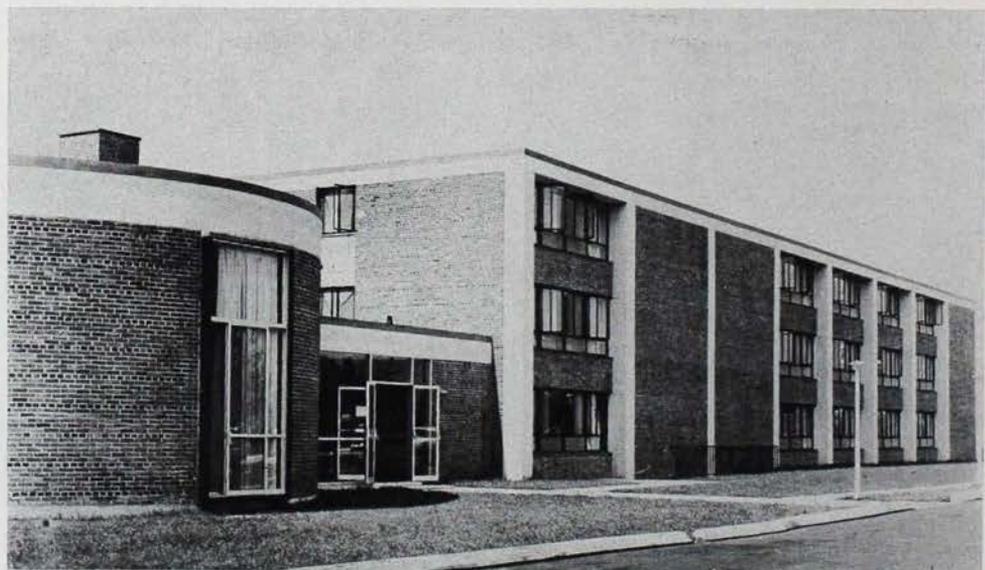

In 1863, the late Right Rev. James Frederick Wood, Bishop of Philadelphia, in conjunction with a committee consisting of Brothers of Christian Schools, obtained from the State of Pennsylvania a charter incorporating LaSalle College in Philadelphia.

The Business Department of LaSalle offered a Bachelor of Science in accounting and general business during the first years of the College's growth.

As time continued, the business department deemed it necessary to add a major dealing with finance. Finance was incorporated into the curricular in 1946. At this time, business law was added as a subject, but not as a major field of study.

The next year two more major courses were added to the business department. The fields of industrial management and insurance were now offered to the students as majors which they could endeavor to take. Finally, in 1948, marketing was brought into the business department. As LaSalle began to grow, and all these new courses being added to the curricular, the administration deemed it necessary to reevaluate the College in 1955. With this reevaluation came the separation between the School of Arts and Sciences and the School of Business Administration. At this time, a new president was named at LaSalle and the Deans of the two schools were also added to the administration.

Brother David Cassian was appointed as Dean of the School of Business Administration, which position he still holds today. Now the College has two distinct schools which will help place more concentration on the needed courses and subjects for business majors so that they will be prepared when they graduate from LaSalle, to go out and take their place in the business world today.

The Organization of Delta Sigma

LaSalle College has never previously had a professional commerce and business administration fraternity. In the opinion of the students in the School of Business Administration, the time had arrived and indeed had been long overdue when LaSalle could boast that his abyss had finally been filled. It is at this time that the School of Business Administration is at the loftiest heights it has ever known. It would have been quite impractical to organize a fraternity such as Delta Sigma Pi any time prior to this, since previously the School was not as well coordinated as it now is.

The business students at LaSalle first became acquainted with Delta Sigma Pi in the Fall of 1961. In early October, Charles L. Farrar, the present Executive Secretary, approached Brother David Cassian, dean of the School of Business Administration and discussed the need for a professional fraternity in the School. Brother Cassian thought well of the idea and promised his support but indicated he felt that the students themselves would have to show an interest and lay the ground work if they desired a chapter. In accordance with this plan, Charles Farrar addressed a group of select, top-notch students explaining the ideals, purposes and scope of Delta Sigma Pi. Realizing the quality and many advantages such a fraternity would have to offer to them, these men promptly set about organizing a fraternity on campus.

These men elected a steering committee to guide and coordinate all the individual prospective brothers' work into a well functioning whole, Delta Sigma Fraternity. In order to better acquaint them-

DELTA SIGMA PI established its seventh undergraduate chapter in the State of Ohio with the installation of Epsilon Tau Chapter at the University of Dayton in Dayton, Ohio, on Sunday, April 28, 1963.

The initiation ceremonies were held on the campus and the installation took place at the Stratford House Inn. Heading the installation team was Grand President Franklin A. Tober, assisted by Past Grand President Robert G. Busse, East Central Regional Director Robert F. Andree, Executive Secretary Charles L. Farrar and District Director Andrew T. Fogarty. Delegations from Alpha Theta Chapter at Cincinnati, Alpha Omicron Chapter at Ohio University, Alpha Upsilon Chapter at Miami University, Beta Pi Chapter at Kent State University, Beta Tau Chapter at Western Reserve University and the Cincinnati Alumni Club completed the installation team.

The program of the day included the registration of the members and guests and a tour of the campus, followed by an informal luncheon. The informal and formal initiation took place in the afternoon with the installation ceremony being held in the early evening.

East Central Regional Director Robert F. Andree served as toastmaster at the installation banquet. Dean William J. Hoben, Jr., of the School of Business Administration extended words of welcome to the new members and guests and also outlined the history of the School of Business Administration. Richard A. History of University of Dayton

It was in 1850 that Father Leo Mayer bought the "Dewberry Farm" as the site of a boarding school for boys. It was to be run by members of the Society of Mary, a religious order of Priests and Brothers founded in 1817 by the Reverend William J. Chaminade. This group left France in 1849 to undertake their educational work in America.

The first classes were held on September 3, 1850, in a building on the vineyard hill. From 1854, when the first building was erected until today, the school has grown constantly. Even today it is still growing. Although fire plagued the school twice, it rebuilt itself and continued in its mission, teaching. The years 1865-1866 saw the construction of a school building, Zehler Hall, the oldest building on campus, and Libert Hall, a faculty residence at that time.

The year 1871 saw the name Saint Mary's Institute changed to Saint Mary's College, and nine years later, 1878, was incorporated by the State of Ohio. The General Assembly of Ohio, in 1882, gave the Institute the power to grant degrees. This name was retained until 1920, when it was raised to the rank of a university and assumed its present title, University of Dayton.

From the first 14 boys who were admitted in 1850, until now, 1963, when there is an enrollment of 6,000 students and a staff of 400 full and part-time instructors, the University has been dynamic. It is the second largest independent institution of higher learning in Ohio and school has not yet stopped. Just last year a West Campus was opened for occupancy, although only a few courses are being taught there at present.

SOON TO BE CONSTRUCTED at the University of Dayton, is a new School of Business Administration building.

"Pro Deo et Patria" is the official school motto. These words embody the purpose of the University of Dayton. This purpose is education, an education which has as its ultimate aim to prepare man for what he must be and what he must do in his life in order to attain the sublime end for which he was created. The University of Dayton professes to provide an academic atmosphere in which Christian principles of thought and action are the essential integrating and dynamic forces impelling the student to pursue, to cherish and to disseminate what is true, good and beautiful.

of Business Administration in furthering the ideals and standards set by his predecessors.

The School of Business Administration operates in accord with the educational philosophy and purposes of the University in producing a truly educated businessman. It believes that Christian principles of thought and action are essential in the development of the educated man. In particular this school seeks to instill in undergraduate business students a knowledge of business policies, problems and procedures. There is also deep thought given about the basic part of man, that is, man's intellect. Each course teaches basic rules and laws but has the underlying principle that each man must think for himself.

The fields of specialization offered by the School of Business Administration are: accounting, industrial management, personnel management, marketing, general business management, retailing, economics and secretarial studies. Beginning this Fall, the School of Business Administration will offer a graduate program which will lead to a Master of Business Administration. At present, the School is housed in St. Mary's hall, however, this is temporary since there are plans for a new Business Administration Building that will house the entire School and will be completely air-conditioned. There are approximately 900 students in the day division and another 550 in the evening division of the School of Business Administration.

WILLIAM J. HOBEN, Dean of the School of Business, extends a welcome to the new chapter and guests and relates the history of the School of Business. Executive Secretary Farrar looks on.

History of Theta Pi Beta

The history of Theta Pi Beta Fraternity began in the Spring of 1961 when Executive Director J. D. Thomson and Executive Secretary Charles L. Farrar of Delta Sigma Pi spoke to a select group of business students at the University of Dayton. Following this meeting a new professional fraternity was organized and the name Theta Pi Beta chosen, meaning Theoretical, Practical Business. The by-laws were drawn up and accepted and officers elected.

During the spring semester the professional committee showed movies on various aspects of business, distributed busi-

History of School of Business Administration

The year 1906 marks the beginning of the Business Department at the University of Dayton. It was then called the Business class. A course was added that led to a Master of Accountants degree, and in 1921 the University recognized the Division of Commerce and Finance. It was known by this title until 1939. In that year it became known as the School of Business Administration. The first head of this division was Brother Charles Arns and under his supervision the division grew rapidly. Dr. Hilary R. Beth succeeded Brother Arns and served as dean of the School of Business Administration until his death in the Fall of 1962. He consciously and consistently strove to improve the business division by raising standards and recruiting excellent teachers. William J. Hoben, Jr., was named to succeed Dr. Beth as Dean of the School ness literature, and had speakers on various types of business.

The first meeting of the 1961-62 academic year was held early in September. The primary purpose of this meeting was to recoup after the summer vacation and discuss the Fall program. However, during the following five weeks the fraternity became dormant, due primarily to the lack of leadership by the officers. The president, although well qualified for the position, found it physically impossible to fulfill his duties due to his heavy obligation to the University in his capacity as president of the Student Council. Realizing this, he offered his resignation and new officers were elected, and the Fraternity reorganized.

Shortly after the reorganization, the Fraternity sponsored professional talks open to the faculty and students. Also during this time the social committee sponsored a picnic and football game with Alpha Kappa Psi. The social committee, in conjunction with Advisor Robert Kriegbaum, sponsored a closed party for the Fraternity. The remainder of the semester found the members working diligently to construct a solid program.

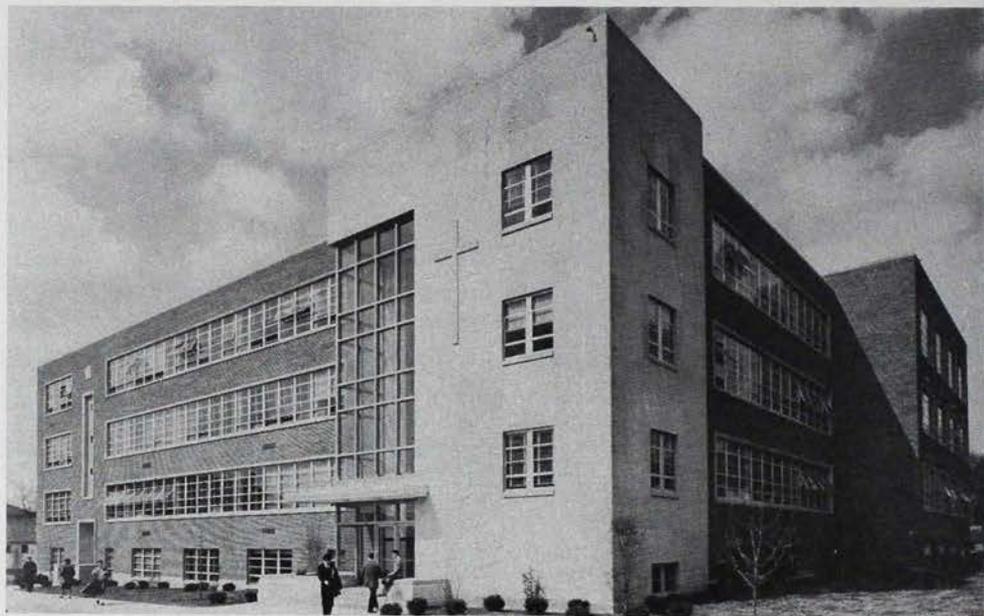

The 1962-63 academic year held great promise for Theta Pi Beta. The momentum gained at the end of the Spring semester of 1962 was rekindled with a picnic. The congenial atmosphere of that day gave promise for the oncoming semester. It was believed that Theta Pi Beta had achieved the unity and resulting momentum necessary for it to become an undergraduate chapter of Delta Sigma Pi and a part of the University of Dayton, and thus every effort was made to accomplish that goal.

On Sunday, April 28, 1963, this goal was reached when the following undergraduates and faculty members were initiated as charter members of Epsilon Tau Chapter of the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi: John J. Hirt, Thomas A. Michalak, Thomas A. Bir, Richard A. Baker, Joseph R. Trovato,

125th Chapter Installed at New Mexico State University

ON SATURDAY, May 4, 1963, Delta Sigma Pi installed its 125th chapter in the Department of Business Administration and Economics at New Mexico State University in Las Cruces, New Mexico. Epsilon Upsilon Chapter is our third chapter in the State of New Mexico, the others being Gamma Iota at the University of New Mexico and Epsilon Eta at Eastern New Mexico University.

The installation ceremonies were held in Milton Hall on the New Mexico State University campus and began with an informal luncheon. On hand for the installation were Executive Director J. D. Thomson, Inter-Mountain Regional Director Warren Armstrong, Southwestern Regional Director Joe M. Hefner, and delegations from Gamma Phi Chapter at Texas Western College, Epsilon Eta Chapter at Eastern New Mexico University and Beta Upsilon Chapter at Texas Technological College. Following the luncheon the delegates and the members of Nu Mu Sigma moved to another wing of Milton Hall where the informal and formal initiations were held.

The Rumpus Room Restaurant in Las Cruces was the scene of the Installation Banquet at which Regional Director Warren Armstrong was the toastmaster. After a welcome by officials of New Mexico State University, Dr. G. L. Guthrie related the history of the Department of Business Administration and Economics of which he is the head. Larry C. Smith, vice president of Epsilon Upsilon Chapter, then told of the founding of Nu Mu Sigma, our petitioning group. The highlight of the day was reached with the presentation of the charge and charter by Executive Director J. D. Thomson. This charter was accepted by the Epsilon Upsilon Chapter President, Gerald H. Carnes with some appropriate remarks. Fraternal greetings extended by Southwestern Regional Director Joe M. Hefner and the various delegations completed the installation program and a very full day.

History of New Mexico State

In 1888, the settlers of the Mesilla Valley, realizing the need for an advanced educational system, founded Las Cruces College. In accordance with the Morrill Act of 1862, the 28th Legislative Assembly of New Mexico on February 28, 1889, passed an act making the college New Mexico College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts.

In 1890, New Mexico College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts formally opened its doors in the newly completed Main Hall, a two story brick building of fourteen rooms and a basement.

A land grant college, it is located on the East mesa lands of the Rio Grande Valley in the South-Central part of New Mexico. The campus is one mile east of Mesilla Park, three miles southeast of downtown Las Cruces, and forty miles north of El Paso, Texas. The University has its own Post Office, University Park, New Mexico, but other facilities are in Las Cruces.

In 1926, New Mexico College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts was accredited as a degree granting institution by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. It was also accredited by the American Association of University Women in 1954.

In November 1960, the constitution of New Mexico was amended to change the name to New Mexico State University. In accordance with the Legislative Assembly, the University was divided into four colleges and one school; the College of Arts and Sciences, the College of Engineering, the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, and the Graduate School.

The 2,755 acre campus consists of sixty-four permanent buildings, the oldest being Science Hall constructed in 1897, and the newest, a two million dollar agricultural building completed in 1962. The physical plant is valued at $16,675,000. The University also maintains a 289 acre irrigated experiment farm and orchard, a 61,760 acre cattle and experiment ranch, a 2,160 acre recreational area in the Organ Mountains, and numerous experiment station buildings.

New Mexico State University is feeling the rapid growth of New Mexico and the Southwest with a present enrollment of about 3,700 students and a predicted enrollment of 8,000 in 1972.

Being the oldest institution of higher learning in New Mexico, New Mexico State University has had a long, full past and is looking to a long, bright future.

The department now provides its students a choice of four majors: general business, accounting, economics, and business education. In addition to these specific majors, the department offers the necessary courses to permit some specialization in the fields of marketing, finance, and management.

Today, 347 students are majoring in the Department of Business Administration and Economics. Since 1926 when the first Bachelor of Science in Business Administration degree was granted, 440 degrees have been awarded.

History of Nu Mu Sigma

In the spring semester of 1961, Charles L. Farrar, Executive Secretary of Delta Sigma Pi, visited New Mexico State University to visit with the members of the faculty and a small group of business majors interested in organizing a professional fraternity.

ON HAND TO MEET the national officers were these Administrators and members of the petitioning group at New Mexico State University. From left to right: Gerald Carnes, president of Epsilon Upsilon Chapter, Executive Director J. D. Thomson, Dean A. D. Boston of the College of Arts and Sciences, Regional Director Warren E. Armstrong, G. L. Guthrie, head of the Department of Business Administration and Economics and Philip S. Ambrose, Dean of Students.

History of Department of Business Administration and Economics

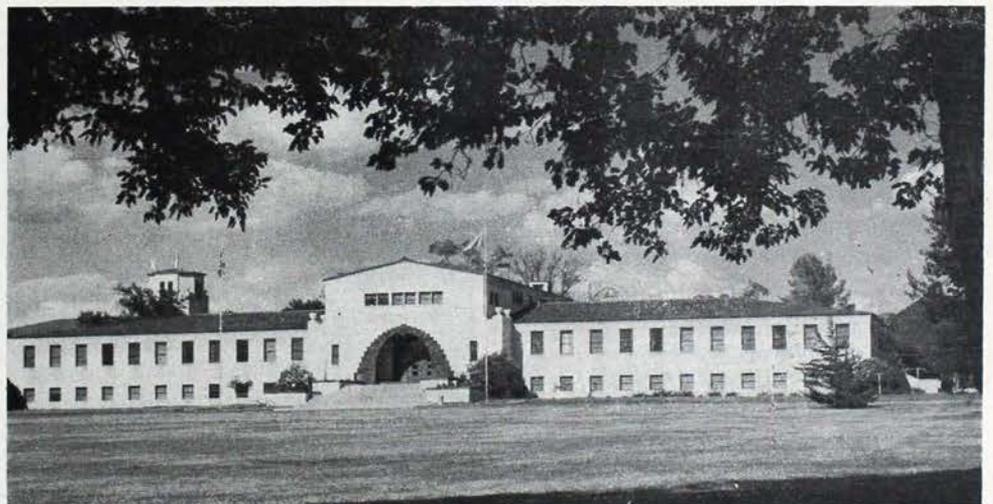

When New Mexico College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts opened in 1890, the objective, as specified in the Morrill Act, was to teach such branches of learning as were related to agriculture and the mechanic arts in order to promote the liberal and practical education of the industrial classes. Today, as New Mexico State University, the school provides a greatly expanded program which includes professional courses in business administration and economics designed to develop the abilities necessary for responsible positions in business and government.

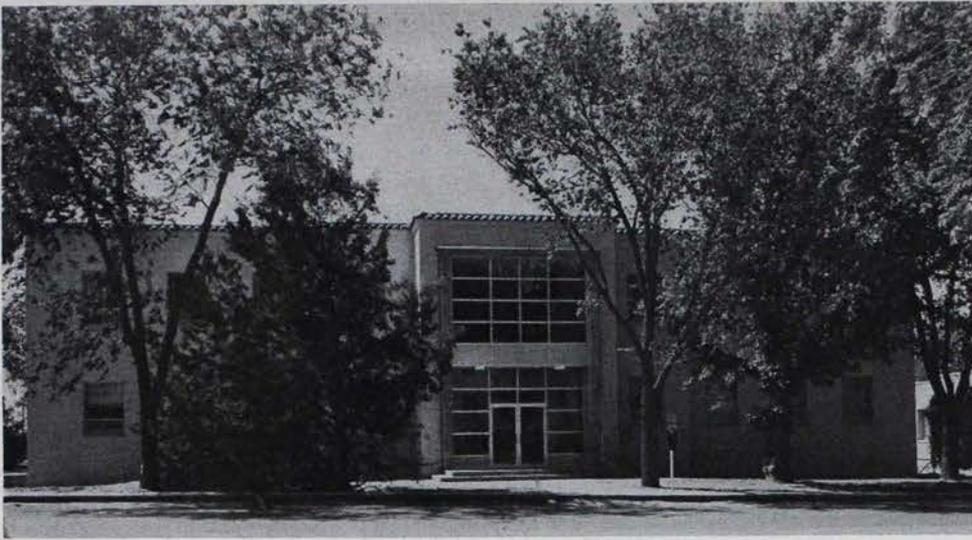

A Department of Commerce was established in 1909 but the course offerings were limited for the most part to stenographic and bookkeeping subjects. A Department of Business Administration replaced the Department of Commerce in 1925 and the first degrees—Bachelor of Science in Business Administration—were conferred in 1926 on five members of the class. Mr. G. L. Guthrie became acting head of the department in 1927, and head of the department in 1928 and is serving in that capacity today. Since 1937, the department has been known as the Department of Business Administration and Economics.

THE ARCHITECT'S DRAWING of the new Fine Arts Center at New Mexico State scheduled to open during the Fall. This modern Center contains classrooms, offices and a 400 seat Little Theater.

HADLEY HALL, the administration building at New Mexico State, is of modified Spanish architecture which conforms with the campus style. In addition to the administration staff, it also contains the Post Office for University Park.

THE RESEARCH CENTER at New Mexico State University, completed in 1960, includes facilities for basic research in all departments of the University.

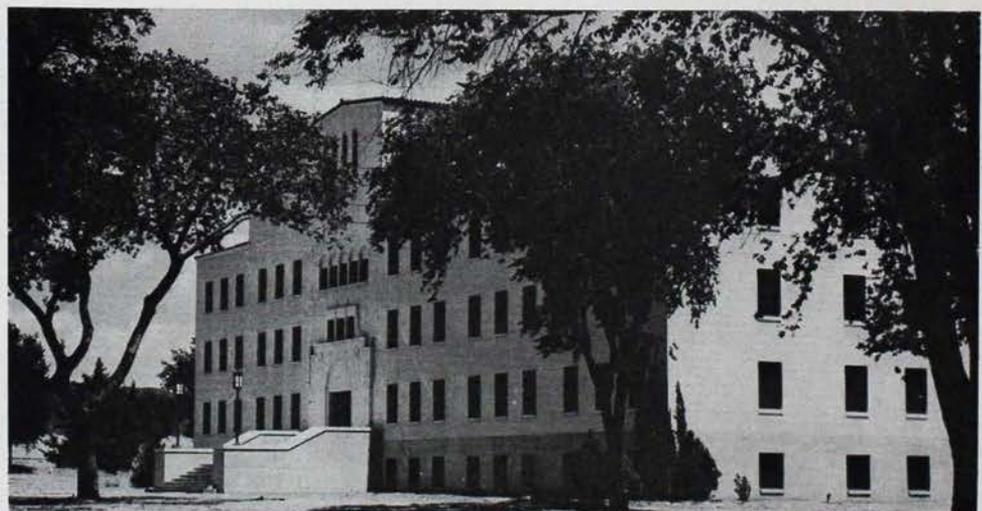

Shortly after his visit, several meetings were held by over twenty interested business students. Discussion centered around the forming of a local fraternity with intentions to affiliate with Delta Sigma Pi. The primary purposes behind the discussion for affiliation were to further the interests of the business student and create a close fraternal relationship. An election was held and officers were elected. G. L. Guthrie, head of the Department of Business Administration and Economics and F. T. Downs consented to be advisors of the new business administration fraternity. The name Nu Mu Sigma was chosen and meetings were held every other Wednesday night. Speakers were brought in from different facets of the business world and the fraternity was presented with some interesting films and talks. Nu Mu Sigma also became recognized on campus and contributed a booth and sponsored a beauty contestant in the 1961 Spring Carnival activities.

In the Fall of 1962 new officers were elected and plans were laid for the future program. Many problems arose in the program and in the membership expansion. J. D. Thomson, Executive Director of Delta Sigma Pi visited the fraternity and contributed additional information and suggestions. In November, Nu Mu Sigma voted unanimously to petition Delta Sigma Pi for affiliation. Warren E. Armstrong, director of Inter-Mountain Region of Delta Sigma Pi, was also helpful in giving information and advice.

Since that time the organization improved and presented an ever improving business program.

The goal of Nu Mu Sigma was reached on May 4, 1963 when the following undergraduate and faculty members were initiated as charter members of Epsilon Upsilon Chapter of the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi: William A. Alford, Luis A. Barrio, Gerald H. Carnes, Jimmy L. Coody, Carl L. Fitzpatrick, Joe O. Garcia, David G. Giron, Gwynne L. Guthrie, Lionel D. Haight, Robert D. Hamblet, Eugene Haynes, Edward A. selves with the practical aspects of Delta Sigma Pi, these men were invited by a local chapter on one of the neighboring campuses to attend their professional and business meetings and their socials.

A short time later Executive Director J. D. Thomson of Delta Sigma Pi stopped by and addressed the group and discussed their achievements. Eastern Regional Director M. John Marko visited the Fraternity in March 1962 and spent a great deal of time reviewing their programs. The group was officially pledged at that time.

On Saturday, April 20, 1963, the following undergraduates were initiated as charter members of Epsilon Sigma Chapter of the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi: William A. Garrigle, Thomas J. First Place Achieved by 43 Chapters In 1963 Chapter Efficiency Contest

The coveted goal of 100,000 points in the 1963 Chapter Efficiency Contest was achieved by 43 Chapters. Another 14 chapters scored 85,000 points or more to place on the Honor Roll, making a total of 57 chapters, or 52 per cent, of the chapters in the top position of the 109 participating chapters.

The Chapter Efficiency Contest, established during the college year 1931-1932, has definitely proven to be one of the most important aspects of the chapter activity during its 32 year history. Not only does it increase chapter interest, but it also provides an adequate tool in measuring a chapter's achievements during the college year. This year's contest marked the 27th consecutive time, discounting the war years when the contest was not conducted, that Kappa Chapter at Georgia State has scored 100,000 points. Only two other chapters come close to matching this record. They are Alpha Beta Chapter at the University of Missouri with 23 wins and Beta Chapter at Northwestern University with 20.

The five major divisions of the Chapter Efficiency Contest are: Professional Activities, Scholarship, Membership, Finance, and Chapter Initiative and Administration. A maximum of 20,000 points is permitted in each division, thus a final standing of 100,000 points indicates a perfect record for the chapter during the year.

Delta Sigma Pi Key Recognizes Scholarship

IN 1912 Delta Sigma Pi recognized its first scholar in the field of business administration and presented him with a gold key, which became known as the Delta Sigma Pi Scholarship Key. Since that date keys have been awarded annually at schools of business where Delta Sigma Pi has an undergraduate chapter. This key is awarded to the male senior who upon graduation ranks highest in scholarship for the entire course in commerce and business administration.

Over 2,500 Delta Sigma Pi Scholarship Keys have been awarded since 1912 and it is significant to note that members of Delta Sigma Pi have won about one-third of these in competition with the balance of the men in their senior class of the school of business.

The Educational Foundation of Delta Sigma Pi is now considering a program which will enlarge the scope of the Delta Sigma Pi Scholarship Key Award and encourage more students to attain superior scholarship in the field of business administration. Announcement of this program is expected to come soon as the Educational Foundation grows in members.
