Mr. H. G. Wright, Secretary,
International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi,
1502 Fisher Building,
Chicago, Ill.

Dear Mr. Wright:

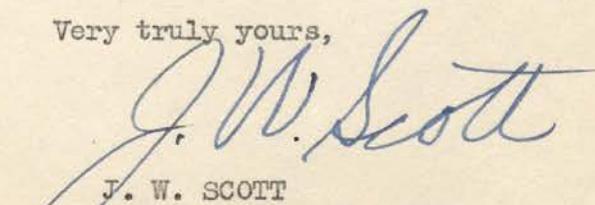

I am advised that the members of Beta Alpha Sigma of the Department of Business Administration in the School of Science and Literature of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute are petitioning for a charter to organize a chapter of Delta Sigma Pi at this institution. I am very glad to lend my whole hearted support to this petition.

I am personally acquainted with all the members of Beta Alpha Sigma and I know they have been carefully selected from among our best young men in this department. They are juniors and seniors who stand high scholastically and who have shown themselves, in my dealings with them, to be dependable young men. My experience as dean of the School of Commerce at Oklahoma A. & M. College for several years enables me to appraise the merits and abilities of college men and I have no hesitancy in saying that the petitioners in this instance are of as high quality, if not higher, than are usually found in high standard fraternities such as yours.

I presume you are familiar with the fact that it was only two years ago that a serious effort was made to develop the work in Business Administration at this institution. When I came here two years ago I found a department which had but two instructors. This year we have five full time instructors and a practising attorney who handles our work in Business Law. Next year two additional instructors will be added to the staff. One of them, a C. P. A. with successful experience in both practise and teaching, has been procured to take charge of our Accounting. By next year we expect to have on our staff of eight men no fewer than four and possibly five who will have the Ph. D. degree, or it's equivalent, in the lines of work in their charge.

If you desire further information relative to our work here, I shall be glad to supply the same upon request. Trusting that the petition of Beta Alpha Sigma may receive favorable consideration by your fraternity, I am

Very truly yours,

J. W. SCOTT

Head of Business Administration &
Dean of School of Science & Literature.

BETA ALPHA SIGMA

In 1926 the need of such organization was brought out so much by the growth of the department, that a club known as the Social Science Club was formed. This club met once a week and was open to membership of any person registered in any economic course. Programs consisting of talks by both the faculty and student members on the current topics of the day, that were of interest to the students, was the usual procedure. Once each semester a banquet was held to encourage interest in the society.

This club did not make any advancement and it was soon seen that something else was needed. Some of the outstanding seniors of the department tried to form a honorary fraternity but owing to the administra-

Programs consisting of talks by both the faculty and student members on the current topics of the day, that were of interest to the students, was the usual procedure. tion then in office the plan failed.

With the coming of a new dean of the commerce department and a new president with progressive ideas, the students began to think of the question once more. The president of the Social Science Club sent letters to nine members of the club who had and were taking an active part in the school. All of these members of the club were in the business department.

These nine men met on the night of Oct. 4, 1928 and decided to try to form an honorary and professional fraternity. Committee's were appointed to draw up a constitution and a set of by-laws. Other Committee's were appointed to see the dean of the department, Dr. John W. Scott and the President, Dr. Bradford Knapp. With the aid of Prof. H. M. Herrin of the economic department a constitution and by-laws were drawn up and sent to the executive council of the college to be passed upon. With Dr. Scott and Dr. Knapp back of the move it passed and we came into being as Beta Alpha Sigma, a local Honorary and Professional Fraternity in Business.

The officers for the first year were, Otis DeVaughn--President, V. L. Collins--Vice President,

F. R. Daugette--Secretary and C. P. Austin Jr.-- Treasury. Daugette received his degree at the end of the first semester and E. H. Killgore was elected to succeed him. The term of the above officers expired in April and the following men were elected to succeed them: T. M. Roberts Jr.--President, E. W.
Howell--Vice President, W. W. Rogers--Secretary and A. M. Sewell--Treasury.

The next thing was to move forward and not stand at the place we had gained. We realized that as a local we could not do the things that we wanted to do and to meet the needs of the growing business department we had to try and go into some National Professional Fraternity. We considered two nationals and as there was a member of each one of these nationals in our department, we invited them to tell us all they could about their respective fraternities. After hearing about both fraternities we unanomously decided to petition Delta Sigma Pi. We invited Prof. Allen, a member of Delta Sigma Pi, to come in with us and he accepted.

Under Prof. Allens advice we got in touch with Mr. Wright and inquired about petitioning Delta Sigma

Pi. He gave us the details we needed and informed us that Mr. Wright would be through the south and would like to visit us. He made us that visit on March 21th. and it was indeed a helpful visit to us. He explained many details to us and showed how to go further in our work.

But while we were deciding on the fraternity to petition and corresponding with Mr. Wright, we were not inactive. We are supposed to have our meetings bi-monthly but owing to the fact that we have been so busy, we have had to meet every week. We have undertaken research problems and have several finished. It has been our policy to have a banquet once a month in order to better the social side of the fraternity.

HISTORY

Alabama Polytechnic Institute

The session of the Alabama Conference of the Methodist Church held at Eutaw in 1855 determined upon the location of a male college in the bounds of that religious body. As Eutaw was located on the western part of the state more delegates from that part of the state were present. The result was that the college was located at Greensboro, Alabama, in the western part of the state.

The Methodists in the eastern part of the state were not satisfied with the conference's decision to locate the college at Greensboro and immediately began raising money for a school to be established in the eastern part of the state. A charter was issued for the first Alabama Male College on February 1, 1855. Trustees were named and taking immediate action, located the school at Auburn. In 1857 the cornerstone of the main building was laid and the first session opened October 1, 1859.

In November of the same year at a Methodist Conference at Birmaham, the new college presented its claims for denominational support. After heated debates it was decided to take the East Alabama Male College under the patronage of the Methodist Church.

In 1857 the cornerstone of the main building was laid and the first session opened October 1, 1859.

In November of the same year at a Methodist Conference at Eufaula, the new college presented its claims for denominational support. After heated debates it was decided to take the East Alabama Male College under the patronage of the Methodist Church, thus making two Methodist Institutions in the state.

The civil war came on and the college was compelled to close. The regular session began again in 1866.

The trustees of the East Alabama Male College knew that through government aid the college could become an Agricultural and Mechanical College. Plans for the organization of this type of college had been put into concrete form, and the trustees made a tender of the property over to the state which was accepted by the legislature in 1872.

The Agricultural and Mechanical College was organized in the first big step Auburn made and it was fostered by Government aid. There was a partial reorganization of the faculty and a rearrangement of the course of study.

In 1887 the main building burned with all its contents. While this seemed to be a disaster for the college it was really a blessing in disguise. With the insurance and a liberal appropriation of $50,000 from the legislature, the present main building and chemical laboratory were erected. to approximately seventy There was always a prejudice against an Agricultural College in the state, and for this reason the legislature changed the name of the institution in 1899 to the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. The act stated that the college has developed as was originally designed into an institution where were not only the branches that relate to Agricultural arts, but also to the sciences and arts in general that relate to the industrial development of modern civilization. The period from 1900 to 1915 was one of increased development and enrollement. The Alabama Polytechnic Institute become known not only through the south but the entire country. All departments were enlarged, new buildings went up everywhere and it became an institution of which the state was justly proud.

During the last few years the Alabama Polytechnic Institute has come to the front in all branches of technical training, and its agricultural school is recognized as second to none in the Southland. The co-educational facilities have also been increased and there are now some two hundred and fifty young women in attendance. These, with fifteen hundred male students, bring the total enrollment to approximately seventeen hundred and fifty.

The process of expansion is now going on as never before and at the present the issue is an extensive building program. The Ramsey Engineering Building was completed in 1926. The Extension Department Building is nearing completion. A program for the construction of four additional buildings, including a new Commerce Building, is now under consideration.

In the year of 1924, the Alabama Polytechnic Institute established a Department of Economics and Business Administration offering courses available in reproductive collegiate schools and business in which undergraduates could secure professional training for commercial pursuits. A course in economics had been available previously and had for a long period been recognized of all graduates taking the Bachelor of Science degree.

The purpose of this school is to give a thorough scientific training in the fundamental principles of business administration, which, with supplementary experience, will prepare the graduate for responsible positions in the business world.

Modern business has become so complex in its organization and conduct that it is no longer possible, desirable, or necessary to learn it, as formerly by method of apprenticeship. Much of what was once learned by apprenticeship can be more easily and quickly acquired by instruction, and the student can more readily department offered a sufficient number of courses to secure an understanding of the fundamental principles. It is wasteful to have each individual learn by costly experience and knowledge have become so systematized and organized that there exists a body of principles for scientific study.

It is not assumed that college training for business can take the place of actual experience, but the student can be so trained in the principles underlying the conduct of business that when he enters it his understanding is more comprehensive, his advance will be more rapid and his service more valuable.

HISTORY:

Before other courses in business were offered, the course in economics was taught by the Head of the Department of English. This was for many years Dr. C. C. Thach, President of the College from 1902 to 1921, who was head of the Department of English until 1911 and from then to 1929 Head of the Department of Economics. Prof. J. R. Rutland of the English Department who succeeded him as teacher of Economics, taught the course until Professor J. B. Clark came in 1924 to be head of a reorganized and expanded department of Economics. Under Dr. Clark and his assistants the department offered a sufficient number of courses to enable students to get a degree in Business Administration. He resigned in 1926 to accept the position of Dean of Judson College at Marion, Alabama. In the same year Dr. J. W. Scott was appointed Head of the Department of Business Administration and Dean of the Academic Division. He came to Auburn highly recommended, having served as Dean of the School of Business Administration of Oklahoma Agriculture and Mechanical College and in other positions of responsibility. Under his direction, the Department of Business Administration has grown in the number of courses, in number of students, and in number of instructors, until his division is one of the largest in the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. When he came, there were three men teaching business courses, now there are five, and next year there will be seven.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION:

Applicants for admission to Alabama Polytechnic Institute must have completed a four-year course of an accredited high school, must hold a certificate showing the completion of fifteen units in an accredited high school, or, if attendance is less than four years, take an entrance examination. ~~ne depends upon the other~~

REQUIREMENTS FOR DEGREE: ~~a curriculum is planned to pro-~~

~~vide~~ The degree of Bachelor of Science in Business Administration may be conferred on students, who have received one hundred forty-four accredited hours (one hundred twenty-eight hours of required work and at least sixteen hours of electives), and having two hundred eighty-eight quality points. (Quality points are based on grades as follows: grades from 70% to 79% give two quality points, from 80% to 89% give three quality points, from 90% to 94% give four quality points and above 95% five quality points.) The degree of Master of Science in Business Administration may be conferred on the completion of two additional years and writing a ten-thousand word thesis on some business subject.

PLAN OF CURRICULUM: ~~ent in the School of Business Admin-~~

~~istrati~~ The curriculum is not planned to give quick training for a narrow vocation. It is designed to prepare one for advancement to an executive career in one of the major activities of business or for the direction of his own business. It gives the student a general view of the subject, then a course in specific phases which he may follow. All of the economic subjects are linked together. One depends upon the other as a base. Therefore the curriculum is planned to provide study of business administration as it deals with labor, social regulation, financing, production, marketing, and promotion of all as a correlated whole.

~~There are now five teachers in the Department.~~

In the School of Business Administration there is a set of courses which is made out by the Dean with the help of some professors. He must have had, before finishing, 19 hours of English, 18 hours of history, 6 hours of mathematics, 6 hours of science, 8 hours of military training, 3 hours of education, 6 hours of foreign language, 60 hours of economics and 16 hours of electives in the junior years, which must be approved by the Dean.

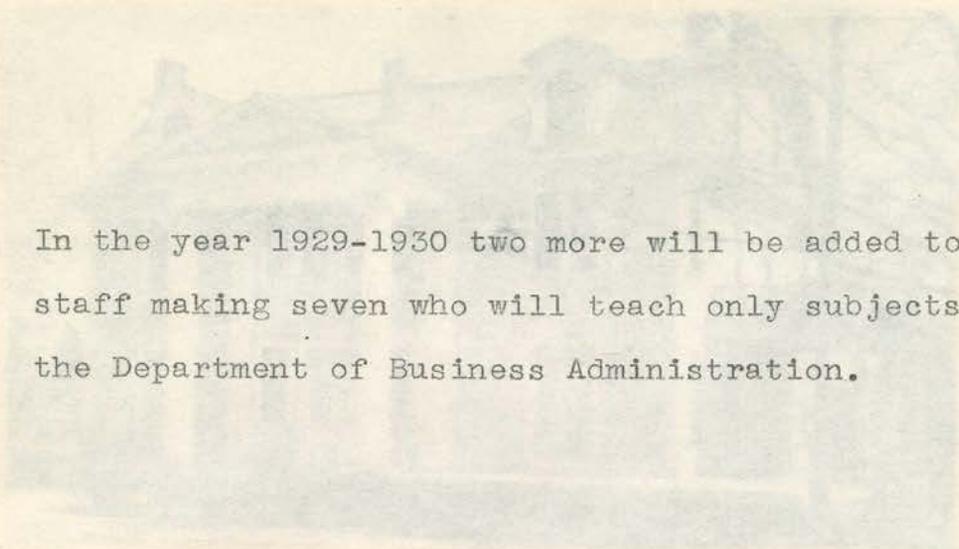

ENROLLMENT:

The enrollment in the School of Business Administration from 1924 is as follows:

1924-25	-----	124
1925-26	-----	160
1926-27	-----	274
1927-28	-----	211
1928-29	-----	253

FACULTY:

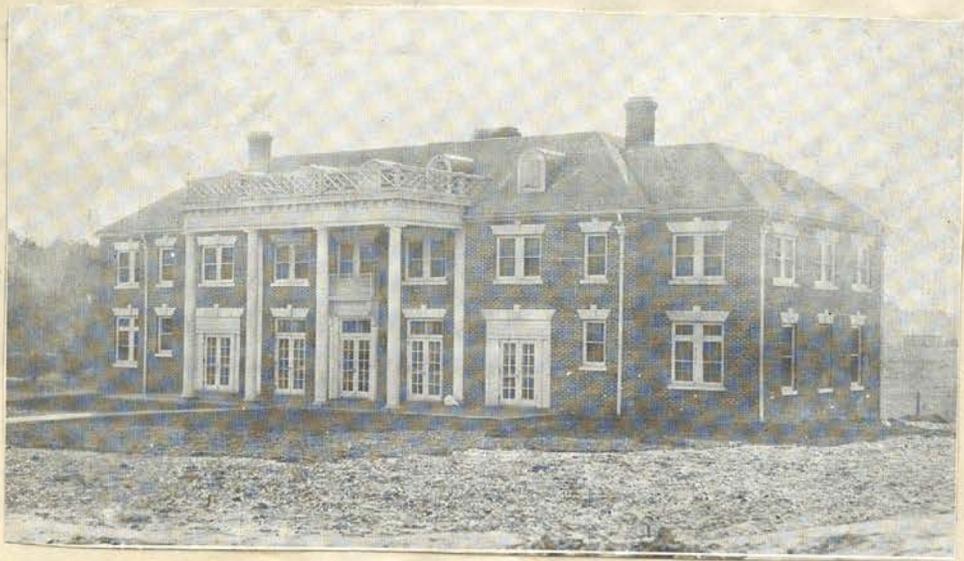

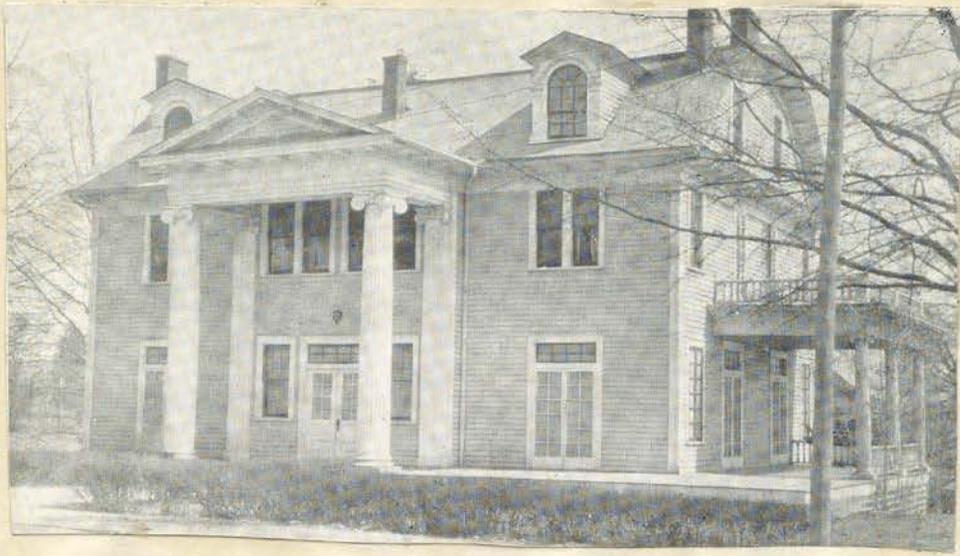

There are now five teachers in the Department.

In the year 1929-1930 two more will be added to the staff making seven who will teach only subjects in the Department of Business Administration.
