THE CHAPEL

TO THE GRAND COUNCIL OF THE INTERNATIONAL
FRATERNITY OF DELTA SIGMA PI

Greetings:

We, the undersigned, members of Beta Tau, do hereby petition for a charter to establish a chapter of The International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi on the campus of Wake Forest College, Wake Forest, North Carolina.

Organized in accordance with the high ideals of Delta Sigma Pi and being fully cognizant of the requirements, aims and purposes of this fraternity, the membership in group action in regular assembly unanimously agreed to present this petition for consideration.

In seeking this affiliation, we pledge ourselves to uphold the Constitution and By-Laws of The International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi and to faithfully observe the rules and regulations which the fraternity has adopted or may in the future enact.

WAKE FOREST COLLEGE

Historical Background. The history of the founding of Wake Forest College is inseparable from the history of the formation of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina. One of the two main purposes which led to the organization of the convention in 1830 was to establish an educational institution that would give training under Christian influences and provide educated ministers.

Immediately after the formation of the Baptist State Convention, Dr. Samuel Wait, serving as agent for the Convention, began an intensive four-year educational campaign among the Baptists of North Carolina. Two years later, in 1832, the Convention purchased from Dr. Calvin Jones a 600-acre farm sixteen miles north of Raleigh to be used as a site for the proposed school.

Wake Forest Institute. Under the authorization of a charter granted by the State Legislature in December, 1833, the school was opened as Wake Forest Institute on February 3, 1834, with Dr. Wait as principal. Although the primary purpose was to give Collegiate instruction in the arts and sciences, for five years Wake Forest Institute operated as a manual labor school, attracting liberal patronage from the large planters of the State, who wished their sons to receive practical training in agriculture, along with education in the liberal arts. In 1836 the enrollment had increased from the original 16 to 141.

The College. The manual labor feature was abandoned at the close of the year 1838, and the institution was re-chartered, in December, 1838, as Wake Forest College.

With teachers who were graduates of Columbian College, Brown University, and Dartmouth College, and with a liberal arts curriculum that was standard for the time, Wake Forest College conferred the degree of Bachelor of Arts upon four young men in June, 1839.

From 1839 to 1894 the College operated exclusively as a college of liberal arts; the School of Law was established in June, 1894, and the School of Medicine in May, 1902.

The College has given instruction to more than 30,000 students and has sent them out into practically every field of service: among these, about 3,000 ministers, 1,500 lawyers, 1,000 physicians, and an undetermined number of educators, authors, editors, journalists, engineers, scientists, business men, farmers, and leaders in political affairs. In a word, the College has made a distinguished contribution to culture, Christian influence, and leadership in accordance with the original purpose of the founders of the institution.

Endowment. In 1865 the endowment fund of Wake Forest College was $11,700, the remnant from the wreck of war. In 1876, through the efforts of Dr. C. E. Taylor and Mr. James

S. Purefoy, about $20,000 was added to the endowment. By January 1, 1884, Dr. Taylor had increased the endowment to $100,000 and had raised up a generous friend of the College in Mr. Jabez A. Bostwick, of New York City. In 1885 Mr. Bostwick created the Bostwick Loan Fund by a gift of $12,000 and in 1886 made a further gift of $50,000. In 1891 Dr. Taylor raised, by subscription and still another gift of Mr. Bostwick, the sum of $40,000. Under the terms of the will of Mr. Bostwick, dating from February 1, 1892, the endowment was increased, in 1923, by stock valued at about $1,500,000. From 1906 to 1910 Professor J. B. Carlyle undertook to raise $150,000. Of this sum $117,798.56 was realized, of which the General Education Board of New York contributed a fourth. The Chair of the Bible, known as the Albritton Chair of the Bible, is endowed by a gift of $50,000, contributed in 1919 by the children of the Reverend John T. Albritton and by the Eastern Baptist Association. More than $100,000 was added by receipts from the Seventy-five Million Campaign and the prorata contribution of the General Education Board. On November 20, 1925, Mr. B. N. Duke, of New York City, made a generous donation to the endowment of 10,000 shares of Duke Power Company stock valued at $150,000. On August 3, 1939, the resources of the Bowman Gray Foundation were awarded to Wake Forest College, to be used exclusively by the School of Medicine.

The property of the College, including the endowment, and the buildings and grounds, amounts to about $5,250,000.

Building and Grounds: The physical equipment of the College includes about four hundred acres of land and fifteen buildings. The campus proper, a section of twenty-five acres enclosed by a wall of native field stones, noted for the variety and beauty of its trees, of which oaks and magnolias are the dominant types, provides an attractive setting for the various buildings.

WAIT HALL - The new Wait Hall, which replaced the original Wait Hall (1837-1933) was constructed during the session of 1933-34, was dedicated on May 30, 1934, during the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of the College, and was opened for use in the summer session following. Located in this building are the offices of administration, headquarters for the News Bureau and Alumni Association, Hall for the literary societies, and several classrooms and offices.

THE SOCIAL SCIENCE BUILDING - This building provides classrooms and offices for the department of Social Sciences, on the main floor; the ground floor, designated as a Student Center, provides space for the College Book Store, offices for student publications, and headquarters for various other student activities.

SIMMONS HALL, constructed in 1936 on the site of the old Simmons' residence on the north side of the campus, was opened for occupancy the first of February 1937. This building, designed especially to meet the requirements of groups of students, provides living quarters for one hundred men.

THE WILLIAM AMOS JOHNSON BUILDING - constructed during the winter of 1932-33 with funds provided by the Johnson family, is a memorial to the late Dr. William Amos Johnson, who was Professor of Anatomy in Wake Forest College at the time of his death in 1927. This building, modern in all details, provided adequately for the School of Medical Sciences from 1933 to 1941. Since the transfer of the School of Medicine to Winston-Salem in 1941, this building is used for the Department of Biology, and it provides temporary quarters for the Art Museum.

FUTURE WAKE FOREST

In 1943, Wake Forest College launched a seven million dollar program to facilitate the expanding number of Baptist students.

A new phase of the program was entered in April of 1946, Trustees of the Smith-Reynolds Foundation offered to give in perpetuity to Wake Forest College income from a trust fund now yielding more than $235,000 and growing at a rate guaranteeing an early income of $350,000 annually on condition that the College be moved to Winston-Salem. Terms of the gift indicate that trustees of the Foundation may in the future allocate at their discretion a larger amount when it is available from the Foundation.

A primary consideration of the trustees of the Smith-Reynolds Foundation in making their offer to Wake Forest College, and Mr. and Mrs. Babcock in presenting the magnificent site, is the fact that Baptists offer the most urgent and promising educational opportunity of any large religious group in North Carolina. A majority of their more than 600,000 members live in rural and industrial areas. Among them are thousands of youth facing financial handicaps in securing college training.

Acceptance of the Reynolds Gift has been approved by unanimous vote of the Wake Forest College Board of Trustees, the Education Council, and the General Board of the Baptist State Convention on condition that ample funds, estimated at $6,000,000 for erecting suitable buildings for a college of at least 2,000 students be secured from the Baptist Constituency, friends, foundations, and other sources. Final action on accepting the offer is to be taken by the Baptist State Convention.

WHY GAMBLE ON AN M.D.?

decision to study medicine has come from any particular one of these reasons. Perhaps it was a mixture of all of them.

My father's ambition for me has always been in the field of medicine. This one fact alone is reason enough, for Daddy is seldom wrong.

For some reason, I have always been confident that I could become a doctor if I tried hard enough, so the thought of not being able to get into a medical school has only recently entered my head. Knowing that medicine has always been a profession of financial security, besides all the other reasons, I was almost decided, but not convinced. I had no assurance that I would like the life of a doctor.

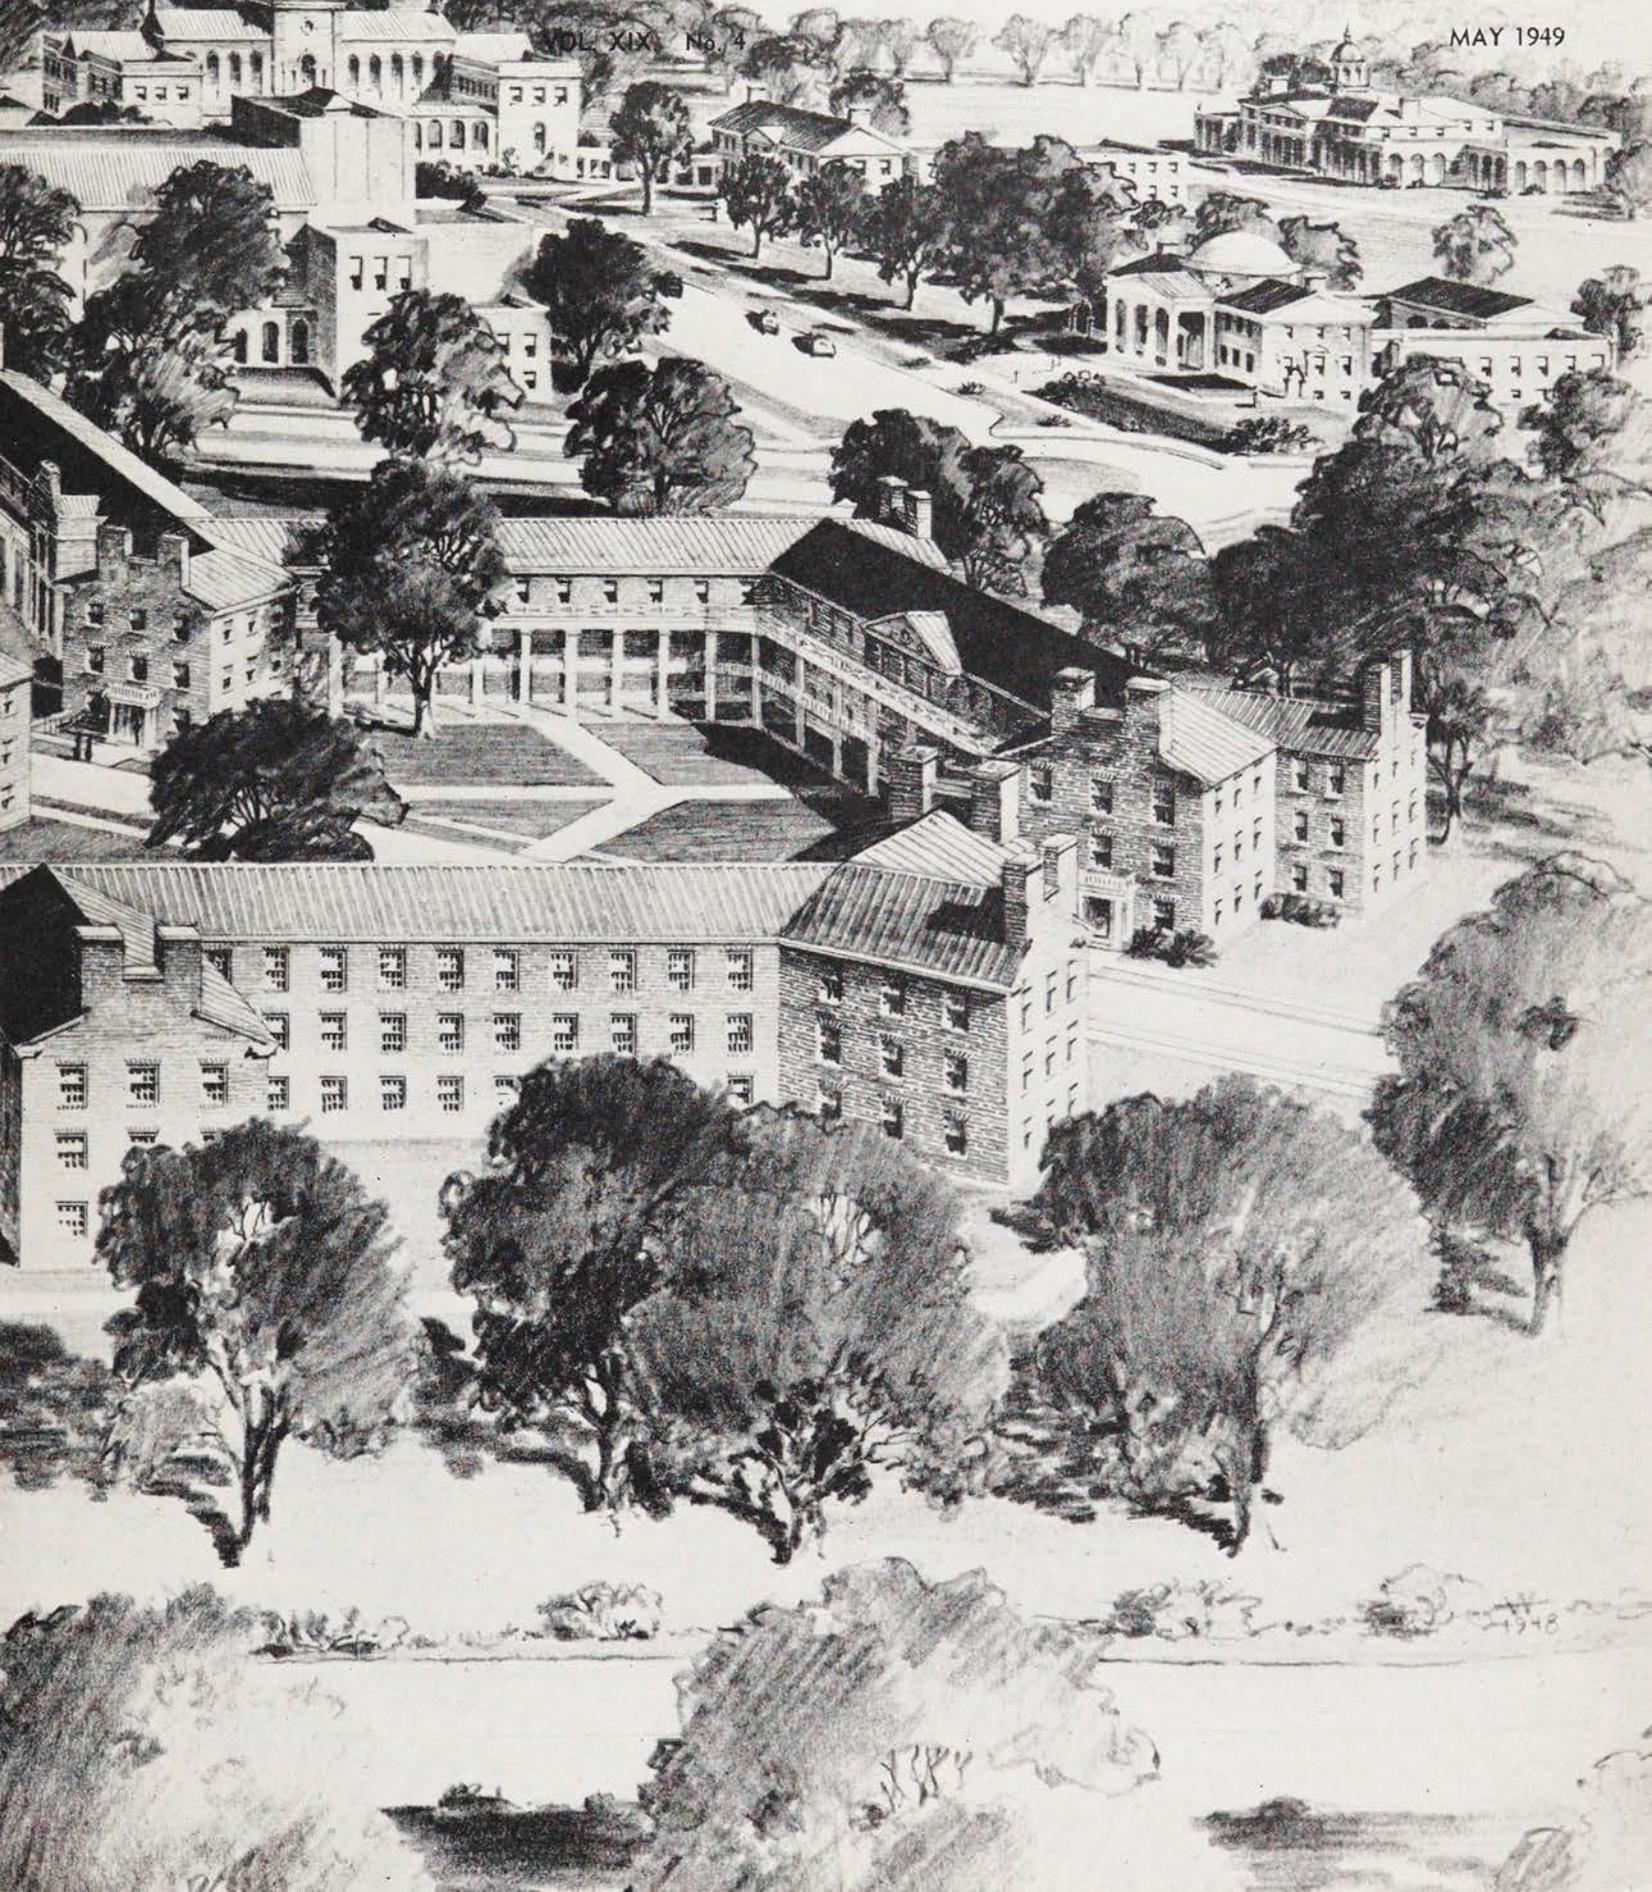

Last summer I had my chance. When I reached the camp at which I was a Junior Counselor for the summer, I found that the medical student who was serving as camp doctor needed an assistant. I jumped at the job and spent the rest of the summer in the Blue Ridge helping "Doc." I can't say that it was an easy job. It wasn't unusual to wake up at two in the morning to go out to see one of the boys who was sick. A near case of polio, flu, stomach aches, an epidemic of poison ivy, and twenty-one boys having the mumps, were routine. It couldn't be called the "Life of Riley" but it was a doctor's life, and I liked it.

Thurman Kitchin '05, B.A., M.D., LL.D.
 President Wake Forest College

President Will Become Professor When alumni received news that President Kitchin had requested the Board of Trustees to allow him to retire on June 30, 1950, from administrative duties, words of protest and of regret arose from many quarters. Students of the past three decades find it difficult to think of Wake Forest College apart from Thurman Kitchin. Any history of the college for that period will give prominent place to him as teacher, dean of the medical school, college physician, president, able administrator, builder, and educational statesman. Approachable, friendly, possessed of rare insight and common sense, sympathetic and understanding in dealing with people and problems, Dr. Kitchin has presided over the destinies of the college through depression, destructive fires, re-building and renovation, a World War, postwar expansion, an enlargement program, and initial stages of plans to re-locate the college on a new site in Winston-Salem. During the period of his presidency standards have been raised, departments strengthened and new ones added, a fourfold increase in the size of the student body has been made, several new buildings and much new equipment have been added, the faculty and administrative staff enlarged. Withal, a spirit of understanding and coöperation has been fostered and maintained on the campus, among alumni, and with the constituents of the college generally. But Dr. Kitchin is not leaving the Wake Forest College he has loved since the beginning of his student days here 47 years ago. For one more year he will serve as president and thereafter his presence on the campus as president emeritus and professor of physiology and have been replaced by Louis Joyner of Swannanoa, Cecil Jeffords of Germanton, Ernest Roberson of Spindale, and Charlie Parnell of Lumberton.

For never more than $25 a month apiece they live in style at the Inn, with plenty of privacy and freedom, good food, and warmth in the winter. Also plenty of social functions are theirs, such as the recent barbecue for which they prepared their own pig and invited over half a hundred friends down to sample it.

When five years from the date of the building has expired, the College will be given priority in bidding for the purchase of the house and the profits will be divided among the eleven builders. And, at that time, one more chapter in how students met the housing shortage will be pleasantly closed.

A. D. McFayden, chief examiner for the U. S. Patent Office, and an alumnus of Wake Forest College. He spoke of the practical applications of physics in industry. The club at this time elected as associate members D. F. Herring, Winston-Salem; M. E. Bullard, Wake Forest; R. C. Woodward, Roanoke, Va.; Joseph Nanney, Spindale; Z. V. Morgan, Hamlet; and A. S. Johnson, Apex.

Mrs. Zarina Soule Kukde, native of India, visited the campus in March on behalf of the Student Volunteer Movement for Christian Missions. Her visit was sponsored by local religious organizations.

Students of the Law School heard three distinguished speakers during March in the series planned by the School to bring practicing attorneys and judges to address them on practical aspects of law practice. Justice Samuel J. Ervin of the N. C. Supreme Court spoke on the topic "If I Were A Young Lawyer." Paul B. Eaton, patent attorney, addressed them on "Patent, Trademark, and Copyright Law." Edwin V. Mack of the American Trust Company talked on "Common Errors in Drafting Wills."

Dr. Herman Parker of the Physics Department directed a Physics Fair recently to demonstrate what is new in the physical world. The fair attracted wide attention and included spectacular experiments with electricity, sound waves, and demonstrations of the workings of a Geiger counter, used to count radioactive particles. Seventeen students who are majoring in physics made contributions to the fair.

Last semester's law students who made the Dean's List, with scholastic averages which placed them in the upper ten per cent of their classes, include the following. In the Third Year class, Thomas S. Johnston, West Jefferson; Thomas C. Muse, Aulander; Ray F. Swain, Winston-Salem; James F. Justice, Jr., Hendersonville. In the Second Year class, Samuel Behrends, Jr., Wilmington; C. O. Whitley, Siler City; George M. Womble, Raleigh; Marvin R. Wooten, Clinton; Nathan Cole, Jr., Wilmington. In the First Year class, Leroy Robinson, Candor; Garrett D. Bailey, Burnsville; James A. Webster, Jr., Leaksville; Charles H. Taylor, Kinston; Jesse Brian Scott, Rocky Mount; Donald S. Riley, Raleigh; Eugene J. Moore, North Wilkesboro; William B. Byerly, Jr., High Point; Robert F. Floyd, Fairmont; Robert M. Bryant, Winston-Salem.

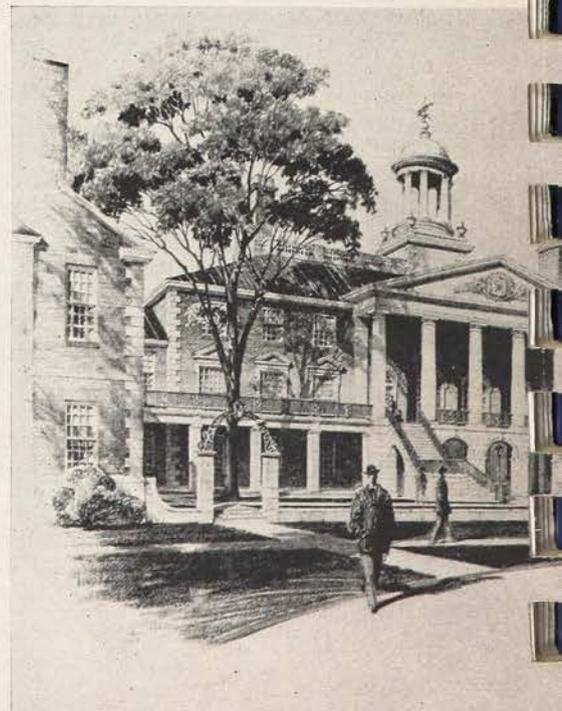

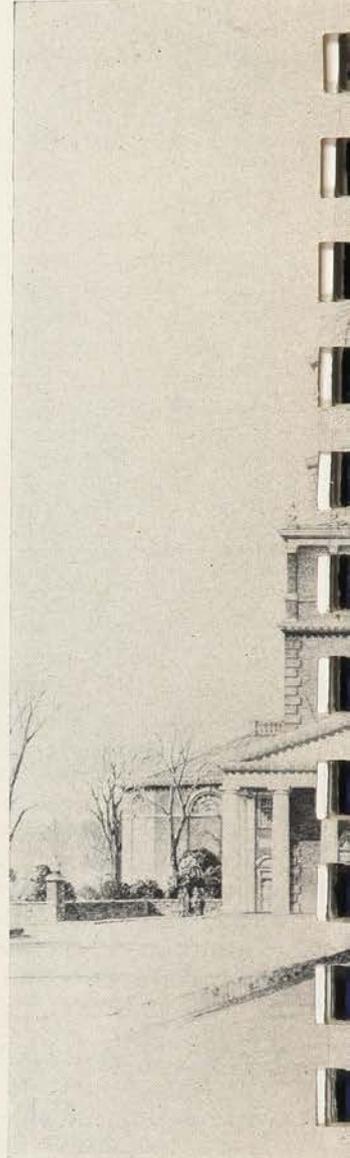

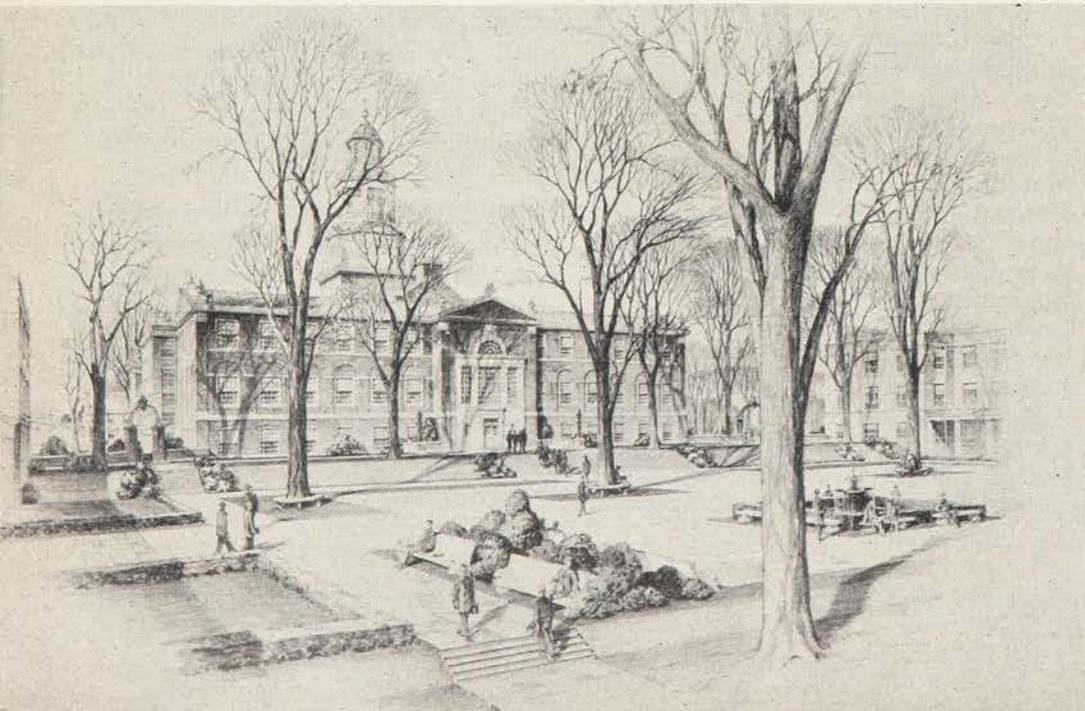

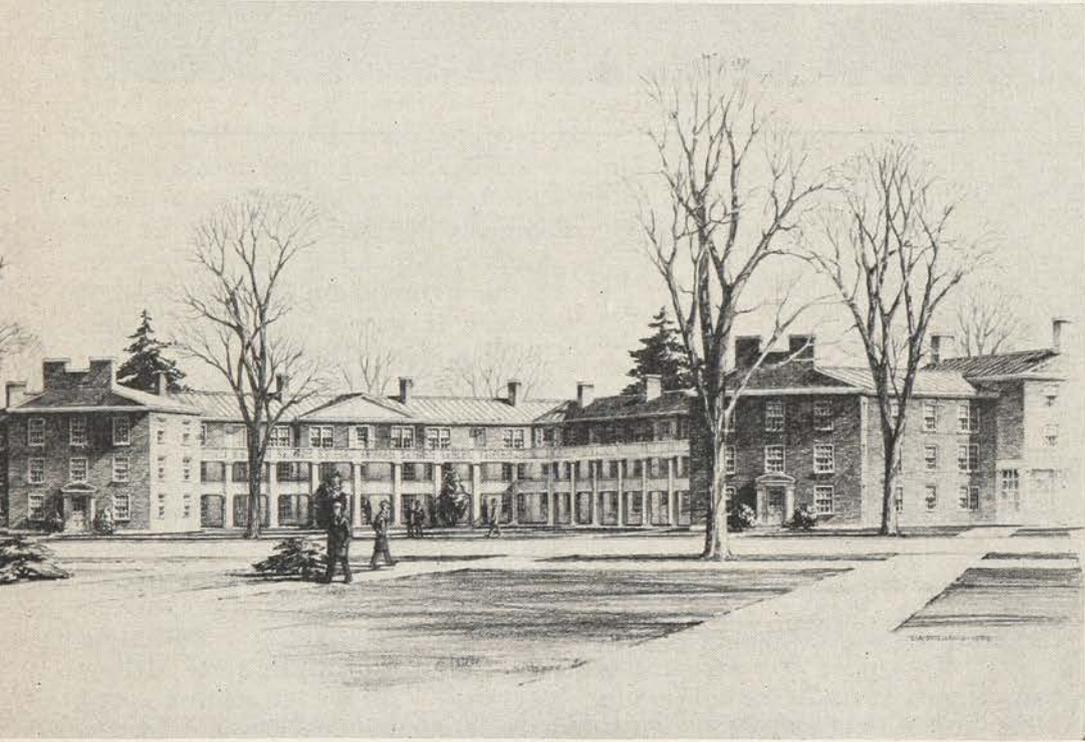

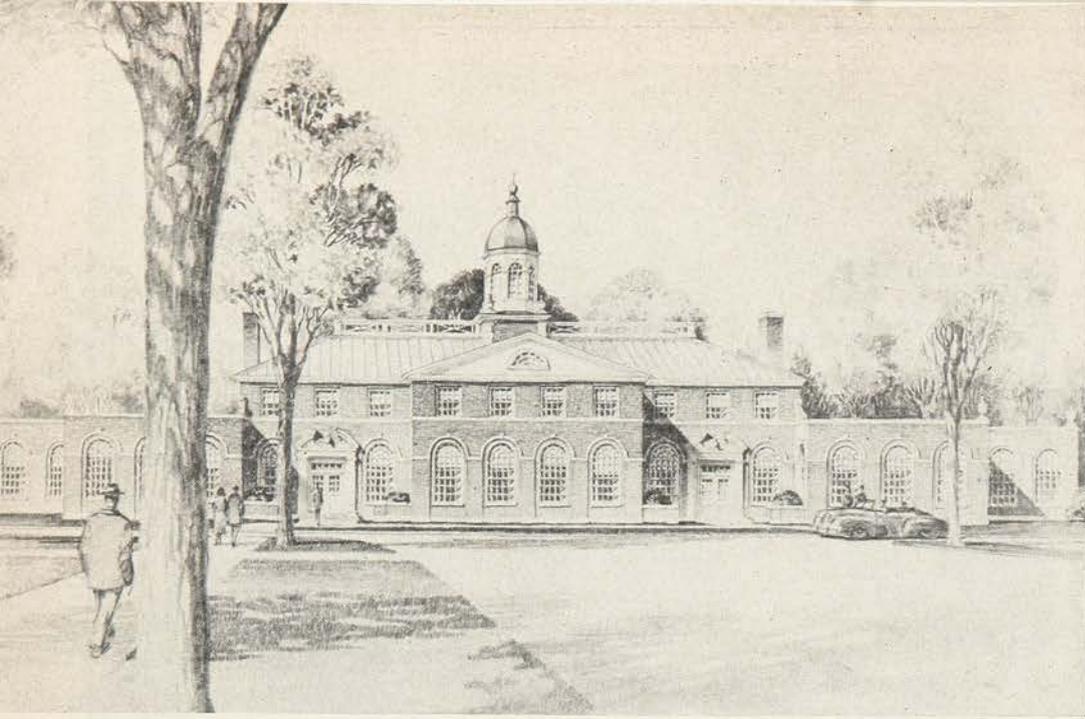

WFDD, the campus broadcasting station, has moved from its original quarters in the press box at the stadium to one of the barracks west of the gymnasium. Newly elected officers of the station are Roland C. Woodward, Roanoke, Va., manager; Bill White, Roper, asst. manager; Ray Royston, Baltimore, Md., business manager; Tillie Roberts, Asheville, continuity chief; Dave Herring, Winston-Salem, chief engineer; Ed Best, Woodland, promotion director; Jewel Adams, Holly Springs, librarian; John Nelson, Bethesda, Md., chief announcer; new faculty advisers, John Chandler and Robert Helms. Additions to the staff of announcers are: Henry Lewis, Charles Neal, Jerry Hall, Alex Kiser, Don Burden, Carl Rosenbaum, Sonny Burroughs, Bill Hamilton, Vic Watts, Bernie Frazier, Jr., Clyde Mitchell, Bill Shore.

WFDD has adopted a new constitution which was approved by the faculty. The station provides information and entertainment for the college community, broadcasts special programs and religious services, and makes available to many students opportunity to gain valuable experience in the radio broadcasting field.

FOOTBALL PROSPECTS FOR 1949

By TOM BOST, JR.

Barring any unforeseen losses, indications are Wake Forest's 1949 eleven will be a more versatile and stronger team than its 1948 predecessor which won six games and lost three in regular season competition and played and lost to Baylor in the Dixie Bowl Game at Birmingham on New Year's Day.

Wake Forest lost few men from the highly regarded 1948 eleven which numbered Duke, William and Mary, South Carolina, Duquesne, N. C. State and George Washington among its victims. In fact, only seven men from the 1948 club are gone, four of which were regulars. Those men who have completed their grid careers are Ed Hoey, left end; Captain Bernie Hanula, right tackle; Boyd Allen, center; Tom Fetzer, quarterback; Harry Dowda, right halfback; and James (Bud) Lail and Richard (Bud) Phillips, fullbacks. Hanula, Fetzer, Dowda and Lail were starters on the 1948 team. Probably the biggest loss in this group is Fetzer, one of the leading punters in the nation last fall and an outstanding passer and defensive player as well. The loss of Allen leaves the club with no seasoned center. The other two letterman centers, Dave Dawson and Ed Baublis, lack the experience of Allen although Dawson saw quite a bit of action during the latter part of the season.

In addition to these 23 varsity letterman holdovers, there are a

Coach George McAfee

Probably the biggest difference in the 1949 team over the 1948 eleven will be a great improvement in speed. The 1948 team lacked a really fast, breakaway, climax type of runner. The 1949 team will have several fleet-footed and elusive runners, the best of whom are Travagline, Smith, Solek, and Roberson. All are fast and elusive and will bolster the running attack considerably.

The biggest change in the current spring drills is the shifting of Bill Gregus from left halfback to fullback. Leading scorer and ground gainer on the 1948 team, Gregus is not a fast stepper but more of a power runner who eats up plenty of yards. He scored nine touchdowns last fall. He is expected to more than offset the loss of Lail at fullback and he will be ably backed by King and Karpus.

Another factor which should make Wake Forest a stronger team is that the club will be more experienced with the new T formation which was used for the first time last fall. Any team makes a lot of mistakes with the T in its first season and Wake Forest made its share of them but the Deacons know much more about this system than they did a year ago and will probably make fewer miscues this fall.

Wake Forest uses a T patterned somewhat after the type of T used by the Chicago Bears in professional football.

There is one new addition to the football coaching staff. George McAfee, the brilliant halfback of the Chicago Bears for the past several years, has recently joined the staff and is assisting in spring drills. McAfee is expected to prove invaluable in improving the T for he had some six seasons under this system with the Bears.

The same other members of the staff will also be on hand this fall. This staff is composed of Douglas Clyde (Peahead) Walker, head coach; Tom Rogers, line coach; Bobby Kellogg and Murray Greason, backfield coaches. Either McAfee, Kellogg, or Greason will probably be assigned the job of head freshman coach. It's unlikely that all three men will be used as varsity backfield coaches.

OF WAKE FOREST COLLEGE

Business has had a place in Wake Forest College for some time. In 1866, entrance to Wake Forest College was gained by being acceptable in any one of its individual schools. In this day the word "school" did not mean what it does today. Then the term meant merely a subdivision of the Department and the Department was the main division of the college. "School" remained a subsidiary to the Departments until about 1870.

In 1874-75 a Commercial Department existed at Wake Forest. Two courses were taught--"Bookkeeping in Single and Double Entry comprising a complete set of Retail, Wholesale, Jobbing and Importing Commission Sales, Farming and Administration Books"; the second "Commercial Arithmetic, Stocks."

About 1906-07 entrance requirements were changed in favor of the unit system. This change required the man to be pretty well rounded in his preparation rather than to be prepared in only one subject. Unit Entrance Requirements in 1906-07 were: "Entrance requirements are designated in terms of units, a unit being a course of five periods weekly throughout an academic year of the preparatory school--a minimum of 14 units is required for admission--English 3, Mathematics 2-1/2, Languages (not English) 3-1/2, History 2, Science 1." The other 2 units were elective from academic or advanced work. Admission without examination, the minimum requirement is 15 units and graduation from a 4-year accredited high school.

Political Economy courses taught in 1910:

Outline of Economics --a study of Economic Theory, and the General Principle of Science, such as value, rent, wages, production, and distribution.

Trusts and Monopolies --Origin, growth and influence of great combinations; their economics, dangers, and methods of regulation.

Agricultural Economics --Land, labor, size of farms, land owning, sale of farm products, tenancy, and similar problems.

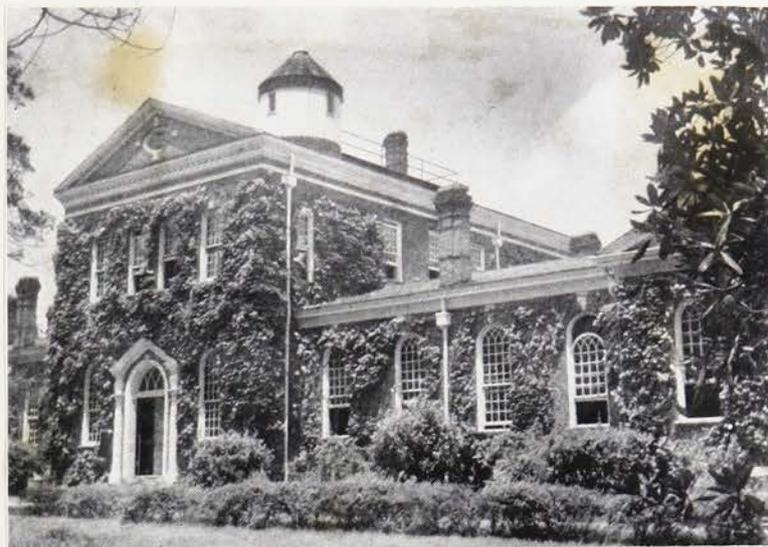

Money and Banking --History of money, financial systems of other countries, U. S. National Banking System, kinds of money in circulation and principles of sound banking.

The present School of Business Administration was conceived by the Administration and Trustees of Wake Forest College (being guided largely by Dean Rogers) to provide a liberal education and at the same time the training essential for a career in business. With the constant growth in the industrialization of the region and the increase in the complexity of modern business, it is felt that professional training for men of business becomes ever more essential. The future business leader, as indeed the present, must be an individual of strength, culture, and character. Therefore, it is believed that the liberal arts college with a background of Christianity, when combined with proper technical training, represents the ideal combination in the preparation for a career in business.

The Bachelor of Business Administration Degree is rewarded for the completion of a minimum of 51 hours of prescribed Business Administration. An average of C, one quality point for each hour of work, must be maintained in the one hundred twenty-four hours required for the B. B. A. degree.

Students may obtain the Bachelor of Science Degree with a major of 30 hours of prescribed work in Business Administration and a minor in another field. A minor of 18 hours may be obtained in Business Administration by majors in other fields of endeavor. In both cases 1/2 of work must be taken in upper division courses (courses numbered 20 and above).

LEA LABORATORY - This Building, used exclusively by the Department of Chemistry, contains a lecture room, five laboratories, a storeroom, balance rooms, a photographic dark room, and the departmental library.

HISTORY OF BETA TAU

The establishing of the Business School at Wake Forest College brought about the need of an organization in which students of the Business School would have a common interest.

On December 8, 1948 a group of Business students and one member of the faculty met for the purpose of forming an organization that would afford each member a better understanding of Economics and Business Principles; to promote a closer relationship between each member of the organization and between students and faculty of the School of Business Administration; and to promote higher scholarship among the students.

The original group that met in December to form the organization were nine in number: Dr. Gaines M. Rogers, Dean of the School of Business Administration, Burgess M. Allen, William F. Connelly, Leander S. Hamrick, Robert A. White, George E. Wilson, Allen C. Cooper, Jr., Bernard McLeod, John W. Person, and William R. Outen.

The organization was so formed as to be a professional and semi-social nature; that it would strive to present outside speakers to the campus. Beta Tau from the very beginning has looked forward to joining a national business fraternity.

It is our hope that Beta Tau will become a member of a national fraternity in the near future.)

11 Last spring under President Bernard McLeod, the fraternity pledged twenty-four students of the Business Department. Since its organization Beta Tau has enjoyed many absorbing and enlightening programs during the chapter meetings. Beta Tau has had the privilege of hearing a number of excellent speakers who spoke on subjects dealing with Labor Relations, Law, Personnel Management and other informing subjects. At one of the meetings a panel of six students discussed the European Recovery Program. One of the highlights of Beta Tau's social activities was the banquet held last spring for members of the fraternity and faculty of the Business Department.

NO This fall sees Beta Tau in full operation with the anticipation of an even better year than last. Beta Tau has pledged fourteen carefully selected students of the Business Department. These pledges along with eighteen former members constitutes the present enrollment of Beta Tau.

THE RELIGION AND MUSIC BUILDING - Completed in 1942 with funds provided by the Baptist State Convention, stands on the site formerly occupied by Wingate Hall. This building provides for the present needs and the contemplated expansion of the departments of Religion and Music.

SCHOOL OF RELIGION

The "Chair of Bible" was started in 1896 and later came to be known as the Department of Religion and in 1946 several new men were added and was designated, "The School of Religion. "

Many Baptist leaders in the field of Religion have studied at Wake Forest College. The School of Religion offers courses of instruction designed to give every student entering Wake Forest College an opportunity to acquire at least an introduction to the life, literature and the most important movements in the field of Religion, It also seeks to give students preparing for specialized service as religious education directors, ministers, and missionaries, the foundational courses needed for effective work. The courses of study are designed primarily for college undergraduates. Special courses are offered to qualified candidates for the Master of Arts Degree.

THE BOWMAN GRAY SCHOOL OF MEDICINE of Wake Forest College was added to the Baptist Hospital in Winston-Salem. The entire plant cost $1,250,000, contributed by the late Bowman Gray, tobacco executive.

BOWMAN GRAY SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

WAKE FOREST COLLEGE

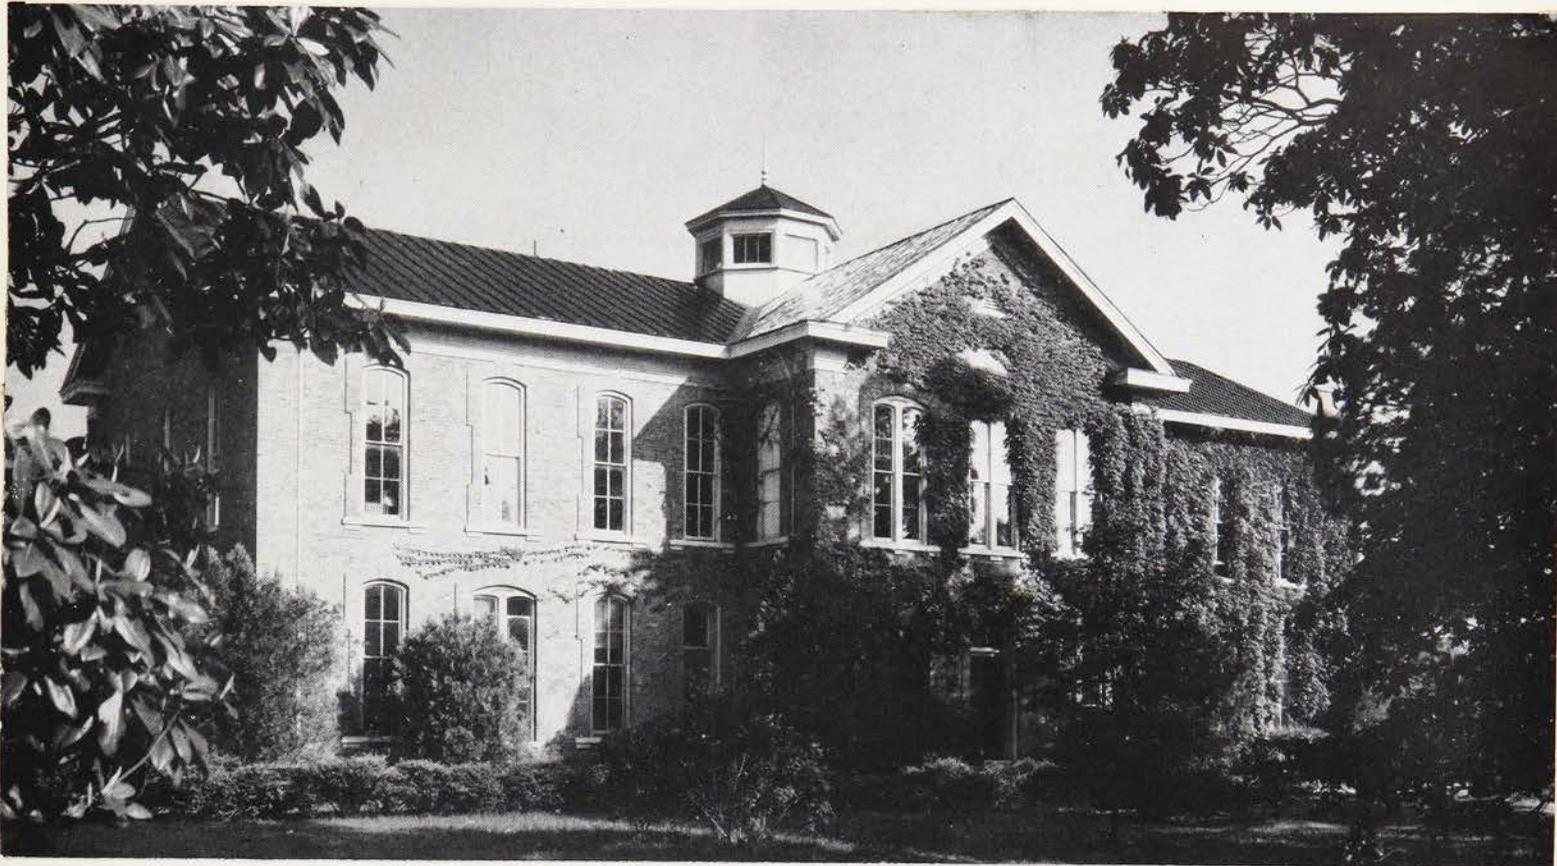

The School of Medicine, established at Wake Forest in 1902, and renamed the School of Medical Sciences in 1937, operated as a two-year medical school until 1941, when it was moved to Winston-Salem, North Carolina, as a four-year medical college. When the school was expanded to a four-year institution, it was renamed The Bowman Gray School of Medicine of Wake Forest College, in recognition of the benefactor who made the expansion possible, the late Bowman Gray, of Winston-Salem.

The expansion and the enlargement program was made possible on August 3, 1939, when the resources, amounting to approximately a million dollars, of the Bowman Gray Foundation were awarded to Wake Forest College to be used exclusively for the medical school which is now supported from the general budget of Wake Forest College and from the resources of the Foundation.

The North Carolina Baptist Hospital constitutes the main teaching hospital of the medical school. All buildings are located on the same campus and adjoin to form a single unit. The clinical and pre-clinical departments are so related physically and the faculty is so constituted that the teaching program is effectively correlated.

In addition, Graylyn, a neuropsychiatric rehabilitation center which provides for several thousand outpatient visits a year and thirty-five hospital patients, is owned and operated by the medical school. This is completely used for teaching by the Department of Neuropsychiatry.

The school is a member of the Association of American Medical Colleges and is approved by the Council on Medical Education of the American Medical Association. Academic and professional standards comparable to other leading medical schools in the United States are maintained.

THE HECK-WILLIAMS LIBRARY BUILDING - As erected in 1878, this building was mainly the gift of Colonel J. M. Heck and Mr. John G. Williams of Raleigh. An extension was added in 1926, which provides a well-lighted fireproof stack room with a capacity of 72,000 volumes. The second floor of this building, used by the School of Law, provides classrooms and offices, and houses the Law Library.

THE HISTORY AND PURPOSE OF THE WAKE FOREST LAW SCHOOL

The Law School was established as a department of Wake Forest College in 1894, the first instructor being Professor N. Y. Gulley. From this beginning, the school has steadily grown and developed until it now has a faculty of six full-time teachers and one part-time lecturer, occupies commodious quarters devoted exclusively to Law School use, and possesses a carefully selected and adequate library.

From the time of its establishment, the primary purpose of the Law School has been to train young men and women for the practice of law in North Carolina, although ample facilities are provided for students who may expect to practice in other jurisdictions.

Instruction in the Law School is not confined to the mere imparting of information, but aims to develop the student's reasoning powers, his ability to present and argue legal propositions and his sense of professional ethics and the duties of a lawyer to society.

The Law School is fully approved by all national and state accrediting agencies. It is a member of the American Association of Law Schools, and is listed as an approved school by the American Bar Association, by the Board of Law and by the University of the State of New York.

The Library contains 17,000 volumes, carefully chosen to avoid unnecessary duplications and to insure the greatest possible usefulness.

GORE GYMNASIUM - A spacious building modern in all details, erected during the session of 1934-35 on the west border of the campus, with funds provided by the alumni and others, meets all requirements for indoor athletic sports and classes in physical education.

COMMUNITY HOUSE AND SWIMMING POOL

HISTORY OF ATHLETICS AT WAKE FOREST COLLEGE

Intercollegiate athletics at Wake Forest College dates back sixty-one years, to the State's first football game between Wake Forest and the University of North Carolina on October 18, 1888. The Demon Deacons added another "first," this time with Duke University when the two institutions introduced basketball to the State on March 2, 1906.

Despite the fact that Wake Forest introduced these two sports, strangely enough the Deacons did not win their first championship until the 1913 baseball team swept aside all opposition to capture the South-Atlantic crown.

Wake Forest athletic teams, greatly handicapped by enrollments which seldom reached one thousand, were not known nationally before the war. In fact, the Demon Deacons were seldom seriously considered as contenders for conference honors. Instead, they became the "dark-horses" or "giant-killers" of the South, and the Baptist supporters could almost always bank on one or more major upsets in each of the major sports.

Since the war, however, the Deacons have become a power not only in the Southern Conference, but throughout the nation as well.

Without going into an extended discussion, it would be impossible to list here the notable achievements of past Wake Forest athletic teams. Instead, let's follow the Deacons in football, basketball and baseball for the 1948-49 school year.

The 1948 gridiron Deacons were not rated too highly before the season opened, mainly due to the fact that Coach D. C. (Peahead) Walker had just installed the T-formation, and the experts said that it would take at least a year for the Deacons to adept themselves to the new system.

The Baptists split even in their first two games, winning the opener against George Washington but dropping a hard-fought battle to Boston College. Then came another split as they upset the defending conference champions, William and Mary, and lost to the powerful North Carolina Tar Heels. Duquesne fell victim to Wake Forest's newly found explosive power, as did North Carolina State, who was the nation's top defensive team at that time, and the old Baptist Nemesis, Duke. Undefeated Clemson squeezed out a one-touchdown triumph over Wake, but the Deacons bounced back with a crushing defeat over the University of South Carolina. Wake Forest accepted its second Bowl bid (the 1945 squad defeated South Carolina in the Gator Bowl) but lost another hard-fought battle to Baylor in the Dixie Bowl, although coming out on the long end of every department of the statistics --except scoring. Individual honors on the squad went to John (Red) O'Quinn who captured the nation's pass receiving title and Bill Gregus who topped the nation in kickoff returns.

The basketball team, hurt greatly by graduation losses, pulled the most stunning upset in two years of Conference hardwood play when they stopped powerful North Carolina State's Wolfpack near the end of the season. The Wolfpack hadn't been defeated in the Conference since 1947--when the Deacons had turned them back--but the Wake Forest thin-clads, fighting hard for a berth in the Conference playoffs, turned the trick with a neat victory. The team went on to gain the playoff berth, but had the misfortune to run into the Wolfpack again and suffered a loss by a small margin.

The 1949 baseball team carried the name of Wake Forest to its greatest height. The diamond crew hardly paused to take count before they had swept aside all opposition in twenty straight games. A semi-pro club defeated them by a 1-0 decision, but the strong Baptist nine lost only one more game as they finished out the season with an outstanding 24-2 win-loss record. Receiving an invitation to compete in the National Collegiate Athletic Association's playoffs to determine a national champion, the Deacons won the district championship in straight games over Kentucky and Mississippi State. Notre Dame, victors in their district, fell victim to the potent Baptists in two straight games and Wake Forest moved into the finals against Southern California, St. John's of Brooklyn and the University of Texas. Wake Forest drew defending champ Southern California in the first round and won a tenth inning thriller. Texas became the second collegiate club to defeat Wake Forest the following night, but the fighting Baptists moved into the final round by eliminating Southern California in another extra inning thriller. A hard-hitting, rested Texas nine again stopped Wake Forest, but the Deacons came home with national runner-up honors and two All-Americans in Second Baseman Charlie Teague and Third Baseman Gene Hooks. Pitcher Dick Vander Clute was named to the second team All-American nine.

While concentrating on major sports, Wake Forest also fields intercollegiate teams in golf, track, tennis, and cross-country. Golfer Arnold Palmer captured the Southern Conference crown for two straight years and was the NCAA medalist in last year's matches to determine a national champion. Although Wake Forest does not have an organized wrestling team, Bill George has captured the heavy-weight wrestling crown in the Southern Conference for the last two consecutive years.

THE JABEZ A. BOSTWICK HALL - which was ready for occupancy in September 1924, has been remodeled to provide reception rooms and lodging for 100 women.

Mr. H. G. Wright, Secretary-Treasurer
Grand Chapter, Delta Sigma Pi
Chicago, Illinois

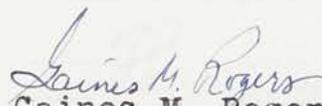

Dear Mr. Wright:

I take great pleasure in recommending Beta Tau, Wake Forest Business Fraternity, for a charter in Delta Sigma Pi. The members of Beta Tau are without exception fine, conscientious young men with a sincere interest in their fraternity and in the world of business. I firmly believe that among their number will be found in time to come leaders in the great industrial movement in the South.

The School of Business Administration was recently created with the hope and belief that Wake Forest College, by offering training in business on a high plain in an environment of liberal arts and Christianity, can better serve the state of North Carolina, the South, and the nation. There are at present approximately three hundred students enrolled in the School of Business, men for the most part. With a rather small but well qualified, self-sacrificing faculty, which is being expanded, we are offering a broad training in business administration.

With the receipt of the Reynolds Endowment and our removal to Winston-Salem, I have great faith in the future of the School of Business. Being a "Delta Sig", the union of these two organizations, both so dear to my heart, is, indeed, a delightful prospect for me.

Fraternally yours,

Gaines M. Rogers
Dean

Mr. H. G. Wright, Secretary-Treasurer
International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi
222 W. Adams Street
Chicago 6, Ill.

Dear Mr. Wright:

I understand that Beta Tau, the Business Fraternity of Wake Forest College, is applying for membership in the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi. I want to recommend unhesitatingly favorable consideration of this application.

The members of Beta Tau are a select group of students from our School of Business Administration. I know every one of them and I can give my unqualified endorsement to each of them as to character and scholarship.

Wake Forest College recognizes the importance of business training in the college curriculum and is eager to encourage anything that contributes to the value of this training.

I am sure that Beta Tau has already made such a contribution and its admission to membership in the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi will enable it to make a more effective contribution.

I sincerely hope that you will find it possible to grant Beta Tau a membership charter in Delta Sigma Pi.

With the best wishes, I am

Sincerely yours,

Thurman Kitchin
President

Mr. H. G. Wright
Grand Secretary-Treasurer
The International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi
222 West Adams Street
Chicago, Ill.

Dear Mr. Wright:

A group of students in our new School of Business Administration has within the past twelve months organized a local fraternity group for the purpose of creating a keener interest among the students in the field of Business Administration, to set up ideals and objectives in keeping with the professional spirit that should characterize such a body, and to further the general fellowship and spirit of the group.

I understand now that they wish to affiliate with the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi. It is our observation here that such groups do raise the morale and standards of performance. We are glad to have these students look forward to the affiliation and we hope that they may be successful in attaining their desires.

We have found that the National Chapter representatives, both in the social fraternities and the professional, help to widen the horizon of students in their respective areas. Their visits are valuable to the groups and, of course, to the College generally.

If you find after further investigation that such an affiliation would be mutually beneficial we should be glad for it to be effected.

Very sincerely yours,

D. B. Bryan, Dean
