HISTORY OF MILLEDGEVILLE

HISTORY OF HISTORIC MILLEDGEVILLE

When the city was first settled in 1825, it was called Milledgeville. It was named in honor of Governor Milledge, who had expressed the wish that it should be the capital of the State. The city was founded on a tract of land owned by the State, and was the first capital of the State of Georgia. It was the seat of the State Government from 1825 to 1845, and was the site of the first State Capitol building. The city was the center of the cotton trade, and was the largest city in the State. It was the site of the first State University, and was the center of the State's educational system. The city was the site of the first State Bank, and was the center of the State's financial system. The city was the site of the first State Prison, and was the center of the State's penal system. The city was the site of the first State Hospital, and was the center of the State's medical system. The city was the site of the first State Normal School, and was the center of the State's teacher training system. The city was the site of the first State College, and was the center of the State's higher education system. The city was the site of the first State Seminary, and was the center of the State's religious education system. The city was the site of the first State Academy, and was the center of the State's secondary education system. The city was the site of the first State High School, and was the center of the State's primary education system. HISTORY OF MILLEDGEVILLE

Milledgeville, located in Baldwin County in the heart of Georgia, was laid off in 1803 to be the permanent capital of the state. It has the distinction of being one of the few cities in the United States that was founded and planned to be a capital city.

Since the city was almost completely built between the years 1803 and 1825, it has another distinction. The National Historical Trust has expressed the belief that Milledgeville is the only surviving example of a complete "Federal Period" city. The Federal Period refers to that era in American history from 1780 to 1825.

The master plan of Milledgeville included 19 streets all straight and at least 100 feet wide, and four squares for public use. One of these squares is now the site of the main campus of Georgia College. All of the original streets, with the exception of two, Liberty and Columbia, bear the names of famous patriots of the American Revolution and early days of the republic.

On every street and corner of the city are found houses exemplary of the later era of Greek Revival Architecture. By the time The Governor's Mansion was completed in 1838, the city had truly become the center of the cultural, political, and educational life of the state.

Distinguished visitors such as the famous French general of the Revolution days, Lafayette, had visited the city. Oglethorpe University had been founded in 1835 several miles south of the city. It was there that the Georgia poet, Sidney Lanier, spent his student days.

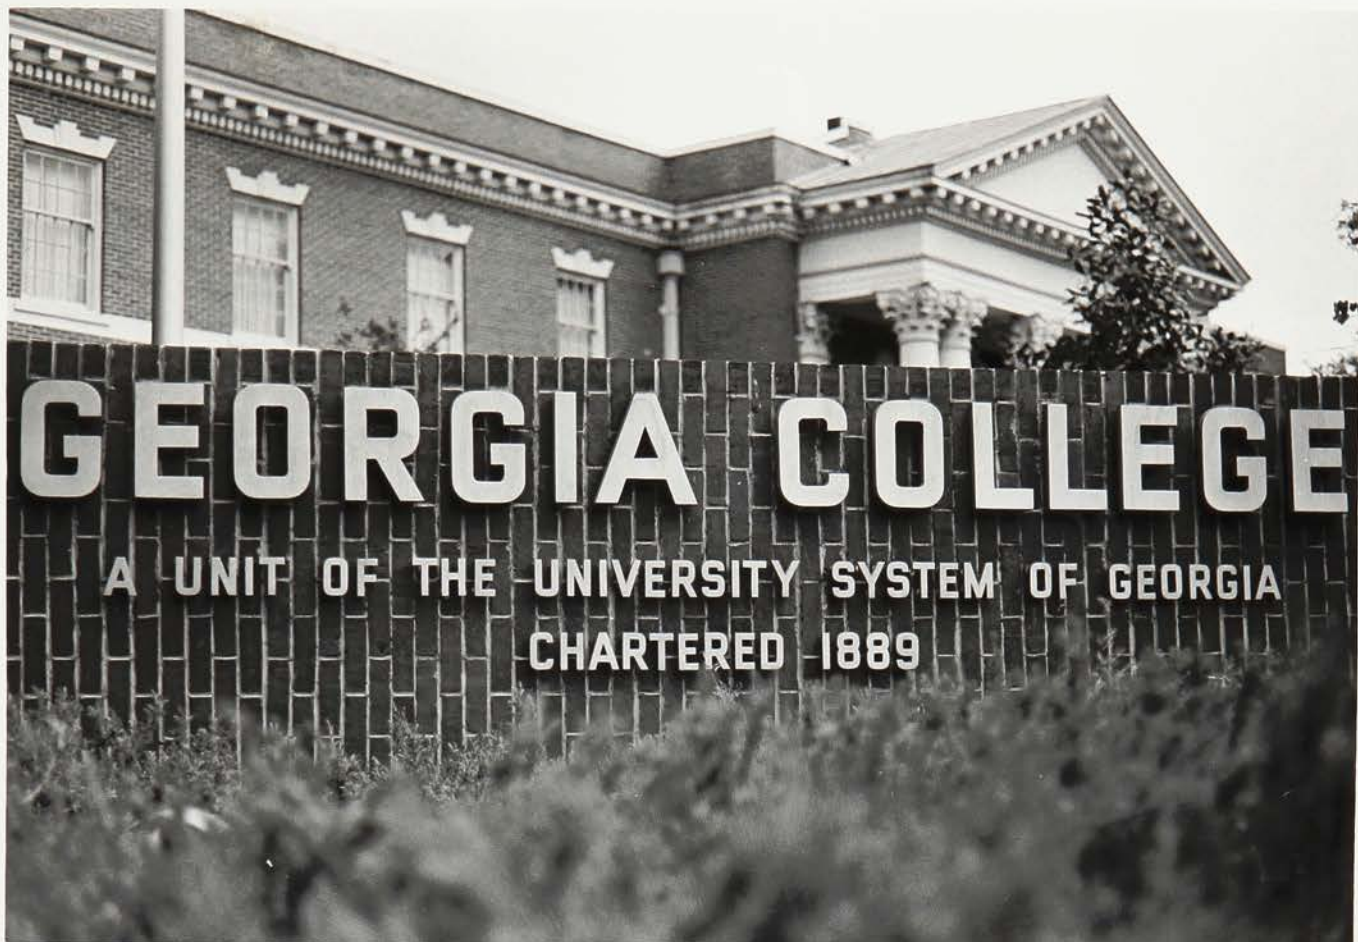

It was in Milledgeville, on January 16, 1861, that the Georgia Ordinance of Secession was passed after much eloquent debate and many a heated argument inside and outside the legislative chambers. For days, the city was the scene of much rejoicing and celebration. An illumination with a great torchlight parade and candles burning in the windows of almost every house, was held the night the ordinance was passed. It is said that the mistress of The Mansion, Mrs. Joseph Brown, burned a candle in every pane in every window of the Mansion.

In November 1864, on his famous March to the Sea, General W. T. Sherman and his "Yankee Invaders" passed through the city enroute to Savannah. After consultation Sherman and his generals decided not to destroy the State House and The Mansion. Although much damage was done, the city on the whole was spared much of the destruction seen in the northern part of the state.

In 1868, the capital of Georgia was moved from Milledgeville to Atlanta. The city, however, has continued to be an important site in Georgia. Besides Georgia College, which was chartered in 1889, also located there are Georgia Military College, the Central State Hospital, the Georgia Youth Development Center, and a number of important industries.

HISTORY OF GEORGIA COLLEGE

The home of Georgia College is on the fall line of the Oconee River, less than a dozen miles from the geographic center of Georgia. It is approximately one hundred miles from Augusta, Atlanta, Albany, and Columbus, and thirty miles from Macon. The town, which has a population of over eighteen thousand, is placed in an immediate setting of natural beauty and has long been known as a center of history and culture.

Milledgeville was laid out in 1803 and in the following years was designated as the capital of Georgia, remaining the seat of government until 1868. Its physical layout and the arrangement of public buildings coincided in point of time with the organization of Washington, DC, and the town is somewhat reminiscent of the nation's capital during the early part of the 19th Century.

The community was closely identified with the life and culture of the ante-bellum South. For more than half a century it was the mecca for Georgia's political and intellectual leaders and was visited by many famous foreign travelers, among them the Marquis de LaFayette and Sir Charles Lyell. Although the town was in the heart of the "Burnt Country" in 1864 and was one of the principal objectives of Sherman's army in the march to the sea, its residences and public buildings were largely spared. Many of its landmarks remain today as attractions to tourists. The Old Governor's Mansion and grounds and two of the original Government Squares are part of the campus of the College. The Mansion, completed in 1838, is the official residence of the president of the College. Buildings and grounds of the old Capitol Square are occupied by the Georgia Military College.

As early as 1825 the Georgia House of Representatives, in session at Milledgeville, passed an act to establish "a public seat of learning in this state for the education of females." On the failure of the Senate to concur, the matter was dropped and was not considered seriously again for three-quarters of a century. In the meantime, a number of academies and colleges for men and women sprang up throughout Middle Georgia. Among them were the Georgia Female College and Oglethorpe University, established in the vicinity of Milledgeville during the 1830's. This was an era in which the South was building its educational services upon the pattern of young ladies' seminaries and of denominational and military institutions preparing young men to be gentlemen-planters. Most of these institutions succumbed to the War Between the States and were never reopened.

Reconstruction and its aftermath laid the basis for a different type of education. The New South, with its urban-industrial emphasis, slowly displaced the old agrarian ideal. The Georgia School of Technology, now the Georgia Institute of Technology, at Atlanta, chartered in 1885, and the Georgia Normal and Industrial College, at Milledgeville, chartered in 1889, were manifestations of the trend of the times. As the names indicate, these institutions were devoted chiefly to the task of preparing young men and women, on separate campuses for industrial occupations. The emphasis at that time was largely vocational.

In 1917, in keeping with the economic and cultural changes in the State, the Georgia Normal and Industrial College was given power to grant degrees, and the first degree was granted in 1921. With this change the College introduced more cultural courses, and the liberal arts degree was offered. In 1922, the name of the institution was changed to the Georgia State College for Women. In 1961, the name was again changed to The Women's College of Georgia. With these changes came a broader academic and professional program.

In January, 1967, the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia authorized The Women's College of Georgia to admit men students in the 1967-68 fiscal year, to expand its curriculum and physical facilities, and to provide residence halls for men. Non-dormitory men students were admitted, however, to regular under-graduate classes for the first time in the Spring Quarter, 1967. The new name, Georgia College at Milledgeville, was adopted by the Board later in March, 1967. In October, 1971, the Board of Regents changed the name to Georgia College.

These last changes make available a senior college for both men and women students in the middle Georgia area. The institution continues to draw students from the state and nation as well as throughout the world.

A graduate program was initiated in the summer of 1958, and the first Master of Education was granted in 1959. The first courses in the Master

Since January, 1932, the College has operated as a unit of the University System of Georgia under one Chancellor and a Board of Regents.

HISTORY OF THE BUSINESS AND ECONOMICS DEPARTMENT

Much emphasis has been placed on business education at Georgia College, even from the time it was known as the Georgia Normal and Industrial College. The purpose of the Industrial Department was to "give thorough instruction in those industrial arts that are suitable for women to follow as a means of livelihood."

Georgia College, which was then Georgia State College for women, offered in 1944-45 for the first time a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration. Mr. Manly Eakins was chairman of the department which consisted of seven professors who taught a total of twenty-nine courses. At that time, economics was taught separately under the Department of Social Sciences. There were three concentrations--distributive education, secretarial training and general business--that were made available by the Business Department to its students. In addition to the four year studies, a two-year business certificate could be obtained. The purpose behind the business department was "to teach its students office and business positions and (for the student) to be able to teach in schools."

In the 1960's, when there was sufficient demand, a Master's of Education with a major in business was offered. Finally, in 1967, the business and economic departments were combined to form what we know today to be the Department of Business Administration and Economics. Dr. Donald C. Fuller, who had been the head of the Department of Business Administration, was chosen to head this newly combined department.

The year of 1968 proved to be a landmark year because the department entered into a phase of expansion which was due largely to the fact that men were permitted for the first time to enroll in the college. As a result of this expansion, a larger base of business classes was offered and the Bachelor of Business Administration degree replaced the Bachelor of Science in Business Administration. During this same year, Dr. Donald C. Fuller stepped down from the chairmanship of the department after twenty-four years of dedicated service in which time he had developed the base on which the business department stands. Dr. Joseph F. Specht, who had been with the department since 1949, became the new department chairman.

In 1969, the Masters of Business Administration degree was approved, and evening classes became part of the department's schedule. As that year came to a close, 1970 opened up more opportunities to a wider range of people. The Warner Robins Residence Center was established to serve civilian and military employees of the Robins Air Force Base. The Bachelor of Business Administration in Management became available through the Robins Center. Beginning in 1973 a Masters of Science in Administrative Management was approved for and available at the Residence Center and at Georgia College.

A Business Advisory Cabinet was established in 1975. Each of the 38-40 members was selected from the membership list of the Georgia Business and Industry Association and from local industry not already represented. The Business Cabinet was created to advise faculty on the needs and interests of business and industry as related to an institution of higher learning.

In the current 1976-1977 school year, the Georgia College Business Department employs twenty-two full-time professors and ten part-time professors teaching in a range of eight majors and two masters degree programs.

In an effort to continue reaching out to students, the MBA (Masters in Business Administration) program will be offered in the fall of 1977 in three locations: Macon, Warner Robins Residence Center, and the main Georgia College campus. This expansion of the Business Department is quite an accomplishment for a department that started in 1945 with seven faculty members and twenty-nine courses.

DEPARTMENT OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION AND ECONOMICS

The Business Administration undergraduate programs are designed to satisfy the students who are interested in Management, Marketing, Accounting, Office Occupations, High School Teaching, and Economics. Liberal studies, business background, and some specific preparations are provided to equip students for the better type of business openings.

Specific majors in the Bachelor of Business Administration degree include Management, Logistics, Accounting, Marketing, Art Marketing, Fashion Marketing, and Food Systems Administration. This is a professional degree intended for the student who wishes to be upgraded in business, advanced from initial contact jobs to junior executive positions in business, or prepared for management of businesses. The Bachelor of Business Administration, if properly planned may lead to the professional degree of Master of Business Administration with a minimum of additional time.

An Associate in Science Degree (in Secretarial Studies) is designed as a terminal degree program. The courses required for this degree, however, will adapt to the Bachelor program should a student choose to continue in the full undergraduate curriculum.

Specific majors in Business Administration for the Bachelor of Science degree are Business Education and Office Occupations.

An economics major may be taken under the Bachelor of Science or Bachelor of Arts degree program. Particular courses chosen in Economics and Business Administration must be approved by the Chairman of the Department.

THE PETITIONING GROUP
ALPHA OMEGA
GEORGIA COLLEGE

HISTORY OF ALPHA OMEGA

GEORGIA COLLEGE

During October of 1973, the students and faculty of the Department of Business Administration of Georgia College established the Alpha Omega Business Fraternity for the purpose of promoting the field of business. Since 1973, the fraternity has experienced continued growth and at present consists of 83 enthusiastic students.

On October 25, 1973, the first organizational meeting was held, and Dr. Jack Thornhill was elected the first faculty advisor. The main activity during fall quarter of that year was a membership drive. On the professional scene, a dinner meeting was held in November with Dr. J. Whitney Bunting, President of Georgia College, as the guest speaker.

During the academic year of 1974, the fraternity sponsored several service projects. These projects included a book exchange program and a special visit to the children at Baldwin County Hospital at Easter. A tour of Griffin Pipe Company and Pabst Brewery provided quite an educational experience for members. Also in 1974, the first constitution and bylaws were drawn up by the fraternity so as to create a unified organizational structure.

The main professional activities for the year of 1975 involved community relations; a scholarship fund-raising project in cooperation with McDonald's of Milledgeville was held. Also, Alpha Omega was honored to have Mrs. Dale Chapman, personnel manager of Walton Clothes, speak to the club.

As Ricky Chambers became the new President and as Mario Trejo moved up to the position of Vice President, Don Self was unanimously chosen the second faculty advisor. New membership rules and bylaws were subsequently adopted.

Toward the close of 1975, a massive membership drive and several professional activities were planned for the next quarter, fall, 1976. The project leading the club into the 1976 academic year was a tour of Piggly Wiggly led by Billie Bush, Vice President of Retail Operations. The "Get a Job Seminar" was held February 10, 1976. It consisted of lectures and ideas that students could use in search of a job. This activity was a group effort of the students, the business faculty, and the placement office. Alpha Omega sponsored recruitment representatives from Deering Miliken, Sears, and Armstrong Cork and Tile to come to Georgia College to interview seniors for prospective positions. On March 2, 1976, Eddie Smith was elected President and Laurie Busse, Vice President of Marketing. These two provided leadership for the members during the projects and during normal club activities.

Alpha Omega sponsored an awards and recognition banquet with the President of the Cooper Company as guest speaker. In early 1976, Robert Busse of Delta Sigma Pi spoke to the club; on April 22, 1976, two representatives from Delta Sigma Pi came to Milledgeville to discuss the fraternity further. The remainder of 1976 was quite active. Members visited Bluebird Body Company, sponsored the Georgia Business Cabinet on a visit to Georgia College, and planned new projects for the next year.

In 1977, Dr. Jo Ann Jones became the third elected advisor. Through her enthusiasm, even more activities were planned. A trip was made to the Merchandise Mart at the first of the year. A representative from the Federal Reserve Board was invited by Alpha Omega to visit Georgia College. The main fund raising project for 1977 was the Alpha Omega Car Rally held during Homecoming. Although this project took a great deal of time to plan, it was very successful. Sixty-six cars were entered in the rally and close to 200 participated in the festivities which followed. Many students called the rally the best activity they had participated in during their college careers.

Four important activities the members were involved in were two large membership rushes, a resume project, and a chile supper. The resume project, which consisted of the collation and binding of each member's resume for the use of representatives from interviewing companies, provided a complete history of any prospective employee from the group.

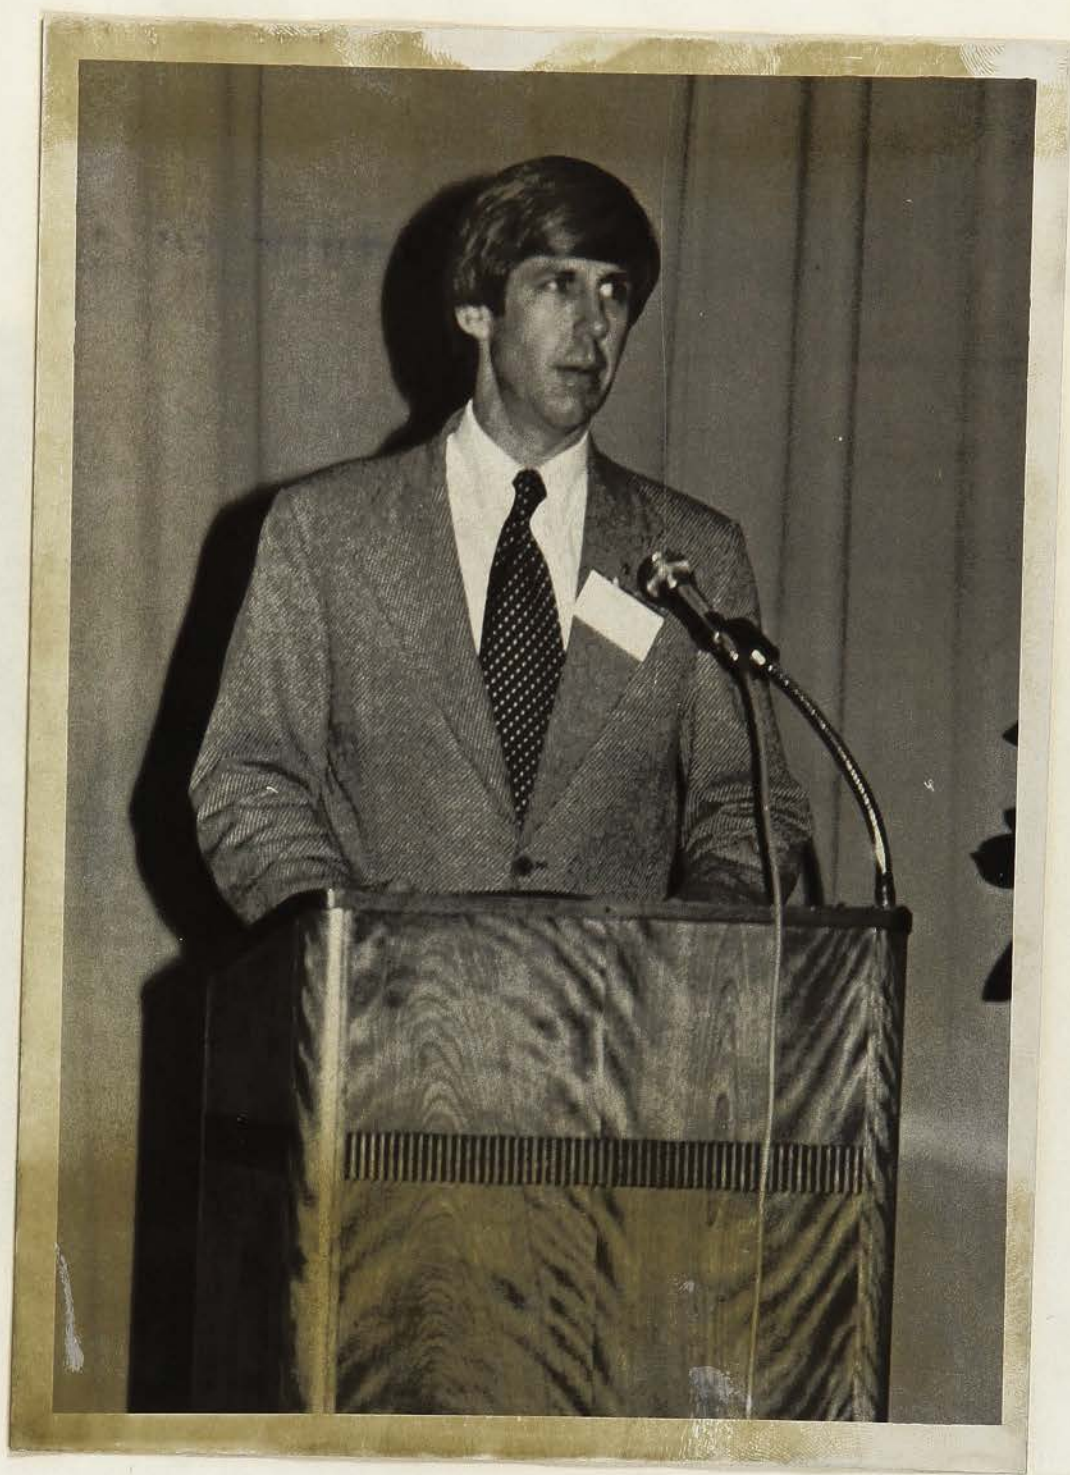

The members of the local fraternity are expected to serve either as an elected officer, appointed officer, or on a committee as either a member or chairman. Members are expected to attend all fraternity functions, and non-attendance will be cause for disciplinary action to be taken against that member by the general membership.

The aims of Alpha Omega are to promote a closer relationship between the business students and the business world. Our purposes coincide with those of the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi. The professional activities and community services rendered by Alpha Omega create a working and continuing relationship between the members and the local residents.

Gentlemen:

I have been requested to give my endorsement for the petition of Alpha Omega to become affiliated with Delta Sigma Pi as a chapter of Georgia College. Being a brother, I know this colony will be advantageous to Delta Sigma Pi and also an asset to this college and the students who will constitute its membership.

Since Alpha Omega was organized it has worked hard to bring together the theories of business. It has done this with the blending of academic studies and practice mixed with social activities.

Therefore, with enthusiasm, I fully endorse and support their petition to become affiliated with the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi.

Dear Sirs:

With enthusiasm I endorse this petition of Alpha Omega Business Fraternity to become affiliated with the Delta Sigma Pi Fraternity.

It has made me proud to see the interest and hard work the members are showing in the preparation of the petition. It is my belief that Alpha Omega would be a credit to Delta Sigma Pi as it is now to this campus and students which are members.

Giving my full support to Alpha Omega, I will be happy to be of service in the future.

Sincerely,

William C. Simpson
Dean of the College

Dear Michael:

I am very pleased with the progress made by our students in the Alpha Omega fraternity. The campus fraternity has strong student leadership, wide student support and the full support of the faculty in the Department of Business Administration and Economics.

I am very excited over the prospects of having a chapter of Delta Sigma Pi on the Georgia College campus, and I know I speak for President Jim Bunting in saying that he shares my enthusiasm.

Among the advantages of Georgia College having a chapter of this international fraternity is that service to this fraternity provides many opportunities in leadership rolls for our business students.

Thank you for your interest in our student organization.

Respectfully,

Dear Sirs:

It is with a great deal of pleasure that we endorse Alpha Omega petition for membership of Delta Sigma Pi. The large number of students who are to become charter members attests to their recognition of the potential benefits, which such affiliation affords. The selection of advisers who have been assigned to assist Alpha Omega is excellent. Their leadership, coupled with the enthusiastic students in the colony, seems to insure a long and successful relationship with Delta Sigma Pi and Georgia College.

The Student Affairs staff stands ready to support and assist Alpha Omega in their endeavors.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Brothers:

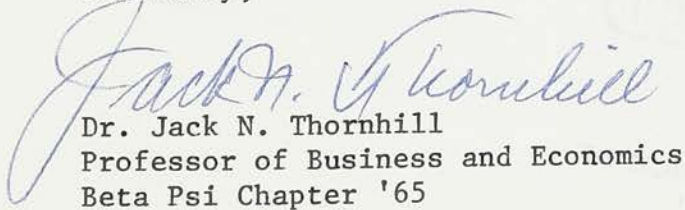

The members of Alpha Omega, the professional business fraternity at Georgia College, have asked me to write a letter in support of their application for a chapter of Delta Sigma Pi. I am honored to be asked to write this letter, and I am pleased to give my unqualified endorsement to this application.

Alpha Omega had its origin here at Georgia College in 1972. Like most new organizations, the first few years were quite a struggle to obtain members and the type of leadership required for such an organization. However, there has been a growing interest in Alpha Omega the past two years due to both good student and faculty leadership.

The members of Alpha Omega have displayed initiative, responsibility, and originality second to no other organization on our campus. The professional program has been as good, or possibly better, than that of some chapters of Delta Sigma Pi with which I have been associated. The members also volunteer and work at many of the business faculty functions.

As a member of the Delta Sigma Pi Fraternity, I know that a chapter here at Georgia College would be one of which the Fraternity would be proud.

Sincerely,

Dr. Jack N. Thornhill

Gentlemen:

For the last year I have been associated with Alpha Omega and have found its members to be dedicated and sincere. Alpha Omega has strong student leadership and support from the faculty. The organization has been an asset to the Business Department and the college as a whole. The club members are looked upon as the leaders in the Business Department and the college.

I believe Alpha Omega will benefit by affiliation with Delta Sigma Pi, just as Delta Sigma Pi will benefit from Alpha Omega. For these reasons, I enthusiastically support them in their effort to procure a chapter charter from Delta Sigma Pi.

Sincerely,

Gentlemen:

It has been requested of me to give my endorsement for the petition of Alpha Omega to become affiliated with Delta Sigma Pi as a chapter of Georgia College.

Since the birth of Alpha Omega on the Georgia College Campus I have been greatly impressed with the hardworking and dedicated efforts of the individuals of this group. They have generated a keen interest in the affairs of their Fraternity. They have successfully brought together academic competency and social interaction to establish themselves in a reputable manner on this Campus.

It is my sincere pleasure to endorse their petition to become affiliated with the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi.
