LOOKING AHEAD: OVERVIEW OF THE UPCOMING 1987-89 BIENNIUM

John V. Henik

Dear Brothers:

First, allow me to thank everyone for the opportunity to continue to serve this great fraternity as your Grand President for the upcoming 1987-89 biennium.

Our Grand Chapter, as you shall see in this issue of The DELTASIG, proved to be our biggest and best to date! On behalf of your Board of Directors, I would like to thank those Congress delegates and participants for their thoughtful insight, hard work and dedication in approving the major constitutional packages put before them! We appreciate your overwhelming confidence and support in our actions and deeds.

This biennium shall be an extremely exciting one! Much of the program development begun in the past biennium shall now carry forward and, hopefully, be implemented in this biennium. Major emphasis shall be in the areas of alumni programming, educational training and professional fraternity development. Allow me to highlight each area briefly.

In the area of alumni programs, exciting times are upon us! We have reinstated and budgeted for our long absent Alumni Newsletter. Although initial mailings will be limited to our alumni and collegiate chapters, we hope to expand this newsletter service to all our alumni as funding becomes available. However, this newsletter is only the first step in tapping this fraternity's greatest asset: OUR ALUMNI!

Our new Vice President for Alumni Benefits and Services (formerly the Director of Alumni Activities and now constitutionally renamed at this convention) has been energized and empowered by the Grand Chapter to further stimulate the interest and involvement of not only our "immediate" alumni chapters and members, but our 93,000 alumni across the country! This is a challenge that will require the support of everyone!

On the front of educational development, our attention focuses not only on our upcoming fall, 1988, regional conferences, but also on our new Provincial Leadership Schools to be held in July/August, 1988. These schools are aimed at training the leadership skills and enhancing the abilities of our national and chapter officers. The program, initiated two years ago on the regional level, has expanded now to the provincial level and will be managed by the four Provincial Vice Presidents. Seventy per cent of all our national officers attended the leadership school two years ago. Our goal is 100% attendance this biennium! We encourage and anticipate involvement and support in this program from corporate America. Perhaps your firm may be interested in contributing its time or talents!

Our final major thrust this biennium is in the area of professional fraternity development. Begun last biennium, our fraternity's goal is to expand its involvement and affiliation with corporate America as it relates to the endowment of our educational programs, internships, scholarships, financial support, participation in speakers bureaus, and a greater interaction with our chapters. Once again, the support and participation of our 93,000 plus alumni shall be instrumental in making this campaign a success this biennium.

Participating hand-in-hand and assuming a greater role in implementing many of these programs will be our Educational Foundation, under the guidance of its new president, James L. Prescott.

In conclusion, Brothers, we are embarking on a very meaningful and ambitious program this biennium. To our alumni members: Please be prepared to give your utmost time, support and attention in helping to achieve and perpetuate our goals and objectives in this great fraternity.

If you, as an alumnus of our fraternity, or if your firm is interested in participating in our fraternity's development this biennium, please call our national headquarters, The Central Office, at 513-523-4189.

Fraternally,

PLAN TO BE THERE!

This year not only marks the 80th Anniversary of Delta Sigma Pi, but it also marks the 75th Anniversary of the fraternity's official magazine, The DELTASIG. To celebrate this anniversary, The DELTASIG has taken on a new look, one we hope you will enjoy.

Gone is the Ronda typestyle which has been used on the cover and throughout the magazine since 1974. Replacing it is the Bookman typestyle which will be used on the cover and at other places in the magazine. The title page has been redesigned, as well as the titles for the departments and features.

We think that the changes make The DELTASIG a more attractive, readable publication. Hopefully, you will like the new look to the extent that you will feel inclined to continue to send us personal news, professional articles and other material that will make interesting reading.

Just as The DELTASIG has been redesigned this year, so has it gone through numerous changes in style, content and design over the years since it was first published. Beginning in 1907, and for several years thereafter, Delta Sigma Pi was simply a one-chapter fraternity with the only record of its activities consisting of the minutes of its meetings. As the fraternity began to initiate and graduate more men from New York University, the early members of Delta Sigma Pi began writing a confidential newsletter for distribution to them. This confidential newsletter, with existing copies dating back to early 1911, was the fore-runner of The DELTASIG.

In early 1912, the first issues of the fraternity's official publication were published. This publication, which was at first published every other Wednesday, was known as "The DELTYSIG." Later in 1912, the name was changed to "The DELTASIG" and has been the official publication ever since. While The DELTASIG is now published four times a year, in its early years it was not published on a regular basis. In fact, the early editors acknowledged this by heading each copy of the publication with: "The DELTASIG, Published Every Once In A While".

During the first two years of The DELTASIG, all of its editors were from Alpha Chapter at New York University. In fact, the first issues of the publication were a group effort among: John B. (Jack) Guernsey; John A. (Jack) Waldron; Nicholas A. (Nat) Schoenbucher; Frederick A. (Freddie) Smith; John J. (Jack) Burke; and Philip J. Warner. These Brothers wrote about non-secret activities of the fraternity, new positions and promotions received by alumni and lightheartedly mourned the "passing" of a Brother who got married.

One passage in the September 7, 1912, issue of The DELTASIG written by Jack Guernsey particularly illustrates the fraternity's good natured competition with marriage for the time of the Brothers:

*The Deltasig Magazine,
like the Fraternity
itself, continues to evolve . . .*

“FIRST ACT: Benson (Philip A.) popular with all and a good fellow.”

“TIME BETWEEN FIRST AND SECOND ACT” Several months. Enters a fair shadow in the form of a girl.” “SECOND ACT: Benson marries the heroine.”

“THIRD ACT: Benson forgets the ‘Bunch’ and is correspondingly almost forgotten by them. EXIT.”

“Why, of you married men, cannot you spend an evening once or twice a month and join the boys around the crackling log fire at the House? Can’t marriage and fraternalism live together? Give the girl a square deal. Give her an evening of peace once in a while. She’ll like you better for it.”

The DELTASIG also contained informative and entertaining bits of news about alumni. In the July 24, 1913, issue, Jack Guernsey writes about founder Henry Albert Tienken who had moved to South America shortly after graduation: “News from South America is to the effect that Bert Tienken of more than local fame is piling up the filthy gold at the rate of several thousand a year and, unlike the rest of us, is saving it. The principal reason seems to be that he cannot find any way to spend it down there. Bert plans to come back to the States soon, retire from active business and devote his time to the management of his estate.”

In addition, early issues of The DELTASIG contained information about the Brothers that could not be categorized. During the summer of 1913 many of the Brothers spent a lot of time at a residence they called “Goodfellowship Cottage” at Sea Gate, New York, near the beach. This particular passage, written by Jack Guernsey in the August 23, 1913, issue, illustrates the fun enjoyed by “the boys” that summer:

“The original September Morn, or rather two of them, has or have been discovered! Last Friday about one-thirty, while three of the boys were sitting quietly on the porch enjoying a night-cap, and the moon was up and the tide was out and the beach was deserted for the hay, THEY appeared. They didn't know they were being observed, for folks are supposed to be in bed and asleep at one-thirty. Wrapped in bathrobes they stole upon the beach, glanced quickly about to see that no one was near, then slipped quietly into the welcoming waters. It should be stated for clearness that they left their bathrobes on the beach. That's why there appeared to the pleasantly astonished three on the porch, a little later, a beautiful vision of a September Morn, only twins. And before the aforementioned astonished three could recover their equilibrium or remark upon the beauties of nature the beauties were gone."

"Tickets are now on sale and reservations are being made for seats on the porch for next Friday night, August 29, at one-thirty o'clock. Inquire of the entertainment committee or of the Comstock society, New York."

Throughout the years, The DELTASIG has chronicled the history of the fraternity and itself. Early highlights included: the first mention of an alumni group, the "Graduate Chapter" (March 7, 1914, issue), the addition of Beta Chapter (June 13, 1914, issue); the need for a Chicago editor/correspondent (September 19, 1914, issue); the first Chicago editor/correspondent (November 2, 1914); the establishment of Gamma Chapter at Boston University (August 16, 1916, issue); first mention of the seal of the fraternity, design credited to Harry Cox (September 5, 1916, issue); and the first issue of The DELTASIG printed, rather than mimeographed, on a regular basis (August 28, 1917).

These early highlights and other news and information were compiled by a number of different editors during the first years of The DELTASIG. The first issues of The DELTASIG were published by editors from Alpha Chapter who were later joined by editors in Chicago (Beta Chapter) and Boston (Gamma Chapter).

For several years this situation worked well until the fraternity experenced a tremendous growth during the years 1920-1924. During this time the fraternity grew from three chapters to 32 under the leadership of Grand President H. G. Wright. It was also during this time at the fifth Congress of Chapters (Grand Chapter Congress) in 1920 that the fraternity saw the need to publish The DELTASIG on a regular basis.

The 1924 Congress of Chapters held in New York City was the meeting at which The Central Office was created as well as the position of Secretary-Treasurer (Executive Director). H. G. Wright was elected unanimously to the position for what was to be a continuous term of 31 years. During this time he became the permanent editor of The DELTASIG, the fraternity's magazine, which had become a quarterly publication. Regular feature articles were instituted along with departments containing chapter and alumni news.

From 1924 until 1942, The DELTASIG had several design changes, but the content remained consistent, including articles of a professional nature, along with fraternity, chapter and alumni news. In 1942, however, due to the growing number of Deltasigs joining the armed forces during World War II, The DELTASIG again began containing lists of Deltasigs in the armed service as it had before in 1918.

During World War II, only 11

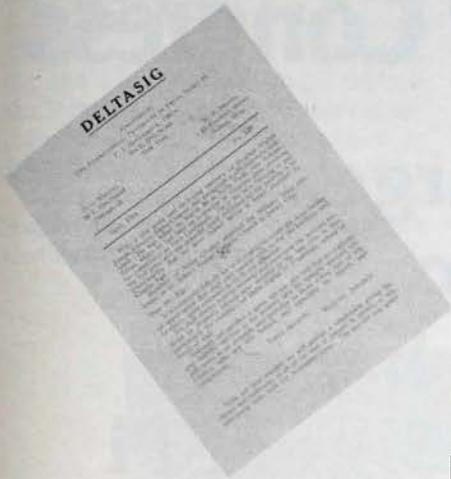

chapters remained active. Along with the decline in the number of active chapters came a decline in income. Because of this decline in income, it was seriously considered that The Central Office cease operations until after the war. It was decided, however, that The Central Office remain open and attempt to provide as many services as possible, including publication of The DELTASIG. This service was continued until January, 1943, when over 4,000 Deltasigs were serving in the armed forces making it impossible to maintain enough correct addresses.

After the war, The DELTASIG resumed publication with the November, 1946, issue. By this time, though, the fraternity had also hired an Assistant Grand Secretary-Treasurer, James D. Thomson, who also served as the first Assistant Editor. The DELTASIG resumed publication on a quarterly basis and contained many of the same type of features and departments that appear today.

Since 1946, The DELTASIG has been edited by several editors and assistant editors who, usually, have also served in the paid staff positions of Executive Director and Assistant Executive Director. Since that time there have been several redesigns of The DELTASIG, the last coming in 1974.

These changes have been made in an attempt to make The DELTASIG a more attractive, more readable, professional looking publication. The DELTASIG is now mailed to over 32,000 collegiate and alumni members, deans, businesses, libraries and other fraternities in this country and around the world. The DELTASIG is your fraternity's magazine and we want it to contain the types of items you are interested in reading. We hope you enjoy receiving The DELTASIG and reading about Delta Sigma Pi as the magazine begins publication for its 76th year.

36th Grand Chapter Congress

Largest & Longest in Delta Sigma Pi History

The beautiful and international Crescent City of New Orleans was the host of the 36th Grand Chapter Congress held at The Fairmont Hotel from August 16-21, 1987. A new attendance record was set as a total of 888 members, spouses and guests participated in this Grand Chapter Congress. This convention also celebrated the 80th Anniversary of the founding of Delta Sigma Pi. Fraternalism was high as first-time convention participants formed many new friendships with Deltasigs from across the nation while frequent convention attendees renewed those relationships which had been developed over many years. For the first time ever, the Grand Chapter Congress was extended to five and a half days in length making the 36th Grand Chapter Congress not only the largest, but the longest in Delta Sigma Pi history.

Most attendees arrived on Sunday, August 16, as registration began late that morning and continued throughout the day. That evening, all participants had the opportunity to meet the national officers and staff during the Grand President's Reception and Dance. This particular Dance had a Mardi Gras theme and many participants came dressed in Mardi Gras costumes.

The Opening Business Session of the 36th Grand Chapter Congress began the morning of August 17.

Several pieces of fraternal legislation were considered by the delegates during the business sessions.

Keynote Speaker Ed King, Dean of Residential Life and Student Judicial System at Bradley University helped us take a serious and sometimes light-hearted look at our personal and fraternal relationships.

Nominations for positions on the Board of Directors were presented throughout the convention.

Prior to the Opening Business Session, a Delegate Orientation was held for the very first time. Following the Invocation, delivered by Past Grand President M. John Marko, Grand President John V. Henik welcomed the delegates and other participants to New Orleans and to the convention. He then introduced the Board of Directors, members of the Golden Council (past national officers and Central Office staff members), members of the Order of the Golden Helmet and the District Directors. Special convention participants also introduced were representatives from the fraternity's colony at the University of Pennsylvania. Executive Director Michael J. Mazur, Jr. introduced the members of The Central Office Executive staff including Assistant Executive Director Michael T. Walsh, Director of Chapter Services C. Dean

Ferguson and Chapter Consultants B. Todd Whisenant and Robby L. Hultz.

South Pacific Regional Director William R. Kinsella served as Parliamentarian and District Director Michael W. Moegenburg served as Chancellor. Mike Mazur and Mike Walsh served as Secretary and Assistant Secretary of the convention. Brother Mazur then called the Roll of the Grand Chapter representing delegates of the collegiate and alumni chapters. Monday afternoon, each of the regions conducted meetings covering topics of interest to each particular region. Monday evening was free for the participants to enjoy New Orleans. Also during Monday, spouses, guests and several alumni participated in a tour of New Orleans.

On Tuesday morning, the Delta Sigma Pi Educational Foundation

Breakfast and Meeting took place prior to a morning legislative session. A record 71 legislative proposals were considered during the Grand Chapter Congress.

In addition to legislation, Executive Director Michael J. Mazur, Jr., introduced Keynote Speaker Ed King, Dean of Residential Life and Student Judicial System at Bradley University in Peoria, Illinois. The report of the Committee on Nominations was presented and additional nominations were accepted for national office.

The Awards Luncheon was held on Tuesday afternoon. Chapter Efficiency Index Honor Roll Certificates were presented to 12 collegiate chapters by John V. Henik, assisted by Dean Ferguson. A special highlight was the presentation to Alpha Beta Chapter at the University of Missouri-Columbia in recognition of 47 consecutive years of 100,000 points CEI achievement. Midwestern Regional Director Marlow Kee was presented with a special award for having the region with the highest average in the 1986-87 Chapter Efficiency Index. The chapters in the Midwestern Region achieved an average of 87,408 points.

East Central Regional Director Samuel F. Shaheen then announced that Dr. Joseph Schenk had been selected as the National Chapter Advisor of the Year Award recipient. Brother Schenk is the Chapter Advisor to Epsilon Tau Chapter at the University of Dayton and, since he could not be present, Epsilon Tau Chapter President Mary E. Slater accepted this award for him. South Pacific Regional Director William R. Kinsella then presented the District Director of the Year Award to Paul J. P. Garcia in recognition of his outstanding service as a District Director during the 1986-87 year.

Participation during the seminars and workshops was high.

Epsilon Chapter at the University of Iowa in Iowa City, Iowa, was presented with the Most Improved Chapter Award by North Central Regional Director Marvin M. Anderson. William R. Kinsella then returned to the podium to present the collegiate chapter National Community Service Award to Iota Pi Chapter at San Diego State University.

The program then turned toward alumni awards as Director of Alumni Activities Joe S. Loomis presented the Outstanding Alumni Chapter Award to the Twin-Cities (Minneapolis-St. Paul) Alumni Chapter.

The final chapter award was the Most Outstanding Chapter Award which was presented by Midwestern Regional Director Marlow B. Kee to Iota Nu Chapter at Northeast Missouri State University. Immediately following this presentation, the Most Improved Region Award was announced as the Western Region with Claire S. Roberts serving as Regional Director.

Collegian of the Year-1987 William E. Newburry addressed the Awards Luncheon attendees after presentation of a plaque in recognition of his selection to this office.

Following the Awards Luncheon, Educational Seminars were scheduled for the remainder of the afternoon with over 20 different seminars being presented. Also presented on Tuesday afternoon was the National Officers' Information Seminar which provided information for individuals interested in seeking national office in the fraternity.

One of the highlights of the convention on Tuesday evening was the Mardi Gras Parade down Canal Street. Over 600 parade participants gathered in the Ballroom at The Fairmont Hotel to get in a festive mood with the band that was to lead them. After leaving the hotel, the parade, led by Grand President Henik, his wife, Annette and the band, was escorted up Canal Street by the New Orleans Police Department. At the end of the parade, most of the participants boarded the Creole Queen Riverboat for a Dinner Cruise on the Mississippi River. After a night of dinner, dancing and partying, the Deltasigs were bussed back to The Fairmont Hotel where they continued the festivities into the night.

On Wednesday, August 19, the legislative business session continued with the delegates considering amendments to the Laws of the fraternity. Final nominations for elected office were also accepted.

On Wednesday afternoon, additional Educational Seminars were scheduled for alumni and collegiate members. Also scheduled on Wednesday was an enjoyable tour of some old Antebellum Mansions in and around New Orleans. This tour was scheduled as an optional event for spouses, guests and alumni. Another free evening was planned on Wednesday for the enjoyment of the city of New Orleans.

Thursday, August 20, provided opportunities to meet candidates for elected office on a fraternity-wide, provincial and regional levels. The various caucuses enabled delegates to learn more about the candidates in order to cast votes for the most qualified candidates. The National Meet-the-Candidates Forum was moderated by Past Grand President M. John Marko and the provincial and

Lambda Tau Chapter Installed at Bentley College

“I would like for Chapter President David Hennel to please come forward at this time to accept the Chapter Charter.” This presentation by Grand President John V. Henik culminated many months of hard work by 30 new members of Delta Sigma Pi and the charter members of Lambda Tau Chapter. Lambda Tau Chapter was installed on Saturday, April 4, 1987, and is the fraternity's 217th collegiate chapter and the fifth chapter installed in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Over 200 Deltasigs and guests from across the country joined Grand President Henik, Past Grand President Richard J. Parnitzke, Director of Alumni Activities Joe S. Loomis, Northern Provincial Vice President Thomas E. Sheely, Eastern Regional Director Marc A. Robbins, East Central Regional Director Samuel F. Shaheen, Director of Chapter Services C. Dean Ferguson, and District Directors John R. Ciak, Elizabeth A. Milik, and Richard H. Wolf for the installation banquet and festivities. Each chapter in the Eastern Region was represented at the installation banquet conducted the evening of April fourth at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Cambridge, Massachusetts.

Earlier in the day, the 30 charter members of Lambda Tau Chapter gathered at the Bentley campus for their initiation. The Ritual Team was composed of Deltasigs from the Boston Alumni Chapter, Delta Psi Chapter at Suffolk University, Theta Iota Chapter at the University of Connecticut, and Theta Upsilon Chapter at Siena College. Twenty-nine collegiate members were initiated along with Chapter Advisor George "Skip" Hachey. Initiation day and the installation banquet culminated many months of hard work by the 30 charter members of Lambda Tau Chapter.

The start of Lambda Tau Chapter began in the fall of 1984 when Brother Steven Carvell of Kappa Lambda Chapter at the State University of New York-Binghamton expressed an interest in forming a chapter at Bentley College. Brother Carvell was teaching at Bentley College at the time and contacted the fraternity's Central Office for information on making this ambition into a reality. Members of the Boston Alumni Chapter offered their assistance to Brother Carvell and after receiving approval from the college to establish a chapter, initial recruiting events were conducted in March of 1985.

Additional recruiting activities were conducted throughout the 1985-86 academic year by members of the Boston Alumni Chapter coordinated by District Director Elizabeth A. Milik. The initial students who would later become Deltasigs conducted an organizational meeting in March of 1986 and selected the fraternity name of Nu Epsilon Alpha which would last until their installation as a chapter. Officers were elected in April of 1986 and plans made for a very active 1986-87 school year.

Nu Epsilon Alpha Fraternity conducted numerous professional activities, fund raising projects, community service events, and social activities during the 1986 fall semester. A large delegation of members attended the Eastern Regional Conference at the end of October. The members in attendance returned with an even higher level of enthusiasm and met shortly thereafter with Chapter Consultant Mitchell B. Simmons from The Central Office.

A final step in the installation of any new chapter is when the fraternity's Board of Directors votes on the worthiness of a group of students to become a Deltasig chapter. A petition must be submitted which describes the students and their activities. The petition for Nu Epsilon Alpha Fraternity was received at The Central Office in January of 1987 and approved by the fraternity's Board of Directors on February 13th. With this approval in hand, a pledging ceremony was conducted and the members of Nu

Epsilon Alpha began their pledge education program. The pledge education program was conducted by members of the Boston Alumni Chapter. At the installation banquet, Brothers Ann Baumer, Gayle Younger Gerhardt, James W. H. Gerhardt, Richard A. Steinkrauss, and Elizabeth A. Milik were recognized for their contributions to the success of Nu Epsilon Alpha Fraternity and Lambda Tau Chapter.

- to begin today by making Lambda Tau Chapter the best of our 217 chapters across the land
- to strive for excellence in every one of your endeavors, no matter how large or small
- to strive for balance in your chapter, remembering that we are professionals in every sense of the word, but that there is time for fun as well
- to commit yourselves to a high standard of scholastic excellence and to the support of this fine institution
- to complement and enhance the business community around you—and the merger of study and practice, town and gown, the esoteric and the real—through seminars, speakers, professional tours and joint projects with local businessmen

- to act responsibly, to carry your end of the load, to be dependable, to be professional
- to remember that you are a professional—a business person—a DELTA SIGMA PI, and that you are now a part of us, a part of all that we stand for, all that we are, and all that we have been for almost 80 years
- to be proud that you are a Deltasig—now and always—for LIFE!

But, most of all, I charge you to remember that you are also a citizen of the world—to remember that every human being has dignity and worth—and all the above will be for naught unless you do your part in making the world a better place in which to live.

Educational Foundation

Expanding The Horizons of Deltasigs & Their Families Since 1953

Program Expands, Elects New Officers

As has been our long standing tradition, the Delta Sigma Pi Educational Foundation conducted its biennial membership and board of directors meetings at the Grand Chapter Congress held in New Orleans in August.

At the board of directors meeting the following brothers were elected as officers of the Educational Foundation: President, James L. Prescott; Vice President for Membership, James W.H. Gerhardt; Vice President for Financial Aid, Timothy D. Gover; Vice President for Research and Development, Edward T. Gover; Treasurer, Victor A. Tabor; and Secretary, Christopher H. Dunavent.

The Foundation meetings were very productive as two new programs were approved, two other programs were improved, the endowment of all Foundation programs was approved, and we began naming the various awards in our scholarships and grants categories after deserving brothers.

One of the new categories of grants approved was the Undergraduate Deltasig Study Grant. This is the first such program for our undergraduate brothers. Initially, there will be one grant of $500.00. This is a one-time grant, and will be awarded each year. The criteria for this award is fraternity service, scholarship and financial need. An application for this award can be found in this issue of The DELTASIG, along with all of the information about this award. This first grant in this new category is named in memory of past Executive Director Ben H. Wolfenberger, who passed away several months ago. As soon as funding becomes available two additional grants in this new category will be announced.

The Educational Foundation will also begin funding of the Delta Sigma Pi Scholarship Key Scrolls beginning with the 1988-89 fiscal year.

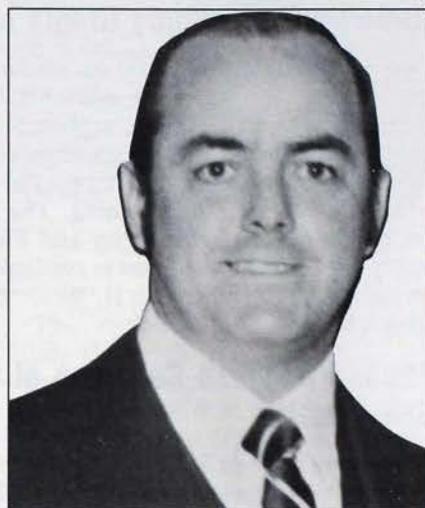

And, the Collegian of the Year Scholarship has been named the "Sparky" Sparks Collegian of the Year Scholarship and has been increased to $2,500.00.

A detailed listing of our new and improved line-up of programs appears elsewhere in this issue. Look it over, and then make a commitment to help your Educational Foundation do more for our Brothers. It will be very much appreciated. You can count on that!

JAMES L. PRESCOTT

Collegian of the Year Commentary

The Collegian of the Year program was established in 1971 to honor our fraternity's outstanding members while providing a method of direct collegiate input into the governing bodies of our fraternity. In the spring of each year, a Collegian of the Year is selected to serve a two-year term as a voting member of the fraternity's Executive Committee and Board of Directors. The Collegian of the Year responsibilities also include serving in positions on national committees, writing articles for The DELTASIG Magazine and traveling to various Area and Regional Conferences. While the position can be time-consuming, it is also rewarding in many ways.

Collegians of the Year are selected by the Executive Committee and the Executive Director on the basis of four criteria: 1) demonstrated fraternity service; 2) scholastic accomplishment; 3) extra-curricular involvement; and 4) professional development. The national winner receives a handsome plaque and is eligible for the $2,500 Collegian of the Year Scholarship for graduate study in the field of business.

The Collegian of the Year program is an excellent vehicle for recognizing our fraternity's outstanding individuals on both a local and a regional level. Regional winners receive a certificate recognizing their achievement as well as the choice of a pearl and ruby badge or a Life Membership in the fraternity. Moreover, all nominees gain a sense of accomplishment as people are taking note of the hard work they have put into Delta Sigma Pi and their collegiate experience in general.

Every chapter has outstanding Brothers who are worthy of this honor. This award is a great opportunity to provide them with the recognition they deserve. Each collegiate chapter should take a few moments to nominate an outstanding individual. Who knows?! You may have a regional or national winner. The application deadline is February 1, but nominate your candidate soon to ensure that he has plenty of time to complete the application.

If your chapter has any questions about the Collegian of the Year Award, please address them to Bill Newburry or Susan Plassmeyer, c/o The Central Office, 330 South Campus Avenue, P. O. Box 230, Oxford, Ohio 45056-0230. We hope all collegiate chapters take this opportunity to honor their best.

regional caucuses were moderated by the respective Provincial Vice Presidents and Regional Directors.

Another one of the highlights of the convention took place on Thursday afternoon as Norman G. Milley, retired President of K-Mart Stores Group, was initiated as the 22nd National Honorary Member of Delta Sigma Pi. Later that same day, all convention attendees participated in the gala 36th Grand Chapter Congress Banquet. Led by the famous Olympia Brass Band, the head table participants, including the entire Board of Directors and members of Directors and members of The Central Office Executive staff, paraded to their places to applause. Grand President Henik served as Toastmaster and introduced Past Grand President Michael R. Mallonee who delivered the Invocation.

After the banquet meal, Brother Henik introduced the members of the Board of Directors and The Central Office staff and their spouses seated at the head table; members of the Golden Council, Order of the Golden Helmet, special guests and The Central Office Administrative staff seated in the audience.

Executive Director Mazur then introduced National Honorary Member Norman G. Milley who outlined his rise in the business world and reviewed his career with K-Mart. Grand President Henik and Executive Director Mazur then presented Brother Milley with his Delta Sigma Pi Certificate of Membership. Mr. Milley was then greeted as our newest member with a standing ovation!

Mike Mazur then conducted the Grand Chapter Congress attendance countdown and this year the only member standing when the countdown reached 21 was Bob Hughes, alumnus of Beta Nu Chapter at the University of Pennsylvania. Brother Hughes attended every convention since 1947 and was presented with a badge marking his longtime convention attendance. After other presentations concluded, the "Rose of Deltasig" led by Golden Council member Tony Fernandez was sung and a memorable Grand Chapter Congress Banquet concluded.

The Final Business Session was held on Friday, August 21. The election of the members of the Board of Directors and the presentation of resolutions took place. Information on the results of the elections can be found elsewhere in this issue. Past Grand President Michael R. Mallonee installed the 1987-89 Board of Directors and the 36th Grand Chapter Congress was adjourned by re-elected Grand President John V. Henik.

The Farewell Luncheon was the closing event of the Grand Chapter Congress in New Orleans. Retiring members of the Board of Directors were presented with beautiful framed Certificates of Appreciation. The presentation of the Kenneth B. White Travel Award was made by Brothers Henik and Mazur to Lambda Sigma Chapter at California State University at Fullerton and newly elected Vice President for Alumni Benefits and Services Randy L. Hultz presented the alumni chapter attendance trophy to the delegation from the Sacramento Alumni Chapter.

The conclusion of the 36th Grand Chapter Congress culminated nearly a week of activities revolving around Brotherhood. Many friendships were made and renewed and much was learned during the week. Important changes in the fraternity's Laws were made and, most of all, all Deltasigs enjoyed the tremendous hospitality of New Orleans. If you were there, you have many fond memories. If you were not, plan to be in St. Louis in 1989!

Above and Below: The Mardi Gras spirit and spirit of Brotherhood prevailed throughout the entire week of the Grand Chapter Congress.

Alumni Commentary

Evolution. In an ever changing world the successful professional must move forward in new direction, continually monitoring, learning, evaluating, and evolving. A successful professional organization must also evolve if it is to prosper. Such change must be tempered, however, with the retention of heritage and tradition.

During the 36th Grand Chapter Congress, which is highlighted in this issue, Delta Sigma Pi experienced numerous constitutional changes. Foremost among these was the creation of the national steering committee. The steering committee will serve as the basic biennial and long range planning and advisory committee for the fraternity. The steering committee contains five major divisions: Education/Leadership Programming, Professional Fraternity Development, Financial Resources and Planning, Long-Range Planning, and Alumni Benefits and Services.

The Alumni Benefits and Services Division is charged to develop, promote, and improve the benefits and services offered to alumni and alumni chapters; to increase the level of alumni participation; and to participate in programs that increase the permanent endowment of the fraternity. As an acknowledgement of the fraternity's renewed commitment to a highly-valued asset, the title Director of Alumni Activities was changed to Vice President for Alumni Benefits and Services. The VPABS will chair the alumni division of the national steering committee.

Your fraternity is committed to expanding the benefits and services provided to alumni and alumni chapters. Now more than ever in the long history of Delta Sigma Pi there is a need for strong, meaningful alumni support of our fraternity's goals and ideas. Over the course of this biennium we ask for your input and guidance. In return, our goal is to supplement the invaluable, intangible benefits of alumni membership in Delta Sigma Pi with those more tangible in form. Working together, we can enrich the fraternity experience far beyond those few short years as a collegiate member.

Faternally yours,

Randy L. Hultz

Robby L. Hultz, Chapter Consultant

Robby L. Hultz

As we have done in previous issues of The DELTASIG, we spotlight some changes which have taken place in The Central Office staff. Earlier this year, Mitchell B. Simmons left the staff of The Central Office after having served in the position of Chapter Consultant. We thank Mitch for his service to the fraternity and wish him the best in his future endeavors.

Joining the staff of The Central Office in June, 1987, as Chapter Consultant is Robby L. Hultz. Rob, an alumnus of Iota Nu Chapter, is a 1986 graduate of the Division of Business at Northeast Missouri State University. Majoring in business and office education, Rob served the chapter as Vice President for Pledge Education. During the 1985-86 academic year he was named the Iota Nu of the Year, the same year Iota Nu Chapter was named Most Outstanding Chapter in the fraternity. Rob also served his chapter as Ritual Chairman and on several chapter committees.

While a collegiate member, he attended the Midwestern Regional Area Conference in Springfield, Missouri, the Midwestern Regional Conference at Tan-Tar-A, Lake of the Ozarks, and was Iota Nu Chapter's delegate to the 35th Grand Chapter Congress in Dallas. He also attended the installation of Lambda Omicron Chapter at Western Illinois University. Since his graduation he has attended the Midwestern Regional Leadership School in Springfield, the Midwestern Regional Conference in Columbia and the 36th Grand Chapter Congress in New Orleans. Prior to joining the staff at The Central Office, he was District Director for Kappa Omicron Chapter at Southwest Missouri State University.

While at Northeast Missouri State University, Rob also served on the University's Student Activities Board, was President of the Bulldog Collegiate 4-H Club and was Treasurer of the University's Horse and Rodeo Club. He was also a member of Pi Omega Pi, the Business Teacher Education Honor Society, at Northeast Missouri State University.

A native of Madison, Missouri, Rob now is a resident of Oxford, Ohio. He has already visited with several chapters this fall and will continue to do so in his two-year position as Chapter Consultant.
