Columbus History

Located in a pleasant river valley, Columbus is at the head of navigation on Georgia's longest river, the Chattahoochee, and at the foot of a series of falls extending more than 30 miles , furnishing tremendous water power.

Created with the signature of Georgia Governor John Forsyth on December 24, 1827, Columbus has often been called "a perfect example of a planned 19th Century town," with the many broad streets and avenues of its old section still following the pattern laid out by the cities founding fathers.

At the start of the "War Between the States," Columbus was still a frontier settlement, but she threw her mills, her wealth, and her patriotic young men into the war with great enthusiasm, making Columbus one of the most important industrial cities in the Confederacy.

Columbus is said to have furnished more troops to the Southern cause, in proportion to population, than any other city. As a result of this, in 1866 a group of Columbus women inaugurated the custom of Memorial Day, on which the Confederate dead are honored. This Memorial Day is still observed throughout the South each April 26.

The turning point in Columbus history came with the start of World War I, when in 1918 an army post was established here. This post was named for General Henry L. Benning, a Columbus lawyer and soldier who served the confederacy with distinction. This post is now known as Fort Benning, the Infantry Center of the United States Army and the largest infantry school in the world.

Columbus has grown a lot since the first settlers arrived early in 1828 to establish a settlement in the last frontier of the 13 Original Colonies, and today, Columbus is the second largest city in Georgia.

HISTORY OF COLUMBUS COLLEGE

Columbus College is the result of community endeavor. Its establishment was first seriously proposed by the Post War Planning Committee of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce in 1945. In April of 1949, the voters of Muscogee County, Georgia, approved the merger of the city and county schools under enabling legislation which authorized the Muscogee County School District to operate a college.

In June, 1949, a 157-acre college site was purchased. Of the $105,907.50 purchase price, $92,195 was contributed by Muscogee County residents. Sewer lines were run through the site, and a $100,000 bond issue was passed for roads and streets through the college site.

During the period 1945 - 1958, the Commissioners of Roads and Revenues of Muscogee County, the City Commissioners of Columbus, the Education Committee of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce, and the Muscogee County School Board continued to urge the establishment of a college in Columbus.

Following the passage of the Georgia Junior College Act of 1958, the Muscogee County Board of Education applied to the Regents of the University System of Georgia for a junior college as a unit of the University System. The Muscogee County Board of Education spent approximately $100,000 to modify the former Shannon Hosiery Mill into an adequate temporary facility for Columbus College. The first freshman class was enrolled in September, 1958.

Construction of a permanent facility was not begun until October, 1961. Construction was delayed approximately two years by controversies surrounding the location of the Lindsay Creek By-Pass highway. The location of the by-pass route resulted in the reduction of the college site to approximately 131 acres. Columbus College's permanent site was occupied by the administrative staff in December, 1962, and the first registration in the new facility was held January 2, 1963. The College buildings were dedicated on January 6. Columbus College held its first open house in late January.

During the summer of 1965, a home for the president was completed at a construction cost of $55,000. Contracts were awarded in May, 1965, for an Administration Building and a Science Building at a construction cost of approximately $700,000. These buildings were occupied in the fall of 1966. Recently completed are three buildings at a total cost of $2.9 million; they are an addition to the physical education building, which contains a swimming pool and a minor sports gymnasium; a fine arts building which includes a 900-seat auditorium; and a student union building which accommodates student activities, student recreation, food service, and a bookstore.

Building plans for the next biennium include a paramedical building, a social science-humanities building, a life sciences building, a faculty office building, and an additional library.

In December, 1963, J. Alvan Davis, Judge, Superior Court, Muscogee County, granted a charter to the Columbus College Foundation, Incorporated. This Foundation was organized to promote the growth and development of Columbus College, to expand educational opportunities, to finance capital improvements, to acquire real estate, and to acquire and administer funds. This Foundation began active support of various projects and programs connected with Columbus College in September, 1965. The Foundation raised over $500,000 which was matched by the Regents of the University System of Georgia along with a supporting grant of $600,000 from the Federal Government, for the construction of the $1.6 million Fine Arts Building and auditorium. The Foundation committee responsible for the fund drive was headed by Mrs. Simon Schwob.

Columbus College was accredited as a junior college in December, 1963, by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools after a minimum waiting period and without reservations or conditions.

In April, 1965, the Regents approved the application of Columbus College to begin transition to senior college status in September, 1966, the first class to graduate in June, 1970.

Columbus College continues to be an outstanding example of what a community can do to provide educational opportunity for its citizens by willingly assuming a share of the financial responsibility.

HISTORY

HISTORY OF DELTA SIGMA EPSILON

In November of 1968 a group of 50 business majors met for the purpose of organizing a professional fraternity. Under the guidance of the first president, Tom Maholik, and the head of the Business-Economics Department, Dr. Roger Collins, the group set its goals at petitioning for membership in Delta Sigma Pi national fraternity. In line with this decision the group selected Delta Sigma Epsilon for their name.

At the beginning of Spring quarter, several Delta Sig members visited the CC campus to meet with the members and to discuss the various requirements for petitioning to go national. These men were Benh Wolfenberger, Executive Secretary of Delta Sigma Pi, Roger Greer, President of Georgia States Kappa Chapter, and J. Phillips District Representative of Delta Sigma Pi.

At the present time we are preparing our petition for presentation to national in late November or December, 1969. We now have two Delta Sig alumni helping us toward our goal, they are John Parish, the advisor from national, and Tom Webb, an alumni from Pi chapter at Georgia, who is serving as one of our advisors.

Past activities for the fraternity have been the sponsoring of dances for the school, industrial tours for the business department, and dinner meetings for the brothers. We also sponsored Elain Powell in the Miss Columbus College Beauty Pageant (part of the Miss America Pageant). Also, we built the winning entry in the annual Columbus College bed race, and in the process set a school record for the event by completing the six-mile race in 35 minutes.

Local Chapter Seeks National Recognition

Delta Sigma Pi professional business fraternity at Columbus College is taking steps to become part of the national chapter.

Organized last fall, the organization would be the college's first national fraternity. Its primary purpose is to acquaint business majors with the practical aspects of business through guest speakers and field trips to businesses and to stress the importance of academic work.

The local chapter has petitioned the national fraternity for a charter.

Currently, the group is selling ads, raising funds and arranging for ticket sales for the Miss Columbus College pageant to be held fall quarter.

There also are plans to award scholarships based on need.

Officers of the Columbus College chapter are Ken Evans, president, Tom Maholick, senior vice president, Jim Loudermilk, vice president, Ernest Zachman, secretary, Joe Falhaber, treasurer, Donnie Keeble, chancellor and Earl Loudermilk, historian.

Fraternity Organizes For Business Majors

A new business fraternity, to be known as Delta Sigma Epsilon, has been organized on campus for business and accounting majors. The club met and organized last quarter and has been meeting regularly on Monday nights at 9:15 p.m. Recently elected officers of the new organization are Tom Maholick, president; Kenneth Evans, vice-president; James Loudermilk, secretary; and Joe Falhaber, treasurer. The club presently has approximately 40 members and club membership is still open. Those students who join immediately will, along with present members, be listed as charter members.

In the near future the club will be working on a constitution which will follow the guidelines of Delta Sigma Pi, a national business fraternity for all colleges. The local club is now a colony of the national organization and hopes to become a full-fledged chapter as soon as possible. This affiliation is dependent upon approval by the Columbus College administration and the fulfillment of the local club of the national fraternity's 2.0 grade average requirement for members.

The new organization lists its objectives as being the promotion of school spirit and the betterment of relations between the business department and business students. Immediate plans for the fraternity include dinner meetings with speakers, and social events.

Competitive Bed Race, Teacher Splash-In

Mark Dead (?) Day

Columbus College's "Dead Day" Wednesday turned out to be anything but that for the students who took advantage of the classless afternoon to dunk "select" faculty members in the school swimming pool and follow that up with a jaunt through Columbus by way of bed. The annual race, marked by huffing and puffing youths, as shown in left and center photos, turned into a record-making event with the college's first and only fraternity, Delta Sigma Pi business fraternity, making it from the college to the courthouse in 35 minutes, outdoing last year's effort of one hour, 45 minutes. Two teams of four boys and two girls, headed by fraternity President Ken Evans, powered the "soup-ed up" bed which included a steering wheel, special wheels and brakes. After a dip into the courthouse fountains, team members gathered for presentation of the coveted winning trophy by Mayor J. R. Allen. Preceding the race, faculty members who collected the most votes in the form of money contributions, were honored at a "splash-in." Donald Cope, right, history teacher, was one of eight teachers who received a dip in the water. The chairs contributed in jars throughout campus for the "splash-in" will go to the college's Athletic Association.

I was born in Fort Worth, Texas, on September 25, 1948. My family lived in Weatherford, Texas, where we owned a small ranch. When I was seven, we moved to St. Petersburg, Florida, where my father was a building contractor.

We later moved to Clearwater, Florida, where I attended Clearwater Junior High School and was a member of the Mandalay Junior Rifle Club. Living in Florida, I developed an interest in swimming, sailing, and water-skiing.

When I was thirteen, we moved to Ellerslie, Georgia, where my family bought a farm. While attending Harris County High School, I was a member of the Future Farmers of America and the 4-H Club. During my senior year, I was elected to serve as Treasurer of our chapter of the Future Farmers of America. In 1966, I graduated from Harris County High School and entered Columbus College.

I am now a Junior at Columbus College, majoring in Business Administration. In 1968, I obtained an Associate in Science degree in Business Administration and I am now working toward a B. S. in Business Administration. In the field of Business I have taken courses in Accounting, Economics, Management, Managerial Accounting, Managerial Economics, Marketing, Distribution Management, and Business Communications.

KOKENZIE, MICHAEL ALLAN

I was born in Fort Dix, New Jersey, May 13, 1949. Because I am the son of a serviceman (army) I have had the opportunity to travel in various parts of the United States and in foreign countries and have learned to appreciate my travels.

In Columbus, Georgia I attended Eddy Junior High and graduated from Baker High School in 1967. In high school I was active in the D.C.T. program and worked while going to school. Other activities include working for the Red Cross.

Upon graduation from Baker, I was accepted at Columbus College where I am a Junior majoring in Business Administration. I have helped out in many projects here at the college such as dances, socials, and other activities.

I am interested in many sports: football, swimming, and tennis being my favorites. I have participated in numerous intramural sports.

Upon graduation from Columbus College I plan to go into the financial aspect of the business world.

WILLIAM RAY OSS

As a sophomore majoring in Business, I am planning for a career in business management. Having completed four years at Pacelli High School I chose Columbus College as a means of developing my knowledge in the business field.

After learning about Delta Sigma Epsilon, I realized that this fraternity would be an additional opportunity to become more oriented with business operations.

During my high school career, I participated in many extra curricular activities, lettering in football, track, tennis and basketball. In recognition of my football performance, I was named "Most Valuable Back" and also named to the "All Conference" team.

Columbus, Georgia has claimed me as a resident for more than 20 years while my father was in the service. I attend St. Anne's Catholic Church and reside at 3470 Matilda Lane.

EMPLOYMENT:
I am employed by Retail Credit Company as a field representative and have been for some 7 1/2 years.
I was formerly employed by the General of Georgia Railway from June 1961 until May 1966 as a depot agent, relieving operator, train dispatcher and fireman, operating diesel engine, in train yard.

I was born in Columbus, Georgia, on June 25, 1950, in a Catholic-Military family. My father's family is Sottish and my mother's is Polish. Being a ^{Military} family, our household is runned on that basis. I was encouraged by my parents in starting a lawn-cutting business of my own when I was in the sixth grade, and have continued it because it was more profitable than the other jobs I had. One of the jobs I had, was a summer job at the Litho-Krome Company which I enjoyed performing and the wages were very good. Since I was told to come back last summer, I am planning to go back this summer.

I attended the first three grades of my elementary education at South Columbus. My family decided that I should receive a Catholic education. So I was enrolled in the fourth grade at Saint Ann. I finished my last four grades at Our Lady of Lourdes when it was built and which is a short walking distance from my home. I then went to Saint John Vianney Minor Seminary in Savannah and graduated because I thought I had a vocation to the priesthood. However, my strong military background and nationalistic feeling contributed to my decision of not continuing on to the major seminary. I am now at Columbus College majoring in business and plan to graduate from the college. I am also planning to obtain my masters at Columbus College if it does get the masters program for business. If it does not, I will try to obtain it after I graduate from the Naval Officer Candidate School. I sincerely believe that I will make the military service my career because I would be better suited for a military life than a civilian life on account of my military influence. I am a freshman at the college and have an academic average of 2.5. I am also a member of the College Newman Club and hold the office of sergeant at arms

James F Yawn II, known as Butch by his friends, was born at the Columbus City Hospital on July 1 1949.

He attended Baker High School maintaining A and B averages in his studies. To attest to this fact, he received a Certificate of Merit from the University of Georgia during his senior year, which recommended he pursue a higher education.

After graduation he entered Columbus College, majoring in Business Administration planning to major in Marketing for his specialty. At the beginning of his sophomore year he joined and had been active in the Collegiate Civitan Club. He joined Delta Sigma Epsilon as a charter member during winter quarter of 1968-69.

He has been employed by Piggly Wiggly, Inc. since June 1965.

He is a member of Wynnton Baptist Church and has been President, Vice President and Secretary of his Sunday School Classes.
