Dear Board Members,

We, the undersigned members of Beta Lambda Alpha Colony, hereby petition for a charter to establish a chapter of the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi on the campus of Our Lady of Holy Cross, New Orleans, Louisiana.

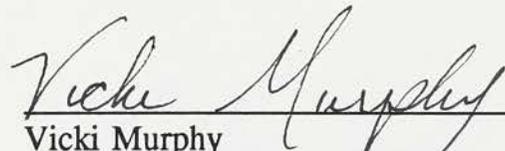

The Beta Lambda Alpha Colony was formed exclusively for the purpose of affiliation with the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi. The present goals, purposes, and requirements reflected in our Constitution and Bylaws were patterned after and are commensurate with the same high ideals of Delta Sigma Pi.

In pursuit of this affiliation, the members of Beta Lambda Alpha Colony pledge to uphold the rules and regulations as set forth in the Constitution and Bylaws of the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi and to further carry out its tradition and programs.

Dear Board Members:

Ms. Lacey Riley has invited me to write a letter of support requesting a chapter of Delta Sigma Pi be established here at Our Lady of Holy Cross College. I do support this request and applaud our students who presently are members of the Beta Lambda Alpha Colony. The Business Department of OLHCC, is a very important and successful segment of the entire college community. This group takes every opportunity to develop in professionalism and productive social projects. The Delta Sigma Pi Association is one that would give much position to our students in the Business Department.

If I can be of further assistance please let me know, since my recommendation is most positive. With every best possible wish, I remain

Most Sincerely,

Dear Members of the Board of Directors:

I have been asked to write a letter to support the request that a chapter of Delta Sigma Pi be established at Our Lady of Holy Cross College. I enthusiastically support the establishment of a chapter.

At Our Lady of Holy Cross College, the Department of Business and Economics of the Division of Applied, Natural, and Social Sciences is an established department servicing some 300 students. All curricula are designed to meet AACSB accrediting standards.

The administration of the College, as well as the faculty, recognizes the merits of the business program, the outstanding characteristics of the majors in the program, and the qualifications of the faculty and advisors who assist students in meeting their educational goals.

The Department of Business and Economics actively supports the professional development and social interactions of the students. The Delta Sigma Pi chapter would enhance their development and would contribute significantly to the life of the College.

Thank you for your attention to this correspondence and for your consideration of the request to establish the chapter. If I can provide you additional information, please advise.

Sincerely,

Gerald F. De Luca, Ed.D.

Dear Members of the Board:

It is with great pleasure that I send to you my endorsement of the application of the Beta Lambda Alpha Colony of Delta Sigma Pi. This organization has been operating on the campus of Our Lady of Holy Cross College for several years as a business leadership club, and it now deserves the national recognition of association with your Fraternity.

I anticipate that their good work will continue to service our College and I am particularly pleased and honored to serve as the moderator of this organization. I know that the administration and faculty of Our Lady of Holy Cross College join with me in support of these wonderful young women and men.

If there is any additional information that you may need from me concerning this matter, please feel free to contact me at the above address.

Sincerely,

James A. Rabalais

Dear Board Members:

Mrs. Lacey Riley has asked me to write a letter of recommendation in support of the Beta Lambda Alpha colony of Delta Sigma Pi at Our Lady of Holy Cross College to become a member of the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi. I am happy to do so.

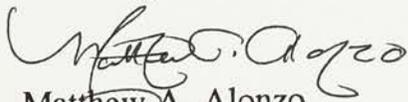

I have personally worked with many of the students involved in the Colony of Beta Lambda Alpha at OLHCC in many different capacities and they have always been dependable, reliable and enthusiastic in their work at the College. This organization is very organized and is well managed by their faculty advisor, Dean James Rabalais.

The colony has planned and participated in many different events on campus ranging from participating in Open House to planning Power Luncheons with local business leaders in the community. I am very impressed with the organization and their goals and objectives.

I strongly support the Beta Lambda Alpha Colony at OLHCC in their pursuit to establish a chapter of Delta Sigma Pi at the College. I feel that our students will carry out the mission and philosophy of Delta Sigma Pi in the traditional way established many years ago.

If I can be of further assistance, please feel free to contact me or call at 800-259-7744.

Sincerely,

Matthew A. Alonzo

Dear Board Members:

I would like to express my support for the colony of Beta Lambda Alpha. Furthermore, I request recognition of the colony of Beta Lambda Alpha in order to be accepted as a chapter of Delta Sigma Pi Fraternity at Our Lady of Holy Cross College.

The colony of Beta Lambda Alpha is the most active, enthusiastic, and well-organized group of individuals on campus. The colony's activities include but are not limited to: Fund raisers, obtaining guest speakers for their meetings, assisting the college with open house, professional networking, toy drives for under-privileged children, food drives for the homeless, assisting the college with marketing recommendations and documenting inventory.

I feel this organization not only benefits Our Lady of Holy Cross College and our students, but will also benefit Delta Sigma Pi International. If I can be of any further assistance, please do not hesitate to call or write.

Sincerely,

March 4, 1994

Members of Board of Directors
International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi
330 South Campus Ave.
Oxford, Ohio 45056

Dear Brothers,

I am pleased to be writing this letter today to request the installation of the Beta Lambda Alpha Colony at Our Lady of Holy Cross College in New Orleans into our fraternity. Without little direction for the past two years, this Colony has survived to finally petition for installation with over 50 members and a CEI total to date close to 20,000 points and a well planned goal of over 50,000 points for the year.

In December, they had to take a good hard look at their ultimate goal and out of that challenge began running like an existing chapter with motivated officers, committees, speakers, recruiting and other projects molding them to become stronger than ever. Since that time they have developed quickly and now represent the caliber of individuals we are looking for to become members of our organization. I think it is now time to proceed with the process and accept their petition for membership.

It is without a doubt that the group will continue to grow and prosper in the future. With this, I strongly recommend that we install the Beta Lambda Alpha Colony into full brotherhood and charter them as a chapter.

Fraternally,

Sherry Flood

THE HISTORY OF OUR LADY OF HOLY CROSS COLLEGE

The history of Our Lady of Holy Cross College dates to the 1841 founding of the Congregation of Marianites of Holy Cross by Father Basil Anthony Moreau at LeMans, France. Two years after their founding, some of the Sisters were ready to leave LeMans and set up foundations in the New World. In 1848, several Marianites accepted the invitation of Archbishop Antoine Blanc to come to New Orleans to work with the Holy Cross Brothers in administering the St. Mary's Orphan Boys Asylum. Soon the Sisters became disturbed at the plight of the young girls who were homeless and destitute as a result of yellow fever. In 1851, the Sisters began to build the Immaculate Conception Industrial School to instruct orphan girls. The site of this school was in the Ninth Ward and it became the Academy of Holy Angels, a high school for young girls. This parent school of Our Lady of Holy Cross College was dedicated in 1866.

To prepare teachers for the many schools the Marianites opened in Southern Louisiana, the Louisiana State Board of Education in 1916 granted the Marianites the right to open a Normal School which functioned as Holy Cross Normal. This assured that young students would be prepared according to the Louisiana State Norms of Education.

In 1938, the Louisiana State Department of Education, again at the request of the Sisters, approved a program which would lead to the conferring of the Bachelor of Arts Degree.

The name of the school was then changed to "The College Department of the Academy of Holy Angels," and the first graduation exercises were held in 1942. In 1947, the Ernest B. Norman family presented a gift of forty acres on the West Bank of the Mississippi River to the Marianites to be used for educational and religious purposes.

In the early 1950's, lay women who were teaching in schools administered by the Marianites were admitted to the College. In the spring of 1960, the College moved to its new quarters and changed its name to Our Lady of Holy Cross College, reflecting the name of the first school established in Lemans, Notre Dame de Ste. Croix. In that year, the first lay student received her degree. In the early 1960's, women from both the public and Archdiocesan schools began to enroll, and in 1967, the first men were admitted. The College was on its way to growth and expansion with this step into coeducation.

A governing board of lay trustees was organized in the late 1960's according to the requirements of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. Until 1969, the office of President of the College was held by the Provincial of the Marianites. In that year, the two positions were separated, and for the first time the Board of Regents elected the President of the College.

In the spring of 1971, the first status report was submitted and approved by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. Between 1971 and 1980, the College grew in student numbers and added many new academic and professional programs to the initial Teacher Education curriculum. During this time the College received full accreditation for a ten-year period from the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. In 1975, Our Lady of Holy Cross College awarded its first honorary degree, and, in 1976, the College celebrated its 60th anniversary.

Today Our Lady of Holy Cross College, one of the nine Holy Cross colleges and universities nationwide providing a tradition of academic excellence, continues setting the standard for quality education. The degree programs have expanded to include Business Administration, Humanities, Natural Sciences, Nursing, Social Sciences, and graduate studies in Education and Marriage and Family Therapy.

STATEMENT OF MISSION AND PHILOSOPHY

The basic philosophy of Our Lady of Holy Cross College reflects the mission of the Marianites of the Holy Cross and is one of incarnating the love and compassion of Jesus Christ through an interaction among administrators, faculty, and students and of fostering the development of spiritual, intellectual, cultural, and material values necessary to live responsibly in this ever-changing world. Excellence is encouraged through an analytical and critical assessment of curricula, current issues, values, beliefs, and convictions. Individuality is respected in an atmosphere of scholarly reflection, academic freedom, and the unending quest for truth, peace, development of the whole person, and the fostering of justice in society.

Our Lady of Holy Cross College is a privately-administered, fully-accredited, coeducational, Catholic college, offering undergraduate, graduate, and professional curricula. It meets the educational and cultural needs of a student population reflecting the demographic, socio-economic, and educational diversity found in metropolitan New Orleans and in other areas of Louisiana through its outreach programs and low teacher-student ratio. Traditionally, the primary focus is on teaching and public service, and the College prides itself on the quality of its diverse academic programs, short courses, and special institutes. Committed to fostering and maintaining an atmosphere conducive to academic challenge, professional preparation, attainment of marketable skills, and personal enrichment within the framework of the liberal arts tradition, the College emphasizes the rightful centrality of philosophy and theology among its intellectual concerns.

BROAD GOALS

1. To provide a faith environment, an experience of community based Gospel values, for all involved in the life of the College.
2. To provide opportunities for students to develop an enhanced awareness of self in relation to God, humankind, and the natural environment.
3. To offer comprehensive programs for the purpose of assisting the students to reach a high level of achievement in both personal and intellectual growth.

SPECIFIC AIMS

1. To incorporate Gospel values into every area of College functioning-administration, teaching, and student life.
2. To foster the development of the total person through intellectual inquiry, personal and spiritual growth, emotional maturity, and professional competency.
3. To provide opportunities for the development of the communications skills of listening, speaking, reading, and writing.
4. To encourage students to exercise the rights and privileges of American citizenship.
5. To provide opportunities for the acquisition of knowledge.
6. To encourage an appreciation for recreation and leisure.
7. To provide for the special needs of students as related to cognitive, affective, and psychomotor domains.
8. To encourage an appreciation of cultural diversity in the global community.

COAT OF ARMS

As one looks at the shield the terms dexter and sinister must be understood contrariwise as the shield was worn on the arm in medieval days and these terms were used in the relationship of the bearer of the shield.

The arms in the dexter impalement, to the left of the viewer, are those of the College and of the Archdiocese of New Orleans and the State of Louisiana. The pelican in her piety is placed at the base of the dexter impalement. This symbol is found on the seal of the Archdiocese of New Orleans and the State Seal of Louisiana. In this symbol the pelican, an aquatic bird, is found nourishing and protecting its young which it loves. For some, this symbol has an allegorical reference to Christ. This charge was placed at the base of the dexter impalement to indicate the relationship the College has with the Archdiocese of New Orleans and the State of Louisiana. The fleur-de-lis symbolizes illumination which represents an attribute to the Lord. Though non-existent in nature, it has always symbolized the Virgin as well. According to legend, Clovis I used the fleur-de-lis in the early 500's after an angel gave it to him for accepting Christianity. Three fleur-de-lis on a field usually refer to the Trinity. In this particular pattern, they are meant to symbolize spiritual achievement. In this country, it indicates the French influence (Bourbon) not only in the State, in the Archdiocese, but also in the College, because the Marianites were founded in France. The hurricanes with the three tinctures (gules) in the dexter chief canton represent the College. The hurricane symbolizes swiftness and also refers to the notion of a four year liberal arts school whose basic philosophies to transmit a broad spectrum of knowledge resulting in a foundation upon which the individual may continue to build.

The sinister impalement, to the right of the viewer, has charges of the Congregation of Marianites of Holy Cross, though the disposition varies from the seal of the Congregation itself. The crown over the cross represents Mary as Queen of Heaven. It also suggests Louis IX, saint and King of France, again indicating the french origin of the Marianites. Louis was austere and prayerful, energetic, considerate to the people, especially to the poor. The roses adjacent to the crown also symbolize Mary, of the house of David. The rose was also an emblem of the early Church. It is believed that the rose was the first flower to be brought under cultivation. The cross is the primary symbol of the Family of the Holy Cross. The distinctive charisma of the Marianites of Holy Cross is "imitating the union of the Mother of God with her Crucified Son." This is represented with the heart aflame imposed on the elongated swordlike cross. The cross plays a central role in the Marianite spirituality a life of immolation. In ancient times, primitive peoples regarded the heart as the very soul or spirit of the person, the core or center of the body. The heart symbolized tenderness and sympathy. The anchor on either side of the cross is to be found in all three branches of the family of Holy Cross. The anchor used here is that of the Admiralty anchor which is a symbol for safety and hope in the future. The anchor is to be found as one of the symbols in the early Church where it stood for hope in life eternal as found in Paul's letter to the Hebrews, (Hebrews 5:19-20).

The motto, Spes Unica (One Hope), refers to the fact that the cross is our one hope. A motto briefly expresses an ideal, a program of life, and the spirit of one who selects it. This one refers to the unity to be found in the Family of Holy Cross, and to this end, the founder,

Father Moreau consecrated and dedicated the priests to the heart of Jesus, the brothers to the heart of St. Joseph, and the sisters to the heart of Mary pierced with a sword of sorrow. Hope has a dual reference: to the Holy Cross on which Jesus died, a life of immolation, and also Moreau founded his community of Sisters on property called Holy Cross outside the gates of LeMans. Hence, the religious community we referred to as Sisters of Holy Cross and Moreau saw them as the hope of the people with whom and for whom they worked.

THE HISTORY OF THE DIVISION OF BUSINESS
AND ECONOMICS OF THE COLLEGE OF APPLIED,
NATURAL, AND SOCIAL SCIENCES

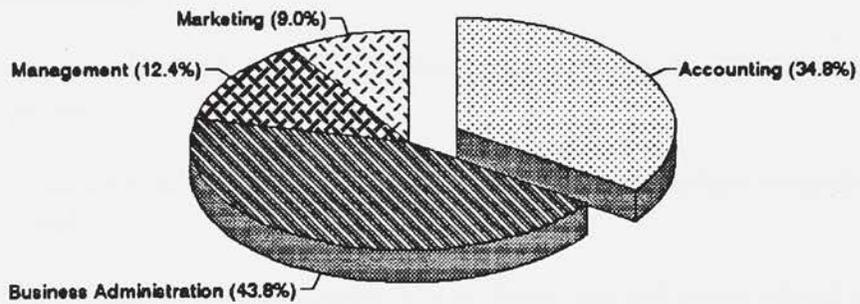

The Division of Business and Economics was established at Our Lady of Holy Cross College in 1976 by Dr. Gerald Nistal. Originally, degrees were offered in accounting and general business administration, but over the years, management and marketing degrees have been added to the curriculum.

The division has always enjoyed a diverse student population of both traditional and nontraditional students. A large percentage of the business students at Our Lady of Holy Cross College work in addition to attending college. This enhances classroom discussion through the sharing of "real world" experiences by working students.

Today, the Division of Business and Economics is headed by James Rabalais, dean of the College of Applied, Natural and Social Sciences. During his tenure, the division has grown rapidly and future plans include a degree in tourism added to the curriculum and the possibility of a Master of Business Administration is under consideration. The Division of Business and Economics is accredited by the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business and Our Lady of Holy Cross College is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

Business Majors

Spring 1994

BUSINESS AND ECONOMICS

Description of Program

The curricula in Business and Economics generally adhere to the curriculum standards promulgated by the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business, which emphasize a broad education as the best preparation for positions carrying managerial or executive responsibilities. All programs concentrate the freshman and sophomore years in a general curriculum drawn from the basic arts and sciences, with professional courses concentrated in the junior and senior years. The purpose of the arts and sciences background is to provide students with the necessary foundation with which to master the behavioral, descriptive, environmental, and qualitative elements of professional coursework. The general purpose of all business curricula is to provide a broad "common body of knowledge" in business administration.

Objectives

The specific objectives of the business curricular are:

1. to equip students for entry-level professional positions in private and public enterprise, as well as for eventual managerial and managerial executive responsibilities;
2. to prepare students adequately for subsequent graduate study in business or other disciplines;
3. to provide a sound academic exposure in all business functions to persons already employed;
4. to advance business as a profession and to foster successful and ethical practice in private and public enterprise.

Admission

Students are admitted to a program in Business and Economics upon completion of the 29 semester-hour core curriculum segment and BUS 218 (Introduction to Business), with a cumulative 2.5 GPA. Potential accounting majors must also complete BUS 205 (Principles of Accounting I) with a minimum grade of "B".

Degrees Offered:

Bachelor of Science
Accounting
Business Administration
Management
Marketing

Degree Requirements

The degree of Bachelor of Science in Business Administration is conferred upon students who complete an approved program of study with a 2.5 cumulative GPA and 2.5 GPA in professional coursework.

Curricula

A major consists of a minimum of 27 semester hours of advanced coursework in one area of concentration; a minor consists of a minimum of 15 semester hours in a second area. Majors are offered in accounting and general business. Minors are available in accounting, data processing, economics/finance, international management, and marketing.

Accounting

The accounting curriculum meets the educational requirements established by the Louisiana Board of Certified Public Accountants for eligibility to take the Uniform CPA Examinations. Individuals who have earned the baccalaureate in another discipline, but wish to qualify for the CPA Examinations, may complete the required coursework as non-degree students.

General Business

This curriculum provides a broad exposure to all functions of business - a necessary requirement for a successful professional career. The world of business is becoming increasingly complex, interactive, and internationalized. Thus the narrowly-trained functional specialist is fast being replaced by the broadly-educated generalist. This curriculum is also recommended for those desiring to pursue further study in law or public administration. Students planning to enter graduate school are advised to enroll in Calculus.

Management

The curriculum in management provides to the business student an extension or concentration beyond the basic functions of the general business administration principles. This curriculum meets the special demands and topics relevant to the professional manager's individual and corporate responsibilities. In addition to the required fundamental management courses, the student is afforded the opportunity to select additional management electives for special concentration or interest.

Marketing

Marketing interest and demands are now considered to be essential to every form of entity in today's world of business. Special emphasis is placed on the needs and understanding of those demands and requirements through this discipline. Understanding the complexities of the impact of marketing upon the profitability of the business entity is the primary objective of this curriculum. The student is directed within this curriculum to develop the skills necessary for positions in the marketing areas of business.

The History of Beta Lambda Alpha Colony

THE HISTORY OF THE BETA LAMBDA ALPHA COLONY

In 1989, a group of business students at Our Lady of Holy Cross College organized and formed the Business Leadership Association known on campus as B.L.A. The purpose of B.L.A. was to form a group specifically for business majors in order to represent the Division of Business and Economics at collegiate events, sponsor social gatherings and community service projects, establish long lasting friendships between fellow business students, and to sponsor and promote activities that would enhance the professional development of the business students of Our Lady of Holy Cross College.

The officers of the Business Leadership Association recognized the need to affiliate with an international fraternal organization and found a close match to their own purpose with the International Business Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi. Steps were taken to colonize and the Business Leadership Association became the Beta Lambda Alpha Colony of Delta Sigma Pi in January of 1992.

From its inception to the present, the Beta Lambda Alpha Colony has been active in many school functions such as Fall Fest, Open House, New Student Orientation and Registration, Safe Trick or Treat, and Feast of Fools. The colony has also sponsored clothing, food, and toy drives to benefit various charities through Campus Ministries. In October of 1993 the colony sent six of its members to the Delta Sigma Pi Leadership School in Atlanta, Georgia.

The Beta Lambda Alpha Colony is currently making the necessary preparations and looking forward to the day when a charter is granted and a chapter is installed at Our Lady of Holy Cross College.
