A HISTORY

Nevada, the "Silver State," is known throughout the world for the "Comstock Lode," the world's richest silver deposit. The Comstock produced about a billion dollars worth of precious metals since its discovery. Nevada's history dates back to the 1820's, but did not gain real recognition until 1859, the year of the Comstock. Five years after the discovery of the Comstock Lode, Nevada was admitted to the Union as the 36th state by President Abraham Lincoln. In 100 years the population of Nevada has increased from 1,000 people to over 250,000 people. Nevada has become well known for its agriculture and its prized livestock, as well as its mining, manufacturing and tourist industries.

One of Nevada's leading cities is Reno, located on the banks of the Truckee River in the northwestern part of the state, and just thirty miles from Carson City, the capital. Reno, "The Biggest Little City in the World," has a population of over 50,000 people. Reno is the hub of transportation activities for northern Nevada and northern California. Reno's importance began in 1858 with the coming of the Central Pacific railroad. Since that time Reno has progressed with the state and is the state's largest city, as well as one of the state's leading economic centers. Reno, "Gateway to the 1960 Winter Olympics," has a tourist trade that is the envy of resort areas throughout the nation. The economic and transportation center of the state, Reno is also the center of higher education in the state, the home of the University of Nevada.

The University of Nevada has reached its present standing as an important, fully accredited, institution of higher learning through steady growth from a small preparatory school of the pioneer west to a university offering a wide variety of courses of study and conducting significant research. The University, which was founded in Elko in 1864, was moved to Reno in 1888.

Federal and state grants allowed for establishment and steady expansion of the public service divisions of the University. State appropriations and the gifts of benefactors have promoted the growth of the physical plant. Further development of the academic program has been made possible by a highly trained faculty and by the establishment of the Robert Lardin Fulton Lecture Foundation and a large number of scholarships and loan funds.

Continuously since 1938, the University of Nevada has been "fully accredited as a University" by the Northwest Association of Secondary and Higher Schools. The latest report gave unrestricted accreditation to the University of Nevada for a period of five years, subject to a progress report for the annual meeting of the Northwest Association of Secondary and Higher Schools to be given in 1961.

The University is an active member of the following national professional education associations: American Council on Education, American Society for Engineering Education, Association of Land-Grant Colleges and Universities, Department of Higher Education of the National Education Commission on Accrediting, National University Extension Association, Northwest Association of Secondary and Higher Schools, and Association of American Colleges.

The University is a combination of eight colleges, a graduate school, and various divisions which function as individual units to provide specialized training and work together to offer a variety of educational opportunities to the student. The colleges which present basic undergraduate and graduate programs are: The Max C. Fleischmann College of Agriculture, the College of Arts and Science, the College of Business Administration, the College of Education, the College of Engineering, the Mackay School of Mines, the Orvis School of Nursing, and the Southern Regional Division at Las Vegas.

The University of Nevada established the College of Business Administration in 1956. Prior to that time the business program formed a departmental level in the College of Arts and Science. The purpose of the College of Business Administration is twofold:

1. To train its students in fields of accounting, banking, general business, economics, finance, marketing, office administration, personnel management, public administration, real estate, retailing, sales advertising--all four-year programs, and secretarial studies--a two-year program.

2. To develop in its students a broad background in both professional and cultural education, teaching them to think analytically and logically about business, and the social and civic responsibilities of the businessman.

The degree of Bachelor of Science in Business Administration is conferred upon students who complete a curriculum in one of the following fields: accounting, economics, finance, marketing, and office administration. The job placement program for graduates is a unique service of the College of Business Administration.

The College of Business Administration is housed in the Silas E. Ross Hall. This new $470,000 building was opened in the fall of 1957. The structure contains seventeen classrooms, offices of the College of Business Administration, the registrar, and the deans of students.

Enrollment in the College of Business Administration, after only two and a half years of operation, number over 350 students, making it the third largest division in the institution.

ACTIVITIES

During its first fully active semester, Beta Alpha Nu's Professional Program Committee performed an effective job in bringing before the Fraternity speakers well informed in the fields of merchandising and buying and in controllership and corporation finance. A speaker from a local civic organization discussed parliamentary procedure.

On our first program, Mr. Alex Coon, Education Vice-President of the Sparks, Nevada Toastmasters, spoke to the Fraternity about parliamentary procedures as they apply to fraternal organizations. Mr. Coon made us realize the importance of a well conducted business meeting.

"Merchandising, Planning and Control" was the subject of our second speaker, Mr. Robert E. O'Connell, Assistant Manager of Reno's J. C. Penney Department Store. Since Mr. O'Connell is responsible for the planning and control of merchandise buying and flooring for the local Penney store, he confined his talk to this area.

Mr. John O. Einerman, Vice-President and Controller of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, headquartered in San Francisco, California, spoke to the members of the Fraternity on the subject, "The Transition of the Accounting Student into the Business World."

Using the accounting graduate as an example, Mr. Einerman traced the steps followed in acquiring junior executives for the telephone industry. The procedures used in evaluating a trainee, from the initial orientation through to his final placement in one of the many positions of the Bell Telephone Company, was carefully and clearly explained by Mr. Einerman.

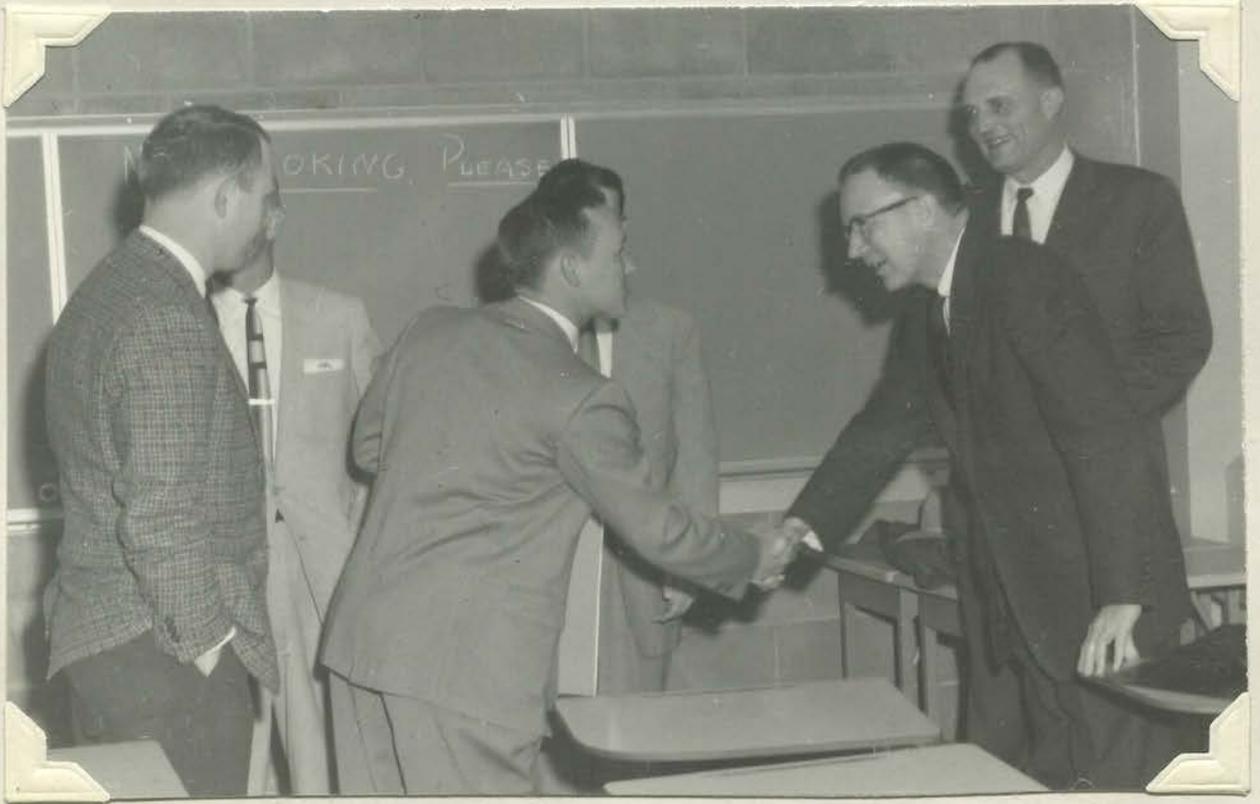

Mr. Einerman's visit also brought to the campus an outstanding business and civic leader of Reno, Mr. Paul S. Garwood, General Manager of the Bell Telephone Company of Nevada. It was through Mr. Garwood's efforts that Mr. Einerman's visit was made possible. Mr. Garwood seemed much interested in the Fraternity and its activities and was pleased to learn the local group had petitioned the national organization, Delta Sigma Pi, for a charter. It was indeed a privilege for the men of Beta Alpha Nu to meet such leaders, Mr. Einerman and Mr. Garwood.

Mr. Einerman addressing the Fraternity

Mr. Einerman and Mr. Garwood being thanked for their participation by Fraternity Secretary Paul Rand (shaking hands) and Professional Program Committee Chairman William Vannoy (extreme left). Partially obscured are Fraternity President John Rhodes and Richard Latham.

OFFICE OF THE DEAN

RENO, NEVADA

December 18, 1958

Mr. J. D. Thomson
Executive Director
Delta Sigma Pi
330 South Campus Avenue
Oxford, Ohio

Dear Mr. Thomson:

Mr. John Rhodes, President of Beta Alpha Nu, a local business professional fraternity at the University of Nevada, has requested a statement in connection with the petition of Beta Alpha Nu for a chapter of Delta Sigma Pi. I am very happy to comply with this request inasmuch as Beta Alpha Nu has made an outstanding record of accomplishment since its inception on this campus on March 12, 1958.

The College of Business Administration is extremely grateful to this group of outstanding young men for having the foresight to organize themselves into a fraternity, one of the objectives of which is to assist in the cause of better preparation for careers in the business and administrative field. The group has demonstrated its seriousness of purpose by attempting to do all within its power to encourage good scholarship and cooperation with faculty and administration, and in establishing a tangible and beneficial contact with the professional business world. They have adhered to the established policies of Delta Sigma Pi as closely as possible, with the intention of petitioning for membership as soon as they would be able to assume effectively all of the responsibilities and obligations of full membership in the national organization.

In my estimation, the local group has done an outstanding job and is fully qualified. I heartily endorse and recommend Beta Alpha Nu as an organization which will carry on the ideals and traditions of Delta Sigma Pi.

Sincerely,

Robert C. Weems, Jr.
Dean
