Gentlemen:

We, the brothers of Sigma Beta Epsilon, a professional Business fraternity at Indiana University Northwest, submit for your consideration this petition for acceptance.

Our group was formed by students in the Division of Business who desire to augment their formal education through professional programs. Through this objective we hope to better our campus and the community surrounding it. We set our standards high, in accordance with those of Delta Sigma Pi, and have worked hard to meet them.

The honor of being accepted as a chapter of Delta Sigma Pi would be of mutual benefit to all involved. We would promote the values and standards of Delta Sigma Pi; and in turn, Delta Sigma Pi could enable us to reach more people in this endeavor.

Therefore, we ask that you grant Sigma Beta Epsilon a charter so that we may establish a chapter of The International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi on the Indiana University Northwest campus.

Respectfully submitted,

The Brothers of Sigma Beta Epsilon

Gentlemen:

LETTERS

I would like to recommend that the National Delta Sigma Pi Fraternity accept the Indiana University Northwest's Sigma Beta Epsilon Fraternity as a Delta Sigma Pi. This fraternity of business majors was organized in December, 1970 and, since then, has significantly participated in many campus activities.

RECOMMENDATIONS

The Fraternity is recognized as a purposeful, effective group on this campus and I believe they are most deserving of affiliation with Delta Sigma Pi.

Sincerely,

Robert J. McNeil

Dear Sirs:

I fully endorse Sigma Beta Epsilon's petition for recognition and acceptance as a chapter of Delta Sigma Pi. It is my understanding that the fraternal organization of these young men has evolved out of the Business Student-Faculty Advisory Council. The Council, for several years, has been an active and estimable group on this campus.

Gentlemen:

It is an honor to recommend the men of Sigma Beta Epsilon for membership in Delta Sigma Pi.

When I was an instructor at the University of Kansas, the men of Iota Chapter made a great impression on me. The men of Epsilon Upsilon Chapter at New Mexico State University made an even greater impression -- their enthusiasm, drive, and effectiveness made my association with them as Chapter Advisor one of the most pleasant periods in my life.

The men of Sigma Beta Epsilon fully measure up to the best fraternal standards so clearly evidenced by the men of Iota and Epsilon Upsilon Chapters. Within a very short space these men, many of whom will be on campus for another year or two, have taken a mere suggestion that the Division of Business needed a professional fraternity and have transformed it into an extremely forceful reality. In every step they have taken they have displayed a maturity, an awareness of consequences, and an inventiveness that signal success for their venture.

I believe that affiliation with Delta Sigma Pi with its rich resources of administrative competence will greatly aid these men in their desire to be of service to this rapidly growing institution. Based on what they have done and what I am confident that they will do, I can say that they fully deserve your favorable consideration of their petition.

Such favorable action will be of great help to the Division of Business at Indiana University Northwest.

Dear Sirs:

I enthusiastically endorse the application of Sigma Beta Epsilon of Indiana University Northwest to become a chapter of Delta Sigma Pi. I know all of the present officers and most of the membership, and in my opinion, they are the brightest and the most motivated of all the students in the Division of Business. They have worked hard and effectively toward this end.

This chapter will be a viable one, continuing not only to further the professional goals of the present and future members, but also making a favorable impression on other academic divisions. This chapter has engaged in many meaningful activities and services that have achieved wide acceptance by the faculty and students, and the future plans are both ambitious but realistic.

Affiliation with Delta Sigma Pi will both strengthen the international fraternity and contribute to the professional growth of the members.

I stand ready to provide any assistance or advice the chapter might request.

Gentlemen:

It gives me pleasure to recommend affiliation of Sigma Beta Epsilon of the International Order of Delta Sigma Pi with Indiana University Northwest. The campus of Indiana University Northwest is growing rapidly; it seems quite desirable that fraternities with credentials and goals such as Delta Sigma Pi contribute to the growth of this university.

I have come to know a good many of the young men who are actively pursuing the chartering of Delta Sigma Pi on this campus. I can assure you that these men have surprisingly high levels of dedication and interest. Certainly Delta Sigma Pi will be one of the prestigious and most meaningful organizations available to our business majors. I am certain that students who follow will be as equally dedicated and active.

I know I speak for the rest of the faculty when saying we all look forward to the day when Sigma Beta Epsilon becomes a reality at Indiana University Northwest.

Gentlemen:

As Co-ordinator of Student Activities at the Indiana University Northwest campus, I work daily with various student organizations and have the opportunity to observe the effectiveness and contribution of the individual groups. Although Sigma Beta Epsilon is new to our campus this year, I would judge it to be one of the most out-standing groups in terms of caliber of members and service to the university community.

During the recent visit of the Board of Trustees to our campus, I counted heavily on the assistance of Sigma Beta Epsilon. Their co-operation was truly exemplary. In addition, their help with our campus High School Day was instrumental in making that activity a real success.

It is with pleasure that I recommend the consideration of Sigma Beta Epsilon for affiliation with Delta Sigma Pi.

Dear Sirs:

It is with great pleasure that I write this letter of recommendation for admittance of a new chapter to Delta Sigma Pi. The lifeblood of a college fraternity is growth in the form of new chapters in new colleges and universities. The Gary Campus of Indiana University is not just a new college, but a new campus of an old and venerable University. Having Delta Sigma Pi on the campus will improve the professional climate and make available to young men pursuing a career in business the opportunity to associate with men of like interests.

In this heavy industrialized area of Northwest Indiana, the traditional, cultural, and educational influence of the foremost professional fraternity in the field of commerce will have a beneficent effect. I strongly recommend initiation of Beta Sigma Epsilon into the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi.

Yours fraternally,

Howard W. Ayers BN 199

HISTORY

INDIANA UNIVERSITY NORTHWEST

Indiana University Northwest is the end result of a process of growth and change that began in 1922 when the University offered its first formal classes in Lake County as part of a program sponsored by the Gary Public School System.

In 1932 Indiana University initiated the Calumet Center in East Chicago; and by 1939, through funds granted by the state and federal governments, the Calumet Center was serving students in the present building in Tod Park on a site donated by the City of East Chicago.

When Gary College was founded in 1933, Indiana University discontinued classes in Gary except for a few advanced courses. But in 1948, at the request of the Gary School Board, the University assumed the management of Gary College, which became the Gary center of Indiana University. Gary Center classes were held after school hours and in the evenings at the Horace Mann High School until 1949, when all the main facilities of the Center were moved to the commercial wing of the City Methodist Church. In 1955, the City of Gary sold 27 acres of Gleason Park to Indiana University for the purpose of establishing a Gary Center campus (the present site of Indiana University Northwest). In May of 1959, the first classes were held in the new location.

In 1963, Indiana University reorganized its various extension centers into regional campuses, and the Gary Center and the Calumet Center became the Northwest Campus of Indiana University, with John C. Buhner as the first dean. Soon after this reorganization, the first degree programs were authorized, and the Northwest Campus became a four-year college. The first commencement was held at the Northwest Campus in June of 1967, when President Elvis Stahr presented degrees to a graduating class of 111.

The present main location of Indiana University Northwest is in Gleason Park on the south side of Gary, Indiana, at 3400 Broadway. A limited academic program is also offered on the west side of Lake County at the Indiana University Northwest location in Tod Park, at 3901 Indianapolis Boulevard, East Chicago, Indiana. The Division of General and Technical Studies is based at that location. At these two settings, Indiana University Northwest serves the students and communities of northwest Indiana and nearby Illinois.

The academic program of Indiana University Northwest consists of a Division of Arts and Sciences; the Division of Business; the Division of Education; the School of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation; the School of Music; the Division of Nursing; and the Graduate Library School.

Nineteen degree programs are presently offered.

Indiana University Northwest is accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. For the Spring 1971 semester, 4535 students have enrolled at Indiana University Northwest. The breakdown of this enrollment is: University Division-1656; the Division of Education-1454; the Division of Nursing-154; the Division of Arts and Sciences-392; and the Division of Business-391. The remaining students have enrolled in non-credit courses, or in areas where a four-year degree is not offered at this current time.

The southern portion of the Student Union houses a student lounge and reading room and the campus bookstore.

HISTORY OF THE DIVISION OF BUSINESS

The Division of Business at Indiana University Northwest was established in 1966. Consistent with the objectives of its parent campus it provides the same high level of business education that has developed at Indiana University, Bloomington.

The Division has grown from 304 students, 135 full-time and 169 part-time, in 1966 to 391 students, 202 full-time, 134 part-time and 55 graduate, in 1971. To meet the needs of this growing student population the faculty has also expanded. The Division which had only 9 faculty members, 4 full-time and 5 part-time, in 1966 now has 26 faculty members, 12 full-time and 14 part-time. This expansion has permitted the Division to offer the students a more varied program. Thus allowing each student to pursue his own area of interest within his major concentration. However, a core of courses covering each of the functional areas of an enterprise is required for each student.

The Division presently offers 3 major concentration areas for the degree Bachelor of Science in Business. They are: marketing, management and administration, and accounting. And in the near future it is planned that programs in finance and quantitative methods will be offered, as resources become available. In addition to the undergraduate programs the Division now offers the master's-level program

Master of Science in Business Administration.

To earn the degree Bachelor of Science in Business a minimum of 123 credit hours meeting the various stated requirements is required. Of these, 48 hours must be in business and economics courses and at least 56 hours must be in courses other than business and economics.

SIGMA BETA EPSILON

In reality, Sigma Beta Epsilon fraternity originated several years earlier with the arrival of a new business faculty member, Dr. C. W. Bailey. Preceding his affiliation with S.B.E., Dr. Bailey had taught at New Mexico State University where he had served as Chapter Advisor to the Epsilon Upsilon chapter of Delta Sigma Pi. Among his previous duties in this new environment, Dr. Bailey was named Administrative Assistant for student affairs in the Division of Business and also served as a faculty member of S.B.E. These services agreed to initiate within the Council the idea of forming a business fraternity with the ultimate goal of becoming nationally affiliated.

The prospect of forming a professional business fraternity at Indiana University Northwest began in October, 1970, in a meeting of the Business Student-Faculty Advisory Council. This four-year-old Council, designed primarily to improve communications between students and faculty, also functions to promulgate student needs. It was particularly with reference to the latter objective that a business fraternity organizational committee was established in the October meeting. This committee was headed by Carl Veeck, chairman, with assistance from John Rajkowski, John Loscuito, Bob Farag, Ed Nalborczyk, and Wayne Fasel -- all student members of the Council.

In reality, the concept of the fraternity originated several weeks earlier with the arrival of a new business faculty member, Dr. C. W. Reilly. Preceding his affiliation with I.U.N., Dr. Reilly had taught at New Mexico State University where he had served as Chapter Advisor to the Epsilon Upsilon chapter of Delta Sigma Pi. Among his several duties in this new environment, Dr. Reilly was named Administrative Assistant for student affairs in the Division of Business and also served as a faculty member of B.S.F.A.C. These factors served to initiate within the Council the idea of founding a business fraternity with the ultimate objective of becoming nationally affiliated.

Toward these ends, Carl Veeck's group with encouragement and guidance from Dr. Reilly, started promoting the fraternity concept. Prospective members were cultivated through letters to business students and informal conversations on campus. Of greater importance was the committee's effort to formulate a program of objectives. Recognizing that a regional, commuter-type campus such as I.U.N. generally attracts students dedicated to scholarship, the committee determined that professional aims should be emphasized. The group realized that of special significance would be (1) a regular program of business speakers, (2) an emphasis on scholastic excellence, and (3) an effort as an organization to be of service to the campus and community.

To provide further direction in organizing, the committee met on November 18, 1970, with John B. McCoy, Field Secretary of Delta Sigma Pi. This meeting served not only to enlighten the organizational group to the benefits to be derived from possible affiliation with Delta Sigma Pi, but also motivated Carl Veeck and the others to press toward formal organization.

Thus, on December 2, 1970, a formal organizational meeting was conducted by Carl Veeck, with 30 prospective members in attendance. A program of fraternity purposes was presented, and the unanimous consensus of all present was for immediate establishment of a professional business fraternity. Requirements for petitioning Delta Sigma Pi were reviewed, and agreement reached that ultimate national affiliation was desired. However, the membership of the newly-formed fraternity recognized that its initial task was the solidification of a local organization.

Consequently, as a first step an election of officers was held with the following results:

President	Timothy G. Spackey
Vice President	William J. Culver
Treasurer	Larry Fraley
Secretary	Michael Cable

President Spackey's first official function was the appointment of three committees: Bylaws, Ben C. Novoa, chairman; Professional Programs and Activities, Thomas J. Pabian, chairman; and Fraternity Name Selection, William Culver, chairman.

The impact on campus of the fraternity was immediate and well-received. Within the first week several members participated in the university's "Hanging of the Greens", a Christmas-theme artistic endeavor, commencing on December 6 and concluding December 8. Each campus organization painted a window display in the Student Union building. While our window showed little talent for artistic accomplishment, it did serve to promote the conception of a business fraternity.

At the next meeting, December 9, Vice President Bill Culver submitted prospective names for the fraternity. The membership voted in favor of Sigma Beta Epsilon, meaning "Students for Business Excellence." To date, the brothers have not failed in any effort to strive for this ideal. Also established was the selection of Dr. Reilly as faculty advisor. In addition, Activities chairman Tom Pabian reported on a full program of up-coming service functions, all of which were accomplished as follows:

December 12:

High School Day at I.U.N. Four brothers -- Tim Spackey, Tom Pabian, Larry Fraley, and Chris Georgieff -- assisted in registration of prospective students and served as campus tour guides. They also manned a fraternity table to advise the college-bound youth on features of the I.U.N. business program and Sigma Beta Epsilon.

December 15:

Conference on Solid Wastes in Northwest Indiana. Don Kielbasa, Ron Dill, and Tim Spackey acted as student hosts for the conference luncheon. Since the conference was attended by several prominent businessmen and citizens of the area, the presence of the three fraternity representatives provided excellent exposure for Sigma Beta Epsilon. The response of several businessmen indicated much favorable reaction to a professional business fraternity.

December 18:

Board of Trustees meeting at I.U.N. At the request of Mrs. Julia Eichhorn, Coordinator of Student Activities, the fraternity assumed responsibility for decorating the old Student Lounge where lunch would be served to the Board and faculty members. Brothers Tom Krafft, Mark Lamb, Andy Walla, and Larry Fraley set up the Christmas trees and other decorations. In addition, John Argus, Don Kielbasa, and Tim Spackey served as cloak room attendants, while Mike Cable, Bill Culver, Ken Fuss, and Larry Johnston cared for luncheon set up and hosting responsibilities.

With the completion of these activities, Sigma Beta Epsilon had quickly established itself as an organization willing to be of service to the campus. In a letter written to the fraternity after the Board meeting, Mrs. Eichhorn said, "Because of your co-operation, the set-up for the luncheon was skillfully executed and the members who served as hosts for the luncheon were magnificent."

The first financial drive of the fraternity was begun December 16. A reasonable source of funds had been accumulated from individual organizational fees of $5.00. However, anticipating increased expenditures, the Activities committee initiated a fund raising promotion. During the 12-day effort, with full participation from the membership, total monies of $661.50 were raised.

At the conclusion of the drive on December 28, the fraternity held a social activity at the Sherwood Club in Schererville. The party, which featured a local dance band, provided an opportunity to enhance brotherhood and friendship among the members, their wives and guests, and invited faculty. After payment of promotional and party expenses, the fraternity netted $445.74 from the fund raising activity.

Following the busy pace of this first month of organization, Sigma Beta Epsilon was inactive due to Christmas vacation and first semester final exams. However, the start of a new semester signaled a new enthusiasm. A membership drive was inaugurated during the first February meeting and the roster was increased from the original 30 members to 38. Of this total, five were now in an alumni status. With the remaining core of brothers, the fraternity set its sights on the national affiliation goal.

It was suggested that an objective business-like decision regarding petitioning could only be made if the organization was aware of alternative courses. Therefore, at a special meeting on February 23, 1971, several representatives of Alpha Kappa Psi appeared before the fraternity. Their presentation and materials were evaluated, and one week later, on March 3, a formal vote of the membership was taken. The unanimous decision was in favor of petitioning the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi. Its statement of purposes expressed completely the aims of Sigma Beta Epsilon and potential affiliation represented the ultimate in our fraternity's desire to be professionally oriented.

The weeks following the voting were even more hectic than previous periods. Having indicated in a letter to Field Secretary McCoy the formal intent to petition Delta Sigma Pi, President Spackey appointed a Petitioning Committee which began immediate compilation of required information. Other tasks included the adoption of chapter bylaws and election of additional officers, completed in the March 10 meeting. At that time, the fraternity approved the elevation of Bill Culver to Senior Vice President, and the following brothers were elected:

Vice President	Andrew Walla
Chancellor	Earl Spencer
Historian	Ben Novoa

Then, in a special meeting on March 16, faculty members were considered for fraternity membership. Five professors -- Dr. S. A. Brown, Dr. J. M. Kamen, Dr. R. W. Nicholson, Mr. R. W. Swanson, and Mr. K. I. Tool -- were selected and invited to join with the fraternity. The following evening, March 17, Charles Farrar, Delta Sigma Pi Executive Director, conducted the pledging ceremonies in a formal ritual held at the Gary Holiday Inn. Thirty-eight Sigma Beta Epsilon brothers were pledged, along with Dr. Nicholson and Professor Tool. Dr. Reilly assisted in the ceremony.

Due to conflicting work schedules and some unavoidable circumstances, several undergraduate and faculty members were not able to be present at the original pledging ceremony. To amend this situation, Mr. Farrar left, with Dr. Reilly, several pledge pins and a copy of the pledge ritual. This enabled Dr. Reilly to hold a supplementary pledging ceremony after the Easter break. At this time the remaining brothers of Sigma Beta Epsilon were pledged.

With pledging activities out of the way, the fraternity embarked on a campaign to find speakers for professional programs. This endeavor has been very successful to date. Mr. R. E. Thompson, Kraftco Corp., Chicago, Illinois, has been scheduled to speak in early April. As Senior Manager of the Data Services Center at Kraftco, Mr. Thompson will speak on computer applications to business problems.

Additional speakers on the agenda are: T.P. Cronin, Personnel Manager, Continental Baking Co., Hammond, Indiana; A. J. Scolnik, Operations Researcher, Inland Steel Co., Indiana Harbor, Indiana; B. C. Novoa II, Retail Manager, Goldblatt's Department Store, Gary, Indiana

In addition to his speaking engagement, Mr. Scolnik has offered to conduct an industrial tour of the Inland facilities at Indiana Harbor. Finally, through faculty connections, plans are being made to contact the eminent Professor Anthony Athos of Harvard University for a speaking engagement next fall.
