NAME AND OBJECT OF THE FRATERNITY.

Pi Delta Sigma is a fraternity organized to stimulate a greater interest in business among students; to bring about a closer contact between students and faculty; to have discussions and associations with professional men of the business world; to encourage a higher standard of scholarship and business ethics; and to promote a closer affiliation between the students and faculty of the Business School.

HISTORY OF PI DELTA SIGMA.

In many respects the growth of a professional atmosphere among the students has been parallel to the growth of the School of Science and Business in the College.

Informal gatherings of the Seniors in Business Administration were held in 1921 and 1922 in the home of Dr. Taylor, then Chairman of the Department of Science and Business. All of the Business Administration students assembled at what was called a "Commerce Club" in 1923-24. Meetings were held each month and the programs presented included talks by two outside speakers and addresses by members of the faculty. Two smokers and a banquet at the end of the year were the only social activities. All of the other meetings were strictly business affairs.

There was but little activity in the old Commerce Club in the year 1924-25.

However, there was still an urge among the students for an association which found expression in the revival of activity under the name of the Business Club early in the fall of 1925. The growth of the School and of the student enrollment gave the opportunity to make the membership somewhat restrictive in character. There were forty-seven students and two faculty members in the Club at that time. Regular bi-weekly meetings were held, and programs were presented by outside speakers, members of the faculty, and by students.

The year 1926-27 opened with forty-two students and seven of the faculty as members. Bi-weekly meetings were faithfully held with very satisfactory attendance and a greatly improved interest. The participation of students in the programs reached a much higher plane. Better speakers were secured from the outside and as a whole the Club became a real force in the college life.

The current year of 1927-28 began with a spirit that resulted in a still more selective membership in the Club. Twenty-two students and nine members of the faculty are members of the Club, which now operates under the name of Pi Delta Sigma. At the early meetings the question of petitioning for a chapter of a professional fraternity gained approval. In addition to the regular meetings, a special meeting was held, in which Mr. H. G. Wright, Grand Secretary and Treasurer of the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi, explained the benefits and the obligations of membership in the organization that he represented. At the close of the year a resolution to petition Delta Sigma Pi was passed, but the duty of formulating the petition fell upon the twenty-three student and nine faculty members who were on hand at the beginning of the year 1928-29. The progress of petitioning was temporarily halted by the loss of a few student and faculty members, by graduation, and the vacation enforced by the epidemic. However, during the second quarter of the present school year a definite schedule of meetings was carried out. In these meetings new members were admitted, business men of the community were invited to speak on professional topics, and arrangements were made to admit approximately 10 Sophomores who will become eligible for membership during the third quarter of the current school year.

The present spirit of the local fraternity is splendid and the demonstrated determination to make it a real organization seems to justify the sending of this petition.

HISTORY OF THE SCHOOL OF SCIENCE & BUSINESS.

The organization of the Department of Business Administration was announced in a special bulletin during the summer of 1921. At the opening of the fall semester five men registered in the curriculum in Business Administration. During the second semester of the same year seventeen men registered in the same curriculum. In the following fall (1922-23) the enrollment was 45 and increased to 125 during the winter semester.

In 1923 the College which had been composed of about 22 independent departments was re-organized into four schools, the School of Engineering, the School of Science and Business, the School of Agriculture, the Graduate School, each with a dean as the administrative head.

The School of Science and Business came into being as a school in 1923 as a result of the amalgamation of the Department of Business Administration with a number of Science departments and the liberal arts departments of the college. Dr. C. C. Taylor who had been Chairman of the Department of Business Administration became Dean of the Graduate School and Prof. B. F. Brown became Dean of the School of Science and Business. The faculty which had previously consisted of two instructors was increased to four.

The School offered curricula in Business Administration and in Industrial Management besides the usual ones in the sciences. In 1924 the curriculum in Business Administration was expanded to provide for majors in Accounting, Banking and Finance, and Marketing. In 1928 in response to apparent demand the School has added majors in Journalism, in General Business and in Public Administration, and the number of men on the faculty has been increased to 10.

The enrollment in the Business curricula has been as follows:

1921-22	17
1922-23	125
1923-24	170
1924-25	236
1925-26	264
1926-27	332
1927-28	338
1928-29	404

While the enrollment of the whole college has increased over the same period, the above increase was much more rapid than that of the whole college. The graduating class in Business in 1928 numbered 36. At the present time arrangements are being made to apply for membership in the National Association of Collegiate Schools of Business.

During the year 1927-28 a new building was completed for the purpose of providing adequate facilities for the School of Science and Business and its future growth. A picture of the new building is shown on the following page.

HISTORY
N. C. State College of Agr. & Eng.

The North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering is the outgrowth of an idea fostered by two distinct movements, each somewhat different in its original aims. One movement, represented by a group of progressive young North Carolinians, banded together in Raleigh as the Watauga Club, sought to bring about the organization of an industrial school for the teaching of "woodwork, mining, metallurgy, and practical agriculture." The other movement, originating among the farmers in North Carolina, and actively sponsored by Colonel L. L. Polk, then editor of the Progressive Farmer, had as its object the establishment of an agricultural college supported by State appropriations and by the Land Scrip Fund of the Federal Government.

Through the efforts of the Watauga Club, the Legislature of 1885 passed a bill authorizing the Board of Agriculture (1) to establish a school giving instruction in woodwork, mining, metallurgy, practical agriculture, and such other branches of industrial education as may be deemed expedient, (2) to seek proposals of donations of money and land from any city or town in the state, (3) to locate the school in the city offering the greatest inducements, (4) to place the school under the joint control of the Board of Agriculture and the directors of the city in which the school is to be located, and (5) to apply annually $5,000 of the surplus funds of their department to the establishment and maintenance of said school.

In April, 1886, the Industrial School Committee, of the Raleigh Board of Aldermen, appeared before the Board of Agriculture with a proposal stating that the City of Raleigh agreed to give the sum of $8,000 in money, together with the building of the State Exposition, and by consent of the directors of the State Fair the use of about 20 acres of land for the establishment of an Industrial School and an experiment farm. Along with these proposed donations, Mr. R. Stanhope Pullen of Raleigh offered through the committee 60 acres of valuable land conveniently located for the use of the school which the Board of Agriculture was authorized to establish.

While this movement was progressing in the direction stated above, Colonel L. L. Polk, through the columns of the Progressive Farmer, and various Farmers' Clubs in the state advocated the establishment of an agricultural college. On the 18th of January, 1887, the farmers of the state held a mass meeting in Raleigh and passed a resolution to the effect that the farmers needed an agricultural college, and that the Land Scrip Fund be diverted from the University and applied thereto.

On the same ^{day} of the farmers' meeting, the Board of Aldermen of the city of Raleigh passed a resolution stating that the Board of Aldermen of the city of Raleigh, in order to meet the views of the most important class of our citizens, the farmers, has agreed that should the Legislature conclude to establish an Agricultural College that it would, in their opinion, be the part of wisdom, to accomplish the greatest good to all of our citizens, to unite the Agricultural and Industrial Schools under the name of "The College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts of North Carolina."

On January 26, 1887, another great mass meeting of farmers and working men, called together in Raleigh by Colonel Polk from forty counties passed the following resolutions:

1. "That the time has come to establish an Agricultural and Mechanical College in accordance with the Land Scrip Act."
2. "That the interest from the Land Scrip Fund should be paid to the College."
3. "That a sufficient amount from the general treasury be appropriated, and available convict labor be used to build, equip, and maintain the college."
4. "That the surplus funds of the Agricultural Department be utilized in this connection."
5. "That the payment of the Land Scrip Fund to the College should not diminish the appropriations to the University."

6. "That the funds and property of the Industrial School, including donations of the city of Raleigh, in accordance with the resolution of its Board of Aldermen, be turned over to the proposed College."

These resolutions were incorporated in a bill which was passed by the General Assembly on March 3, 1887, and the new institution was established as "The North Carolina College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts." The corner stone of Holloday Hall was laid on August 22, 1888, the address being made by Mr. W. J. Peele, of Raleigh, one of the charter members of the Watauga Club and a staunch supporter of industrial education. The College opened on October 3, 1889, with 72 students and a teaching and administrative staff of 8 under the guidance of President Alexander Q. Holladay. Since then the College has been ably served by the following Presidents:

Alexander Q. Holladay	1889-1899
George Taylor Winston	1899-1908
Daniel Harvey Hill	1908-1916
Wallace Carl Riddick	1916-1923
Eugene Clyde Brooks	1923- ?

The General Assembly of 1917 changed the name of the College to "The North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering." In 1923 the College which had been composed of about 22 independent departments was re-organized into four schools, the School of Engineering, the School of Agriculture, the School of Science and Business, and the Graduate School. Shortly thereafter a Textile School and the School of Education were added. At the head of each of these Schools is a Dean. In each of the undergraduate schools are the departments which furnish the courses of instruction. The courses offered in each group are arranged according to definite vocational aims, and the students entering will be directed first to elect a vocation. This selection determines the program of studies to be pursued.

Under the direction of President Brooks the college has made its greatest progress. The enrollment for the year 1928-29 is 1,645, and the faculty and officers of administration for this year number 155. At a recent meeting of the faculty, President Brooks announced that the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in their meetings of December 4-7, 1928, held in Fort Worth, Texas, placed N. C. State College of Agriculture and Engineering on their approved list of colleges.

The College is located within the limits of the city of Raleigh, a mile and a quarter west of the State Capitol, on a beautiful tract of 30 acres. Adjoining it is the College farm of 456 acres, devoted to orchards, gardens, poultry farms, and experimental work. The thirty buildings on the campus afford modern equipment and facilities for residence, instruction, recreation, and the various activities that round out the college man's life.

My dear Sir:

In 1923-24 a group of students of the School of Science and Business at N. C. State College organized a "Commerce Club" and as such played an important part in the progress of our School up to the present time. I have been informed that at this organization, under the name of Pi Delta Sigma, is petitioning your fraternity for a charter.

The present group is fully recognized and approved as an organization on the campus, and their petition for a charter of a national professional commerce fraternity has the approval of the administration and the faculty of the School.

The organization has been and is composed of the more active and promising students of our School. I know the character, ability and scholarship of these men, and I feel free to recommend them for your consideration.

Very truly yours,

My dear Mr. Wright:

A group of students and faculty men operating as the Pi Delta Sigma Fraternity on our Campus have notified me that they are petitioning the Delta Sigma Pi Fraternity for a chapter at State College.

I know these men personally, and I am familiar with the work they are doing in our School of Science and Business. It, therefore, gives me pleasure to recommend this group for your consideration. As you will see from their petition, we have a number of honor societies on our campus, and we feel that there is a place for a National Fraternity concerned with Commerce and Business.

Our School of Science and Business has grown rapidly, and is attracting considerable attention throughout this section of the country. I believe, therefore, that you will make no mistake by granting a charter at this institution.

If the group as shown you by their petition meets with the requirements of your fraternity, we shall be very glad to have your organization on our campus.

Yours very truly,

Dear Sir:

I am happy to know that the students of our School of Science and Business have recently organized for the purpose of securing a professional commerce fraternity for State College, and that they are petitioning your splendid fraternity in that connection.

Dear brother Wright:

For almost an entire year the Business group of N. C. State College entertained a favorable attitude toward Delta Sigma Pi. Shortly after your visit here on March 5, 1928, during which you acquainted them with our fraternity, the group decided to petition our organization for a charter. The petition has been formulated and is ready to be submitted.

I heartily recommend this group for I know personally each member. I have attended every one of their meetings and have worked with them in formulating the petition. I find their spirit and earnestness to be a wholesome one. Inasmuch as there is a strong desire on the part of the students and faculty of the Business School for a professional commerce fraternity, I hope that you will give this group your careful consideration.

Sincerely and fraternally yours,
