National Leadership Training

August 3-5, 2018

The National Leadership Training program is to enhance the leadership skills and build the professional networks of Delta Sigma Pi members. Training is developed and conducted by award-winning authors and business experts, Tim Augustine and Adam Carroll.

Programming

This training program will layer skill building exercises to equip attendees with the tools they need to be effective leaders, and cover the following areas:

- Communication strategies and understanding social styles.
- Strategies to navigate conflict management.
- Accountability and the importance of deeds not words and the Four Agreements.
- Developing a bias for action – leading well so others follow.
- Understanding paradigms and generational differences (including Generation Z)

Training Focus Areas

The training program will provide attendees the opportunity to learn and practice skill areas, how to transfer the skills, and how to guide and teach in the following fields.

- Communication: Provide tools and resources that foster effective, direct, and clear communication. Aspects of this training will include coaching scripts, defining expectations, and facilitating large group settings.
- Conflict Management: Cover how to have a difficult conversation, advance planning for the conversation, and how best to facilitate a peaceful resolution to conflict.
- Project and Event Planning: Learn how to effectively plan projects and events, spot problems before they arise, and coach others to more efficient and effective planning practices.
- Strategic Planning: Learning to develop a strategic planning framework that can be used by virtually any leader at any level in the organization.

Leadership skills are challenging and must be consistently developed in order to be successful in business. While you may have received training in the past, much of that training is focused on being a manager. The National Leadership Retreat is different! It focuses on the skills you need to lead (not manage) a group of individuals. Over the years, we've provided participants practical tools in project management, conflict management, emotional intelligence, strategic planning and goal setting. These skills will enhance your success in Delta Sigma Pi and in your career. I highly encourage you to invest in your employees' personal and professional development by sending them to this National Leadership Retreat.
