HISTORY OF MONMOUTH COUNTY

Monmouth College is located in Monmouth County, which is one of twenty-one counties that make up the state of New Jersey. For nearly three hundred years, Monmouth County has maintained its importance in New Jersey as a region of home owners, light industries and farms.

First settled in 1664 in the Middletown-Shrewsbury area, it was one of the four counties comprising the Province of East Jersey. One year later, the first courts were established. The name "Monmouth" originated in 1683, when a royal charter was granted, and was chosen by Colonel Lewis Morris, whose family originated in Monmouthshire, England.

East Jersey was given to Sir George Carteret by James, Duke of York and brother of Charles II. Later, Carteret's widow sold East Jersey to a group of twenty-four proprietors headed by William Penn. About 1690, under the reign of Queen Anne, the bickering proprietors decided to surrender their rights of government to the crown, but retain their interest in the soil. It was at this time, about 1693, that the County was divided into three townships--Middletown, Shrewsbury and Freehold.

It was from the proprietary form of government that New Jersey inherited the title of "Freeholder", and from this title Monmouth County took the name Freehold for its county seat. One of America's first heroines was Molly Pitcher, who picked up her husband's cannon ramrod after he was killed during the Revolutionary War. She carried on for him in the Battle of Monmouth, during the fighting which took place near Freehold.

Present-day Monmouth County covers 477 square miles. From rolling uplands in the west and north, which reach a height of 391 feet at Highlands, it slopes down to the flatness of the Atlantic Coastal Plain in the marshy pine barrens of the southeast. Among its many streams and rivers, the principal ones are the Navesink, Shrewsbury, Shark and Manasquan Rivers.

The County's seacoast, stretching for 21 miles, and the 12-mile expanse fronting on Raritan Bay comprise a resort area which includes some of the state's finest beaches. Vacationers have long been attracted to Asbury Park and Long Branch, the two cities among the County's 52 municipalities. Many have become permanent residents, settling in the two cities, the 35 boroughs and the 15 townships which comprise the County. Official recognition of this growth lies in population figures. The 1950 census estimated the number at 225,327, while the 1960 figure was 324,401.

Vacationers and residents can enjoy fishing, swimming, boating, golf, thoroughbred racing at Monmouth Park, and harness racing at Freehold.

For the farmer, Monmouth County offers the fertile soil of the coastal plain belt, which is among the most productive in the nation. It enhances the name "Garden State" by its production of Jersey corn, potatoes, tomatoes and fruit. Monmouth ranks fifth among the counties in number of peach trees, and the Freehold area is one of the centers of apple growing and shipping. Blueberries, the state's first-ranking small fruit, are planted in important quantities.

Thoroughbred horse breeding is on the increase, along with the raising of cattle such as Black Angus and White-faced Herefords, while other farmers conduct poultry and dairy operations.

Industries are moving into the County with enthusiasm. Most of the County is within a fifty-mile radius of New York City. Two railroads and a network of major highways, including the New Jersey Turnpike and the Garden State Parkway, make it easy to reach the industrial areas of Newark and New York City.

Military installations important to the security and progress of the nation are a vital part of Monmouth County. These include Fort Monmouth, which is operated by the United States Signal Corps; Fort Hancock, part of the Eastern Antiaircraft Command; and the Navy Ammunition Depot at Earle.

Although many residents commute daily to the Newark-New York metropolitan area, it is evident that those who live here may also work here in industries, farming and government service. The major source of employment in the County includes 25,000 commuters; Federal Government, 8,140 people; agriculture, 6,000; manufacturing, 16,000; retail trades, 17,500; services, 15,000; construction, 5,200; transportation, 6,300 and other sources 6,700. During the summer, when the many beach resorts in Monmouth County are flourishing, the population increases by a daily total of more than 250,000 visitors and summer residents.

New industries settling in Monmouth County include the Bell Telephone Laboratories, Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co., Brockway Glass Co., Electronics Associates, Lily-Tulip Corp., Bendix Corp., Reeves Instruments, and Well Built. There are 408 manufacturing establishments in the County and 1,412 farms of over 10 acres each.

HISTORY OF MONMOUTH COLLEGE

The County is served by the Jersey Central and Pennsylvania Railroads, with 21 passenger stations on the lines. Normal travel time from Red Bank to New York via train is 71 minutes, and 65 minutes by car. Monmouth County Airport and the Red Bank Airport also provide air transportation.

There are 15 banks in the County, with 40 branches. There are 9 hospitals including Monmouth Medical Center, located in the County. There are also 115 elementary schools, 14 high schools, 4 regional schools, 4 secondary parochial schools, 16 elementary parochial schools, and 10 private schools.

The people of the area are kept well informed by the 20 local newspapers serving the County. Monmouth County families had a buying income average of $6,500 per family last year. The families had 129,000 automobiles.

Since that time it has had an interesting rise, reaching its climax in the summer of 1935, when it became a four-year institution and moved to the spacious and attractive Shadow Lawn Estate in West Long Branch.

Here, the character of the college changed completely. It was then able to offer Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science degrees for completion of four years of college work, as well as the Associate in Arts for two years of study. Moving from Long Branch High School, which it had shared for 23 years, meant that the College was now able to offer day courses as well as night courses.

This, of course, led to an immediate expansion of enrollment, and quite naturally, this resulted in a broadening of curriculum and faculty. It also created a wider interest in the community and attracted some of the leading civic and business leaders in the area to serve on the Board of Trustees.

Although Monmouth College throughout its transition has remained primarily a commuter college, there are some boarding students from distant places who take up residence during the school year in facilities near the campus. Next year Monmouth College plans to build dormitory facilities for 600 students.

In addition to the Main Building, which is on the site occupied by the summer home of President Fredrow Wilson and where he accepted the nomination leading to his second term as President, there are a number of other buildings which house various departments of the College.

HISTORY OF MONMOUTH COLLEGE

One of the most important assets of any community is its educational facilities, particularly in these times when secondary and college education have taken on such added significance.

This challenge for educational and cultural advancement has been well met in the shore area through many media, but one of the most interesting has been the development and enlargement of Monmouth College.

Now a four-year college with almost 3,000 students, Monmouth College has an interesting history dating back to its founding in 1933 when it was operated with Federal funds as a junior college. In 1936 it started to operate without Federal funds and began charging tuition.

Since that time it has had an interesting rise, reaching its climax in the summer of 1956, when it became a four-year institution and moved to the spacious and attractive Shadow Lawn Estate in West Long Branch.

Here, the character of the college changed completely. It was then able to offer Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science degrees for completion of four years of college work, as well as the Associate in Arts for two years of study. In addition to the Main Building, which is on the site occupied by the summer home of President Woodrow Wilson and where he accepted the nomination leading to his second term as President, there are a number of other buildings which house various departments of the College.

In 1960, Monmouth College received from the Murry and Leonie Guggenheim Foundation a beautiful mansion on a nine-acre estate directly across the street from the main campus. This mansion, with certain alterations to adapt it to library purposes, contains 30,000 volumes and was opened in the Spring of 1961.

Monmouth College, now a full four-year institution accredited by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, has served as the educational center for a number of New Jersey's leading companies.

As the Shore Area continues to grow, and as secondary and college education gain importance, it is certain that Monmouth College will continue to grow also. Its campus of 120 acres can accommodate about 3,500 students, and Shadow Lawn (once a famous show-place for its architecture, beautiful interiors and landscaping which have all been retained) is serving a vital need in the community.

MONMOUTH COLLEGE

The Main Building, home of the Business Department, is centrally located on the 120-acre campus.

The interior of the new building is impressively decorated with various types of furniture and interior finishes.

The interior of the Main Building is impressively decorated with various types of domestic and imported marble.

Ornate gardens at the rear of the Main Building provide a pleasant background for social events.

The Beechwood, located north of the Main Building, provides additional classroom facilities and administrative offices.

The Guggenheim Memorial Library

In 1960 Monmouth College received from the Murry and Leonie Guggenheim Foundation this beautiful mansion and nine-acre estate, directly across the street from the main campus.

Magnificent landscaped gardens at the rear of the Guggenheim Building provide a proper setting for higher education.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Student Activities

At Monmouth College, students are encouraged to participate in sports, social affairs, student government, and class and club organizations. These activities are fostered because of their influence in developing personalities, character, and sociability. In addition to promoting interests and skills, the activities emphasize leadership, cooperation, and initiative.

Each student in the College is a member of the Monmouth College Student Association. The function of the Association is to promote democratic student participation in the government of the College, to encourage cordial and responsible relations with the community, and to foster better understanding among all college individuals and groups.

The Student Council represents the Student Association, approves budgets of the student organizations, sends delegates to collegiate meetings, and promotes the interests of all students.

Among the highest honors at Monmouth is selection for membership in Lambda Sigma Tau, an organization of students chosen by the faculty on the basis of their demonstrated leadership, scholarship and personality.

Students interested in writing have the opportunity to work on the Outlook, the College weekly newspaper; on the Shadows, the College yearbook; and on Monmouth Letters, a semi-annual literary magazine.

The athletic program includes varsity baseball, basketball, tennis, golf, and soccer for men; varsity basketball and baseball for women; and intramural athletics for men and women. Arrangements are made for such activities as skating, swimming, badminton, fencing, bowling, handball, and tennis.

Placement Service

The purposes of the Office of Placement Service are (1) to assist students and graduates to find suitable permanent employment in the fields of their interests, (2) to assist students in obtaining part-time or temporary employment during the school year or the summer, and (3) to meet the needs of employers who are seeking mature, college-trained employees.

Alumni Association

The Monmouth College Alumni Association was incorporated as a non-profit organization in 1955, after several years of operation on a more informal basis. The purposes of the Association are (1) to perpetuate the friendships formed in college years, (2) to promote the welfare of Monmouth College, and (3) to promote the cause of education generally. In 1960, the American Alumni Council accepted Monmouth College's application for institutional membership.

STUDENT AID

The National Defense Student Loan Program

As authorized by the National Defense Education Act of 1958, superior students who can prove financial need may borrow up to $1,000 a year. This amount is contingent upon the government allocations. No interest is charged until after one year from the date the borrower ceases to be a full-time student. The rate of interest is 3%.

State Aid

In 1959 the State created a loan program for New Jersey students to give them financial assistance in obtaining a college education. Students may borrow on the basis of their own signature at a reasonable rate of 5% interest. Borrowers pay only interest while they are in school. Payments on the principal begin at graduation and may extend as long as six years.

Federal Aid

The Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency recently approved a $2.7 million appropriation to Monmouth College for the construction of three dormitories and a dining hall. The dormitories will house 400 students; 240 men and 160 women. Construction will begin this fall with completion scheduled for the following year.

SCHOLARSHIPS

Two scholarships for Monmouth County women students have been granted by the Northern Monmouth County Branch of the American Association of University Women.

A scholarship for a Monmouth County student has been granted by the Jersey Shore Branch of the American Association of University Women.

A scholarship for a man or woman who is a resident of Monmouth County is given by the Uncle Robert Foundation, Inc., of Long Branch, as a memorial to the Spero family of Long Branch.

Two scholarships for a man and woman who are residents of Monmouth County have been granted by the Zeta Epsilon Lambda Chapter of the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc.

A scholarship for an engineering student has been granted by the Monmouth Society of Professional Engineers Auxiliary.

ENROLLMENT

Statistics for the fall of 1961 indicate a total undergraduate enrollment of 2884, with 1718 students on full-time schedules and 1166 attending part-time. Six hundred and seventy-two students are enrolled in the Business Administration Department, making this department one of the two largest at the College.

For the past several years total enrollment at the College has been rising rapidly. It has been estimated that within the next decade 10,000 students will be enrolled for courses at Monmouth College.

Many graduates of Monmouth College have completed their advanced studies at some of the finest universities in the country, such as Rutgers University, New York University, University of Delaware, Indiana University, University of Illinois, University of Arizona, and University of Maine. Those graduates who have chosen professional careers have been employed by some of the finest firms in New Jersey. Among the more prominent are: Western Electric, Bell Telephone, E. I. Dupont, Electronic Associates, and Standard Oil of New Jersey.

Prior to 1956 Monmouth Junior College shared the use of the Long Branch High School building. In June of that year the New Jersey Department of Education authorized the College to become a four-year institution. Thereafter the College facilities were moved to the Shodor Lane campus.

By the fall of 1956, nine four-year major programs were developed. A Business Administration Department was established with Dr. Kenneth G. Streibig named as its chairman. Dr. Streibig also served as Dean of Administration during this period. Although only sixteen business courses were offered to students seeking degrees in Business Administration, the program was designed to meet the needs of the student by requiring studies in accounting, law, marketing, economics, and management. However, Dr. Streibig felt that a more adequate business program was necessary and believed that studies in liberal arts should be required of each student of business.

In 1959 Dr. Earl G. Nicks, who had been a member of the business faculty for one year, assumed control of the Department. Under Dr. Nicks course offerings in the business field were expanded. DEVELOPMENT OF THE BUSINESS DEPARTMENT Each Business Administration major was required to complete four credits in either Art, Music, or Drama and six credits in Literature as part of the four-year program. It was hoped that such studies in the field of liberal arts would provide the student with a broader educational background.

On February 1, 1962 the resignation of Dr. Nicks (who accepted an important position in industry) became effective, and Mr. Robert J. Tompa, a member of the business faculty, was named as temporary chairman of the Business Administration Department. His philosophy with respect to the aims of the Department was essentially the same as that of his predecessors--to provide the student of Business Administration with a broad background through an extensive curriculum involving studies in the field of business and liberal arts. Mr. Tompa plans to divide the business program into four majors: accounting, marketing, economics and management. This program will be designed to dovetail with that of Rutgers University so that students will be able to proceed directly into graduate work.

The Business Administration Department now offers fifty business courses taught by twenty-five full-time instructors.

DELTA SIGMA BETA

"Duty and Service in Business"

On Friday, January 13, 1961, Delta Sigma Beta was officially approved as a student activity at Monmouth College. The original membership of the organization consisted of eleven Business Administration majors with the desire of becoming more well rounded in the field of business through fraternal association.

Although the problems of the Fraternity during its early stages were largely organizational, the members were confident that Delta Sigma Beta would one day become firmly established as a Professional Business Fraternity at Monmouth College.

On April 20, 1961, thirteen pledges were accepted as members of Delta Sigma Beta. The first official election of officers was held on May 4. Mr. Fred Porter, then acting as temporary President, was elected to the office on a permanent basis. Mr. Charles Church was selected for the office of Vice President. Mr. Bruce Marsland was elected Secretary, and Mr. David S. Robinson chosen as Treasurer.

DELTA SIGMA BETA

During the spring of 1961, Mr. Alfred K. Brown, a member of the business faculty at Monmouth College and a member of the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi, spoke to the members of Delta Sigma Beta concerning the national organization. He outlined the requirements and procedures that would be necessary in establishing a local chapter of Delta Sigma Pi at Monmouth College.

Seeking further information regarding the possibilities of affiliation with Delta Sigma Pi, the members contacted the Central Office. On October 10, Mr. Charles Farrar, Executive Secretary, visited the Monmouth campus. After hearing his discussion of the functions and goals of the International Fraternity, the members of Delta Sigma Beta agreed that their goals and aspirations were in accord with those of Delta Sigma Pi, and that work should begin toward the establishing of a local chapter at Monmouth College. During a general meeting of the Fraternity on November 2, the members, by a roll call vote, signified their unanimous desire to become members of Delta Sigma Pi, and to operate a local chapter of the International Fraternity.

Delta Sigma Beta, during its fifteen-month existence, has been quite active in its professional program. The members have participated in field trips and have heard several guest speakers who spoke for the benefit of the entire student body. These speakers have been from a variety of fields in business and government. For example, speakers have been heard discussing such areas as automation, insurance, Peace Corps, real estate, economics (input-output analysis), Social Security, Civil Service, and job application. Recent field trips have been to the Western Electric Plant at Kearny, New Jersey, employing 15,700 people, and to the General Motors Assembly Plant at Linden, New Jersey.

Two brothers of Delta Sigma Beta were particularly impressed with their visit to Western Electric and have been employed by the Company. They will start work there following graduation. With the assistance of the Placement Department of Monmouth College, Delta Sigma Beta is planning future professional activities for the Fall, 1962 session. Trips to Bell Laboratories in Holmdel, New Jersey, the Budweiser Plant in Newark, the New York Stock Exchange, Lily-Tulip Corporation in Holmdel, and to a local newspaper have been discussed.

Speakers lecturing on such fields as time and motion study, accounting, banking, and advertising are next in order. The members of Delta Sigma Beta feel that their professional program has met with success considering the relatively short time that the Fraternity has been in existence at Monmouth College. Follow-up interest has resulted in jobs for five brothers of Delta Sigma Beta. Two brothers have been employed by Western Electric, and three others are now working at Bamberger's Department Store, the establishment which provided the speaker on "Job Application". Such results have stimulated hope for even greater success in the future.

In order to fulfill its responsibility to Monmouth College, the Fraternity has embarked on a program of serving the school through various activities designed to promote the general welfare of the student body. During the first two weeks of April 1962, the members sold college yearbooks as a service to the institution. In an attempt to improve communications among the various Greek-letter organizations on campus, the members of Delta Sigma Beta provided funds for the construction of a glass-enclosed bulletin board. With space provided for each fraternity and sorority, it is hoped that the use of this board will result in closer relationships between the many Greek-letter groups at Monmouth College.

Although the attention of the members of Delta Sigma Beta has often been focused on professional matters, social events have not been neglected. During the past year, several dinner-dances have been held. These affairs have been periodically arranged for the benefit of the newly accepted brothers of Delta Sigma Beta. During these events, a formal ritual ceremony is conducted and the new members are initiated into the organization.

During the past several years, a rivalry has developed between two of New Jersey's colleges: Monmouth and Glassboro State College. Each December the two schools clash in a basketball game held at Convention Hall in Asbury Park. Preceding the game floats designed and constructed by the various fraternities at Monmouth are displayed through the streets of Asbury Park. In December of last year, Delta Sigma Beta participated in the float parade for the first time. With a flair of creativity and timeliness, the Brothers of Delta Sigma Beta constructed a rocketship pointed toward the heavens. With a chimpanzee bride and groom mounted on the nose of the ship, and the playing of Abba-Dabba Honeymoon, there was an evident bid to rival the recent orbiting of a chimpanzee shot from Cape Canaveral.

The members of Delta Sigma Beta believe that this Fraternity has become firmly established at Monmouth College. This has resulted, in part, from their efforts in developing a well rounded program of professional and social activities. Although Delta Sigma Beta is comparatively young, the members feel that they have made considerable strides in developing a vigorous and efficiently run organization. Twenty-five members representing various interests within the field of business constitute the membership of the organization. Major interests of the members include: sales, marketing, economics, personnel, accounting, education, and management.

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

CAPITAL 2-6600

May 24, 1962

Mr. David Robinson, President
Delta Sigma Beta
Monmouth College
West Long Branch, New Jersey

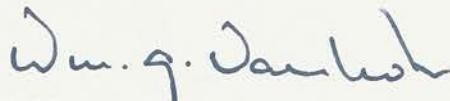

Dear Mr. Robinson:

I appreciated the visit you and Bruce A. Marsland paid me the other day bringing me information about the activities of the Monmouth College Chapter of Delta Sigma Beta and requesting that I write a letter to the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi stating that the Monmouth College group has administrative approval in its application for membership as a chapter of the International Fraternity. Following your request, I have written a letter to Mr. James D. Thomson, the Executive Director, indicating your application has administrative approval, and I am pleased to attach a copy for your society's files.

As I mentioned to you during our visit, I found in the Presidential files on my arrival that the constitution of the Delta Sigma Beta society was approved on January 5, 1961 by the Director of Student Activities and the Dean of Administration after review by the Administrative Council. This constitutes approval by the administration of your seeking affiliation with the International Fraternity.

As I told both Bruce and you when we were talking, I believe that the existence of professional fraternities on our campus can materially strengthen the programs they are organized to further and, also, they can add strength to the entire college program. I will continue to count on the local chapter of Delta Sigma Beta to contribute to both of these objectives. Whenever any of its members believe I can be of help, I hope they will come to me.

Sincerely yours,

William G. Van Note

Dear Mr. Thomson:

It is my understanding that the Monmouth College Delta Sigma Beta Fraternity seeks affiliation as a chapter of the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi. This letter is written to endorse the application and state that it has the approval of the College administration. In a separate letter to members of the local Delta Sigma Beta group I have advised them that I am sending you this endorsement.

I stated in my letter to them that "...I believe that the existence of professional fraternities on our campus can materially strengthen the programs they are organized to further and, also, they can add strength to the entire college program." I also added that, should their application receive favorable action, I shall expect the members of Delta Sigma Beta at Monmouth College to live up to the best traditions of the fraternity and by so doing they will enhance themselves and strengthen the College.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Brown:

Recently you and David Robinson asked that I personally approve the request of the Monmouth College chapter of Delta Sigma Beta to apply for membership as a chapter of the international fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi.

When you originally presented your request to me concerning the possibility of establishing a chapter at Monmouth College, I approved in view of your personal interest and enthusiasm for this. In addition, I have had opportunity to follow the activities of the Monmouth College chapter of Delta Sigma Beta, and I wish to commend this organization for its accomplishments. I believe this organization has sufficient stature at this time to request membership in the international fraternity.

Dear Mr. Thomson:

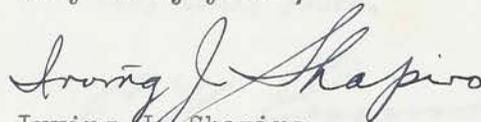

The members of Delta Sigma Beta have asked me to write to you in support of their fraternity's attempt to establish a local chapter of Delta Sigma Pi here at Monmouth College.

I have been greatly impressed by the fine reputation that the members of Delta Sigma Beta have established at Monmouth College. Their efforts in presenting guest speakers from various fields of business for the benefit of the entire student body are highly commendable. The extensive professional program which they have developed indicates their desire to create high professional standards in the group. I feel that an affiliation with Delta Sigma Pi will further enhance this desire.

I am confident that the members of Delta Sigma Beta will give their best efforts toward the maintenance of an efficient chapter of Delta Sigma Pi. You may be certain that I will cooperate with them at every opportunity.

I sincerely hope that the petition that is to be submitted by Delta Sigma Beta will receive the approval of Delta Sigma Pi and that a local chapter will be established at Monmouth College next semester.

Mr. James D. Thomson, Executive Director
International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi
330 South Campus Avenue, Oxford, Ohio

Dear Mr. Thomson:

During the last year I have become particularly interested in a group of young men, on campus, who have shown a specific interest in the various phases of big business.

To assist this group, our office arranged for several industrial trips to large plants throughout the state, such as the Bell Laboratory, General Motors and the Western Electric Company. In addition, talks were scheduled by well known authorities on accounting, planning and scheduling, and modern automation. All sessions were very well attended.

Plans for the next year will be quite extensive, including many well qualified speakers on the many important phases of modern business.

It is my understanding that this group, the Delta Sigma Fraternity, has made an application for affiliation as a chapter of the International Fraternity of the Delta Sigma Pi.

This group definitely deserves consideration by the National Organization, which should very materially enhance the program and add professional recognition for themselves as well as for Monmouth College.

I most sincerely indorse their applications and wish them success.

Very truly yours,

Dear Mr. Thomson:

This letter is with regard to the possibility of your national organization accepting our local fraternity Delta Sigma Beta for membership.

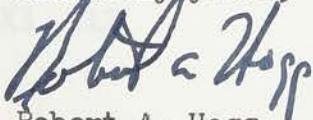

May I say that since this local fraternity was recognized in 1961, it has reflected a healthful progress. The members of Delta Sigma Beta are a fine group of young men with an interest in the field of business. For the most part their major is accounting, economics, marketing or management.

We of the Student Activities Office have been extremely impressed with their activities and have congratulated them on their positive contribution to the total student activities program at this institution.

David Robinson, President of Delta Sigma Beta for the 1962-3 academic year, is a respected student leader. Proof of this lies in the fact that he was elected President of the Inter-Fraternity Sorority Council. This group embodies the president of each of our twelve Greek-lettered societies. I am sure that under his leadership both the Inter-Fraternity Sorority Council and Delta Sigma Beta will achieve a greatness not heretofore seen. With no qualifications or reservations I have every reason to believe that Delta Sigma Beta is led by a very mature and competent group of young men.

Because of this, and because of past activities which have brought credit to this institution, I endorse their petition to you for membership with Delta Sigma Pi. I sincerely hope that you will look favorably on their petition. I know that they will be an asset to your fine organization.

Dear Brother Thompson:

As you know, I have been working this past year with Delta Sigma Beta, the local Business Administration Fraternity at Monmouth College. As their Faculty Advisor, I am pleased to recommend that the group be chartered as a chapter of our International Fraternity.

The progress that has been made by Delta Sigma Beta in the short period of eighteen months since its inception is a result of good leadership and an emphasis on good character when selecting new members. I am proud to inform you that Mr. David Robinson, President of Delta Sigma Beta, has been recently elected President of the Inter-fraternity Council at Monmouth.

I wish to say something special about the help that has been given to Delta Sigma Beta by Mr. Edward N. Emmons, Director of Placement at Monmouth College, Through his office the Fraternity has been able to secure guest speakers and to arrange several good field trips. Mr. Emmons has allowed the Fraternity to use the facilities of his office and has shown a personal interest in the progress of the organization.

With a continued enthusiasm such as I see displayed here, I am sure that a chapter of Delta Sigma Pi at Monmouth College will be a good one.

Dear Brother Thomson:

It is indeed a pleasure for me to be in the position whereby I can sincerely recommend Delta Sigma Beta as a group of fine students.

Frankly, knowing that they were interested in Delta Sigma Pi and being a brother in this organization, I have been keeping "tabs" on this group for the past eight months or so. I have nothing but praise for them. Well mannered, well dressed and to me, what very well could be typical members of Delta Sigma Pi.

I find no reservation what-so-ever in recommending this group of college men to Delta Sigma Pi.

Fraternally

Mr. James Thomson, Executive Director
International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi
330 South Campus Avenue
Oxford, Ohio

Dear Mr. Thomson:

It is indeed a pleasure for me to offer my support to the members of Delta Sigma Beta in their attempt to affiliate with the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi.

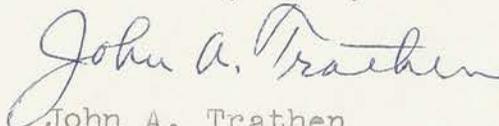

As a member of the Business Administration Department at Monmouth College, I wholeheartedly support the establishment of a nationally affiliated professional business fraternity.

During the course of the past several years, I have had the occasion of meeting with several of the members of Delta Sigma Beta. The businesslike attitude which they have demonstrated on the campus is indicative of their desire to become better equipped to meet the challenges of the business world through fraternal relationships.

I am certain that the members of Delta Sigma Beta are capable of operating a local chapter of the national organization. Moreover, I am confident that they will strive to maintain a vigorous and efficient chapter of Delta Sigma Pi.

It is my sincere hope that the petition submitted by Delta Sigma Beta receives the approval of Delta Sigma Pi, and that an affiliation with the national organization begins next fall.

Yours very truly
