PETITIONING LETTER

Dear Board of Directors,

It is with great pleasure and excitement that we submit this petition for Chapter status for our Omega Nu Epsilon colony at Trinity University in San Antonio, Texas. After more than a year of being active as a colony we believe we are ready to be established as a chapter, and leave a legacy at this university. The effort and commitment of our members has proven successful in creating a positive image around our campus, and gaining support from the administration, as well as faculty. The response from the student population has been more than optimistic, and this period in our academic careers marks the perfect timing for embarking in this endeavor, as our membership has a healthy mix of experience being represented by our senior and fresh ideas from our freshmen members. Without further ado, these are some of the reasons why we deeply hope that you will approve our intent to permanently establish ourselves as a chapter.

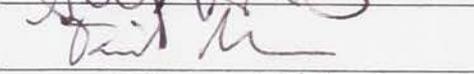

Sincerely,

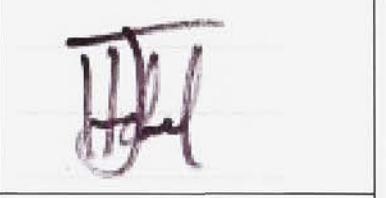

Rafael Nunez

RE: Omega Nu Epsilon's Application for Chapter Status

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing in support of Omega Nu Epsilon's application to become a chapter of Delta Sigma Pi. I have worked with this organization since May 2009 when I became its faculty advisor. During that time I have witnessed the growth of the organization and its members.

The past year Omega Nu Epsilon has been extremely active on campus. This group has recruited forty-three active members, of which only two are graduating seniors. The officers of the organization are sophomores and juniors, demonstrating the organization's ability to maintain its culture and momentum into the future.

In addition, Omega Nu Epsilon has been working to form cordial relationships with other organizations including career services and Alpha Kappa Psi, with whom they co-sponsored an event on campus, Dress to Impress. The organization has also worked on community service events with Trinity University Volunteer Action Community (TUVAC) and will be participating in Trinity's Latino Exchange group's upcoming salsa cookout. All of these events have helped the organization to integrate itself into the structure of Trinity.

Omega Nu Epsilon has made itself a permanent addition to Trinity. I am very proud of the chapter and its members. The organization is a credit to this institution and I believe will make an excellent addition as a chapter in your organization.

Please do not hesitate to contact me with any questions or comments at 210-999-7347 or Katherine.lopez@trinity.edu.

Very truly yours,

Katherine J. Lopez

Delta Sigma Pi Board of Directors:

It is my pleasure to recommend for installation the Omega Nu Epsilon Colony at Trinity University in San Antonio, Texas. As the coordinator for student organizations & leadership, I can confirm that Omega Nu Epsilon has completed all organizational requirements to be active and recognized on campus for the 2010-2011 academic year.

The president, Rafael Nunez, has maintained consistent contact with our office (Campus & Community Involvement) since he took on this role. I both appreciate and commend his efforts to stay in touch with our office as he learns how to navigate campus procedures and policies. Rafael is not afraid to ask questions and seek information for the betterment of the organization.

In addition, Omega Nu Epsilon has the support of several faculty members on campus. The current faculty advisor is a professor within the business department (Dr. Katherine Lopez). The organization has also connected with the new Vice President for Advancement (a DSP alumnus) to encourage his involvement.

Questions or concerns related to this recommendation can be directed to jamie.thompson@trinity.edu or 210-999-8823.

Sincerely,

Jamie Thompson

Dear Board of Directors,

I would like to recommend the Omega Nu Epsilon Colony at Trinity University in San Antonio to be installed as a chapter within the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi. I have worked with the officers and members of the Omega Nu Epsilon Colony since I was appointed their District Director in April 2009.

The colony has had their ups and downs in regards to recruitment and turnover of members and officers. They have never let this get them down and have always strived to rise again. Since the moment that they were able to recruit membership, they have surpassed the minimum 25 member requirement and are now ready to petition 36 members strong. Even though they have met their membership requirement, they are motivated to continue recruitment efforts until the time of their pledging. While several officers have resigned during the year, it was never because they simply did not want to be a part of the colony. All officer changes took place due to their participation in study abroad programs, major requirements, and personal issues. The colonies current officers are a strong and dedicated team who work together to make sure the colony is successful. The officers have worked hard this past semester to bring the members together, fulfill the petition requirements and build a brotherhood within the colony.

While it is important to meet the petition requirements, I believe that creating a brotherhood among the members is one of the most important aspects along the road of becoming a chapter. The members and officers have worked diligently to create a feeling of brotherhood within the colony. Since Omega Nu Epsilon was formed, members have attended the Gulf Western Regional Initiation banquet in San Antonio in April 2009 and Provincial LEAD in Dallas in March 2010. Members have come to Alamo City Alumni events and participated in community service events with the Lambda Upsilon and Omicron Phi chapters. These events, combined with the various social activities held by the colony, have allowed the members to see firsthand the bond of brotherhood that exists in Delta Sigma Pi

The colony has strived earnestly to fulfill the requirements to become a chapter. They have encountered many bumps along the road, but have learned from these experiences and will use them to become a successful chapter. It has been an honor to watch them grow and develop into what I believe will be a prosperous chapter of Delta Sigma Pi. I encourage the Board to consider wholly the information contained within the following petition when deciding to accept the Omega Nu Epsilon Colony for installation.

Dear Board of Directors,

I would like to recommend the Omega Nu Epsilon Colony at Trinity University to be installed as a chapter within the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi. I have assisted the officers and members of the Omega Nu Epsilon Colony since I was appointed one of their District Directors in the Spring of 2009. I have enjoyed watching the colony members grow into what I believe will be a successful chapter within the fraternity.

The colony has had their ups and downs in regards to recruitment and turnover of members and officers. They lost several members due to some initial confusion regarding business majors and business minors, but they did not let this discourage them. They continued to recruit quality members and build a strong executive team. During the Spring 2010 semester the President resigned due to personal reasons. The executive team did not miss a beat and continued on with plans for petitioning. They came together despite having to play catch up and met their petition goal. The officers have worked diligently to bring the members together, fulfill the petition requirements and build a brotherhood within the colony.

The colony has strived earnestly to fulfill the requirements to become a chapter. They have encountered a few bumps along the road, but have learned from these experiences and will use them to become a successful chapter. I encourage the Board to consider wholly the information contained within the following petition when deciding to accept the Omega Nu Epsilon Colony for installation within Delta Sigma Pi.

Fraternally,

Faith Hinchman
Omega Nu Epsilon District Director
Lambda Upsilon District Director
Alamo City Alumni Treasurer

Dear Board of Directors,

I had the pleasure of meeting a number of colony members and officers including Daniel Chira, Rafael Nunez and Brynn Erb. Of all the great things I may say the one that resonates is the way the Omega Nu Epsilon colony officer core has responded to the level of imitative and effort it takes to start and maintain a colony.

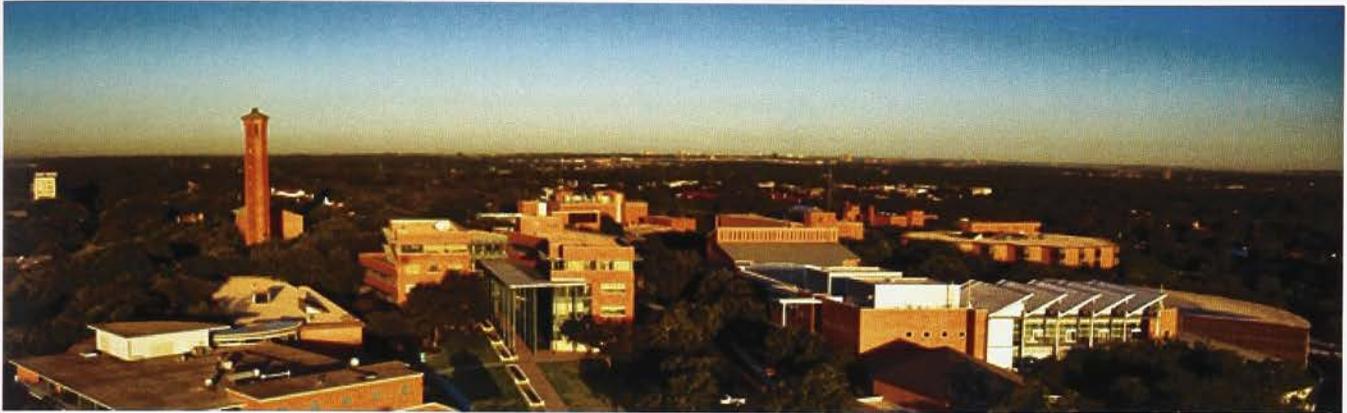

There is a lot of enthusiasm in this group of colony members. They work well together, with their university and with their community. I attended a community service they planned with a local retirement home. I see many great things in the future of this colony. There are many great experiences as well as learning experiences from colony involvement.

I recommend the Omega Nu Epsilon colony for consideration in becoming a chapter. They will be a great addition to Delta Sigma Pi from the local level to the national stage.

Fraternally,

Gilbert Landras
Regional Vice President – Gulf Western Region

SUMMARY OF TRINITY UNIVERSITY HISTORY

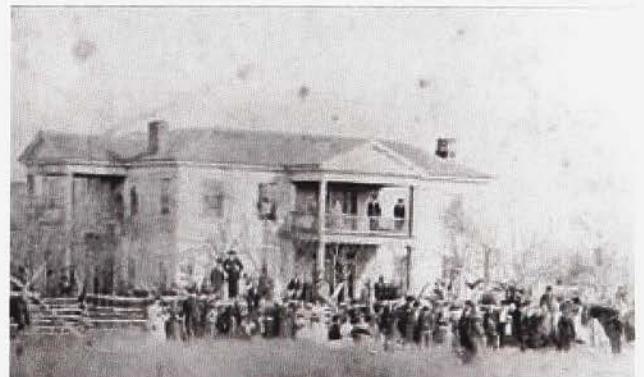

Located in the culturally rich city of San Antonio, Trinity University is one of the nation's top private universities. With 2,600 talented undergraduate and graduate students, the University is known for its stimulating, resourceful, and collaborative environment - in the classroom, on campus, and around the world.

The history of Trinity University is rooted in the vision of a few hardy Texas pioneers who believed in the transforming power of higher education. Despite an unfavorable economic environment and unstable political conditions, they aspired to establish "a University of the highest order" shortly after the conclusion of the Civil War. Founded in 1869, Trinity's name reflects its Christian origins and the three regional Cumberland Presbyterian governing bodies that supported its institutional organization. Over the past 140 years, Trinity has occupied three different Texas settings: Tehuacana (1869-1902), Waxahachie (1902-1942), and San Antonio (1942-present). Including the Woodlawn campus, which Trinity occupied from 1942 to 1952, the University has resided on four campuses in three different locations.

Tehuacana: Foundational Challenges (1869-1902)

Trinity commenced classes on September 23, 1869 funded by contributions valued at $30,000 consisting primarily of underdeveloped land and a few houses.

Despite recognition as a "Class A University" in Texas, sacrificial efforts by trustees, faculty, and staff were not sufficient to overcome a chronic lack of financial resources. By the end of the century, enrollment had dramatically declined. The only options were to close or to relocate.

Waxahachie: Relocation and Renewal (1902-1942)

Seeking access to greater financial and cultural resources, Trinity moved 75 miles to Waxahachie, a railroad hub and cotton-farming community.

- Faculty strengthened - Denominational contacts enabled Trinity to secure credentialed college and university graduates who brought diversity and expertise to the growing faculty.
- Reputation enhanced - During the same time period, the National Council on Education included Trinity with only four other Texas institutions on its list of accredited colleges.
- Trinity accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools (SACS) in 1925.

San Antonio: A Defining Moment (1942 -present)

The Woodlawn Campus (1942-1952)

On December 8, 1941, as the country entered into World War II, Trinity accepted an invitation from the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce to establish a strong Protestant institution of higher learning in the Alamo city. San Antonio business leaders promised financial support and facilitated a merger of Trinity and the University of San Antonio, a small Methodist institution, to provide temporary campus facilities.

By 1950 enrollment reached 2,000 and was composed largely of returning veterans and other San Antonio area residents.

The Skyline Campus (1952-1979)

Trinity had one more moving day before settling in its present location. On May 13, 1952, students, faculty, and community volunteers, including professional movers, transferred University property to the present site, a 107-acre hill top location with a commanding view of downtown San Antonio (Trinity acquired 10 acres adjacent to the south of campus to develop the recreational areas in the mid 1980's). On moving day the new campus consisted of a dormitory housing 60 residents, a classroom building that lacked a heating system, a barren library, an uncompleted student union, and a woman's dormitory under construction.

By 1970, 42 new buildings had been erected, including the distinctive tower and chapel that quickly became campus landmarks.

Today Trinity University is a place of beauty, characterized by rigorous academics, distinguished faculty, superior facilities, and some of the most modern and impressive resources in the country. U.S. News and World Report has ranked Trinity #1 in the West among colleges offering undergraduate and master's degrees for nearly two decades.

DEPARTMENT OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION/ ECONOMICS

Trinity University has both a Department of Business Administration and a Department of Economics. Business majors wishing to earn a Bachelor of Science degree must complete a core curriculum consisting of 27 semester hours as well as at least 12 hours in a certain concentration and enough extra hours to bring the total number of hours in BA courses to 45 hours. The core Business curriculum consists of introductory and mid-level courses in accounting, economics, management, finance, information systems, and marketing. Additionally, all Business majors must complete a 4000-level course in “Business Policy and Strategy” that fulfills the “Senior Experience” requirement of the University’s common curriculum. Students pursuing a Bachelor of Arts degree complete the same 27 hour core curriculum with six hours of additional electives. The number of students currently studying Business at Trinity is as follows:

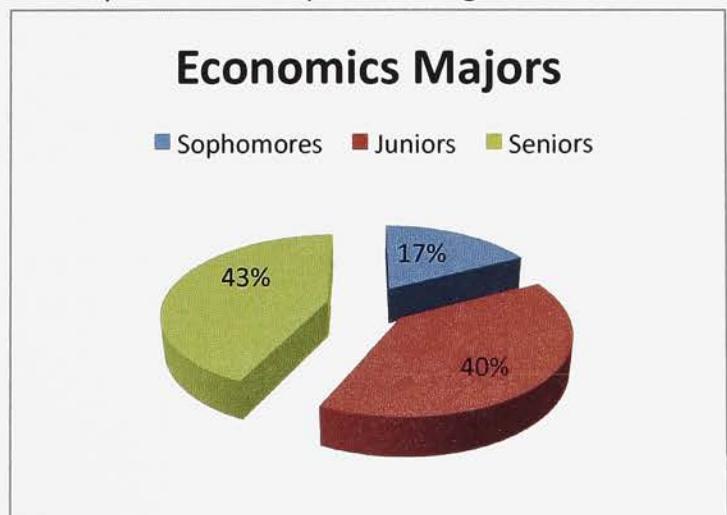

119 - General Business Admin.
(B.A.)
44 - International Business
102 – Accounting
117 – Finance
105 – Marketing
46 – Management
533 Total

According to the registrar, there are 98 sophomores, 147 juniors, and 194 seniors who have declared Business Administration as their majors. The remainder consists of students pursuing minors or secondary majors in Business Admin.

Students seeking a degree in Economics may choose among six separate curricula: General Economics, Concentration in Theoretical Economics, Concentration in Economics and Law, Concentration in Economics and Business, Concentration in International Economics, or a concentration in Economics and Public Policy. These programs all require a total of 30 credits with the exceptions of the International Economics and Economics and Public Policy concentrations, which both require students to complete 33 semester hours. All Economics majors are also required to complete a Senior Experience course that consists of five options including seminar, capstone, and thesis courses. Students with at least a 3.5 gpa in Economics courses who receive approval by a majority of the department faculty are also eligible to earn an "Honors" degree with the completion of an honors thesis. As of this school year, there are 121 Economics majors at Trinity: 21 sophomores, 48 juniors, and 52 senior students.

COLONY DEVELOPMENT

Since the colony started in the fall of 2009, we have completed various events to benefit not only our members, but also the Trinity University campus as well as the San Antonio community at large. These included professional events, service events, fundraisers, and social events for our members.

Our colony planned diverse professional events, taking advantage of not only resources and speakers from within the Trinity University community, but also from outside. Resources on campus such as Career Services, the debate team sponsor, and Counseling Services gave presentations about goal setting, resume design, time management, and business arguments. We also sponsored an event open to the entire Trinity University community called “Dress to Impress” which our members organized that explained the proper attire for different business situations. Additionally, we partnered with Kaplan to put on two different information sessions about the GMAT and applying to grad school, as well as a partnership with the VITA (Volunteer Income Tax Assistance) Program.

The colony also put on several community service events. Two events included collecting canned food and clothing for victims of disasters that had recently occurred. Our canned food drive was done in cooperation with the University of Texas San Antonio chapter, and many of our members were able to interact with Omicron Phi members for the first time.

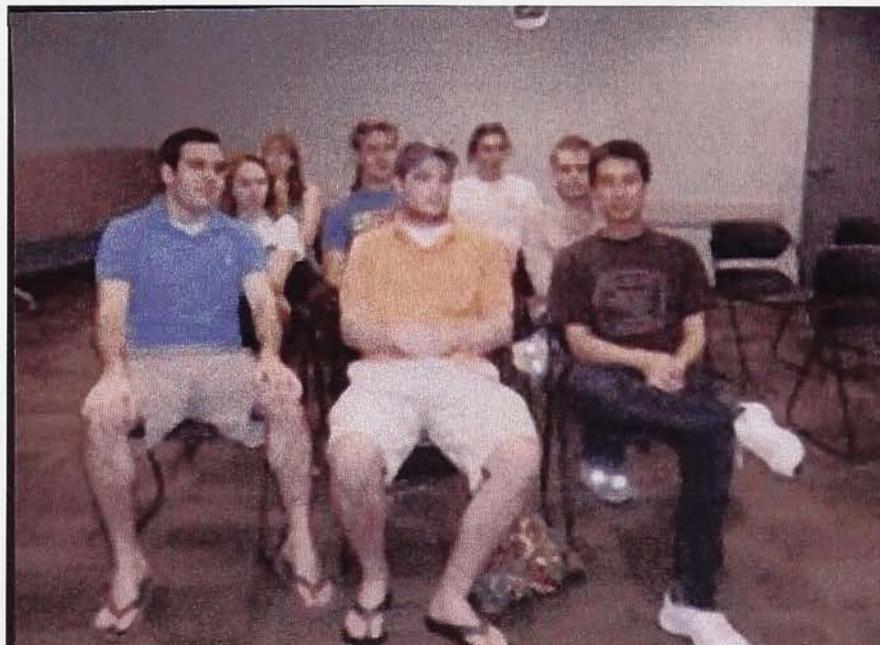

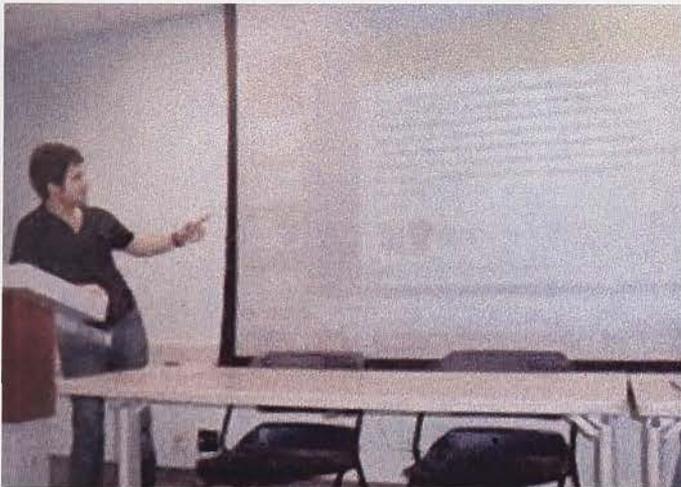

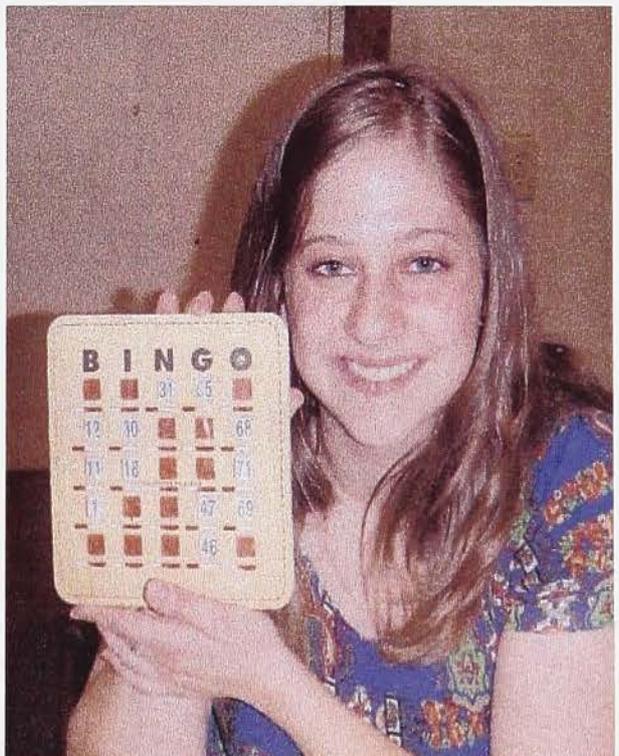

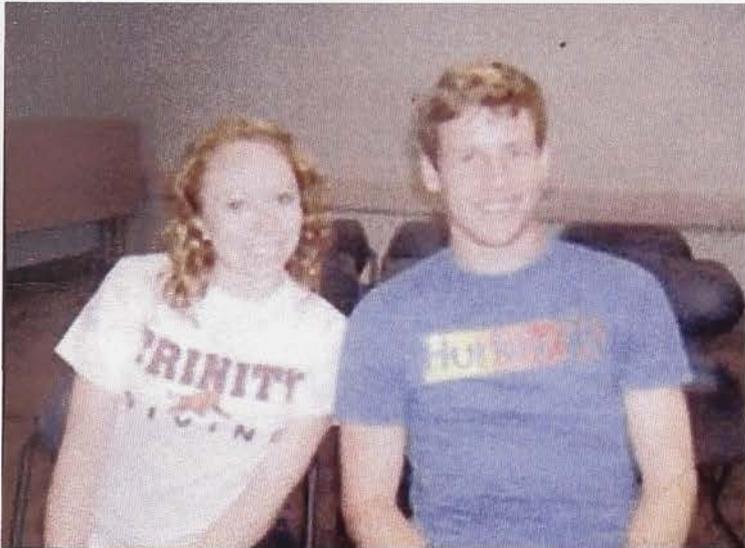

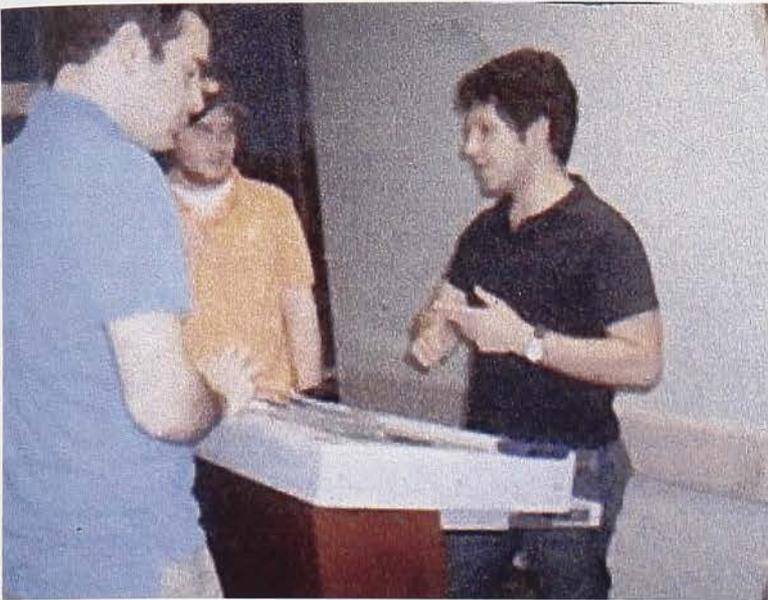

Several times we had events at assisted living facilities in the San Antonio area where our members did activities that included talking and playing games with the residents and serving food and drinks. Our final service event of the academic year was cosponsoring GIVE day with several other Trinity University organizations, where participants were divided into groups and did a number of different volunteering activities, such as going to SAMs home to play with the children, working on Habitat for Humanity projects, and picking up trash at local parks.

Our fundraising activity included soliciting donations from businesses and setting up “nights” at restaurants in the area which our colony would receive a percentage of the sales. We encouraged members to attend these as both a means to raise money for the colony and a social event. We also had other social events during the year such as an ice cream social in the fall and a spring pool party.
